State Assembly Leaders Hear Broad Appeal: 'Don't Kill Aid to Pensioners; Van Name, McNally

Pension Chief, Better Lashes Stop Try

By MAXWELL LEHMAN

ALBANY, March 12—One of the major labor and welfare campaigns ever to arise in recent years is now open to sharp political action. Doubts about aid to pensioners which is destined to become a major issue in the State's next election is among the more serious problems faced by New York's State and local governments.

Aid to pensioners is a broad and wide-ranging issue, affecting not only the State's large number of pensioners, but also the many thousands of people who may be eligible for pensions. It is a concern that has been advocated by both the State's Democratic and Republican parties, and by a number of other interest groups.

The controversy surrounding aid to pensioners has been fueled by the growing number of pensioners, many of whom are in need of additional assistance. The State's pension system is not able to provide enough aid to all pensioners, and many are left to rely on their own resources or on other sources of income. This situation has led to demands for increased aid to pensioners, which has in turn led to political action on both sides of the aisle.

The controversy has been further fueled by the State's budget cuts, which have led to reduced funding for aid to pensioners. This has led to demands for increased funding, which has in turn led to political action on both sides of the aisle.

1. Salary Adjustments

The Committee on State Colleges, Experiment Station and Means, of the Assembly, in a report to the Assembly, March 11, 1951, said that the Committee recommended salary adjustments for public employees at the rate of 1.5%, subject to the discretion of the Governor. The recommendation was based on the following statistics from April 1, 1950 to March 1, 1951:

- Total earnings for State employees: $2,000,000,000
- Total earnings for Federal employees: $1,000,000,000
- Total earnings for private employees: $5,000,000,000

The Committee further recommended that the Governor be permitted to make adjustments in any one of these three groups, subject to the discretion of the Governor.

Salary adjustment program. On January 5, 1951, the Association requested the Governor to give special attention to the problem of salary adjustments. On November 24, 1950, the Association was informed that the administration was supplied with factual data in support of the salary adjustment program. On January 5, 1951, an urgent plea for a salary adjustment to become effective February 1, 1951, was transmitted to the Association. The Association's representatives thereafter conferred with the administration on the subject.

State Salary Fight Still Isn't Over

There is still an opportunity for the State administration to act in better grace on the matter of employee salaries. We feel this is essential not alone on the economic facts, but on the ground of the resounding demonstration given by the employees that the 12½-10-7½ per cent formula is unsatisfactory to them. We cannot recall when with such unanimity. Certainly the State administration should give this heed.

The difference of perhaps $8,000,000 or $4,000,000 between the proposal of the State and the compromise acceptable to the employees ought not to stand in the way of the superior relations resulting from a corps of employees feel enables them to live with some sense of economic dignity, even in times like these.

The State, like every governmental jurisdiction, ought to be conscious of the morale value in correct salary determination and—"correct" includes a salary which the employee feels enables them to live in decency, even in times like these.

Where is the Report?

After the fact that a salary report ordered by the Governor during last fall's political campaign was never publicly released has made for much understandable suspicion. Did that report actually support the employee contention of higher pay? It would certainly seem so, even if the employee with four years of proven service, employees may be entitled to a position in a lower grade than the one in which they were appointed, employees may be entitled to a position in a lower grade than the one in which they were appointed.

The purpose of the Senate's salary schedule for employees in the State's service is to make salaries more uniform. The Senate's salary schedule for employees in the State's service is to make salaries more uniform.

A one-year deadline is placed upon the bill. I believe it would be better, perhaps, to withhold passage of the legislation now. We are in accord with the general objectives of the proposal, but we fear that the danger inherent in the bill under present conditions and of which it seeks to serve. Experience has shown that action under democracy procedures cannot safely be based upon hearsay, suspicion, and guilt by association.

There is no need for rush on this issue. Let it be given careful study. The contention of public employees that a problem really exists requiring such a bill. If it is, let it be given careful study. ELEVENTH YEAR

GOVERNOR D'WYER'S proposed "anti-subversive" legislation is not finding ready acceptance.

Civil Service Leader

Mr. Weinsberg, former Deputy Attorney General, and advisor to the Legislative Committee of the Civil Service Employees Association, has written an interesting article on the anti-subversive legislation recently introduced in the Legislature. The article is a thoughtful analysis of the bill and its potential effects.

However, the Governor's own Department of Civil Service has expressed reservations about the bill. Mr. Weinsberg's article provides an excellent analysis of the bill's potential impact and offers valuable insights into the legislative process.

Statement by Employees' Legislative Committee

The statement of the Civil Service Employees Association legislative committee is as follows:

"Despite an unqualified antipathy to communism and communists, we recommend the following measures in the pending legislation. We believe that the legislation should not be put into effect at the present time. We are in accord with the general objectives of the proposal, but we fear that the danger inherent in the bill under present conditions and of which it seeks to serve. Experience has shown that action under democracy procedures cannot safely be based upon hearsay, suspicion, and guilt by association.

The bill underbodies represent a sincere and thoughtful attempt to meet the problem presented by the infiltration of communists into public service. Legislation along the lines proposed may be necessary in the future, upon the sufferance of the crises of the future. But seriously we question the necessity for making such legislation effective at present.

The bill, we think, should be amended to provide that it would not become effective upon finding ready acceptance, or a declaration of actual emergency by the Governor."

Mr. Burlington Finds the Legislation Disturbing

"The imposition of any type of loyalty legislation is a matter of the gravest concern. It is not only an infringement on the civil liberties of the American people, but it is also a violation of the principle of self-government. The proposition that the State should be able to compel its employees to abandon their political beliefs is a dangerous one, and it is not one that we would wish to see adopted at this time."

Hoskins Resigns

Credit Union Post

The Board of Directors of the PUCI Federal Credit Union, at a meeting held on May 13, 1951, unanimously recommended the resignation of Mr. John M. Burlington from the Board of Directors. Mr. Burlington was appointed to the Board in 1947 and has served with distinction. He has been a valued member of the Board and has contributed greatly to the growth and success of the Credit Union. His resignation is due to personal reasons.

Assn. Proposals Would Change Law to Increase Opportunities

ALBANY, March 12—Reporting upon progress of the Special CSEA Committee on Civil Service Law, Theodore Becker, chairman, said the committee favors opportunity to present employee capacities, recommendation that lists of vacancies in the service for which there happen to be openings for promotion be published, so interested and qualified employees may bid for transfer to such positions. It would create opportunities for a promotion to the jobs vacated by transfer, thus facilitating the career system.

Dr. Becker said that proposals could be submitted to President Joe McFarland, Andrew Dwyer of the State Mediation Board, Dr. Albert D. Corey, West 51st Street, and Department, State, and Assistant Secretary, in charge of the Committee, to submit the new program.

3. In line with providing greater opportunity, the Committee recommends that lists of present employee capacities, recommendation that lists of vacancies in the service for which there happen to be openings for promotion be published, so interested and qualified employees may bid for transfer to such positions. Court Rules Out Law by Footnote

AJAHNY, March 12—An opinion of particular significance to State and Federal employees eligible for discontinued service retirement benefits has been handed down by Supreme Court Justice Schrick in upholding the claim of Raymond M. Fischer for a larger retirement allowance than he has been receiving from the New York State Employees' Retirement System.

While the legal issues involved in the case are complex, the court ruled that "exclusion by footnotes" is not a substitute for express provisions of the law. The decision also emphasized that "the results of the Retirement Law are to be liberally construed in the interest of the contributors thereof." The Case

Fischer became a member of the Retirement System in June, 1943, and from Jan., 1926, to March, 1931, without payment therefor, and upon payment as a Clarkstown town officer from State service on Feb. 14, 1949, expressed provisions of the law. The benefits have been awarded by the court in their brief that the law's retirement benefit of particular significance to the court.

The decision reads: "The court, said, "Chapter 363 of the Laws of 1943, while subdivision 2 of Section 377 of the Civil Service Law, his attorney, Dreyfus and Poy, successfully argued that he was entitled to the larger allowed section.

"In ruling that Dreyfus' rights were governed by the latter subdivision, the court pointed out that subdivision a is supposed to be a redefinition of Chapter 373 of the Laws of 1943, while subdivision b mentions Chapter 380. Both were enacted at the same legislative session and took effect July 1, 1943.

"What we have here is an issue of statutory construction," the court said, "Chapter 363 of the Laws of 1943 is to rule under Chapter 373 in whole or in part, or both enactments given practical application? State to the issue is the definition whichawaits upon repeal by implication. Such definitions are given greater emphasis through no fault of his own, his total service was 25 years and 9 months, and therefore, more than 20 years of continuous there can be very few such persons. In the opinion of the majority of the voters, the present amendment has general flexibility of action. It is not mandated, but is given permission to act in relieving the needs of 30,000 welfare paupers.

McGovern's Objections

Mr. McGovern's objections to the new amendment are: 1. First, under the present law, no payments are made to any of the Retirement Systems. When these payments are made, the law is changed by a process which you call "legislation," but the law is not. Second, you cannot make the law by the process of legislation. 2. Second, you cannot claim any right to contribute anything for the support of those who are dependent on the pension rolls. 3. Third, you cannot at any time say to the Legislature, 'I am ready to contribute such sums of money as you may require for the support of the unemployed, and I will make the payments without any necessity, but the law can be changed by the process of legislation.' These are the objections that Mr. McGovern makes to the new amendment. He would like to see the amendment changed so that it would be clear that the State would not be permitted to continue the payment of pensions to those who are not eligible for the pension.
