Levitt Settles Issue Of Deficiency Payments to Retirement System By Labor Dept. Agencies

ALBANY, Sept. 25 — State Comptroller Arthur Levitt has announced the settlement of the fourteen-year dispute between the New York State Employees' Retirement System and the Divi- sion of Employment, New York State Department of Labor, and the State Insurance Fund over the amount of deficiency contributions to be paid to the System. By agreement, the two agencies will pay a total of $18,883,369 for the period 1949-1958.

The Division of Employment has agreed to pay $7,199,794.14 and the State Insurance Fund has agreed to pay $11,683,574.95. These sums represent the difference between the deficiency rates at which the two agencies have contributed to the System for their employees and the rates set by the State itself during the period in question. Deficiency contributions are required to pay all past deficiencies of account on interest, and the year the Retire- ment System was founded, as well as other benefits not provid- ed for out of normal contributions.

Prior Rate

Prior to the agreement, the Unemployment Division has been contributing at the rate of 2.34 per cent on the amount that employees constituted a group whose contributions should be computed differently from those of State Agencies. The funds of the Division are Federal rather than State funds, and the settlement represents added money for in- vestment by the Retirement Sys- tem.

The State Insurance Fund has been contributing to the System at the rate of 2.982 per cent. In the premise that their em- ployees comprised a unit whose contributions should be computed on a different basis than other State agencies. The Comptroller's position, which was based on the desire to equalize the rates, and the two agencies have agreed to con- tinue to make deficiency contrib- butions at the State rate of 2.34 per cent.

The Attorney General of the State held that the two agencies have agreed to continue to make deficiency contributions at the same rate applicable to other State agencies. In 1944 a similar opinion was rendered with re- spect to the State Insurance Fund. These contributions have been the subject of conferences and discussions between the agencies in question, the U. S. Department of Labor and the Retirement System.

Levitt said, "I am pleased to have settled this long-standing controversy."

Lerkowitz Rules Thruway Employees Covered Under Condon-Wadlin Strike Law

The Lerkowitz ruling was sought by the Thruway after a union board of adjustment action against the authority. There has been no indication, however, that the union has planned any immediate strike action.

CSEA Urges Use Of Inequity Fund

Immediate use of a $500,000 ap- propriation in the State budget to correct pay inequities has again been requested by the Civil Se- rvice Employees Association. The funds were voted several months ago.

In letters to both Budget Director T. Norman Hurd and to J. Burt Kelly, State Director of Classifica- tion and Compensation, the Asso- ciation asked to be advised as to the present status of appeals for reallocation now pending action.

The Association wrote that it wished to consider this problem in detail from the standpoint of making an appropriate appeal to the government agencies involved for the use of the appropriations available in order to correct the salary inequities. The CSEA pointed out that any action taken could, of course, have a serious effect on its members.

Let me say first of all that the program of the Civil Service Employees Association is a program that asks for the opportunity to speak to all members.

I have sought this office because I wish to serve you and because I feel my long service to the Association and to the State service may be of some value to you.

The Civil Service Employees As- sociation is in mid-pace. It has grown and is mature. The Presi- dent of the Association should be one who will lead and inspire the members to a full achievement of its aims with vigor and courage. Those who have been at del- gate meetings are familiar with my views. At the risk of being repetitious I may set forth some of the matters I believe the Association should concentrate on at this time.

First and foremost we should dedicate ourselves to the pres- vention and extension of the merit system. Only this week I heard important voices expressing cer-

ALBANY, Sept. 25 — Attorney General Louis J. Lerkowitz has ruled that a strike by State Thruway Authority employees would be a violation of the Condon-Wadlin Law.

The formal opinion was sent to the Authority in the wake of a strike voted by an APE- CSEA union now seeking to unions- Thruway workers.

The Civil Service Employees Association, which represents most Authority members, has gone on record against the strike as a disservice to public employees generally.

CSEA President John F. Pow- ets sent a letter last week to all Thruway employees, warned that the strike would be deemed illegal.

Mr. Lerkowitz said he was unable to strike. There has been no indication, however, that the union has planned any immediate strike action.

P.B.A. Wins 'Dues Checkoff Battle

By ROBERT BENEVEDA

The New York City Department's Benevolent Association has won its battle for dues checkoff.

Police Commissioner Stephen P. Kennedy was ordered last week to establish a system of deducting dues from the pay of the 22,000 members of the Association in a ruling by Supreme Court Justice Louis A. Cossia.

Commissioner Kennedy had opposed the measure as being a step toward unionization of policemen, to which he vigorously opposed. The P.B.A. president, John B. Cassese, had contended this was not so.

Mayor Wagner endorsed the checkoff in spite of Mr. Kennedy's opposition. He said it was in keeping with a 1956 directive of the Board of Estimate which authorized all City government employee organizations to set up payroll deduction plans.

A spokesman for Mr. Kennedy and the Commissioner would not comment on Justice Capozzoli's ruling until he had read it over thoroughly.

An appeal by the Commissioner would have to be made by the City Corporation Counsel. Since both the Board of Estimate and the Mayor favor dues checkoff, the Counsel is not expected to appeal.

The $1.50-a-month dues of the P.B.A. are used to lobby for better working conditions and to provide its members with life insurance.

Justice Capozzoli strongly criticized the Commissioner's refusal of the checkoff as being "arbitrary, capricious and unreasonable."

He said he found no conflict between the exclusive nature of the Police Commissioner to discipline his men and the provision of the board resolution.

Justice Capozzoli declared that Mr. Kennedy's contention that the 1956 Board of Estimate resolution did not bind him was "untenable."

Unions Get C.S.C. Boss' Approval

Rector W. Julien, chairman of the U.S. Civil Service Commission, hereby endorsed employee unions when he spoke at the recent Rochester convention of the AFL-CIO Mail Handlers.

"As to employee organizations, they are no longer observed something to feared or to be treated solely as self-serving and selfish efforts to gain undeserved benefits for Federal employees."

"There cannot always be agreements with every union proposal, but experience has increasingly shown, in agency after agency, that one of the most effective methods of consultation on personnel matters has been discussion with representatives of employee organizations. There have been many well-thought-out recommendations for management consideration."

"I do not like the connotation of another word often used in this public accounts expression and aims of employee organizations. That word is demands," he said. "I do not believe that employee organizations like it any better than I do. When dealing with matters affecting the public good and the welfare of 110 million Americans, we do not make demands; we recommend and we work for recognition of need and there we stop."

Mr. Jones went on to say that there is now "a sincere desire and effort on the part of agency management to use all available means to the full extent of the law."

Let’s Pay City’s Nurses

REGISTERED PROFESSIONAL nurses employed by the New York City Departments of Hospitals, Health and Correction are paid $75 a week to start and this increases in the hospital for three years. While these years of training are part of the explanation for such low pay, is their devotion to their profession and the reluctance they demonstrate as they do. But an explanation for this and also, perhaps, a part of the reason for the difficulty recruiting nurses. The most amazing thing public servants.

The Department is expected to cover the entire City. Indeed come a long way.

The size and importance of the government workforce is enormous. More than 11 million persons work for the Federal, state and local governments in the United States, with a payroll of $40 billion a year, according to a new report just released by the National Civil Service League.

Government employees represent one out of every six working people in the country, and their salaries take one-third of every tax dollar. Of the 11 million government workers, 22 percent are Federal civilian employees, 24 percent are in the armed forces and 54 percent are in state and local governments.

The annual rate of improvement in the productivity of Federal, state and local governments has slowed to about 2 percent a year. Over the past 12 years is about 1 1/2 percent a year on average, according to a private analysis produced for the League by Henry D. Lytton, an economic consultant in Washington, D.C.

Current calculations of improvements in the Nation’s overall productivity now assume the civil servant’s improvement to be 2 percent a year, a decline of 1 1/2 percent a year from the improvement in productivity that was expected as recently as 1955.

Cafeteria Mgrs. Ask Back Pay
Two groups of non-teaching school employees in New York City have filed appeal for pay lost to them through school holidays.

Cafeteria managers in junior and senior high schools lost two days' pay because the schools closed Friday, June 26 instead of Tuesday, June 30.

One group of cafeteria managers last week filed an appeal with the State Education Commissioner for an order directing the Board of Education to rescind its two days' deduction.

Another group of cafeteria managers, assigned to Brooklyn and Queens schools filed a similar appeal, asking back pay for June 4, which was celebrated as payless Anniversary Day in those two boroughs.

Benjamin Mazen, chairman of the New York Teachers Guild grievance committee, initiated both actions.

"During every annual reopening since the health program was instituted in 1947, there has been a sizeable increase in the percentage of eligible employees who are becoming appreciative of the employees for their suggestions to improve D.S. equipment."

Social Work: Good Pay, Quick Jobs

Social investigator applicants are badly needed by the New York City Department of Personnel for an examination to fill jobs starting at $4,200 a year. Pilings will not close until enough applicants have passed the examination to fill present vacancies and those expected in the next year. Applicants must have a bachelor's degree for appointment, but anyone who expects to work one by June, 1980, may apply now. Those who are successful may have a job waiting for him upon graduation.

The multiple choice examinations are given in monthly batches, generally on the last Friday or Saturday of the month after the application was received.

Top pay in the title is $5,300, which is achieved through yearly increments. Besides these increases, however, promotion opportunities to higher titles are good.

The filing fee is $4 and should be included with the completed application blank sent to the Personnel Department.

Further information and application forms may be obtained in person or by mail from the Application Section, New York City Department of Personnel, 99 Duane Street, New York 7, N. Y.

Feily, Shemin Describe Need for Extended PR Program for Association

ALBANY, Sept. 28 — Public relations — internal as well as external — is the theme of a luncheon forum sponsored here last week in Jack's Restaurant by the Labor Relations Committee of the Civil Service Employees Association.

Nearly 100 guests and members heard the views of both presidential CSEA candidates — Joseph Feily and Henry Shemin on the subject. Brief comments were also made by Foster Potter, chairman; Milton S. Singer, Public Relations Committee; Raymond G. Castle, CSEA fourth vice president; and Paul Kuyer, editor of The Leader.

Chapter President Lorraine Breda presided over the meeting and the topic under discussion Mrs. Breda pledged the support of her chapter to make the new president on a public relations program with "eagerness and sincerity."

Case Not Carried

Mr. Shemin told his audience that they had not brought the case far enough to a conclusion on a state level because we have not yet adequately learned our own problems.

The former Metropolitan Conference president called for an internal relations program which would give Association members reasons for being happy in their careers.

"In so doing," said Mr. Shemin, "we can not overlook our membership in the state because the point is, the pride in one's job that is automatically transmitted in contact with the outside world." Mr. Shemin said that an internal relations program must be created to list the areas of promotional opportunities which members of the Association must know about.

The meeting, called by Carl Sabo, will be held Oct. 3 at 3 p.m. and attended byable members of the Association, and Arthur K. Rogers, a Social Security officer. Invited to attend is F. Henry Feily, salary research analyst for the Department of Taxation and Finance.

All of the candidates were present except Raymond G. Castle, CSEA vice president, who was not able to attend.

CANDIDATES STUPEK

Joseph Feily, CSEA first vice president, left, who seeks the presidency of the Association, and Charlotte Clapper, secretary, who seeks re-election to that office, are seen here at a luncheon at which they enjoyed a snack while in attendance at the recent meeting of the CSEA Western Conference.

The Department of Mental Hygiene's haunted house display drew quite a crowd at this year's New York State Fair at Syracuse. The display was originally presented in 1953 and its popularity draws thousands of visitors who under- mine mental health, were a major attraction of the display.
