ARMY WANTS INSPECTORS

Procurement Inspectors, literally thousands of them, are wanted for the War Department Artillery Corps. It's now estimated that the Corps can utilize 700 procurement inspectors to inspect and check the many items the Army requires, to determine their compliance with War Department specifications. The War Department and the Civil Service Commission, as of December 17, had hired only 65 inspectors. These appointments were made from the list of applicants for the last Civil Service district examination, which was announced in April. Applications are being rated on the spot at the headquarters of the Civil Service Commission, 105 West 33rd St., New York City.

The Civil Service Commission has advertised several times for employment inspectors for the War Department, but the Army now wants to fill the post of an inspector on a temporary basis. Inspectors are needed in the war effort for the Army and the Navy, and the Army is looking for inspectors who are capable of handling the work.

 Employment Up.

The total number of federal employees in the United States is now 3,181,867, but the rate of employment of this group is expected to increase during July, when 21,119 new workers were hired. The bulk of the hiring was confined to Navy, 3,200; War, 9,252; and Agriculture, 6,220. CIVIL SERVICE LEADER
The promotion exams for subway workers are under way.

The record-breaking number of tests for transit employees officially began this week with the announcement of the requirements for the coming examinations, chiefly for station clerk, towerman, and motorman.

The promotion test for railroad clerks will be held here, according to the official announcement. The motorman test will be held December 30 and the towerman examination January 1.

The exams are open to employees of the IND, BMT and IRT lines. BMT and IND tests were ever held for BMT and IRT workers.

The examinations for the promotion tests will be based on the duties of the job and all candidates, according to officials of the Civil Service Commission will be expected to know the job for which they are applying. The tests, in most cases, will consist of a written examination and a practical test. The written will be given first and only those passing the written test will be called for the practical test.

Multiple Choice Questions
At present, the plans call for the objective, or multiple choice types, for the written examinations. In this type of test, candidates are required to select the best of a number of answers offered for each item.

Candidates should bear in mind that in the advertisements for the subway tests, one year in the eligible list will mean a two-year service for provisions are not eligible.

Since there have been numerous changes in the titles dated eligible for the subway tests during the course of reclassification, it should be remembered that the ads for subway tests state for an equivalent title or a transit title, of which the advertisement for those in titles which did not necessitate a change in duties.

Therefore, it is suggested, that candidates who hold an eligible title but who are in doubt as to whether or not they are qualified, should file list and the Commission decide later.

The advertisements for the promotion tests appear in full on another page of this week's LEADER.

FIRE DEPARTMENT
All subway men planning to pass the exams should watch forthcoming issues of the helpful study material.

REPRESENTATIVE APPOINTMENTS
When Mayor La Guardia, Fire Commissioner Walsh, and other city officials gathered October 11 at City Hall to review a parade and demonstration by the Fire Department Auxiliary Corps, an added feature was the presentation of the retirement of Lieutenant. A large number of appointments for first line of Lieutenants are expected about November 15.

The officers of the auxiliary will be presented to the Board of Transporation. The first line of Lieutenants is 40 in December in the IND, 70 in the IRT, and 30 in the BMT.

The most interesting set of city exams in many a month is now available to applicants. Men and women with experience in airport traffic, gardening, domestic work, office appliance machines and printing are eligible to file for the current open competitive tests; those eligible may now file for promotion examinations to court attendant, court clerk, inspector of housing and other titles.

Subway employees are invited to take the promotion tests offering advancement to motorman, railroad clerk, and towerman. These subway exams are open to BMT, IRT and IND division employees of the transit system.

The open competitive and promotional tests open for job openings $700 a year to less than $5 a day. A total number of vacancies do not begin to tell the story since many of the posts have vacancies (see time to time).

OPEN COMPETITIVE TESTS

Following the lead of the Civil Service Commission, a committee of three of the House of Plastics Engineers Associations is attempting to have their list certified to appropriate titles. The House Plastics' eligible list was promulgated November 22, 1940, after the first open competitive examination for the title. Officers of the association are Harry L. Adler, president, John Margulis, vice-president, Eugene Walb, recording secretary, Joseph B. Shinn, secretary-treasurer, Theodore Hebron, trustee, Joseph Borch, sergeant-at-arms.

Patrolman candidate!

Are you worried about taking the written test? Are you big, strong, healthy, physically fit?

Don't worry, we'll help you prepare for the test. We'll give you all the information you need to pass.

However, the biggest break for candidates is the indication that the Commissioner's Office will permit an applicant to be eligible for the physical examination by having completed the written test. The Commissioner's Office will then advise all candidates to pay a visit to their family doctor before the examination.

Candidates who have not yet completed the written test will be required to pass a medical examination before being eligible for the physical examination. The Commissioner's Office will advise all candidates to pay a visit to their family doctor before the examination.

The written test will be announced at the end of the written test.

New York City contains 578 miles of waterfront. Through it, will flow the waters of the Atlantic Ocean, the Hudson River, the East River, the Harlem River, New York Bay, Flushing Bay, Pelham Bay, Sheepshead Bay. New York City also contains 211 miles of intercity waterways, work, fish, swim, play. The problem of patrolling the waterfront is one of the most important police tasks in the city.

Officials of the Police Department think that cops should be able to swim. Officials of the Civil Service Commission think that cops should be able to swim. Professor Francis P. Walsh, designee is absolutely required before the Civil Service Commission certifies you for the Department of appointment.

Comptroller and Henry Feinstein in Dispute About Who Represents Whom Comptroller Joseph D. McCloud stated this week that "Everyone, affiliated with union organizations, can be sure of a complete and honest investigation of all claims," before his office decided on just what the prevailing rates of wage in various categories to be taken up at hearings beginning October 15. The Comptroller had asked to permit only bona fide representatives of city employees to appear before him. Teachers, skilled workers, and every other type of worker who has not as yet seen his particular group realize the prevailing rate of wages, will have their day at the scheduled hearings which are to run into the middle of December.

Henry Feinstein, president of the Federation of Municipal Employees and general organizer of the Joel Conners, Building, and Common Laborers of America, A.F.L., has taken the stand that no one affiliated with a union, Common Laborers of America, will go to be taken up at hearings claiming before his office decides honest investigation of all grievances to be taken up at hearings. Feinstein has already active in all his organization is not in the making. One department, strictly under the jurisdiction of the Mayor, is already preparing a set-up whereby "employees will be represented" through membership in a proposed "employee group unaffiliated with any other organization".

How can non-union representatives testify as to what union wages are? Or, is it better to have a union representative explain just what the conditions are rather than someone unfamiliar with the situation?

Feinstein Organizing

Meanwhile, Mr. Feinstein reports that the custodians and janitors have requested affiliation with his organization. So far as the Federation is concerned, Mr. Feinstein says, they are accepted and will be working in the International Building Service Union, Local 414.

This move is the beginning of an expected organization of janitors and custodians, elevator operators, building engineers, and other employees in various buildings and city departments, the Federation reports.

The initial move took place when a meeting was called for city employees and janitors and custodians called on the president of the Federation, Mr. Feinstein, it won't be long before a group of such janitors and custodians will be members of the organization.

"Company Union" Sponsored

Officials Secretly Plan to Impose on Employees

A move of serious consequence to all city employees may soon be under way.

It is the formation of a "company union," sponsored by city officials. The blueprint for such an organization is already in the making. One department, strictly under the jurisdiction of the Mayor, is already preparing a set-up whereby "employees will be represented" through membership in a proposed "employee group unaffiliated with any other organization." The plan will be started experimentally in one department, and then spread out through the entire group of city employees.

Unionists' move is planned in other official capacities. When will the whole thing start? "Soon" is as much as Mr. Feinstein will say. The LEAIDEN has never taken sides in straight political controverts. The company newspaper has maintained that civil service employees, who work outside with regular or semi-regular hours, have the freedom to organize a union. But, Feinstein states, "so far in this plan, in our opinion, is completely unrecognized from above."

"Some only a preliminary move," says one of the prime movers of the program. "Maybe so! why so secretive? If the program is so precious, there is no reason why everyone should not know about it."

It is, of course, entirely possible that this staging may "evoke the entire program. Employees however, are wise to keep their eyes open.

Departments Slow Up Use Of NYC Promotion Lists

Separate promotion lists for various city departments will be established instead of using the publication of a city-wide list, which was called for by the city commission. This action on the part of the city administration allows the use of promotion lists to employees in all city agencies. The employees will form a group of their own and the city commission will then hasten or speed up the complex procedure in the different city offices.

Court Ruled Against Kern

Although there is a case of Cornold v. Kern, held that a "promotion list" policy cannot be used while an open-commission plan is in effect. In this case, the commission, nevertheless, decided to continue its policy of publishing city-wide lists. However, in order to maintain the list, the commission, in one instance, has given a list from a longer list to a group of employees. The list would not be published until the list has been cleared of all those not on the list.

"How about the cost of the city, the Mayor," Pat will then be the best cop on the block. It is a tune that Housing and Building Assistant Superintendent Pat Poole, who died, is one of them and desires to be represented by the city.

If the city desired the city of the city, Chairman of the Workers' Right to Vote Committee, was elected by a number of the department, the Mayor, Pat will still be the best cop on the block. It is a tune that Housing and Building Assistant Superintendent Pat Poole, who died, is one of them and desires to be represented by the city.

STATE EMPLOYEES MIGHT GET BACK SALARY INCREASES

Precedent for payment of back wages in cases in which employees whose salaries were adjusted several years back was set this week when Supreme Court Justice Frank B. Hagan ordered that Frank L. Polk, employment manager in the DPUI, pay $516.50.

The court ordered that the employees receive early in 1938 in wages that were then frozen, and that they were therefore not entitled to increases when the Pay Board's Frozen-Wage Level went into effect on July 1 of that year. The court ruled that the employees in Polk's case, and other employees are expected to bring similar cases.

The sum of money represents the amount due employees in un- paid increases from July 1, 1938, to September 15, 1941. Yearly increments of $500 have brought the employees' salary to $5,200.

You took the Clerk Test — What Happens Now?

Most of the data were compiled by the State Civil Service Commission.

The results of the exam will be sent to the civil service officials to determine the suitability of the candidates for the various positions. The candidates will be ranked according to their scores and offered jobs in the state service.

The candidates will then be given an opportunity to accept or decline the job offers. If they accept, they will be required to pass a background check and complete any necessary training.

The candidates will then be paid the salary specified in their job offers, and will be expected to remain in service until retirement or resignation.

The Civil Service Commission will review the job performance of the candidates and make recommendations for promotions or demotions as needed.

The Civil Service Commission is responsible for ensuring that the state service is operated in a fair and impartial manner, and that all employees are treated equally.

The Civil Service Commission is also responsible for ensuring that the state service is efficient and effective, and that it meets the needs of the state and its citizens.

The Civil Service Commission is an independent body, and its decisions are not subject to review by the governor or other state officials.

The Civil Service Commission is composed of five members, who are appointed by the governor and confirmed by the state Senate.

The members of the Civil Service Commission are required to be non-partisan, and to have a background in government and public administration.

The Civil Service Commission is headquartered in the state capital, and has offices in all 83 counties throughout the state.

The Civil Service Commission is funded by a combination of state and federal dollars, and receives funding from a number of sources, including the state budget, the state lottery, and the federal government.
Plead for Young Women As Nurses Now

The National Youth Administration has announced a plan for the enrollment of a considerable number of youth in a Resident Work Center in upper New York State. These Work Centers are being established throughout the country at the request of local leaders to meet the labor needs of small defense industries.

"It is estimated that there are 8,000 nurses in the country who are out of work," Dr. Parson stated. "The country is short of nurses, and we have to face the fact that there are going to be a lot of nurses who will not find work during the war."

"We must do something about this," the doctor said. "We have to provide a way for these nurses to get work, and we have to provide a way for them to keep their skills up to date."

"We have to find a way to keep these nurses in the country, and we have to find a way to keep them engaged in the kind of work that they are trained for," Dr. Parson said.

"We must also find a way to keep these nurses healthy," the doctor said. "We must find a way to keep them in good health, and we must find a way to keep them in good spirits."

Municipal Civil Service in Wartime

If We Go to War, What Happens to the Lives and Working Conditions of City Employees?

The municipal civil service feels the impact of great military expansion in a somewhat different approach, from that of the military service, this is a gigantic national defense program. The most obvious change is in the federal government, in that the federal government is the result of the defense effort, but not in the municipal government, which will continue to operate.

Self-Interest

Self-interest sometimes looks upon us not as it does another.

But civil servants aren't interested in phases.

In one matter they are acting with a determination and unanimity such as they have never before attained: the matter of salaries in line with the times.

Civil servants throughout the country are showing that they will not be made the scapegoats of a changing economic order. They will not be made "self-interested," they blandly admit it: it is their only means of protection. If government employees don't act to protect themselves against rising prices and rising taxes, nobody is going to act for them.

The arguments on the side of the fight for better salaries are so simple and so direct as to be incontrovertible:

1. Prices and taxes are going up. So should civil service salaries.

3. The government wastes the best person it can get. Do, because it is not the government where supply and demand are still potent facts, and because private industry is also after the best person it can get, civil service salaries must keep pace.

And while on every other issue, you can get every kind of agitation among government workers, in the matter of salaries they are one. Through their organizations, federal employees are working on salary increases through blog promotion, through direct bonuses in line with the increased cost of living, and through graduated wage scales. Through their organizations, New York State and city employees are working for the same thing: In New York City, a major campaign is under way to obtain the prevailing rate of pay—that is the rate that prevails in private industry—for skilled and semi-skilled employees. Civil servants know what they want, and they are out to get it. This is what is meant by the phrase "self-interested." The eventual gainers will be not only the civil servant, but the entire community and nation.

Last week, The LEADER asked two friends of civil service what the nation's capital was. The same of the three men couldn't name the capital. One didn't know if it was New York, the nation's capital, or Washington, D.C. The other had the capital right, but he didn't know that Washington, D.C. is the capital of the United States. And the third man didn't know either. And this is the same of the three men couldn't name the capital.

The LEADER invites all readers to write in upon any Civil Service subject. Letters receive the carefullst attention of the editors, and columns may be answered by readers with other points of view. It is the intention of this department to be an open forum for people interested in civil service.

Post Office Grievance Procedure Analyzed

The outline of grievance procedure, which appeared over the signature of the postmaster-general on August 25, has not been studied by the Civil Service organization, but its provisions appear to indicate that it may be applied.

However, certain points stand out as significant in that they may revolutionize the entire grievance machinery as postal workers have known it. On the other hand, there are certain obvious hitches which make the new procedure fall far short of a genuine impartial board of appeals.

The New Procedure

The new procedure provides that three employees and select three other employees to represent them in the hearing before the labor board, to be the postmaster, the present head, or some other member of the department.

Two things, too, are accomplished by the employee who may appoint another to act for him. In the first place, the employee is free to appoint an employee desiring to return at a later time; a second, the employee is free to appoint on his behalf a person who did not work in the department.

Get Permission For Private Job

W. H.: My advice to those who seek to leave the state or city for the purpose of obtaining a job is to avoid making a decision in a hurry. However, this also means that he should refrain from accepting a position in private employment without first ascertaining that he may obtain permission from your department. A person who leaves the service in order to go into work as a mechanic or helper in a machine shop ought to be given at least a week's leave of absence for the purpose of engaging in such employment, in the interests of the community.

State or City Job?

M. G.: Whether it is more desirable for the employee to remain on the job in his present department or to accept a position in a state or city job is a matter of individual opinion.

Another question concerns transfers. These have been used in two ways in the past. In the former case, a transfer means that the employee is assigned to serve in a station in another office as he had so far to "touch" it. In the latter case, the transfer is done solely for the purpose of removing employees who leave the state or city.

Another important point is the fact that the employee may take a transfer as a prerequisite to engaging in defense activities with, the exception of the employment engaged in the defense movement.

You will see their "lads" across the City Service LEAD.

The LEADER has availed themselves of the special offer of shipping tea by the established importers here.

Some months ago, this concern held your LEADER representatives of their desire to do something without waiting a big profit they showed the cost, etc., and laid out a plan to ship tea from family's which might be interested.

Such a plan was promptly launched and the company appearing, brought the market to the front of the campaign, and now some of those early buyers are getting letters on their tea every week in Ireland, and in the case of some of our families they like the fine
