In the halffs of Congress, by every ordinance of Post Office regulations, by an announcement from the United States Civil Service Commission, it has directed the use of a standardtized application form for the examination of applicants.

It is the best in the Federal service. It is the consolidated and simplified application form used by the United States Civil Service Commission to conduct a mass protest meeting Against the Department of Labor. Registered nurses who have completed a four-year course with one year’s special training in public health nursing have a good chance of employment in the Federal Civil Service. Nurses with a diploma in public health nursing, who have been given over time at regular rates, and who are employed in the mass protest meeting Against the Department of Labor, are entitled to an increased pay scale. The new form now to be re-an.

White Collar Pay

The plan now is to be restated as in the two months.

Fingerprint, Nurse Positions Pay Well

WASHINGTON—Very hot is the question of pay raises for white collar Federal employees. When the President lays down his national budget bill, it is estimated Federal employees will get a pay raise.

If the pay raises are approved by Congress, the White House will sign them one of his staff members. Frequently the staff officer will stay with the troubled government if the job is good enough and pay well enough.

One of the most influential persons in the Washington today isn’t a Federal official. Nor is he a politician, and yet few have ever heard of him.

Mr. Brownlow has had practical experience in government himself. He held several important jobs in the early years of the city of Columbus, and he has been associated with the Federal government in some way. Now, however, he is the White House’s point man in every department in Washington, and he is the best informed person outside of the Federal government on the government itself.

Brownlow was on the President’s staff before he went to Washington. He was former special assistant to William H. McAdoo, the non-partisan administrative assistant on personnel. He was moved to the administrative division of the Federal government, where he was put in charge of the personnel in the executive departments.

Can a NYC Employee Obtain Leave to Take a War Job?

Commissioners Rice and Rodman, who head the Health and Welfare Departments, respectively, have differing policies with regard to leave. The War has changed the working conditions in city departments, since many employees wish to leave for war work. Shall they be given leaves, or shall they be compelled to resign? Is there an official policy? (Continued on Page Seventeen)

No Standard Policy On Leaves

May a city employee take advantage of the tightening up of work hours and get a leave of absence to engage in defense industry work?

A regulation that has been troubling untold numbers of municipal workers is that no change in employment is to be made without proper authorization for capable personnel.

Unofficial Answers to Saturday's Test on Page 20

One-half of the conductor examination is over. By comparing your answers with The LEADER's unofficial answers, you have a pretty good idea whether you passed or failed.

Next game the Civil Service Commission's official tentative key answers. These answers may be announced by the time THE LEADER goes to press next Tuesday: If so we shall print them here.

Remember, the Commission’s official key answers are tentative. If you disagree with one or two of them, or with all of them, send a letter to the Civil Service Commission, 220 Broadway, right away. Tell them why you think your answers were right or wrong. Add in ESS 191 (7) 91 proves your reasons.

You have two weeks to file your complaints to the official tentative key answers. In many cases, they allow two correct answers. Remember if your request gives no reasons, the request for return of the papers will be refused.

Meanwhile, if you are sure you didn't pass, start training for the next test. We'll be as far in the other direction as possible. Meanwhile, if you are sure you did pass:

Conductor Candidates; Here's Your Next Move

How to Check Up on Your Own Test Paper

This is a five-part series of articles on the Civil Service Commission. These stories take you behind the scenes. This week you are asked what you apply for the test, the day-to-day working of the appeal—what an appeal—an appeal—don’t.

A self-offer is the only appeal you get to the examiners. The way the test is drawn, there is no appeal. The examiners do not make any mistakes. You can get the test paper back in six weeks. This is the day-to-day working of the appeal. This week you are asked what you apply for the test, the day-to-day working of the appeal.

Can't make the physical test. The exact date is May 28. Write the Civil Service Commission either approves his claim or disagree. If the Commission disagrees, the matter is referred to the Board of Estimate. The appeal is submitted to the Commission. The appeal is submitted to the Commission. The appeal is submitted to the Commission. The appeal is submitted to the Commission. The appeal is submitted to the Commission. The appeal is submitted to the Commission. The appeal is submitted to the Commission.

The paper is brought from the files, treated with heated paraf- lin and handed to him. Although the examiner will not detect any attempt at tampering, the candidate is warned not to take a fountain pen, out of his pocket, before signing his name.

The use of ink is absolutely forbidden, of course.

How Your Test Is Marked

The candidate is shown how each answer is marked. Vouchers are handed to the examiner. He is told the answer may be challenged.

On the back of the test paper is a column for the candidate's signature. The candidate is asked not to make any marks on the paper that were not made at the examiners' request.

The candidate is advised to look over the paper and answer as many questions as possible.

Finally, the examiner informs the candidate that he must correct any mistakes before showing the paper to the examiner.

The candidate is also told that if he wishes an answer explained, the examiner will do so.

The examiner then proceeds to mark the paper. The candidate is given a copy of the original answer sheet. The candidate is given a copy of the original answer sheet. The candidate is given a copy of the original answer sheet. The candidate is given a copy of the original answer sheet.

OK Service Rating For Exempt Worker

Civil service employees in the exempt class who accept exempt positions will be awarded a "satisfactory" service rating. The service rating, once given, may not be changed in the exempt class, the Civil Service Commission ruled.

The decision came in response to a complaint filed by the head of the exempt position of political workers who was the chairman of the New York City Democratic City Committee. He claimed a grade 2 in the competitive class, and an exempt position under section 84 of the Civil Service Law for his employees, on behalf of the organization, and Mr. Feinblatt's said that his group is planning to take the case into Supreme Court.

Warning that the Mayor's action "creates a dangerous precedent for municipal employees", Mr. Feinblatt pointed to the discussion on the house of the following character-prescribed item in the budget, by which a number of city therapeutics and removal of job, the LEADER was told by William F. Flood, legal representative of the Association of Municipal Employers.

The Story of Joe O'Neill

Papers are piled in four neat stacks on the desk of the late Joseph O'Neill. A native of the Bronx and a member of the Civil Service Commission's bureau of investigation, Mr. O'Neill died last Thursday at his home in his 55th year. His death was "heart attack." In the course of a brief interview with a police officer, the coroner's inquest was conducted, said Mr. O'Neill was "utterly honor­able in every line of work he took on that is related to public service."

Joseph O'Neill began his tremendous task on April 29, 1949. Working seven days a week for 14 years, O'Neill finished the job on time, without error.

Born in Greenwich Village 53 years ago, Joseph O'Neill was ap­pointed an investigator with the Civil Service Commission in February, 1924. He was promoted to supervisor in 1939 and was named director in March, 1939. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. O'Neill, and three sisters, Alice, Arthur O'Neill, and three sister-in-law, Estelle O'Neill, and three brothers, Joseph Schenectady, Joseph O'Neill, and one grandson.

Mr. O'Neill died in the early hours of this morning, April 20, 1962.

Patrolman Eligibilities

A big question is up for discussion at the upcoming meetings of the Patrolmen Eligibilities to be held at 7 p.m. in Rooms 43, 60 Park Row. According to the latest report from the association the group will have an official stand on the 4,000,000 salary bill now before the New York City Board of Estimate. The question is whether the employees are entitled to additional pay for overtime.
State Civil Service Probe Is Ordered; Inquiry May Include NYC Commission

Dewey Won't Head Quiz Of State Civil Service Body

In an exclusive statement to the Leader, Thomas E. Dewey, who is slated to head the New York Civil Service Commission, said that he would not be a candidate for the position of chairman of the Civil Service Commission.

Dewey declared that he had no interest in running for the position and that he did not intend to run for the position. He said that he had no interest in running for the position and that he did not intend to run for the position.

The announcement was made by Dewey, who is a candidate for the position of governor of New York State. He said that he had no interest in running for the position and that he did not intend to run for the position.

Dewey's statement was accompanied by a petition, signed by more than 1,000 members of the civil service, who want Dewey to be a candidate for the position of governor of New York State. They said that Dewey was the only person who could do the job and that he should be a candidate for the position of governor.

From Now On
It's Captain Beagle

ALBANY—It's "Captain Beagle," the new term given to the State Police, that New York Governor Lehman has suggested for the Moffat bill which the Legislature is to consider in two or three days, according to the statements of the Governor. He had been executive official of the State Police for 15 years, before he was appointed to the position of captain, and he decided to adopt the term. "I think it is time we got rid of the old-fashioned name," he said. "It is a word that has been used for too long, and it is time we changed it."

A Career with New York State

ALBANY—"Significant opportunities for a career in the State service" are pointed out in the annual report of the State Commission on Employment in the State. After examining the 18,007 applicants for State positions in 1941, the Commission found that 3,000 of them were qualified for appointment in the State service. The Commission noted that the number of applicants for State positions had increased by 10 per cent over the previous year, and that the number of qualified applicants had also increased.

Warning Against 'Political' Probe

ALBANY—Speaking for the State Civil Service Employers Association, President Harold J. Fisher, in a statement this week, "warned" the Legislature not to make a political inquiry of the civil service commission. He said, "The survey must be of a conservative nature, pointing out that over 200,000 service workers in the State and municipality are vitally concerned."

This survey gives you a bird's-eye view of the work-situation in New York City. It is intended to keep you informed of what is happening in the war industries, and to act as a guide if you are entering a war employment or training. The survey is based upon official information.

War Industries May Hire 60,000
In Next Six Months.

In the war industries, employment has been expanding. Some slowing down of production was reported, however, because of manpower and material deficiencies and deliveries of critical materials. Although the outlook for small contracts is good, there is no assurance now that negotiated contracts are permitted, the new policy has not yet made itself felt. Many firms are still waiting for things to happen.

A recent survey of 75 war industry firms disclosed that 20,000 additional workers were expected to be taken on before September 1. About four-fifths of the labor force in this group of war industries is on actual production, the remainder is forming civilian goods. Hiring forecasts by employers regularly visited to ascertain labor requirements were projected by about 25 percent for the second half of the calendar year. This same tendency can be assumed to hold in this instance; the hiring will more nearly approach 30,000. The total addition of workers, in all war industry establishments, on the basis of estimates for these selected firms, will probably come closer to 80,000.

Peak Employment Requires 125,000 Additional Workers after September.

To reach "peak" employment operations in the war industries, according to the employers, another 82,000 workers would be required after August 31. This is only about one-half as many as they estimated in January would be needed to reach the theoretical "capacity" employment level, predicted on 100-hour per week operations, unlimited flow of contracts and materials, and adequate labor supply. "Peak" employment, on the other hand, represents the employer's notion of what he can comfortably handle with contracts on hand or expected; no assumption was made in arriving at estimates of peak employment that unlimited manpower and contracts would be forthcoming.

Job opportunities in war industries during the next four months will be largest in ordnance shipyards, aircraft plants, non-electrical machinery, establishments manufacturing professional and scientific instruments, and electrical machinery. The largest additions will be made in machine shops and related occupations, mechanics, building of aircraft, electronics, pattern and model makers, except paper, boat builders, ship carpenters, planers, tool and die makers, and structural and ornamental metal workers.

Trainees Not Yet Widely Utilized.

In only three industries engaged in war production are employers of New York City predicted to use relatively large proportions of trainees in the near future. In one branch of ordnance—sighting and fire-control—about 30 percent of 2,000 new men to be taken on are expected to be trainees. It may be added, however, that one large firm in this group accounts for the bulk of the trainees to be used.

The other two industries ready to utilize trainees are manufacturers of professional and scientific instruments, which will accept 680 of them out of this 2,400 persons they plan to take on, and manufacturers of electrical machinery, which may increase by 250 defense courses graduates among their 1,500 new workers.

Other industries ready to utilize trainees are manufacturers of professional and scientific instruments, which will accept 680 of them out of this 2,400 persons they plan to take on, and manufacturers of electrical machinery, which may increase by 250 defense course graduates among their 1,500 new workers.

City's Surplus Labor Supply a Serious Economic Problem in New York City still remains that of an excess labor supply. Two developments may help to absorb part of this surplus labor. A large aluminum project and an airplane plant are expected to take on 5,000-25,000 new workers. The likelihood of a new amphibian and military projects on Long Island may also absorb thousands of metropolitan workers. Moreover, future awards of negotiated contracts rather than cost-base contracts should be used in favor of the appareled industries as well as of the appraised metalworking firms in this area.

The increased demand for war products created by the war is causing additional labor problems in many areas. The demand for labor in the war industries is expected to increase as more and more production is taken over by the war effort. The Federal government is taking steps to ensure that adequate labor is available to meet the needs of the war effort.

DISSERTATION OF NEW YORK CITY LABOR MARKET

The Situation Now and in the Near Future

This is one of the young men busily engaged in a National Youth Administration defense training course. Upon completion of his course (time limit depends upon aptitude) he will be referred to a defense industry job to enlist another pair of arms in the drive against the Axis. NYA training is available today to more people than ever before.

More than 20,000 persons in New York City were receiving training by the Board of Education, NYA, and private schools in March. If facilities were fully utilized, however, it was estimated that the Board of Education could train nearly 20,000 more people per month, the private schools another 10,000, bringing to 40,000 the possible number of men and women who could be registered at any given time.

Job Opportunities for Women Increase.

The additional employment of women in war industries during March-August was estimated at 4,000, higher than was predicted for the same months January-June. With the exception of ordnance plants, the additional hirings will occur primarily in industries which usually employ women workers. Professional and scientific instrument firms will absorb about 1,600 of the new women workers; national and local manufacturers of women, although some of them had previously indicated an interest in hiring them.

Curtailment Orders Hit Retail

The work is clean and fascinating, the pay exceptionally high. Ask Employment for Older Workers

President Roosevelt's recent National Employment Week appeal, "Open doors to older workers," was to be repeated last week to the president of the New York State League of Women Voters. The New York State League on Employability seeks to call the attention of the public to the field every hour of every day. As soon as we can get enough of them, we are pretty sure we can find work for the majority of all these people. Our first effort is to prepare them to take advantage of the opportunities which are opening for airframe and assembly work. The telegram stated, in part; "The need for more skilled mechanics is growing every day. We need them in the country and overseas. And they must be trained to a standard that an employer will be able to get along with. It is our hope that older workers will qualify for such training and that they will be employed in the manufacturing of new machines." The telegram stated, in part; "The need for more skilled mechanics is growing every day. We need them in the country and overseas. And they must be trained to a standard that an employer will be able to get along with. It is our hope that older workers will qualify for such training and that they will be employed in the manufacturing of new machines." The telegram stated, in part; "The need for more skilled mechanics is growing every day. We need them in the country and overseas. And they must be trained to a standard that an employer will be able to get along with. It is our hope that older workers will qualify for such training and that they will be employed in the manufacturing of new machines."
In the effort to speed up hiring, the government has made special arrangements to permit temporary inability to attend. If you have been called by the agency, you may apply for a delay. The need for conductors than grade one clerk and junior typist held against the date for your exam is set, you will still be eligible. If you receive an exam card, you may take the exam any time. Our advice is that you be an active one.

Letters which appear will be answered by the editor. All letters should be signed, but names will be kept confidential if requested.

City Clerk Test

L.K.: Although the Miami budget does not allow for the appointment of city clerks this year, the eligible list which has been established will be certified for one year and approximately half of the eligibles have already been appointed. All those remaining may still be considered for the availability for appointment. When the Federal Government of the private industry offering relatively restricted numbers of persons. You will not have to pay your request through the usual channels. A transfer of this nature will be subject to the approval of the department head.

Leave of Absence Presents Problems

On the second page, the text continues:

Hodson looks up from a map as the President announces a new program to stimulate industrial growth. "The President said his aim is to encourage more people to take up industrial jobs, particularly in the fields of heavy industry and construction."

But if some of the participants had been paying attention, they might have noticed the President's promise to create 100,000 new jobs in the next year. The move is seen as a major push to boost the economy and create jobs for the millions who have been out of work for months.

"It's a bold move," said one economist. "But it's also a huge risk. We don't know how many people will actually take up these jobs, and how many will fall back into unemployment."

Circus Doing Well at Madison Square Garden

New York and most of America by this time pretty well got away from the nickelodeon, but Barney & Bailey Circus, now playing Madison Square Garden, have one of the most engrossing entertainments in the history of cinema. Their president and producer, a remarkable fellow named Nat Wilbur, has built his circus program by faithfully following his clever script, and the result is absorbing.

Racing at Jamaica

The New York Daily News Derby is at Jamaica this Saturday, and the race is expected to draw 50,000 people. The race is scheduled to start at 4:30, and the winner is expected to be Bluesky, owned by Mrs. E. H. Tribble. Bluesky is a son of the famous Blue Peter, and is expected to win the race with ease.

Wall Disney announces the start of a special short production, starring Goofy, to be released exclusively starting with the showing of the Famous Goldwyn production, "Pride of the Yankees." RKO will release both simultaneously. It is the first time Disney has made one of his short productions exclusively for RKO.

"The Big Street" is the definite winner of the film which DuMont Runyon becomes a producer. RKO's radio series, "Romantic" leads will be played by Helen Frank and Lucille Ball. The picture is based on Runyon's story, "Little Follies." Follies will play the bass boy, Little Pink, and is cast as aCPU-corporated Highness. "Oh, Hurry Night!"... unproduced play of a successful actress seeking exclusion on a ranch, by Patricia Collum, and "Fire in the Night," a new novel of film-ward Europe, by Helen Madrane, have been acquired by the New York Strand acq

Candidates Say Test Was 'Easy'

Well boys, that written test for the New York City conductor exam came on Saturday. Some 34,000 men showed up at 19 big schools to participate. We sent out a LEADER reporter to get the opinions of the men after they had taken the test. The general reaction can be summed up in the words of one burlly young man who said: "Great test, easy, too, I think I ought to make a good mark on it."

There were few criticisms about the questions. No one complained that "tricky" questions had appeared, though several of the men said some of the questions were "puzzling."

Next week's LEADER will contain the official answers to the conductor test as prepared by the Civil Service Commission.

Drafted for Defense

All the women stenographers, who reported for work at Borough Hall, New Garden, were drafted by Borough Presi­dent William H. O'Dwyer, and will be added to the borough police force, which has been pronounced by the Mayor and the Borough President Joseph D. McGoldrick the best force in the city.

These women employees, 143 in number, last week assembled in the hall of the building, where they were given their instructions by the Department, women will man the telephones in the control room, in the basement, during three-hour shifts before and after their regular hours of employment.

Over the telephones in the control room, which is the nerve center of the installation, every agency must be communicated with, in any emergency that might arise. These are the police, fire and police and the various telephones of the ward, offices of civilian defense volunteers and the 700 or more borough employees now en­rolled in the police W. R. K. Emergency organization.

459 More File For Lifeguard

The reduction of age limits from 18 to 16 years old, the year experience requirement and the elimination of the written test throughout the country to the life guard, have increased the number of additional applications into the office of the Parks Department. The reduction of age limits is effective at December 31st, 1938. On February 1st, 1938, the age limit had been fixed at 20 years.

The total number of applications received at the parks office in New York is 650.

Nicholas DeVito, first assistant, stated that "tricky" questions had appeared, though several of the men said some of the questions were "puzzling."

Accountants Can't Take Promotion

A request for Junior account­ants in the Department of Finance to participate in the official answers to the test, was in the next week's LEADER.

The Commissioner pointed out that unless and until a reorgan­ization plan had been officially prohibit the establish­ment of the city-wide promotion list. In a letter to the Department of Finance, the Commissioner stated that an examination; grade 4, test result would be ordered for the Department, provided vacancies existed in the positions. A list of those who have filed for the test will be printed in the next week's LEADER as soon as they are announced by the Civil Service Commission.

Holy Name Society of Public Works

The Department of Public Works Headquarters building, 303 West 42nd Street, is occupied by the Holy Name Society of Public Works, under the leadership of William Cronin, president, and Edward L. Larkin, vice-president.

The organization was formed about 50 years ago, by the late Rev. James Sullivan, who, according to the present leader, "was the founder of the Holy Name Society in the United States."

St. George Association of the New York City Transit System, com­posed of men and women of the Protestant faith, will be held on Saturday evening, May 2d, 1935, 8:30 p.m., at Masonic Hall, 210 West 22nd St., New York City. Final arrangements for the Communion Breakfast will be made at this meeting. Members who have not made their arrangements for this special arrangement must do so by May 2d.

Any member who does not communicate with Robert Reilly, chairman of the Arrangements Committee, or Joseph Schein, president of the organization, The LEADER keeps you up on Federal, State, and City Civil Service News.

Compromise on Cop Pensions

A compromise seems to have developed between the Guards and police labor organiza­tion. After 14 years of service in the members of the Police Department, in the position of cop, the guards have been trying to get a pension system, which has apparently been dis­carded.

It is reported that the pension system is on an average of 40 retiring men a month, and that 75 men are preparing to retire.

A retired able man in the order in which their pension applications are honored. At a meeting of the Patrolmen's Fund Committee, the pensions of the Patrolmen Fund Committee are honored.

Mr. Brown, the president of the Sergeant's Bene­volent Association, stated that "at this rate, the patrolmen who have applied for pensions will be retired in the near future." The pension board is said to be receiving "tremendous demands for pensions." The guards have been fighting for a pension system, which has apparently been dis­carded.

At last week's meeting of the ap­plicants for the rank, the members of the Police Department who have applied for the rank of sergeant, were considered. The application will be held on an average of 40 retiring men a month, and that 75 men are preparing to retire.
