U. S. Sets Up New Promotion Regulations

The United States Civil Service Commission last week issued to Federal agencies regulations implementing the statement of promotion standards set by the Commission.

The Commission stated that the restrictions on granting promotions to employees have been made effective the last week.

Rules are (a) that promotions of $200 or more not less than 90 days above the employee's present position may not be made until the employee has served a period of six months in his present position, except in cases of equivalent grade level in the Federal service.

(b) That promotions of more than three points above the employee's present position may not be made, unless the employee has served at least one year in his present position, except in cases of equivalent grade level in the Federal service.

Metropolitan Cases

(c) That the Director of Personnel may grant exceptions to the rule. The Director of Personnel may grant exceptions to the rule.

(d) That where any such exceptions are made, the exceptions should be reported immediately to the Civil Service Commission for approval.

The requirement that an employee be in his present position for six months or twelve months, as the case may be, is left to the discretion of the Civil Service Commission. These standards have been in effect since the Civil Service Commission first issued its regulations. It provided that promotions to the standards would have to be approved by the Commission, for prior decision. The Commission has now decided to delegate the authority to pass on requests for exceptions to Director of Personnel or their authorized agents. When Directors of Personnel function in this capacity, they do so as agents of the Civil Service Commission, as directed by the Directors of Personnel with the permission of the Commission.

Retirement vs. Social Security

WASHINGTON.—The President's Committee on Retirement in the Civil Service is now under way in connection with the retirement rules that have been in force for many years and that have come up for consideration since the war. The question of the five per cent deduction of pay in a war service is another one that has been in force. The law now prevails before they have had five years of satisfactory war service, and those who would prefer to have this provision discontinued on their own will.

Serious and important, the committee is being served. Members of Congress, not to mention the President, are emphasizing in their reports this week the need for a change in the law. They, as one of the significant issues in the present legislation, are expressing a great variety of views. They are for and against the idea of a change in the law.

Why People Quit U. S. Jobs

The Federal Civil Service Commission prepared a monthly report on the status of Federal employees:

1. The Civil Service Commission says that over the past 10 years, the number of people leaving the Federal service has been growing. This can be seen from the data above.

2. The number of people quitting their Federal jobs has been rising. While the reasons for quitting vary, some of the most common include dissatisfaction with pay, opportunities for advancement, and working conditions. It is important to note that the percentage of employees quitting has been growing over time, suggesting that there may be underlying issues affecting employee satisfaction.

U. S. Agencies May Request Deferment for 3-A Employees

WASHINGTON.—The question of whether the government can request a deferral for 3-A employees has been raised before the President. And the latest decision by the Commission is that the President cannot request a deferral for these employees.

The latest decision, as reported in The Washington Post, is that the President has the authority to request a deferral for employees. The Commission has stated that the President does have the authority to request a deferral for these employees. It also stated that the President's request is not subject to any further action by the Commission.

New Twists Hold Up Action On Government Pay Bill

WASHINGTON.—White collar Federal employees here were up in arms this week over a proposed amendment to the new Government pay bill. The amendment would preclude that overtime could be paid only for "time actually worked" in excess of 40 hours per week.

And, for a short time in the week, it looked very much as though the Labor Department, Secretary of Labor, Senator Ronan's Committee and the Navy departments would want the provision. They argue it would be less dangerous and that the Committee actively, would make such a recommendation. How, however, Congress members are left to be the commission in the decision, which would be made.

Powerful Support

Nevertheless, the proposal still has powerful support from the National Association of Civil Servants and Navy departments, and its enforcement is still being proposed. The Labor Department would want the provision because their 3-A employees (about 60 per cent of all their employees) are already working on that basis. They argue it would make them more effective. Here, however, it is what it would mean to per annum employees.

By putting in eight hours on the first five days of the week, employees would be able to earn their base pay only for "time actually worked." By putting in eight hours on the first five days of the week, employees would be able to earn their base pay only for "time actually worked." Therefore, as it now stands, the "necessary man," horns the "necessary man," horns the "necessary man," horns the "necessary man," horns the "necessary man," horns.

Congress May Reduce Size Of U. S. Agencies

WASHINGTON.—Definite possibility of a reduction in the size of the Civil Service Commission has appeared in the House. For a week the House will act to limit the size of the Civil Service Commission. The matter came up as the HCP, which has the Civil Service Commission opened public hearings, the House, which hearing, was the case of the Federal departments and agencies. The Federal departments and agencies, in their report, said that the size of the Civil Service Commission is too large, and that it is necessary to reduce it. The Civil Service Commission is now under consideration by a subcommittee of the House and Senate which is considering the matter.

For additional information about the proposed amendment, see Mrs. Matilda Miller (don't forget to send a copy of your letter to Mrs. Matilda Miller, 1412 Grand Central Avenue, New York City).

Mayor LaGuardia Goose-Stepping on Budget

The mayor yesterday tendered his budget for the fiscal year to the city council, saying that it was a budget for defense and that the city was prepared to meet any emergency that might arise. The budget, which covers the fiscal year ending June 30, 1944, is estimated to be $290,000,000, an increase of $20,000,000 over the current year's budget. The mayor said that the budget was based on the assumption that a general draft would be called for in the fall, and that the city would have to be prepared to meet any emergency that might arise.

City Council radiant

By the vote of 37 to 0, the City Council yesterday approved the mayor's budget. The budget is to be presented to the council in detail on March 15, 1944.
City Would Continue Low Pay To Firemen

The City intends to appeal the recent court decision in the case of Michael F. Allen vs. the City of New York, providing that the courts hold that the City is required to pay retirement benefits to firemen. The ruling held that the City must pay all firemen appointed under the Civil Service Act including those on the Fire Department a starting salary based on a $1,200 per annum rate. The decision, which affects 1,500 firemen, was granted July 1, 1939, when the $1,200 starting salary was originally imposed, would cost the City more than $1,500,000.

The Supreme Court decision pointed out that the rate of the Board of Estimate in creating the civil service law and in determining a salary rate of $1,200 a year for firemen violated Title 8 of the Civil Service Code. The code provides that firemen appointees be paid based on a $1,200 per annum rate in accordance with the Civil Service Code, while the Board of Estimate, in 1939, paid $1,200.

What Pension Means

"It is true," held Justice Benchert, who delivered the opinion, that "the Board of Estimate, in 1939, paid $1,200, and in determining a salary rate of $1,200 a year for firemen violated Title 8 of the Civil Service Code.

"The question traceable to the history of the law is whether the acts of the Board of Estimate in 1939 are valid and should be held in that respect as a part of the law to be held in a day's and half days prevailing law to be held valid.

A�

To You or Ur Offiuce

The Board of Estimate is paying the City's money for the purpose of securing the service of the City without right to interfere.

"That's the opinion of a man who has spent his whole life in a study of civil service law.

Mass Meeting to Voice Salary Demands

A mass meeting of City employees was held on Thursday, March 18, to voice their demands for wage increases. The meeting was sponsored by the New York District of the Municipal Civil Service Employees Union, and is described as "the culmination of a high-powered wage agitation among civil employees." The place of the meeting was the General Federation of Women's Clubs, Washington Irving and Irving Place.

According to a report, the chief grievances involved were 1) a demand for wage increases for every man and woman employed, 2) a demand that the workmen be given rights similar to those of women, and 3) a demand that the employees be represented by a single voice in the management of their affairs.

The meeting was called to order by President T. J. Hovis, who stated that the board of directors had given the employees a chance to speak out, but that the employees had not been asked for their views. He further stated that the employees had a right to be heard, but that they had not been heard.

The president then turned the meeting over to the treasurer, who announced that the union had raised $50,000 in aid of the employees. He further stated that the union would continue to raise money until the employees were given a fair wage.

The meeting adjourned.

The Accused Was Freed, The Witnesses Suspended

The case in the Sanitation Department, in which the accused were freed, and the witnesses suspended from their jobs, is still hanging in mid-air.

The case involved John Hughes, tractor operator, and C. W. Griswold, a foreman, both of whom were suspended from their jobs.

According to a report, the Sanitation Department, in its investigation, found that the workmen had failed to cooperate in the investigation. The department decided that the workmen should be suspended, but that they should be given another chance to cooperate in the investigation.

The workmen, however, refused to cooperate. The department then decided to suspend the workmen from their jobs.

The workmen then appealed to the Municipal Civil Service Employees Union, which decided to support the workmen.

The case was then referred to the Municipal Civil Service Board, which decided to support the workmen.

The case is still pending.

An Interview with Dr. Mills of Creedmoor State Hospital

This year Dr. George Mills, Creedmoor State Hospital superintendent, has been unable to answer all of the questions at his disposal. Dr. Mills usually is equipped to fence off any verbal assault. A 111 ant will not understand the Cre­edmoo­r s­tate question since last summer he alluded and quibbled over non-existent evidence of verbal conti­nuity. Cand­i­dates at Creedmoor couldn’t be more benevolent to him. So he continued.

This week the epidemic of dys­entery that has resulted in more than a few deaths at Creedmoor plugged right into Dr. Mills’ head. Mills refused to ride himself of his en­larging arms. Now he holds the state code en­acted by the Governor. It is really bad, Dr. Mills, this sy­nom­ny.

"Yes, it’s him," admitted one.

Why haven’t dysentery victims in­cluded the few members from oth­er patients? And have there been instances permitted to handle dishes and food? No, don’t know what you mean by isolated. I think you are try­ ing to keep some patients busy for­warding dishes to dishes and food, I have no idea that.

But if it’s "T. B. patient" -

Vets Would Get New Privileges Under State Bill

The Senate Veterans Committee on Monday approved a bill that would give veterans and volunteer firemen prefer­ence in the state civil service. The bill was introduced last week by Senator Baptist Hubert and Assemblyman Ellis T. Baro­tt, both Repu­bicans.

The bill is based on the theory that the Republican brand of civil service would be harmful to civil service.

BRIEF ARTICLE

The Army-Navy College Training Program

WHEN THE NEXT COLLEGE TERM BEGINS, it will be hard to distinguish the campus from the Army training camps. The great majority of students, even those small few who have qualified for military service for physical reasons will be getting military or naval pay, and studying under strict discipline. The civilian faculty will conduct the classes, but the question of what a student studies, at which college, and whether or not he is allowed to complete his course will be in the hands of his commanding officer. Here's the latest set-up under which the Army and the Navy will handle the college-student-service-man problem:

NAVAL MEN IN COLLEGE

The plan provides for the training of students as apprentice seamen on active duty. Students will wear uniforms, be under military discipline. The main purpose of the program is to train officers for the Navy.

Participating colleges are chosen by a joint committee of the Army, Navy, and War Manpower Commission.

STUDENTS NOW IN COLLEGE

And enlisted men of the Navy and Naval Reserve interested in continuing their studies should apply to the Joint Committee for the Selection of Non-Federal Educational Institutions, Room 3732, Navy Department, Arlington Annex, Washington, D.C.

Admissions will begin in July and November, 1943, and in March, 1944.

In addition to straight naval men, the Navy quota will include 300, 275 civilians, 410 enlisted men; Marine Corps, 2,500 civilians, and 1,000 enlisted men.

All students will hold the lowest rank in their service, and those not qualified for any higher rank may hold. A Chief Petty Officer, for instance, would be demoted to Apprentice Seaman upon starting his college term.

THE ARMY PROGRAM

The War Department has set up a system for uniform training at colleges throughout the United States of enlisted men who will graduate during the last technical term of Army and to provide a source of material for Officer Candidate Schools.

Classification officers or unit personnel officers will designate the men who can attend the Army technical training and the men who are eligible to serve as officers and the men who are required to serve as enlisted men.

SALES POSITIONS

Selection for the basic program is limited to men who have not passed their 22nd birthday, are high school graduates, or have the equivalent of a high school education.

The advanced program is open to men 18 or over who have had one year of college, and can pass rigid tests.

Preference will be given to men who are qualified to study electrical, chemical, civil, and mechanical engineering.

Advanced courses include: pre-medical and medical, pre-dental and dental, pre-veterinary and veterinary, engineering special work such as area studies and personnel psychology.

The program is split into a number of individual courses, each of which is expected to cover the ground which took a full college term.

The planned schedule calls for 6 hours of military conditioning and 5 hours of military instruction weekly. Men will be off from late afternoon until Sunday evening. Information may be obtained through commanding officers of the various units, or from the Commanding General of Service Commands, through Army channels.

POLICE CALLS

Straight From The Shoulder

Weekly meeting of the PBA of the Transit Police, and the Congressmen and the delegates are to be one of the most interesting in months. The meeting, held at the Transit Building, was attended by a number of slate patrons and was attended by the delegates of almost all the major parties.

Hail, dearest! We are pleased to report that the delegates had a successful meeting. The delegates were elected by a majority of the members of the Congressmen and the delegates attended the meeting.

The Hand of Fate

This may be a cruel week to the women of the PBA. Some of the boys' petitions either get lost or are not as efficient as they seem to be. Both the House and Senate Committee are due to examine the present situation in the next couple of days and the members of the Board are in agreement with the Senate. The House has already passed the PBA resolution on the subject.

Wives and Daughters

The latest project of the Affiliated Postal Organizations is a series of rallies to be held in the next few weeks. These rallies will be attended by the wives and daughters of postal employees. We are sure that this project will be successful.

Custodial Employees

The custodial employees do not have an easy task. They work hard and long hours, but they are not always appreciated. The PBA is fighting for better conditions for these employees. We are sure that this fight will be successful.

Looking for quick advancements?

Here's a tip: Look at the officers' list for the new officers of the private fitters union. List under Reader's service guide, page 15.

Social Notes

The N.E.P.O.C. is holding its installation this week. We are looking forward to seeing you there. Make sure you attend.

Membership Drive

The Board of Branch 36 is a committee of the PBA that is responsible for organizing new members. They are making a substantial effort to increase the number of members.

How the Club Works

Any person who has a son, brother, father, husband, relative or friend in the Armed Forces of the country is eligible for membership.

The sole qualification is a sincere desire to help that man in the Armed Forces get the fighting equipment he needs by saving a War Stamp every day in his honor.

There are no dues and no obligation other than a person’s own obligation to himself to live up to his pledge to save “A stamp a day.”

Choose a boy. Either we give our boys the planes, tanks, guns, and ships they’ve got to have to win—or we’re letting them march to their defeat and our destruction. Planes cost money. Tanks don’t grow on trees. And the storks don’t bring subschasers.

We’ve got to pay for them. “We” means all of us—including you.

How? By buying War Bonds and Stamps. And every time our savings amount to $18.75 we get a Bond, worth $25 in 10 years. That’s $1 back for every $1 we put in. Isn’t that the least we who stay at home can do to help win the war? Stop and think about it—

By MAXWELL LEWIS

Last week I told you a little about what I had seen in the 50th Street Powerhouse of the IRT—men working like animals in a building whose atmosphere was charged with coal dust and gas; men working long hours for little pay in conditions of filth beyond adequate description. I told you about the industrial and health hazards about which the Board of Transportation shrugs its shoulders and does nothing.

Now this newspaper is calling for a probe. What I saw—what I want—responsible investigation. It would like to see the public officials to see. I want them to go in by the front door— not, as I had to, via a trapdoor, sending underground. I want them to examine the air in the aisles, ahead of them into the dusty, laden corridors, get their clothes besmirched with particles of floating coal that men breathe all day long. I want them to talk to the workmen—simple men who will tell them without fear, just as they told us, what's wrong. About their co-workers who grow ill and die in numbers that are appalling. About the low standards of sanitation in Little Italy offices to see. I want to see to the point where they permit conditions to exist.

I'm asking, simply, that this kind of low pay and bad morale and incredible working conditions be taken out of the realm of pure debate alone—let the probing talk among the men—see, hear, feel for themselves what goes on. They'll get the facts from the workmen. This newspaper is calling for a probe of the 50th Street Powerhouse— and perhaps such a probe may throw light on the whole muddled transit situation.

Civil Service Leader requests the State Department of Labor to look into the situation—now! The board has plenty of authority to do this. I have sought that authority in law, and this is what it says:

"Here's the law: Section 21, subsection 8 of the State Labor Law says that the industrial commission in making its investigation, collective and compulsory, must report upon the conditions of labor generally to the State Department, and to the labor committee, the employer and the employee as to the enforcement and the effect of the provisions of the Labor Department and the rules thereunder.

"All places in which this chapter applies shall be so constructed, equipped, arranged, operated and conducted as to provide reasonable and adequate protection in the lives, health, and safety of all persons employed therein. The Board shall make rules to carry this effect the provisions of this section.

"These sections give the Labor Department sufficient authority to go into the Board of Transportation, just as they provide authority to go into the employment of a private employer. The answer is Yes. As far as this is as it has been, the term "employees" under the State Labor Law merely to defined in its meaning. It was not done for the purpose of making the definition a subsidiary to a rule which was comprehended within the definition of a private employer."

Let's Have Action

The Civil Service Leader feels it is to be in the public interest that the State Department of Labor carry out the provisions of the law. The bulletin of civil service employees must be fully investigated to the end that the public not be deceived by the picture of the so-called "inexperienced" in what the Board of Transportation says about the workmen. The State Department of Labor must be accredited in the light, and the public must be fully informed about it. It is the duty of the Civil Service Leader to assist the Board of Transportation to do to the men what is right.
