Aides Are Pressing Legislators For Social Security Passage

Legislative Approval Seen For Health Insurance Bill

ALBANY, March 19 — The State Legislature is expected to pass in the next few days, according to a spokesman for the Civil Service Employees Association, a bill providing for a new state-funded health insurance program for active and retired state workers.

The Civil Service Employees Association has been working with the state legislature on this issue for several weeks, and has been lobbying for passage of the bill.

The proposed bill would provide health insurance coverage for all active and retired state employees, regardless of their income level. The program would be funded through a combination of employer contributions and premiums paid by employees.

The bill has been introduced by several members of the state legislature, including Assemblyman John Flanagan and Senator James Sanders. It is expected to pass with bipartisan support.

If the bill is passed, it will be signed into law by Governor Andrew Cuomo, who has expressed support for the proposal.

Civil Service Employees Association President John Flanagan said, "This bill is long overdue. It's time that state employees have access to affordable health care just like everyone else."

The bill is one of several proposals that have been introduced in recent weeks to address the state's chronic budget crisis. Other proposals include increases in sales and income taxes, as well as cuts to social programs.

The state is currently facing a projected budget deficit of $6 billion.

dr. Brown to Speak at Nassau;
Will Answer Questions of Aides

Dr. Erle G. Brown, Nassau County Health Commissioner, will be guest speaker at a meeting of Nassau chapter, Civil Service Employees Association, at 8 p.m. Monday at the Elk Club in Hempstead.

Following his talk on the work of his department, Dr. Brown will answer questions from the floor. Members and their friends are invited to attend the meeting.

The chapter recently held a meeting of non-teaching personnel at the West Hempstead Fire House at Miller Place, where the problems of this employee group were discussed.

In the next two weeks the chapter will hold a meeting at the Nassau County Hospital in Mineola, where the problems of the nurses and hospital personnel will be discussed.

Important!

If you haven't let your own legislator know of your support of the Barett-Gittleson Social Security Bill no one else will do it for you. Write or wire your legislator at once, urging him to pass for passage of the bill. Time is scarce. The Legislature expects to adjourn by this Saturday, Act at once.
Upswing in Demand By Stenographers and Typists For Government Jobs

There has been a pronounced rise in interest in government jobs by stenographers and typists. The increased pay for New York City jobs is one factor. Also, the opportunity to get a steady job, without having any experience, in the Federal, State, and City governments, with pensions and other benefits.

Applications are being received until further notice, for U. S. Senate, New York City, stenographer and typist jobs. U. S. pays $57 to $60 to typists, New York City, $80 to $90. There are starting rates. Higher pay is given to those with experience.

The Civil Service Law has long prohibited appointment of stenographers and typists to fill vacant jobs, and examinations will be held in New York City. While most of the U. S. vacancies are in New York City, there are openings also at Newark, Jersey City and Bayonne, N. J., Dover, N. J., and in the Syracuse, N. Y. area. Requirements: Eligibility to written examination plus appropriate educational experience for $3,135 and $3,454. Minimum age is 17.

The New York State Employment Service is taking care of the preliminaries of New York City recruitment for these jobs, and examinations will be held in New York City. Application blanks are available at the New York City Personnel Department, 96 Duane Street, New York City.

The Growth Of Government And Taxes

Within a month the Federal and State income taxes are due. It is the one time when the public becomes directly conscious of the cost of government. It is true that practically every day of his life the citizen pays some tax hidden in the cost of his purchase — his package of cigarettes, his bushel of coal, his drink of water, bread of movie ticket — in fact, almost everything that he uses has acquired a tax.

Of the wealth of money must be raised to run the complex machinery of government. The citizen demands many services from protecting him from foreign enemies, providing for his health and economic insecurity, to providing for his children and himself in the event of old age and economic insecurity, to placing lights on street corners, maintaining the peace in the world but to prevent floods and maintain communities and good health.

The Civil Servants "New Look"

The role which he is playing is constantly being exchanged for a new one. The State is described less and has a tax-eater and more as a partner in modern living. Our association exists today only in the partnership between the public servant and the community. We exist to see that these mutually dependent parties think of each other as equals.

The Civil servant is a junior partner in this enterprise. That is why we insist that the standard of work and pay be the same for the governmental employee as for the private worker.

Governor Dedicates Willard Storehouse to Memory of The Late Samuel H. Peltz

By EDWARD LINMER

On March 7, 1956 Governor Averell Harriman went to Willard State Hospital to dedicate the new storehouse which had been named in honor of Samuel H. Peltz as the "Samuel H. Peltz Storehouse." Peltz was appointed steward at Willard January 16, 1936 and at his death on September 18, 1956 he held the title of senior service representative. Mr. Peltz had served the State Hospital Service at Manhattan State Hospital July 8, 1933 on appointment by Dr. Robert A. Mahon. He enlisted in the United States Marine Corps in 1917 and was discharged in February 1919 with rank of Staff Sergeant. Returning home, Mr. Peltz continued his work in the hospital business. After he had been with the hospital for 10 years when he was appointed assistant steward at Brooklyn State Hospital, which position he held until his death.

The State of New York lost a valued public servant by the death of Samuel H. Peltz, 58, a testy personality whose influence was felt throughout the state hospital system.

KINGSTON, March 19 — A survey to determine the desirability of closing the Ulster County Tuberculosis Hospital has brought a swift reaction from medical and lay groups.

Chairman of the Ulster County Board of Supervisors, which ordered the survey, has made no definite decision on the matter. All sons are holding the position to closing for any reason has developed.

According to a sharp protest was the Ulster County Chapter of the Civil Service Employees Association which represents the employees in the hospital.

The group not only expressed its disapproval of the proposed closing patients to Oneonta Hospital but declared the County Board was not aware of the costs involved the "mental anguish" by making no definite knowledge of its plans.

Dr. Meday "A Step Backward"

The Ulster County Board of Supervisors' action to the closing the Ulster County Tuberculosis Hospital has been called a controversy with the Ulster County Board of Supervisors. The Societies termed the Board's action to the closing the Ulster County Tuberculosis Hospital for the following reasons:

1. The hospital and its facilities are needed at the present time. The occupancy of our hospital operated at 92.4 per cent of capacity during 1955. Furthermore the occupancy of our hospital grows annually due to the increase of our population.

2. Results of treatment at the hospital is economically justified at this time. Total operational costs of the hospital for 1953 were $200,804. The County paid $104,000, or 52 per cent of the operational costs. The County paid $9,000 less. However, under our present program, $91,000 would completely leave the hospital.

3. The operation of the hospital is adequately staffed. The rate of occupancy of our hospital was 63 per cent and the average length of stay of patients was 3 months, which is the accepted norm for our tuberculosis cases.

4. Civil-service employees at present are adequate and are directed toward the needs of our citizens. The proposed closing of the hospital will result the loss of 150 employees per year and our dependents of working people.

Bipartisanship a Must For Public Employee Bills

BIPARTISANSHIP is a word usually connected with the conduct of foreign affairs by members of Congress. It means that in the best interests of the country, party politics are not allowed to interfere with the proper conduct of the affairs of state.

The element of bipartisanship is needed under political spheres as well. We urge the Legislature of New York State to consider a bill dealing with state employees.

State workers, by the very fact of being career civil service employees, are not involved in politics, and therefore they, unlike many politicians, have in their welfare and importance, both as citizens and servants of the State, the only factors up for consideration when legislation influencing their careers is introduced.

A House Divided

At present, the State Government is a house divided. One party controls the executive branch while another has the majority in the legislative branch. This is an election year which can produce conflict dangerous to employees, since both parties wish to be able to show legislative victories to the voters in November. In essence, this is a condition wherein political parties tend to work not only against each other, but also against the public interest.

We caution members of both parties to give careful sound to an employee's welfare. In consideration of his welfare, one is also considering the welfare of the State.

The call for bipartisanship in promoting the happiness and security of State employees has been sounded. Both parties should heed the call and keep party politics out of a strictly non-party matter.

Commissions Are Doing Better Recruitment Job

By making it easier to get application blanks, civil service commissions are now finding that the response to open-competitive jobs rises sharply. Also, by liberalizing the minimum requirements, more candidates are obtaining qualifications.

In the Federal test for starting a career service in any one of a multitude of specialties, for which either a college degree or a prospective one, or a "college type mind" is required, the nationwide response was enormous. Perhaps created by that fact, New York State, in its college series, is admitting juniors, instead of only seniors among the undergraduates, and will resort to intensive on-the-campus recruitment. Also, New York State is delighted that there is such a rush for firefighter jobs, a result partly induced by the fact that applications are obtainable not only at the City Civil Service Commission's office, but at the 400 firehouses, and at the City's Veterans Affairs Division.

The experiment of having the New York State Employment Service handle the early stages of recruitment such as preliminary examination of applicants, for the City's sta tographer and typist jobs has proved successful.

State-wide 40-Hour Work Week A Must for Morale, Efficiency, Police Group Tells Governor

ALBANY, March 19 — The Police Conference has told Governor Harriman that it was sure he would see in each day's near the need for strengthening police departments.

"We can only appeal to you for action to increase in crime, lawlessness and vandalism," Conference Secretary Peter Keresman said in a letter to the Governor.

"The second class" citizen label was applied to state workers by the State Department of Public Safety, which is the principal agency responsible for the development.

Uniform standard police service, which is the basis of a motion to be tabled today, Keresman said, and that can only be attained by state action. "Because no police agency can stand alone and successfully combat crime," he added.

He argued that the state's responsibility for uniform law enforcement can only be defined as it was in providing uniform court procedures and that police service is in "identical positions".

The idea is to facilitate the settlement of differences.

"There can be no argument but that the interruption of vital public services by strikes cannot be tolerated. However, the answer is not in a statutory whip held over the heads of public employees, but rather in the development of the negotiation and harmonious settlement of differences.
