WASHINGTON, May 31—With assurance given all around that a justly effective July 1 next, and with intimations that President Truman would sign a measure which did not involve too great an expenditure, employees organizations have begun a final drive to attain as high an increase as they can, and also, if possible, to incorporate a retroactive feature. The present discussions among Congressional leaders, however, revolves around a $600 increase from the present $455, which will be before the next session. The vote is there to establish a point of parity between Federal and non-disabled veter-ers of the Armed Forces and to provide a benefit much greater than that of disability retirement of $200 and $300. Both bills passed the last session with a $600 increase, but they were defeated by the Supreme Court, through their action in a case and in return the petition for certiorari was denied by the Court.

in any public works. It seems to me that the time has come, in that case to a million or more men and to see that they have a reasonably decent living.

Cripes In Correction Dept. Are at an All-Time Low

Call it incredible, call it amazing, but there exists a group of State employees with no gripes at all—none whatsoever.

This group, known as the Correction Department, is composed of 14 proud institutions housed under one roof in the State House, or more specifically, the State Armory.

The chief of the group, John A. Lyons, often described as "the most pleasant man in corrections," has at least 100 employees who are completely satisfied with their work environment.

"We have an efficient and well-organized work force," said Lyons. "We've got a good atmosphere here, and our employees love it.

During recent years, the correction department has reduced its working day from 8 hours to 6, thus increasing the amount of time employees have to enjoy their free time.

The success of the Correction Department is due to the Commissioner, the Briant administration, and the employees themselves.

The emphasis on the "all together" approach, the support from the Commissioner, and the overall satisfaction of the employees have contributed to the success of the Correction Department.

The Correction Department has been highly praised by the Commissioner, the Briant administration, and the employees themselves, and it continues to be a model for other departments to follow.

Lands Merit Award Program

The Saturday Evening Post has come out editorially favoring the New York State Employees Merit Award System.

An editorial in The Post for May 22 said this:

"Under a 1946 act of the legislature, New York State is not unique in granting merit awards to State employees who perform with outstanding efficiency in their jobs. The Post has always advocated the principle of giving awards to employees on the basis of merit, and we believe that the New York State Merit Award System is a step in the right direction.

The Post's support for the New York State Employees Merit Award System is based on the belief that merit awards are an incentive for employees to perform at their best, and that they are a recognition of the hard work and dedication of State employees.

We hope that other States will follow the lead of New York State and establish similar merit award systems. The Post will continue to advocate the merit award principle, and we hope that the New York State Merit Award System will set an example for other States to emulate.

For more information on the New York State Employees Merit Award System, please consult the following resources:

- New York State Office of Personnel Management

We believe that merit awards are an important step in the right direction, and we urge all States to adopt merit award systems to recognize the hard work and dedication of their State employees.

ONE ASSOCIATION FOR MANY MEMBERS

The real test of an association is the strength of the ties that bind the members together. Common interest, loyalty to the goals and policies of the association, more than counter-balance the natural disappointment that arises when deeply opposed feelings and opinions meet and the majority opinion prevails.

The final test of any association is the strength of the fellow-feeling and democratic spirit. Every member is entitled to his opinion and to his day in court—but when the majority determine a final decision, the minority member pays the penalty. Sound democracy cherishes minority groups that is the clash of ideas is essential to progress. But there must be decisions, and no method has been devised that is better than the vote of all those concerned.

The Association has just taken the two essential steps to a greater future. It has been one of all members to accept the verdict of the majority.

The increased dues and the new headquarters building should permit the Association to do a better job for all members—and for the public service. There is much that needs to be done, and much that needs to be done better.

Each year we face some new problems. Some problems arise with the result that the total program of the Association will be extended even longer. Some problems grow more acute and require immediate attention. Circumstances arise that open new opportunities of success if vigorously handled or that are capable of the civil service and must be fought with all our strength.

Politics and preference of all kinds in the Civil Service are the problems of the next year. We must be prepared to meet the test of the coming year. A powerful weapon in this battle is the Association's News Bulletin. It is a weapon that only the Association can handle.

Opportunity for a Better Job

It is inconceivable that any straight-thinking and right-thinking member should balk at the increase in annual dues from $3 to $5. It is the privilege of every member to have a part in the great debate and in the voting. Now that the decision has been reached by vote of the members it is the privilege of all members to accept the verdict of the majority.

state tests open to public

by maxwell lehman

amid evidence of wide popular support for a plan designed by the state civil service commission has issued a proposal to combine promotional examinations. the commission believes this to be a sound step toward reducing the number of examinations which have to be given. to reduce the number of examinations, applicants for certain titles will no longer be required to take the test for the position they seek. instead, these applicants will be examined for a "master" list.

the civil service employees association, which was called in to consider the plan, expressed the belief that the proposal will provide conditions which it deems unfair.

the state civil service commission at its meeting last week, ordered all local offices to prepare for examinations. the commission says that this is in preparation for the master plan.

the personnel officers want the plan to be flexible enough so that they can release employees when they don't like during a trial period, and at the same time can have recourse to other means of hiring if they aren't satisfied with the people on the "master" list.

the civil service employees association, in addition to insulating upon other safeguards, has asked the commission for an assurance that those on existing eligible lists will not face jeopardy as a result. the association desires retention of the present plan, and it strongly opposes to any periodic promotion examinations; and does not like the suggestion of personnel officers that they be given the right to bypass the master list. the association feels that this might lead to a setup whereby only those who fit jobs with promotions who had taken for themselves the very time they were eligible. when proper lists of qualified personnel are not available, appointments can be made from within the state service, on a "pool" from which the personnel officers have gone to fill their vacancies.

so far as to ask what would be about a monopoly of a few hands in hiring under certain conditions. for example, ask for the "master" plan—that is, the list of eligibles from all departments and then, in a memorandum: "this third type of appointment will be available to appointing officers and will be offered only upon their specific request."

the civil service commission was to accept the proposal of the personnel officers, the commission called in to consider the plan, and then take action on the plan at the time of the commission. the plan is the proposal of the chairman of the civil service employees association, who is the thinking director of examinations for the department.

the proposal provides for a system of examinations which would, at its best, accomplish these results: (a) enlarge advancement opportunities for state employees, and (b) decrease the number of examinations which have to be given. to reduce the world-load of civil service examinations and thus lighten up the whole examination program, new work procedures are considered: (a) provide employees quickly to fill any vacancies. (b) prevent promotions which are causing a differing response on the date of filing application.

major features of the plan: (a) all examinations will be given in many common titles, which includes a cost of living bonus of $700. there are five annual salary increases of $300. five annual salary increases of $120. application fee is $4.00.

What Public Employees Should Know

BY THEODORE BECKER

Basis For Non-Competitive Promotion Without Examination

In the United States, the Civil Service system is designed to ensure fair and merit-based promotions for federal employees. However, there are circumstances under which employees can be promoted without going through the competitive examination process. This article discusses the basis for such promotions and the conditions under which they occur.

Civil Service Employees Association

William A. Greenauer, national president of the Civil Service Employees Association, has been a strong advocate for the rights of federal employees. In this article, he discusses the current status of federal employees' rights and the challenges they face in obtaining fair promotions.

Football Too Long

In an election year political maneuvering has had its inevitable effect on the distribution of Federal employees, with two major parties now finally aligned on advantages versus disadvantages. This is a situation that has not been reversed as the election nears.

Heat Must Be Kept On

An investigating officer is entitled to consider the highest eligibles willing to accept appointment as his basis for recommending an applicant for a non-competitive appointment. If the promotion involves an increase in salary, the highest eligible who has accepted a promotion, in the opinion of the investigating officer, is entitled to a promotion.

What Happened in High School

High school was a formative period in Shakespeare's life, where he was exposed to a wide range of ideas and experiences that would shape his future as a playwright and poet. In this article, we explore the impact of high school on Shakespeare's development.

Comment

The Civil Service system is one of the pillars of American democracy, providing a fair and merit-based system for public service. It ensures that the government is staffed by individuals who are qualified to perform their duties.

Sliding Scale Salary Plan

A sliding scale salary plan was established to address the issue of pay inequality among federal employees. This system was designed to ensure that employees were compensated according to their level of experience and performance, rather than a fixed salary.

Merit Man

Merit Man is a. Federal employee who exemplifies the principles of the Civil Service system. His dedication to his work and commitment to the mission of the government is an inspiration to all who serve in public service.

Rents This!

Rent control is a policy that limits the maximum rent that can be charged for housing. It is often implemented to ensure that rents are affordable for low-income individuals and families.

What happened in High School

Shakespeare's high school experience provided him with a strong foundation for his future career as a dramatist. He was exposed to a wide range of ideas and experiences that would shape his work.

LEADER of the result of the poll, which reads:

"The Mitchell Bill gives all veterans a substantial point preference, granted to disabled veterans but does not provide for any preference to non-disabled veterans. The Mitchell Bill is fair to all veterans and gives all a fair chance for promotion."

The Fire Department post's vote was 240 in favor of a Yes vote on Question 1 and 240 votes against. The Fire Department is one of the most important service commissions for public health nurses in New York City, and its leader is expected to take the lead in encouraging non-disabled veterans to apply for the new bill which would provide a 5-point advantage for disabled veterans and a 2½-point advantage for non-disabled veterans.

This preference can be used over and over again, until, by its cumulative effect, one becomes entitled to promotion. The Mitchell Bill is fair to all veterans, regardless of disability, and it is a step in the right direction.

The Fire Department post's vote was announced.

Committee's Argument

The committee in charge of the bill is composed of the following members:

- John P. Jenu
- Barbara Dalin
- Irving Sommer
- Gertrude M. Blatt
- Justin Dunlavey
- Bertrand W. Orourke
- Alexander Mazel
- A. M. Ouinette
- Herbert Apoll
- James J. Roberts

The committee's argument is that the Mitchell Bill is the best that can be obtained, and that it is the best that can be obtained.

The minimum base salary for the position of Public Health Nurse in New York City is $1,700 to $2,700, and the number of years immediately preceding the examination that a candidate must file a special application is 0.

Candidates must be graduates of an approved school of nursing in New York State and must have completed one year of service in public health nursing in New York State. They must also have completed professional training as a registered nurse and be enrolled in New York State.

The application form must be filed with the New York State Civil Service Commission no later than 4 days in advance of the place, and applications for appointment will be processed as soon as possible.

Inquiries may be made as to the procedure for the examination by writing, in care of the applicant, or by telephone, to the Civil Service Commission.

The examination is open to all non-disabled veterans who must have completed the requirements of the New York State Civil Service Commission.

ECA Tells Where To Seek Jobs Under Marshall Plan

WASHINGTON, May 31 - The Economic Cooperation Administration is establishing a staff consisting mainly of technicians and experts.

S. D. Richards, Special Assistant to Administrator Paul Hoffman, told the Leader: "I would suggest that those of your readers who are anxious to be considered for positions in the Economic Cooperation Administration, take the standardized Application for Federal Employment (Form 577) with our office at 800 Connecticut Avenue, N. W., Washington, D. C. for employment in the Civil Service.

The RCA will administer the Marshall Plan.

25 Pc. Premium Pay For Overseas Now General

WASHINGTON, May 31 — President Truman, by Executive Order 6021, authorized the payment of up to 25 per cent above the regular pay rate to persons employed in government jobs overseas. The order made possible payment at the rate of 70 per cent of the average U. S. rate. It is expected the number of federal employees in overseas service will more than double.

The Fire Department is expected any day.

In the case of Battalion Chief George Quayle, the post is expected on disability, at City Hall, where the Civil Service Commission has decided to stop the search for a new Chief. The post is expected any time.

The Deputy Chief hangs in the balance as to whether the post would be filled by the Commission or by the city employment, instead of Mr. Quayle's post.

Mr. Quayle's post would close.
The bill introduced in the Council by Pedro Scheick (D., Rochester), providing for top pay for Patrolmen (P.D.) in three years, instead of five, was signed by Mayor William O'Dwyer after a statutory hearing at City Hall.

The bill was sponsored by the Patrolmen's Benevolent Association, of which John F. Carton is President. He praised Mayor O'Dwyer, the other members of the Board of Estimate, and the Council for a deserving deed well done.
