Canalers unique shop floor
100 yards wide, 500 miles long

The New York State Barge Canal is a tradition-filled, working piece of history, but that doesn’t mean it can’t change. The locks, with their polished instruments and well-oiled gates, keep working, often operated by third generation canalers (see adjacent story). Now, however, the canalers are sending boats and barges through as employees of the New York State Canal Corporation. A very close cousin of the state Thruway Authority, the Canal Corporation shares the authority’s executive director and board of directors.

A couple of years ago, the state Legislature shifted the canal from the state Department of Transportation to the Canal Corporation, and with that move more than 500 CSEA members who work on the canal went to work for the public benefit corporation. CSEA, in preparing to negotiate a new contract, has involved the members through meetings and a sophisticated survey to determine what they want in their contract.

“The canal workers are unique. Nobody else works in the unique conditions they do, with antique equipment moving the public through ‘Clinton’s Ditch’ day in and day out during canal season,” CSEA Deputy Director for Contract Administration Michael Richardson said. “These workers have a shop floor that is a hundred yards wide and 500 miles long. This is a one-of-a-kind bargaining unit, and we have to recognize that in contract negotiations.”

To do that, Richardson and CSEA Assistant Contract Administrator Greg Davis made three trips to each of the five locals whose members work on the canal. They listened as members talked about concerns regarding parity with Thruway Authority workers and their own unique status. From the first discussions, CSEA developed and circulated a survey that helped determine exactly which concerns had highest priority among the most members. Three-fifths of the members responded, giving a clear picture of what the canal members need.

The third trip has been to discuss the results of the survey and contract proposals based on the survey results.

“Before we sign off on a tentative agreement, we’ll go back to the members so they can review it,” Richardson said. “When we start negotiating on Dec. 1, our members will know where we stand.”

The current contract expires March 31.

— Kathleen Daly

To the CSEA members working along the 524 miles of the state Barge Canal, the coming of winter means a lot more than just getting out the snow shovels.

For the “canalers,” as they refer to themselves, the fall season is the time they close down the canal system for the winter and change modes from serving the boating public to maintenance and repair of facilities and equipment, a job that lasts all winter.

For many, the switch represents a time-honored tradition passed down from generation to generation. The pride is evident on the faces of the canalers, many of whom are continuing a tradition of their own, following their fathers and their fathers’ fathers working on the canal. From the polished brass handles of the gate controls to the perfectly lubricated precision gears that open and close the gates, all of the lock controls still use their original equipment.

A five-year plan to invest $18 million into further restoration of the locks will keep the canal and its traditions alive.

A message from
CSEA President Danny Donohue

Employees themselves often the best resource for reinventing government

Election Day '94 was truly a day which shook up the status quo. Nationally and locally voters said that they wanted change. Now the question we have to face is exactly what kind of change do they want.

If, by change, the voters want a more effective government then I am confident that we are ready to meet the challenge. We are ready with our vitality, know-how and motivation. But if, by change, they mean less government then I think voters will be surprised at how much they depend on the kinds of front-line services which CSEA members provide.

Our members plow the streets. Our members care for the mentally ill. Our members drive school buses. Our members issue drivers' licenses. Our members counsel the troubled. Our members issue food stamps. Our members feed the elderly....

Governor-elect George Pataki deserves our congratulations and we wish him well as he takes office on Jan. 1. As I wrote him on Nov. 9: "The people have spoken and we are prepared to work with you in a partnership to improve public services. Experience tells us that the workers themselves are often the best resource for reinventing government."

Although CSEA remained neutral in the race for governor, we certainly hope that we can forge a relationship with the new governor that will benefit all New Yorkers. And let me also send out a special congratulations to Comptroller Carl McCall, who did have our support and won. CSEA worked tirelessly on McCall's behalf from one end of the state to the other in a campaign that demonstrated the full range of CSEA's political action abilities.

Finally, as the old year ends and the new year begins, let me extend to you, your family, friends and neighbors best wishes during the holidays and throughout 1995.

In Solidarity,

CSEA family mourns loss of
Kim Hytko, 38, executive secretary

The family of CSEA is mourning the loss of Kim A. Howe Hytko, 38, executive secretary to CSEA President Danny Donohue. She died Nov. 7 at Samaritan Hospital, Troy.

"I have lost a terrific associate and close personal friend and the family of CSEA has lost a wonderful employee who dedicated her entire adult life to the cause of unionism," President Donohue said. "Kim was extremely loyal and faithful, to me personally and to the thousands of CSEA members she came in contact with over the years. On behalf of the entire CSEA family, I express my deepest sympathy to her husband, children and family members."

A lifelong resident of the Albany suburb of Cohoes, Kim joined the staff of CSEA immediately upon graduation from Cohoes High School in 1974. She is survived by her husband, Theodore M. Hytko; two sons, John M. Palella and Adam T. Hytko; her parents, Lloyd and Helen Toma Howe of Cohoes; a sister, Lori Fowler of Queensbury; and two brothers, Craig Howe of Cohoes and Matthew Howe of Saratoga Springs.

A large contingent of CSEA staff, members, officers and activists attended funeral services. Burial was in St. Mary's Cemetery, Waterford.

CSEA supports exhibit on workers, managers

ALBANY — An exhibit on the history of workers and managers in the United States and New York's Capital District is receiving important support from CSEA.

The two exhibits at the Albany Institute of History and Art highlight the relationships of labor and management from the 19th century to the present.

"All in a Day's Work: Labor and Management in the Capital District" includes the public sector, with pins and posters from CSEA. It examines the shifting social, economic, political and cultural forces that have compelled workers and managers to continually redefine their relationship to work and the workplace.

"Who's in Charge: Workers and Managers in the United States" is a Smithsonian exhibit which will travel around the country over the next two years. It chronicles the history of the struggle for control of the workplace. Organized by the Smithsonian Institution Traveling Exhibition Services, the exhibit is curated by the National Museum of American History.

"CSEA is participating in these exhibits for a very simple reason: Labor continues to be a vital force in shaping this nation," CSEA President Danny Donohue said. "We supported the exhibits because they bring that point home to the public. It's important to examine the past of the Labor Movement as we move forward."

The exhibit continues at the Albany Institute of History and Art just a block from CSEA headquarters through Dec. 31.

Board waives dues for members called to active duty as reservists

CSEA's Board of Directors approved the following policy at its Oct. 27 meeting:

Any CSEA member in good standing who is a military reservist and is called to active duty shall have their membership dues waived while on active military duty.

CSEA local and unit presidents should complete an application for waiver of CSEA membership dues for any member military reservist called to active duty. The application can be obtained from the CSEA Membership Records Department, 143 Washington Avenue, Capitol Station Box 7125, Albany, NY 12224 and must be returned to the CSEA Membership Records Department at the same address.

Small mandatory dues increase effective Jan. 1

CSEA members and agency shop fee payers will see a small increase in their membership dues and fees effective Jan. 1, 1995. The mandatory increase is a result of a raise in the minimum dues AFSCME charges local unions affiliated with the International.

Effective Jan. 1, employees earning less than $8,000 a year will see their dues or fee increase about nine cents bi-weekly. Employees earning between $8,500 and $9,999 will see their dues or fee increase 14 cents bi-weekly. Employees earning between $10,000 and $15,999 will see dues or fee increase 24 cents bi-weekly. Employees earning between $16,000 and $21,999 will see their dues or fee increase 27 cents bi-weekly. Dues or fees for employees earning more than $22,000 a year will increase 30 cents bi-weekly.

LEAP provided vouchers to large percentage of applicants for Spring 1995; 24,127 over last 3 years

Vouchers for the Spring 1995 Labor Education Action Program (LEAP) semester were mailed last month to 71 percent of eligible applicants. LEAP received an overwhelming 4,812 applications for the Spring semester. Because of budget constraints in the last term of the 1992-95 contract with the state, approximately 29 percent of eligible applicants were not able to receive a voucher for the Spring semester.

LEAP administers a tuition voucher program at colleges and other institutions of higher education for CSEA-represented state employees in the ASU, OSU, ISU and DMNA bargaining units as well as Health Research Incorporated, SUNY Construction Fund and Teachers’ Retirement System.

LEAP vouchers continue to be a very valuable benefit for CSEA members who are interested in returning to school. The Spring 1995 semester concludes a very productive contract period for LEAP. Between 1992 and 1995 LEAP received 28,164 applications and awarded 24,127 vouchers, an overall acceptance rate of 86 percent.

With negotiations for the next contract approaching, LEAP hopes to continue receiving adequate funding to continue awarding vouchers at the same rate as in previous years, LEAP Director Ira Baumgarten said.

Additional information about future LEAP semesters will be published as it becomes available in upcoming editions of The Public Sector.
New career series promotional opportunities for state DOT workers

ALBANY — Just in time for the new winter season, CSEA activism has resulted in the establishment of a new career series for state Department of Transportation workers who maintain the state’s roadways.

“Some years ago, the state had a policy called the front line DOT policy that provided new promotional opportunities for right-line DOT workers, who maintain the state’s roadways. CSEA activism has resulted in a new policy that provides similar opportunities for workers who are part of the military reserves when called up for service with the Americans with Disabilities Act; they are put on active duty; the Board of Directors met here on Oct. 27. NEW YORK STATE on Monday, Dec. 26, and Monday, Jan. 2.

Employees in those three bargaining units who observe the holidays on Dec. 26 and are required to work on that day are eligible to be paid holiday pay at the straight time holiday rate. Since there is no provision for payment of holiday pay at a premium rate for work on New Year’s Day, employees who receive holiday pay for work on either Jan. 1 or Jan. 2 will be paid at the straight time holiday rate.

Employees in the Administrative, Operational and Institutional Services Units for whom Sunday is a regularly scheduled workday will observe the holidays on Dec. 25 and Jan. 1. Employees in those CSEA-represented bargaining units for whom Sunday is a regularly scheduled pass day will observe the holidays on Dec. 26 and Jan. 2.

CSEA fighting for HESC jobs

ALBANY — CSEA is working hard to protect the jobs of the employees of the Higher Education Services Corp. by making it eligible to compete to administer loans for the new Federal Direct Student Loan Program.

About 1,000 employees handle student loans for New York state, including the traditional Guaranteed Student Loan Program. The new federal loan program is an option or an addition to the Guaranteed Student Loan Program.

Unless it can compete for the federal loans, the Higher Education Services Corp. could lose much of its work to the private sector.

CSEA has led a letter-writing campaign to convince the U.S. Department of Education to declare New York state a region, which would allow the corporation to submit bids for loan work in the region.

So far, the campaign has generated hundreds of letters to federal officials and the state’s Congressional delegation.

The union’s Political Action Department and AFSCME are both lobbying federal officials to designate New York state as a region for the loan program.

Health Insurance Option Transfer Period Extended to Dec. 14

Due to the delay in approving the 1995 health insurance renewal rates, the Option Transfer period has been extended to Dec. 14.

To change your health insurance option for 1995, you must contact your health benefits administrator located in your personnel office.

Current rate renewal listings were sent to members’ homes during the second week of November. The “Health Insurance Choices Guide” for 1995 was sent to your personnel office. If you did not receive a rate sheet or if you would like to obtain a copy of the guide, contact your personnel office as soon as possible.

The effective date of a newly elected health insurance option for those employees under the Administrative payroll will be Dec. 28. The earliest paycheck in which an adjustment will be made is the payroll period of Dec. 29.

The effective date of a newly elected health insurance option for those employees under the Institutional payroll will be Jan. 4. The earliest paycheck in which an adjustment is made is the payroll period of Jan. 5. Due to processing delays, most adjustments will be made in January retroactive to the effective date.

Insurance renewal rates for plans covering state employees

Remember, Dec. 14 is the last day to change your health insurance option. If you do not wish to change your option, then no action is necessary. The 1995 bi-weekly health insurance premium deductions for employees are as follows:

1995 election schedule for Board of Directors

Seats on CSEA's Statewide Board of Directors are up for election in 1995. The current board has set the following schedule for the elections:

- Feb. 21 Start of petitioning period: Nominating petitions are available from CSEA headquarters and region offices.
- March 24 Deadline for nominating petitions to be received at CSEA Headquarters (5 p.m.).
- May Publication of campaign articles in The Public Sector.
- May 22 Ballots delivered to Post Office for mailing (5 p.m.).
- June 1 Replacement ballots may be requested if original is not received.
- June 13 Deadline for receipt of ballots (8 a.m.).

ELECTION RESULTS ANNOUNCED AFTER THE COUNT CANDIDATES WILL BE NOTIFIED BY MAIL

July Election results published in The Public Sector.

Slate voting to be used in local and unit elections in ‘95

Elections for local officers and delegates and unit officers will take place in 1995. Slate petitioning and slate voting in elections for local and unit officers will be available.

The new system will allow local and unit officer candidates to run as a slate.

Local Elections

In local elections, a slate must contain a candidate running for the offices of president, one or more vice presidents, secretary and treasurer.

The slate may also include candidates for other offices which have been created according to the Local Constitution and By-Laws. In units which have created the position of secretary-treasurer, the slate must include a candidate for that office.

Unit Elections

In unit elections, a slate must contain a candidate running for the offices of president, one or more vice presidents, secretary and treasurer.

The slate may also include candidates for other offices which have been created according to the Unit Constitution and By-Laws. In units which have created the position of secretary-treasurer, the slate must include a candidate for that office.

Candidates should know the following:

- A member cannot be a candidate for officer and for delegate on the same slate. An officer candidate must circulate a separate nominating petition in order to appear on the ballot as a candidate for delegate. The candidate will appear on the ballot as part of the slate as a candidate for office and as an individual for the position of delegate.

- Candidates who run as a slate must fill out a slate consent form and a slate petition request form. All candidates who appear as part of a slate need only to submit one set of the required number of signatures to qualify as a candidate.

- Candidates who withdraw from a slate must complete a slate withdrawal form.

More detailed information about election slates will be available from local and unit election committees.

Nominating procedure for small locals and units

Election rules have been changed for CSEA locals and units of 10 or fewer members. The election rules require a minimum of 10 signatures on nominating petitions from candidates for office in all locals and units. This requirement caused problems for potential candidates for office in locals and units with 10 or fewer members.

The statewide Board of Directors approved a new Application for Election to Office for locals and units with 10 or fewer members. In these smaller locals and units, completion of the Application for Election to Office will replace the requirement to obtain signatures on a nominating petition.

In locals or units with 10 or fewer members, any member who submits the application and meets election requirements under the appropriate Local or Unit Constitution will be placed on the ballot.

New Application for Election to Office to be used in locals and units with fewer than 10 members

“I encourage interested, qualified members to seek elected union office and I especially encourage all members to vote in union elections.”

HIGHMOUNT — CSEA members who enjoy skiing will find a real bargain this winter if they patronize Belleayre Ski Center located in the northeastern corner of Ulster County.

Belleayre, the only ski center in the Catskills owned by the state Department of Environmental Conservation and serviced by a staff of dedicated CSEA members, is offering CSEA and other union members special rates on non-holiday Thursdays throughout the season. On union days, members just have to show their union card to get a $19 all-day, all-area ski lift ticket. Besides the $7 discount, you can get beginner lessons at no charge with every ticket. Belleayre also offers child care, refreshments, a ski shop and a beautiful view of the Catskill Mountains from its rustic lodge.

Superintendent Richard Clark attributes the ski center's success to its "exceptionally talented group of mostly seasonal employees."

Seasonal employees, members of CSEA Mid Hudson Employees Local 566, manufacture the snow for the trails, maintain and operate the ski center and take care of advertising, promotion and ticket sales. Others teach skiing, handle first aid, safety and security and provide everything else required for a top quality ski experience. "These people are professionals, and their incredible skills are matched by their creativity and enthusiasm," said Clark, a former CSEA member who came up through the ranks.

"We love our own little world here," he added. "If something breaks, we fix it. If we need something new, we build it. I can't think of anything this staff can't do from building a new building start to finish, to programming computers and meeting and working with people."

Many special events are planned throughout the season. Local hotels and motels offer special rates and packages, and there are buses to and from Highmount from points south and north including New York City, Kingston and Delhi. Call Belleayre Mountain at (914) 254-5600 for more information. Say hello; most likely, a CSEA member will answer the phone!

Carpenter Victor Kittle works on renovations of the ski lodge at Belleayre.

Skiers can't ski until there is enough snow. Checking the wiring in a snow making machine at Belleayre Mountain are Phil Rison and Ron Hull.

Fighting privatization in Putnam County

Patterson sanitation workers ‘care about this town but an outside company won’t’

PATTERSON - Sanitation workers in this Putnam County town are fighting to preserve their jobs as town officials explore the possibility of contracting out trash service for residents.

"All of us live, work and pay taxes in Patterson," said Foreman Charlie Williams, a member of Local 840. "If they bring in an outside firm, none of their profits will come back to the community."

Williams, his co-workers and about 100 town residents packed a recent public hearing at which most participants opposed officials' plans to contract out.

CSEA Research Analyst Tom Dolin told residents that contracting out is not the answer to fiscal problems.

"There is not enough recognition of the value that front line public employees provide to taxpayers," he said. "Privatization is nothing but a political quick fix that ends up costing more in the long run."

Dolin also presented an alternative plan with figures that showed that keeping sanitation services in the town would be more cost effective.

Labor Relations Specialist Richard Blair told elected officials that they should reconsider their plans.

"These guys care about this town," he said. "An outside company will not."

Privatization is bad business

Ulster County bid rigging charge shows danger of contracting out

KINGSTON — An Ulster County official has been charged with rigging bids so that his son’s firm would be awarded contracts for county projects.

Thomas Hart, commissioner of the Department of Public Works since 1981, was indicted by an Ulster County Grand Jury on charges of conspiring to rig a bid on bridge work to favor the Elmira company that employs his son.

County District Attorney Michael Kavanagh said many local vendors did not bid "for fear of alienating" Hart.

County officials are now reviewing the bidding process and plan to tighten the procedure.

Bid rigging is not a new scheme. CSEA has warned local government officials for years of the temptation of payoffs, kickbacks and price fixing when contracting out. In 1979, the Justice Department’s nationwide investigation of highway contract bid rigging resulted in convictions of more than 150 corporations and 170 business executives. The department estimated that bid rigging schemes had cost the U.S. hundreds of millions of dollars.

Ulster County Local 856 President Joe Van Dyke, who works in the county Highway Department, said he would reserve comment on Hart until the charges are heard in court, but emphasized that there could be a far-reaching impact on the officials who hold the purse strings.

Van Dyke did point out that his department has more money to spend on contracted purchases and projects than any other department in the county.

"It might be useful," he said, "for all government officials to put more of a focus on policies and procedures for contracts so this sort of thing doesn’t happen again."

Avoiding privatization and making use of experienced public employees can head off bid rigging entirely.

Contracting out water main break repairs winds up soaking Newburgh

NEWBURGH - Newburgh City officials will have to pay overtime wages to six city Water Department employees who filed a grievance after the city contracted out the repair of a water main break last January.

Arbitrator Donald E. Cullen said the city violated the CSEA collective bargaining contract by not assigning overtime to the six grievants and ordered officials to reimburse the workers for overtime pay they would have received. Each employee will be entitled to approximately 20 hours of overtime pay.

The city spent more than $4,500 to repair the break when city workers could have completed the job for $1,800.

CSEA argued at the arbitration hearing that the water main break was no more severe than other breaks that had occurred that winter and therefore, did not constitute an "emergency condition" under the contract article permitting the city to call in a private contractor.

CSEA Labor Relations Specialist Carl Rasmussen said City Manager Harold Porr was not present for the arbitration hearing.

"The arbitrator even noted in his decision that Porr was not present to substantiate the need for the contractor," said Rasmussen. "This job was no different from any other job performed by the workers."

At the first whisper of contracting out in your work area, immediately contact your shop steward, unit or local president. At best, privatization is a short term gain with long term pain. At its worst it can cost your job and bankrupt your community. CSEA is committed to fighting it.
CICERO — CSEA filed an improper practice charge over layoffs made to retaliate for union activities.

Town of Cicero Highway Superintendent Frank Rego laid off four CSEA Onondaga County Local 834 members, including the CSEA unit president, two days after the union successfully settled a previous improper practice charge against him.

The union charges that the layoffs are in retaliation for union activity, not because of budget reasons, as Rego claims.

Region starts drive to help laid-off workers

EAST SYRACUSE — CSEA is helping four members who lost their jobs because of their union activism.

CSEA Cicero Highway Department Unit President Ray Dempsey, Shop Steward Joseph Carella and members Mike See and Jim DeVaul were laid off by the anti-union highway superintendent (see story above).

While CSEA fights for their jobs, the union is also helping the workers. CSEA Central Region President Jim Moore is leading a drive to collect food and other staples for the workers and their families.

In a letter to all the region's local and unit presidents, Moore enclosed a CSEA shopping bag and asked them to return the bag filled with donations to the region office; they will then be distributed to the laid-off workers.

"Let's use this opportunity to show employers throughout our 20-county region that when you hurt one of us, you hurt us all," Moore said.

Two of the workers became fathers in the past few months. Moore said. Donations of disposable diapers and other baby-related products would be much appreciated.

CSEA locals or units wishing to make monetary contributions can send checks payable to "CSEA Central Region 5" and noting they are for the laid-off Cicero employees. Send donations to CSEA Central Region Office.

Injured member needs cheer

SHANDAKEN — Fred Scheutz, a unit president who has worked for this Ulster County town for 22 years, was badly injured when the blacktop roller he was operating went out of control.

Although he jumped clear of the roller, he badly smashed his leg and ankle. He’s been operated on once, and will need at least two more operations.

"I could have lost the leg," he said. Meanwhile, he is propped up in a special chair with his leg elevated and will need therapy to get back on both legs.

Thanks to many wonderful neighbors and friends, Scheutz has not been left alone and has had help with such basic needs as food shopping, meal preparation and other daily chores. But he could use some words of encouragement while he recuperates.

Eastchester employees approve contract

Town of Eastchester employees have a new three-year contract retroactive to Jan. 1, 1994. It provides 4 percent raises each year, upgrades in four titles and increases in longevity and dental and vision care benefits. Seated from left are CSEA Collective Bargaining Specialist Don Patricek, Unit President Joan Pinto, Town Clerk Patricia Dohrenwend and Town Supervisor James Cavanaugh.
Probation, Rec and Parks rebound from '92 layoffs

Dozens of jobs restored in two Nassau County departments

NASSAU COUNTY — The positions and salaries of 80 Nassau County Probation Department and Recreation and Parks employees who were cut in a wave of layoffs in 1992 have been restored. The reinstated employees will receive salary increases ranging from $1,000 to $20,000 since the positions were restored to pre-layoff status.

CSEA Nassau County Local 830 President Rita Wallace noted that CSEA has been lobbying extensively since 1992 to get employees re-hired and salaries restored.

"I was thrilled when I received the phone call at home from County Executive Tom Gulotta, informing me of the decision. It was an extremely long time in coming," Wallace said. "There are many more departments which were hit hard in '92 and we will continue to fight for them," she added.

Probation
CSEA Probation Department Unit President Jane D’Amico said consistent lobbying by the union, advocacy by the department’s administration and revenues realized by keeping new work in-house led to the county’s decision to restore the positions and salaries of 47 members in her department.

“Our members are career law enforcement professionals, with advanced degrees and training and with 10 to 23 years serving the public,” said D’Amico.

D’Amico said in 1993, it was legislated that offenders who were on probation for Driving While Intoxicated (DWI) would be mandated to pay for their probation supervision.

Initially, management planned to contract out the collections work until the union successfully convinced them that in-house administration was the best way.

The department set up an “Economic Sanctions” Unit, responsible for collecting fees from DWI offenders. The unit has collected in excess of $700,000 since its inception in June 1993 and has been praised as one of the most productive operations in the state.

“We had been calling for the restorations for a long time but it wasn’t until the department showed the county how much money we saved them keeping work in-house that the restorations became a reality,” D’Amico said.

Recreation and Parks
Of the major departments in Nassau County, it was the Recreation and Parks Department which was hit hardest by the layoffs and bump-downs in 1992. Now 33 department employees have been reinstated.

“We lost 55 percent of our full time people to layoffs and of those remaining, 10 percent were bumped down,” said CSEA Parks Department employee Tony Guistino.

“These restorations will go a long way in restoring some morale to this department,” said CSEA Recreation and Parks Unit President Tim Corr.

“We were hit so hard in 1992,” said Corr, “It was totally demoralizing. This will be a great way to enter into the new year. Hopefully the county will make restorations throughout the county now,” Corr added.

Wallace credits the county for its decision to make the restorations but vows to “continue the fight” to see restorations made county-wide.

“I agree with all the reasons these two departments were targeted first. Now I want to see all my members who took a hit in '92 be restored to their former positions and salary,” Wallace said.

CSEA action results in reinstatement of Saratoga DPW chief mechanic

SARATOGA SPRINGS — Al Madarassy will be returning to his position of chief mechanic in the City of Saratoga Springs Department of Public Works, the state’s Public Employment Relations Board (PERB) has ruled.

PERB ordered Saratoga Springs to re-establish the position of automotive service manager and to reinstate Madarassy to that position, complete with back pay and benefits, with interest, from last March 31, when the city abolished the position and fired Madarassy, a CSEA member.

The PERB ruling came in response to an Improper Practice (IP) charge CSEA filed on behalf of Madarassy.

Madarassy’s problems with the city began in 1993 when he filed a contract grievance after being improperly disciplined by Public Works Commissioner Thomas McTigue.

McTigue tried to suspend Madarassy for three days without pay but CSEA managed to halt that attempt.

The commissioner then filed a series of disciplinary charges against Madarassy but CSEA countered with additional charges of improper practices against the city. The situation was settled by stipulation when Madarassy received a letter of reprimand.

But last March McTigue announced he was abolishing the position of chief mechanic and terminated Madarassy, at which time CSEA filed the IP charge which resulted in his reinstatement by PERB.
Levittown SD employees save jobs, money

LEVITTOWN — How do you turn 68 layoffs into zero and save the same amount of money? Ask the experts where savings can be found. Go to the employees.

That was the answer in the Levittown School District, but the district didn’t realize it until after they spent more than $61,000 on an “efficiency expert” who was hired to find cost savings but failed miserably.

When CSEA members in the Levittown school district were told the so-called experts were recommending drastic layoffs to offset the budget deficit, they put together an efficiency study of their own.

According to Denis Midnet, who is the president of both the CSEA Levittown School District Unit and CSEA Nassau Educational Local 865, the unit board created a task force to study the staffing, responsibilities, state mandates and any outside contractors in each department.

“We had two weeks to prove the efficiency experts are not the experts with the answers — we are!” Midnet said.

“The unit executive board, Ed Maas and CSEA Labor Relations Specialist Pat Curtin helped us immensely. They made suggestions and showed us the way,” Midnet added.

Every department was asked how they thought money could be saved and things run more efficiently.

With 68 layoffs and other cuts looming, the committee met every day after school, sometimes not heading home until midnight.

“We knew there was a huge problem when the supposed efficiency experts — who were being paid over $61,000, turned in only half the report a month late. Real efficient!” Curtin said.

The team quickly realized the flaws in the report put out by the “efficiency expert” and rebutted it item by item.

The district members did not stop by refuting the report, they put together their own report showing the district how to save the same amount of money and tighten up operations without a single layoff.

The committee agreed heartily when Mary Lou Maas said some of the proposals in the “expert’s” report were illegal, some sacrificed health, safety and cleanliness, while many others were impossible to implement.

Some of the proposals were utterly ridiculous. A few examples:

• reduce teaching staff in the elementary school below the state mandate;
• handicapped children should ride the regular buses;
• maintenance personnel

Maas said.

“Like the time outside contractors put a new roof on one of the schools and it leaked until the in-house staff repaired it,” Mike Gunn said.

“We counted over 2,000 hours lost just to clean up after the contractor’s work.” Ed Maas said.

“We had so many occasions where rooms were cleared and events were rescheduled for contractors to perform work and they never showed up,” Carey said.

In addition to saving jobs, saving taxpayers money and proving outside contracting is no good, the CSEA team said the experience taught them more about each other’s work.

“This experience really educated us to what each department does. It united us.” Mary Lou Maas said.

CSEA Long Island Region I President Nick LaMorte said, “Other districts should be forewarned not to waste money on bogus efficiency experts. If they need answers, ask the real experts — ask the employees!”

Employees in two school districts ok three-year pacts

Mount Sinai contract has many gains

MOUNT SINAI — CSEA members in the Mount Sinai School District overwhelmingly ratified a memorandum of agreement calling for substantial salary adjustments and percentage increases for the 75 secretaries, nurses, custodians, and aides who make up the unit.

The three-year contract includes:

• Salary Increases — Full time secretaries, nurses, and custodians: 1994-95 — $1,000 adjustment; 1995-96 — $500 adjustment plus 3 percent; 1996-97 — $500 adjustment plus 3 percent.
• Aides — 1994-95 — 39 cents an hour adjustment; 1995-96 — 20 cents an hour adjustment plus 3 percent; 1996-97 — 20 cents an hour adjustment plus 3 percent.
• Longevity for aides — After 10 years — 15 cents an hour; after 15 years — 10 cents an hour additional; after 20 years — 10 cents an hour additional.

There are also increases in longevity for aides and full time employees, an increased night differential, increased sick leave accruals for nurses, improved language regarding vacation, two additional floating holidays and the option for custodians to work five consecutive days.

CSEA Unit President Dorette Christiansen and CSEA CBS Irwin Scharfeld negotiated the agreement. The unit is part of Suffolk Educational Local 870.

Brentwood pact covers 375 members

BRENTWOOD — The Brentwood School District Teacher Aides Unit of CSEA Suffolk Educational Local 870 recently ratified a new collective bargaining agreement.

The contract which covers 375 members, calls for 3.5 percent in the first year, 3.75 percent in the second year and 4.0 percent in the third year.

According to CSEA CBS Irwin Scharfeld, the pact also increases longevity payments and sick days for teacher assistants working in the summer school program.

Scharfeld led negotiations. Unit President Dorinda Hagstrom headed the negotiating team, which included: Elizabeth McKean, JoAnne Kaszela, Theresa Pernice, Angie Delloiaco, Shirley Giannone and Lynn Sutherland.

Union Driver & Traveler benefit

The Union Driver & Traveler benefit can help you save money whether you’re traveling by car, bus, train or plane. It’s a motor club, travel service and auto repair service — all in one.

Many travel programs, repair services and motor clubs charge individuals fees of $75 to $125 or more, and their services are limited. Union Driver & Traveler costs only $39.95, comes with a money-back guarantee, and covers all household family members.

The Cross Country Motor Club benefits include:
- Convenient, 24-hour 800-number phone service
- Up to $100 worth of emergency roadside services or towing per disablement, 24 hours a day nationwide

All this and more for just $39.95. To enroll, or for more information, call toll-free 1-800-547-4663 (TDD 1-800-747-2128) 24 hours a day, 365 days a year.

What's stopping you from owning a home of your own?

CSEA realizes that for many of you, it’s not the monthly payment — it’s the large amount of money required for the downpayment and closing costs. Now there’s a way to overcome these obstacles:

The Empire Home Mortgage Program

- Low downpayment means less money needed to buy your home
- Closing costs may be funded with a gift from a relative, or a grant or unsecured loan from a nonprofit organization or public entity
- Borrow with peace of mind as the low interest rate mortgage is fixed for the entire 15 or 30 years (whichever you choose). Your rate will never go up. And there’s no prepayment penalty if you pay off early
- Qualifying for your mortgage will be easier due to relaxed guidelines on total debt amount you may have
- Competitive interest rates mean lower, more affordable monthly payments
- And if you’re thinking about refinancing, refinance plans are also available

CSEA members can take advantage of this program by calling the Empire Home Mortgage Program at 1-800-377-2989.
