CSEA Charges Thruway Authority With Discrimination

ALBANY—The 170,000-member Civil Service Employees Association, said today that it is being discriminated against by the State Thruway Authority and at the same time acknowledged the Authority of following an anti-employee policy.

In a sharply-worded statement, Dr. Theodore G. Wendl, CSEA president, charged the Thruway administration with "hiding behind the skirts of the Taylor Law in not recognizing CSEA as the bargaining agent for Thruway employees even though the labor organization represents the overwhelming majority of the employees.

"The Authority has procrastinated for almost a year in recognizing a bargaining agent, despite the fact that last September we submitted legitimate evidence in the form of payroll dues deduction authorizations showing that 1,700 of the 2,100 Thruway employees were members of CSEA."

We presented the same type of evidence to the State and were recognized on that basis, the first criterion under the Taylor Law. This high-handed dallying must stop," the CSEA chief declared.

"During the last year, Thruway officials have refused to meet with our people on a number of occasions and little has come out of the few meetings we did have," Wendl continued. The CSEA leader made specific reference to a second-stage grievance hearing last May 28 in which CSEA presented a list of 43 grievances.

"They acquiesced on a few minor points," he said, "but either said 'no' to some or simply refused to answer at all on many points. This, in effect, has left Thruway workers without any remedies."

Local Mini-PERBs Spur Recognition Drives By CSEA

ALBANY — The Public Employment Relations Board has approved local procedures for the establishment of "mini-PERBs" in the City of Auburn and the town of Amhurst, thus opening the door for recognition drives in those localities by the Civil Service Employees Association.

The State PERB must see the substantial conformity of the local units, statewide procedures in establishing the boards, which will serve as impartial agencies exercising functions and responsibilities comparable to those of the State Board.

A CSEA spokesman expressed confidence that local chapters would soon be recognized in both areas. They said, "With CSEA already recognized in 44 counties, and more than 200 other local governmental jurisdictions, we offer employees in both Auburn and Amhurst their best bet of proper representation. We have the experience that they need in negotiating contracts that provide real benefits." The spokesman added.

Ogdensburg Aides Prove Teamsters Claim Wrong

OGDENSBURG—The Teamsters, seeking the favor of blue collar workers in the City of Ogdensburg, found themselves out in the cold as a result of a representation election conducted last week by the State Public Employment Relations Board.

The union absorbed one of its worst beatings in a representation election, to date, as the blue collar workers chose the Civil Service Employees Assn. as their bargaining agent by a margin of 33 to 7. One vote was challenged while one worker cast a ballot against any representation.

Sources indicated that it appeared all eligible voters cast a ballot in the election which had been sought by the Teamsters. The union claimed that the affected workers did not want CSEA to represent them. James Bateman, president of the Ogdensburg City unit, recognized bargaining agent for virtually all City employees, said: "The outcome of last week's vote certainly shoots down any claim by the union that the employees want any one else, other than CSEA, to represent them."

CSEA and the City are in the process of finalizing a recently negotiated contract for blue collar workers and other City employees, according to Robert Guild, CSEA field representative, who helped coordinate CSEA's participation in the election.

Cooperation

NEW YORK City firefighters are now working overtime in cooperation with the City Administration in order to temporarily solve the critical manpower shortage within that department.

While the City was adamant against additional manpower, the firefighters agreed to work overtime in order to provide the necessary personnel. Within an hour before the slowdown was to take place, the City acquiesced and promised that 500 additional men would be added to the budget as soon as they could be trained. While the firefighters themselves believe that this number is inadequate, the City authorized fact-finding to see if and how many additional men over the 500 promised would be necessary.

To put the 14 new units on the street within ten days, everyone cooperated. The unions and the department's Bureau of Personnel and Administration worked over the overtime schedule. Deputy Commissioner Raymond Nolan, in charge of the department's Bureau of Buildings, made provisions for lockers, beds and the like by working through the night on several occasions to find the necessary equipment. Battalion Chief Burton Clark and his men of the Division of Repairs and Transportation worked feverishly to get additional apparatus in shape for the companies which were in service on Saturday morning. The Fire Commissioner, Robert O. Lowery, spent many sleepless nights also, coordinating all phases of the operation while the City's Budget office searched the budget to find the additional money needed to provide the overtime salary and equipment so vital to the operation.

What was proved by this implementation of additional firefighting services in so short a period is that government, working together with its employees, can do what is often thought impossible.

To all those who cooperated to bring better service to the people of the City of New York, we say congratulations for a job well done.

Miss Matero Cited IRS Woman Of Year

The Internal Revenue Service has named as Woman of the Year Mrs. Ann Marie Matero, recently promoted to group supervisor and the Manhattan District's first female supervisor of a field audit group. She is a graduate of the Regional Management Control Program (RMCP), and presently supervisor of Field Audit Group 003.

Ann Marie joined the Internal Revenue Service in 1949 as a clerk-typist, an occupation which was then part of the clerical field for women. Her voice rose through the ranks and after a series of increasingly responsible positions, she was appointed as a field examiner for income and excise taxes. Prior to her promotion to group supervisor she was a member of the Collector's Staff at New York City.

In her new assignment, Ann Marie is responsible for the performance and conduct of all clerical and clerical employees assigned to work in her group. Her principal function is to see that they are working efficiently and effectively in the examination of Federal tax returns.

The Red Cross Blood Program collects almost 3,000,000 units of blood each year from volunteer donors. It provides whole blood and blood components to 4300 hospitals on a regular basis.

It makes available to physicians
... Serum albumin for emergency treatment of shock.
... Gamma globulin for protection against hepatitis and other diseases.
... Fibrinogen for control of hemorrhaging in childbirth.
... Vaccinia immune globulin, the only specific treatment for severe complications from smallpox vaccinations.

The program reaches a combined population of 112,000,000.

The Red Cross Blood Program also devotes time and funds to a program of research in three main areas:

... Low temperature preservation
Automated blood grouping and typing
... Development of new blood products

Name Attorney To Housing Post

ROBERT C. ROSENBERG, a 33-year-old attorney who specializes in real estate law, has been appointed assistant HDA administrator for Special Programs, Jason R. Nathan, Housing and Development Administrator, has announced.

Mr. Rosenberg will join the Lindsay Administration in September and will replace William J. Diamond, who resigned recently.

"In this important post, Mr. Rosenberg's main assignment will be to provide leadership in developing new programs and strengthening existing efforts to stem the deterioration and abandonment of buildings in New York City," Mr. Nathan said.

Mr. Rosenberg is with the mid-town law firm of Carro, Spanbock & Lefkow. He is law chairman of the Bronx Borough Democratic Committee for Responsible Republican Action and was president of the Riverdale Republican Club from January, 1964, to January, 1968.

The massive $unruner program of New York City's Board of Sanitation, serving an estimated 700,000 students and adults and costing $24,000,000 in City and federal funds, is entering its final stages.

School programs will close this week, with recreation programs scheduled to end later in the summer.

Effective today, August 13, 168 elementary schools end classes for 47,050 pupils, an increase of 12,900 over original estimates.

On Wednesday night, 2,300 men and women attend their final classes of summer school to earn their elementary school equivalency certificates.

The end of this week marks the close of summer school for 17,500 students in 19 junior high schools, 77,000 high school students in day classes and another 13,000 in evening high schools.

Also on Friday, 17,500 children in Early Childhood Centers end their summer season.

The summer elementary schools have been helping students with remedial courses in English and mathematics, giving enrichment courses in music and art, and teaching gifted children with emphasis on language arts, social studies, mathematics and science.

City Sets Plans For Jan. R. R. Porter Test

A tentative examination date for the position of railroad porter for the New York City Transit Authority has been set for January 4, 1969. Filing of applications is expected to begin in October $3.18 to $5.51 per hour.

At the time of the last such examination, in June, 1968, there were no formal education or experience requirements to take the examination. Candidates were required to pass a written test to determine general knowledge, reasoning ability, understanding with respect to given rules and procedures, safety concepts, interpretation of instructions and relationships with passengers.

Duties of the railroad porter include cleaning, sweeping and washing of subway and elevated stations including steps, platforms, recesses, tile walls, wash rooms, relieve railroad clerks when necessary, and perform such other duties as the New York City Transit Authority is authorized to prescribe.

Further information about the railroad porter examination will be printed in the New York City Transit Department's Syracuse edition. The examination for plastersers has been set tentatively for December 14, 1968. Requirements included, at the time of the last such examination, at least five years of full-time paid experience as a plasterer or three of experience with sufficient acceptable related paid or part-time paid experience as a plasterer's apprentice.

For more information about the plasterer examination, follow The Leader.

Read Any Good Health Insurance Contracts Lately?

The "small type"—and even the not-so-small type—can make pretty dull reading. But the material they cover can be mighty important to your health and to your pocketbook.

For example—

What is this new Family Doctor Plan that many GHI groups are switching to?

GHI's new Family Doctor Plan not only pays substantially higher allowances for many services, it also makes Specialist Consultations paid-in-full benefits.

When can groups get these new benefits?

Immediately—or at the end of their contract date with GHI or, if it is a collective bargaining situation, at the next contract.

Are public employees protected by GHI's new Family Doctor Plan?

Federal employees—since January 1, 1968. State employees—since April 1, 1968. GHI's new Family Doctor Plan can fill your group's needs. Now is the time to urge your employer or union representative to investigate GHI's New Family Doctor Plan.

Over 375,000 Civil Service workers and their dependents are enrolled as GHI subscribers.

Summer School Aids in Teaching English

Summer programs in New York City's public schools are making special programs available on behalf of 90,000 children and 1,000 adults of Hispanic origin who need help in improving their English.

In Early Childhood Centers which concentrate on improving listening and speaking skills in order to prepare the young child for the school year ahead, teachers and educational assistants are provided to work in areas with large concentrations of children of Hispanic origin.

The elementary school levels grades 1 through 6, a total of 1,800 children are studying in 43 schools in the Elementary School Districts and the Bronx.

Defenders Of NDEA

Qualified teachers conduct intensive 46-minute sessions daily working with small groups of eight to 10 children. The groups are equipped with the tools of their knowledge of English and their capacity to learn. Junior high and high schools have bilingual English as a second language.

The prepare additional teachers for bilingual instruction, four special institutes are under way under the University of four-credit hour classes.

CIVIL SERVICE LEADER

Prof. predicts more men will become grade school teachers

"The war in Vietnam is rapidly increasing the ranks of male teachers in the elementary schools," according to Brooklyn College professor of education, Dr. Terry Schwartz.

"And the trend which is evident in the assertion on the enrollment in STEP, the college's Special Teacher Education Program of 1,000 students, is a substantial financial incentive for qualified men. STEP is operated by the Board of Regents and conducted by the Department of Education at the Brooklyn College under the direction of Dr. Charles L. Schwartz and financed by a $50,000 grant from the New York City Board of Education and the State Board of Education. It accelerates the training of college graduates to meet the critical shortage of elementary grade teachers in the public school system.

"Of the 200 graduates enrolled in the STEP program this summer, 23 are women and 177 are men. This is a clear indication of the necessity of the National Defense Education Act," said Prof. Schwartz.

"These men intend to teach in the schools of the New York City public schools, proving their English.

"Children need to relate to both men and women, and a strong professional group can have a profound effect on the development and motivation of the field."

Prof. Schwartz sees the trend toward male elementary school teachers as inevitable and leading to eventual male dominance of the field.

"And," she said, "the group helps to change the image of the job from the women. For instance, salaries will continue to climb because men, as heads of families, will fight a harder wage battle. Higher salaries and long vacations will make the teaching profession more attractive to men and more competitive with private industry.

Polaski School Aides Receive $500 Boost  In One-Year Contract

(From Leader Correspondent) OWSego—Non-teaching employees represented by Os­ wego chapter, Civil Service Employees Assn., and the administration of the nearby Polaski School District have signed a one-year contract covering across-the-board annual pay raises and other contractual gains. Francis G. Miller, Oswego chap­ ter president, said the pay in­ crease as well as other contractual gain­ es were an answer to the need that had been stressed at mutual negotiations for several weeks and agreement must be reached by Sept. 1 to keep the eligibility list current.

Negotiate Now! Nassau Chapter Tells County

(From Leader Correspondent) MINEOLA—In urgent let­ ters to Hempstead Town Supervisor Ralph C. Casa and Oyster Bay Supervisor Michael N. Perito, the Nassau chap­ ter of the Civil Service Employees Assn. has demanded an imme­ diate start of negotiations for future contracts.

"There is no obstacle, legal or otherwise, to the immediate start of negotiations," chapter presi­ dent Irving Flaumenbaum as­sured in the letters. "Time is of the essence."

Polaski School chapter of the chapter board of supervisors' meeting resulted in the county­ level negotiations should also be started immedi­ately.

Town of Hempstead Supervi­ sor Robert J. Menafe has noti­ fied unit chairmen Alexander Muka that negotiations were be­ ing completed for the early start of talks. Kelly Retires After 43 Years
CSEA Activist Drafted Laws

ALBANY—A testimonial dinner tonight at the Thruway Ave., Albany, will greet J. Earl H. Tully as a retirement and compensation since 43 years in New York State classifications. Mr. Tully's classification and chairman of the Classification Board until his retirement in 1949, when he became the director of the agency.

Kelly was also active in the Public Personnel Association, and received its Charles H. Chairman Award in 1962 for outstanding achievements in the field of public personnel administration and his leadership in planning and carrying out a complete modernization of the State's salary plan.

Thanksgiving W'end in London—Only $198

Members of the Civil Service Employees Assn. are offered a Thanksgiving W'end in London—only $198 which will leave New York on Wednesday, Nov. 27 and return on Nov. 29. This unusual package includes round trip air fare, rooms at the luxury class hotel Royal Lancaster, and admission to all other activities, for all $198. These wishing to purchase the air fare only may do so for $159.

Immediate application should be made by mailing to the New England Personnel Personnel, P.O. Box 91, Springfield, Mass.; telephone 4-4545.

CSEA was forced to vacate the latter premises, occupied since 1949, because of overcrowded conditions resulting from a gradual expansion of its professional staff, which now numbers more than 150.

The building stands on the site of three smaller buildings, once occupied by prominent Albany families.

With the added space, CSEA has also been able to increase its secretarial force and printing facilities to keep up with the ever-increasing demands of its membership.

The first floor contains a spacious hall, complete with modern facilities, the second floor houses the executive offices, the third floor contains the State and local government employees' offices and the main focus of the Association.

The third floor includes a large, modern, printing and mailing facility and offices for the director of personnel, director of education, collective bargaining specialists, and Swinton. An area on the third floor, currently vacant, will be used to mount the growing needs of the Association.
