Filing Now Open for 35 State Exams

Filing has just been opened by the State Civil Service Dept. for a new series of exams, including 15 State-wide tests. The rest are open to residents of certain counties and villages. Some of these are to be written, while the remainder are unwritten tests. Full requirements start on page 9.

Tentative Answers for Fire Lieut. Test

Tentative answers to the questions given Saturday by the Municipal Civil Service Commission in the promotion exam to Lieutenant, Fire Department, taken by 2,000 men, appear on page 14.

Firemen Score Slam in Leader '600'

Sanford Goldberg lived up to his name of "the flying fireman" Saturday night, when he outstepped a field of Civil Service track stars to win the 600-yard handicap special at the Grover Cleveland Club meet. Two firemen were right behind him. Civil Service Leader trophies were presented to the winners by United States Senator James M. Mead. Story on page 20; pictures on pages 3 and 20.

204 ON CITY MARSHAL LIST

See Page 17
The present list for Fireman expires December 15, 1941, and all of the eligibles on the present Partnership List should be appointed before that time. Consequently, both examinations should be held in 1941.

Because of the keen competition and type of examination, few can prepare properly for these competitive positions where 80 to 90% of the personnel of the Department and be examined by one of our physicians without obligation.

The eligible list for Social Insurance will be available immediately after the 2,500th candidate in the examination was the grade received by Milton Schwartz, chairman.

The eligible list for the Social Insurance Test was originally announced as nearly 600 employees that the DPU employees are selected from State Civil Service examinations and are members of the State Retirement System. Moreover, he added, the State Commissioner of Taxation ruled that it is expected that the written examination will be held in groups of 20 Department employees and under this ruling they paid State Income taxes.

New Pension Bills Dominate State Legislative Session

Sixteen bills affecting Civil Service employees were introduced in the Senate and Assembly last week. They touch on a wide variety of subjects—pensions, hours of work, qualifications for Civil Service examinations, dismissals, death benefits, etc. Pension bills dominated last week's legislation. Assemblyman Lloyd J. Babcock was the author of two bills, one which would permit a municipality to issue serial bonds for the playing liabilities of its pension or retirement system when it is not on an actuarial reserve basis. The system would have to be maintained on an actuarial basis after the bonds were issued.

Another Babcock bill provides retirement allowances of one-half the average annual salary for any five-year period and an annuity based on accumulated contributions to the retirement fund for every honorably discharged war veteran or nurse in war, disabled in actual line of duty, who has served 20 years in the State Civil Service. Such pensions would be granted upon request and would continue for life. In the Senate, William J. Murray introduced a bill to provide for pensions at one-half the salary during the last year of employment in Civil Service for veterans of the Spanish-American War, the Philippine Insurrection, and the Boxer Rebellion.

Robert J. Crews added a retirement bill in the Assembly which would permit all employees of the City Civil Service to retire as of Jan. 1, 1932, including those who have withdrawn more than one-fourth of the accumulated deductions since beginning appointment with the pension system.

A bill affecting removals from the service was sponsored in the Assembly by Daniel E. Fitzpatrick, president of the State Insitutions for the Insane, which can be removed only on written charges after a hearing. Such employees would be suspended, rather than dismissed, pending the outcome of a hearing. A copy of the proceedings would be given the employee and another filed with the State Civil Service Commission.

New Civil Service Federation Asks Incorporation Powers

A hearing on the proposed incorporation of the newly organized Federation of Municipal Employees was held Thursday before the Board of Standards and Appeals. Assemblyman Lloyd J. Babcock, attorney for the Federation, and Henry Feinstein, president of the group, appeared in support of approval of the incorporation. Representatives of several AFL unions opposed the incorporation on the grounds that the AFL already had jurisdiction in the Civil Service field and that it would not be in the best interest of Civil Service employees to permit the incorporation of additional employee organizations.

In support of their application, President Feinstein pointed out that, despite the work the AFL may have done in the Civil Service field, a municipality still retains the right to recognize other employee groups.

In a statement concerning the application, President Feinstein said: "The problems of Civil Service employees are so varied and require organization by the members themselves without affiliation with unions whose principal concern is outside the Civil Service field. The Federation of Municipal Employees intends to be the organization in the field that will actively, honestly and militarily organize for the interest of all the civil employees."

Decision on the application for incorporation will be made by the Board of Standards and Appeals.

Janitor Engineers Will Take Practical Exam

Three hundred and four candidates who passed the written examinations for Janitor Engineers will take the practical examinations today at the Brooklyn Technical High School, Ft. Greene Ave. and Ft. Greene Place, Brooklyn.

Bill Provides 5-Day Week in City, State

The five-day week was sought for both State and city employees last week in measures introduced respectively in the State Legislature and in the City Council.

Assemblyman Robert F. Wagner, Jr., of Manhattan, introduced a measure in Albany which grants the five-day week to all State workers, except those in the State Police and members of the Dept. of Mental Hygiene. It provides further that the five-day week is automatically suspended during emergencies.

Councilman Harry W. Lavinder and Salvatore Nino, AFL legislators from Brooklyn, respectively, introduced a similar measure into the Council providing for the five-day week for all employees but limited members of the Board of Education. In addition, the two days off are to be Saturday and Sunday unless otherwise determined by agency heads. The bill was referred to the Committee on Civil Employees.

500 Climbers, Pruners Will Take Test Saturday

Nearly 500 candidates, out of an original 1,400 who applied, will take a written exam for Climber and Pruner jobs on Saturday, the Municipal Civil Service Commission announced yesterday. The eligible for the test whose experience blanks showed that will actively, honestly and militarily organize employees to permit the incorporation of additional employee groups.

Nearly 500 candidates, out of an original 1,400 who applied, will take a written exam for Climber and Pruner jobs on Saturday, the Municipal Civil Service Commission announced yesterday. The eligible for the test whose experience blanks showed enough amount of training for the real world.

The written test will be held at the George Washington High School, 23rd St. and Aschburn Ave., Manhattan. Climber and Pruner applicants who pass the written exam will be called later for medical and physical examinations.

The following medical-physical requirements were announced by the commission yesterday: For vision—20/20, both eyes at once, eyeglasses allowed; normal heart, lungs and hearing; no paralytic or disabling paralysis or other disease, injury or abnormality which impairs health or usefulness; normal strength, shown by lifting a 35-pound dumbbell in the right hand and a 50-pound one in the left. Blindness in one eye will not disqualify.
Congress Appropriates

THE action of the House of Representatives last week in approving an increased ap­propriation for the Civil Service Com­mission is to be commended. The total for 1945 is $8,000,000, and though this is $5,000 less than the commission requested and the House Appro­priations Committee recommended, it is an increase of $1,500,000 over the amount allotted for the current year.

The year is seeing that the Civil Service commission sorely needs additional funds. In its annual report, re­leased two weeks ago, it painted a startling picture of an important government agency "being starved to death." It pointed out that it was able to do only a fraction of the work, such as the grading of examination paper and psychological tests, for which it is scheduled. And it added that the United States' pre­paredness program adds a heavy burden to its already overworked present.

While Congress has done a good job by giving more funds to the U. S. Civil Service Commission, yet the action of the House last week in refusing to appropriate $25,000 a year to continue the Council of Personnel Management, is a serious omission. Un­fortunately, one believes allegations that certain leaders in Congress are disinterested in the merit system and wish it to remain in effluence.

On a piddling appropriation the Coun­cil of Personnel Management is a program co-ordinating federal re-employment.

The council operated on the prin­ciple that it could act as a go-between with personnel officers, so that one department, which was hiring an em­ployee, could take a person from another department which was curtailting its staff.

What of the Future?

THROUGH the turmoil being stirred by the pension hearings, one thing is quite clear. That is, those who are to enter the Police and Fire departments from now on have no indication what they will be called upon to contribute. Estimates have reached as high as $3,000,000 a year, and it may discount this as having been heightened by the heat of battle, no one has yet given a definite counter figure. Last January the city had expressed the pension settlement—and still does—realizing that it has been a serious dif­ficulty for the city at the time.

However, in fairness to the Civil Service employees of the past, and to the men who are about to enter, one wonders on this question, what will the Policemen and Firemen-to-be have to pay?

City Commission Budget

THE Municipal Civil Service Commission budget received the city's blessing for the next fiscal year. It is expected that the commission, which has been operating on a budget of $6,000,000 in 1944, will have a budget of $7,000,000 in 1945. Sanitation applicants will be a tremendous job.

Some observers have said that the commission profits greatly through the fees which applicants for Civil Service exams pay. Actually, all the funds collected by fees is turned over to the general fund of New York City, and none of it is returned to the Commission.

PAUL KERN's stormy six years with the Municipal Civil Service Commission are up May 31. Civil Service Service are already buzzing with the query, will there be a sequel? In the case of a person who wants to organize eligibles—He promises to start litigation aimed at getting them jobs—then take the first two months' salary, and see Lee. It may be a truly more even more careful now. . . . They just read about a colleague out in Jersey who was soled $1,200 for squashing a fragile roadster with his foot on the way to a blunder. Nevertheless, a Civil Service Commission council are looking for the books, but in vain.

JUST WHAT role does the Federal Government play in the unemployment insurance programs in the United States? What are its functions? What relations does it have with the State agencies which administer State laws? Over the past few years, partnership has increased in public understanding of the philosophy, the background, and the uses of unemployment insurance in America. Within the various States both employer and employee are acquiring a greater understanding of the specific provisions of their own unemployment insurance laws. This expansion of understanding as yet is where the Federal Government—to be more specific, the United States Employment Service—stands. Let’s go back to the very beginning—to the creation of the Social Security Act in August, 1935. That act provided the means for the States to establish their own unemployment insurance laws. The Social Security Act does not set up any unemployment insurance legislation in the States. It does not establish the type of law a State shall have, the extent of coverage, the range of benefit provisions. All these things are left to the individual States.

WHAT REMOVES ECONOMIC BARRIER

The Social Security Act does do is to remove an economic barrier which, until 1934, had prevented practically every State from passing an unemployment insurance law on its own initiative. Up to that point States had not passed unemployment insurance laws because they didn’t want to bear the cost of providing benefits. But at the same time that it sets up this tax, the act also provides that employers who have made contributions under a State unemployment insurance law, may get a credit for such contributions on the Federal tax, up to 90 percent. That may sound technical, but what it actually amounts to is that the States, at no extra cost, could now set up their own unemployment insurance laws. That is an enormous difference in the language of the Social Security Act. It is best evidenced by the fact that today every State and territory in the country has a fully operative unemployment insurance law in effect.

Beyond this, the Social Security Act sets up certain broad standards to which a State unemployment insurance law must conform. Further, the Social Security Board certifies for payment all administrative expenses necessary for the proper administration of the State laws.

A NATIONAL CLEARING HOUSE

This is how the partnership between your government and your State began in unemployment insurance. That relationship has grown stronger in recent years. The Federal Government serves as a sort of national clearing house for the administration of State unemployment insurance laws; that is, it is in a position to give information, help and advice in the way of a transfer point for State experience. It serves the States with technical advice and acts as a sort of clearing house, a central point for the flow of material and experience from one State to another. In all these ways the Federal Government tries to be of assistance.

The Federal Government and the States are devoting attention to a function of unemployment insurance which, at first glance, seems secondary, and yet is basically the chief function of any unemployment insurance system. The question is: Unemployment insurance as a system for paying benefits to unemployed workers is secondary. The chief function of unemployment insurance is that unemployment insurance is designed to help the worker find a job; if no job is immediately found, it provides enough money for the worker to live on until he does find a job, and finding the job for the worker is the number one objective. Paying benefits is number two.

That is why—and I am glad to note the change in emphasis—we are beginning to speak more and more today of the employment security program, rather than unemployment insurance and unemployment compensation. When the program first went into effect the States, perforce, had to work out their own laws because they didn’t want to bear the cost of unemployment security. Now that unemployment insurance is designed to help the worker find a job, if no job is immediately found, it provides enough money for the worker to live on until he does find a job. In all these ways the Federal Government tries to be of assistance.

Sim.ilar testimony was given by three other witnesses who had been examined by him.

The case involved the dismissal of Harry J. Schadler for alleged bribe-taking from his position as a Motor Vehicle License Examiner. A divided opinion in the case of Schadler vs. Graves, which has important bearing on the subject of Civil Service dismissals, was handed down last week by the Supreme Court, Appellate Division.

This is the second of a series of five articles on Unemployment Insurance, presented in conjunction with companion tests for positions in the Division of Placement and Unemployment Insurance. Next week—Erin Memel­dorf, Technical Assistant, Development Section, "New York State’s Employment Insurance Law."

Commission Believes Him

The uncertainties of the U. S. Mail were not allowed to stay in the way of a candidate and his exam, at the meeting of the Merit Opinion Committee. Isidor Korein, 8710-23rd Ave., Brooklyn, was permitted to file an application for Junior Engineer (Civil), Grade 3, although the application was received too late to be considered in time for the first exam. Korein was permitted to file an application that was accompanied by a check, which was returned to him with a letter saying he could not be permitted to file an application. The Commission believed him.

Traffic Picture Compared to War

The traffic situation is nearly as grave as has been declared by Assistant City Engineer George W. Whalle, Traffic Safety officer, yesterday, in urging greater care and efficiency on the part of the drivers during the country during 1940.

"More than 52,000 traffic deaths in 1940 were regarded with indifference or complete disregard. "Attached. "To what extent in other sections, we have an appalling picture which has been presented to the public in recent years and consider what is going to be done about it."

Brooklyn Navy Yard Seeks Skilled Men

Tentative Key Given For Fire Lieut. Test

Two thousand candidates for Fire Lieutenant on Saturday took a preliminary examination, of which one hundred consisted of one hundred multiple choice questions and three easy essays.

The questions involved laws and ordinances, rules and regulations of the Civil Service Commission, elementary statistics, liquids and gases, and general fire information.

The candidates were asked to discuss: 1) whether housewatchmen should be employed by civilian clerks; 2) why all members of a company cannot be dismissed simultaneously, by exception, “elimination”, “relief officer” and “extra officer”.

The General tests, the following tentative key answers to the Fire Lieutenant test. These answers are offered as a guide to the men who took the examination, but are not official.

CIVIL SERVICE LEADER

If it is friction of council and the Legislature during the sessions just wrapping up $3,600, employ unemployment insurance, and gain of the legislative programs of lead- service organizations in the State are adopted by the Council and the Legislature during the sessions just have just come through 1939, a year of trying sessions on this matter, and a $1 per vote of the membership has vindicated its efforts. With victory in sight, we will not let up for one minute until the settlement is part of the laws of the City of New York.

"We aim, in 1940, to push for amendments to the laws about working hours. We now enjoy the eight-hour day and a half-day in seven, but the clock is now back, and we believe this change may be temporarily suspended. The laws should be so amended that whatever time we lose during emergencies will be returned to us automatically to us and we will receive a recompense of what happened in the last three years; since the opening of the new facilities last year, and only one has been returned, is the Parity's. "Reemployment Area" which has to be on the firing line whenever the interests and welfare of the Parity, or any issue of City of New York are at stake.

S. C. M. W. A. Program

"The problem of maintaining decent living standards is a major concern of both State and city em-employees," says Mary Lucile McGarrey, president of the New York State District, City and County Workers of America (CIO). Specific recommendations for the State service, restoration of the last 1939-40 increments and the reexamination of mandatory increments for 1940-41. This includes the line time service increments for Mental Hygiene workers.

For City Service

The city service, preventing the adoption of the Municipal Civil Serv­ice plans, has been a link in the Brandt chain, resumes the new mid-week matinee, "To­morrow's Children," which is part of the laws of the City of New York.

Architects, Engineers

The Federation of Architects, Engi­neers, Chemists and Technicians has an- nounced the following Civil Service plans: prevent the "firing gun" by contract to private engineer - ing, waller and limit the use of such forms of work to a consultant or whose work is already being done by the city, the public service employees should be given the same opportunities as that of employment by a county, and a formal hearing over charges involving dismissals and disabilities. The association is a powerful group of Transportation employees all the rights and privileges of employees of regular city departments.

The legislative programs of other Civil Service em­ployee groups will be pre­sented in an early issue.

Growth of Civil Service
Traced by Senator Mead

The history of Civil Service since its earliest days in this country and the recent expansion of the service was traced in a radio address by Senator James Mead Monday night over the National Broadcasting Co. chain.

"Our leaders and our people generally are realizing that we must have a competent, enduring public service in order to have good government," Senator Mead declared. "More than ever before, the new tasks of government require that the laws be economically and effectively executed if the benefits of progressive legislation are not to disappear in inefficiency and excessive cost."

Citing world conditions, Senator Mead added: "Fortunately, today, when governments of the world face despair, dissolution and distress, the fate of democratic processes rests heavily with the success or failure of government management and government personnel. Fitness, capability, contrast training and reasonable salaries are increasing requirements."

Senator Mead praised the recent extension of Civil Service, and said that "one of the most important acts in reference to Civil Service and the enactment of the original law was the inclusion of petitioners of the first, second and third classes" by the present Congress.

Goldberg Runs Away With Leader ‘600’

Firemen Tell Officials How They Did It

Pension Hearings Will Be Continued

Hearings on the bills changing the pension system for firemen and police in New York City, now before the City Council’s Finance Committee and the City Council as a whole, will be continued Monday morning at 9 a.m.

The committee last week adjourned from a session taken up by the council to bring in an opinion from the Corporation Counsel, expressing the view that the money to pay the increased pensions for firemen and police will have to be added to the city’s debt.

Richard P. Sullivan, president of the Patrolmen’s Benevolent Association, appeared for three hours yesterday, explaining that the pension bills give new entrants lower than those already enjoyed.

Joseph J. Burkard, attorney for the Patrolmen’s Benevolent Association and Vincent J. Kean, provided the Uniformed Firemen’s Association with a schedule of appeal in favor of Heedling the last-lap gong as though it were the call to a final relay race in his own Brooklyn fire-house, Sanford Goldberg, aptly called "the flying fireman," put on a final burst of speed Saturday night to run away with The Leader 600-yard handicap feature for Civil Service employees and eligibles at the Grover Cleveland Club games.

Five thousand fans who jammed the Seventh Regiment Armory to watch Goldberg use The Leader race for his second victory of the evening, the veteran who won the handicap race program, to outshine such stars as Glenn Cunningham, John Buroe, Jim Herriot and Joe McKeey.

United States Senator James M. Mead, Sr., declared: "The patronage experience," presented three sun-gold statues, donated by the Civil Service Leader, to Goldberg and to his fellow firemen. Bob Cooper and Joe Angyal, who finished behind him in that order. Fourth place went to Patersonian Bay Hedin.

Goldberg gave away 15 yards or more. His extraordinary large handicap caps for such a short a race. But he soon showed that the smoke he has commanded in recent weeks has hardly made his flying feet more keen. He was abreast of the field at the start of the bell lap. Increasing his lead as he hit the last leg, he left his rivals far behind. Goldberg was named winner of Cooper, who won a day in front of Angyal. The event was named after Sanford Goldberg, had sported a three-man band, and Washington Whig to take the second money. Goldberg, Jr., in 146:6.

Goldberg is attached to Engine Co. 36, Cooper Co. 132, and Angyal from Engine Co. 277.

Policemen Band concert
