What Are the Gripe's Of U.S. Employees?

BY CHARLES SULLIVAN

WASHINGTON — What do Federal employees gripe about? The House Civil Service Commission, investigating Federal personnel practices, think it has the answers. It has compiled an index of the several hundred complaints and grievances which have come its way since it started work several months ago. Here, taken directly from its files, is a tabulation of the complaints—and of the number of persons who complained:

Complaints Against Civil Service Commission

- Staff too young, 11; personnel promotions, 11; incorrect classification, 11; unwillingness to grant transfers, 10.

Complaints Against Departments

- Inability to secure jobs after passing Civil Service Examination, 42; to help from civil service in locating an opening, 23; poor instruction, 8; personal opinions within civil service, 11; incorrect placement civil service personnel, 11; failure to recognize experience as a qualifying factor, 8; too much importance attached to college degrees, 21; delay in negotiating war transfers, 10.

Complaints Against Supervisors

- Too many supervisors, 9; too much work, 9; too much to do, 8; unfair to old employees, 8; personal preference of employees, 8; no opportunity to do higher level work, 9; favoritism, 11; unfair promotion of others by others, 8; General Complaints

- Nothing right, 29; personnel staff too young, 11; personnel preference of employees, 11; personal opinions within civil service, 11; failure to recognize experience as a qualifying factor, 9; too much importance attached to college degrees, 9; delay in negotiating war transfers, 10.

JOKER

WASHINGTON — There's a joke in Way Moop's new book "The Joker," which will be published later this month by the Government Printing Office. It goes like this:

The bill passed the House last week, in the form reported by the Senate-House conference committee, which the House has rejected it, 185 to 155. When it was reported, the vote in favor of the bill was 191 to 157. The new measure makes no change whatever in the overtime pay of Federal workers whose base salary is between $1,380 and $4,400.

It does, however, guarantee a minimum of $600-per-year over­time to workers below $2,800. It knocks out the ceiling which denied overtime pay to upper-bracket employees.

It gives non-overtime workers a $500 bonus or a 15 percent raise, whichever is greater.

And, finally, it gives Government the right to grant compensa­tion time off, in lieu of extra overtime pay, for work in excess of 45 hours per week. At present, compensatory time off is permis­sible—but only within the same work week which produced the extra overtime.

How The Bill Affects You

If you are a Federal employee, here is exactly how the new bill will affect you. For overtime workers at $1,500 or less it raises overtime pay to the new Federal pay bill. The President has signed it. As predicted in The LEADER, it has compiled an index of the several hundred complaints and grievances which have come its way since it started work several months ago. Here, taken directly from its files, is a tabulation of the complaints—and of the number of persons who complained:

Better Labor Relation Foreseen in the Subways

By John H. Delaney, chief, of the Board of Transportation, and an expert on labor relations, it is believed that the relations between the Metropolitan Transportation Authority and its employees will improve in the future.

Mr. Delaney said that the recent strikes and labor disputes are mostly due to the fact that the workers have no voice in the management of the company. He said that the company is going to make some changes in its policies to improve the relations with its employees.

Wage Scales

The wage scales for subway employees will be increased. The new scale will be established by the Board of Transportation and will be effective on October 1.

The new scale will be as follows:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Grade</th>
<th>Wage</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>1</td>
<td>$3.00</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2</td>
<td>$3.50</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>3</td>
<td>$4.00</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

The increase is due to the fact that the cost of living has increased.

The union has agreed to the increase, and the employees will be notified of the new scale as soon as possible.

Moses Slows Down Rush To Dress Park Workers

According to Ruth Lee, secretary of the Greater New York Employees' Association, most of the employees have been working hard to meet the demands of the war.

The association has been Especially busy in the past few days as it has been working over the problem of dress and uniforms for the employees.

The association has been working with the Parks Department to get the employees the best possible uniforms.

New File For Cleaner Jobs

The Municipal Civil Service Commission has announced the opening of a new file for positions as cleaners.

Applications can be made for the positions, and the commission will take care of the rest.

The LEADER's suggestion for a plan to help City employees in their quest for spare-time jobs brought them a chance to put their shoulders behind the wheel in the battle on the production lines and to give the rights of City employees to power shortage from the ranks of the ranks of the City employees a chance to put their shoulders behind the wheel in the battle on the production lines. The City employees associated with the LEADER plan are holding a luncheon at the Hotel, May 20th.

Supreme Court Justice William T. Colman has been chosen as the new chairman of the LEADER plan for the refugee movement in America. The award is to be presented to him by Mayor Vincent Lippe at the Barbizon Hotel, May 20th.

State Workers

VACATIONS

ALBANY - Employees of the State Division of Military and Naval Affairs, including the office of the Secretary of the Division, have been notified that they may hold outside jobs this year. The Adjutant General is also holding a similar plan.

Limited to the vacation period to one week, affecting also employees of the State Arsenal in Brooklyn, all armory employees, and headquarters of the State arsenal in Brooklyn, is due to lack of personnel and because of increased work. While State employees generally have enjoyed an unusual amount of leisure time and facilities for recreation, they may not hold outside jobs this year. The Adjutant General has said that the budget did little to alleviate the situation. Employees are acting intelligently when they accept work that helps to meet the payroll. The LEADER plan is fine. — Ralph, Register of the City of New York, said, "I don't see how they can manage without us." — When I was with the State Employees Organization, I encouraged my employees to take outside jobs, he said, "I am behind the move to encourage City workers to hold outside part-time work." — Joseph T. McGarry, of the Federation of State Employees, AFL, said: "I think that the question of public work in war plants is not new to her. — S. Samuel D. Falco approved of the LEADER plan, saying, "I have always felt that the LEADER plan is fine!" - Eleanor R. Bronx, who is filling the post left vacant by the late retiring Mayor, said: "I have always felt that the LEADER plan is fine!" — Vincent Lippe of the Barbizon Hotel, May 20th.

SPECIAL DISCOUNTS

APPEALS settled once and for all on the rights of City employees to work on outside jobs in their spare time. The LEADER plan of finding spare-time jobs for City employees is, in my opinion, a constructive measure of adding the war effort. At the same time, it offers City employees a way of earning additional income which they need in these times of increasing prices. Let me add that the budget did little to alleviate the situation. Left State Job for Essential War Work,
So He’s Frozen and Fired All at Once

ALBANY—All five members of the State Public Service Commission have voted unanimously to freeze and discharge Willis F. Jones, Carmel resident who left his job as a meter inspector to work in a shipyard building PT boats for the Navy.

"I had a job here in the city which I wanted to leave," said Jones, who was hired as a meter inspector by the Public Service Commission.

The PSC, which is charged with the responsibility of controlling the state's utilities, has been asked by Mr. Willis F. Jones, Carmel resident, to freeze and discharge him for his decision to work in a shipyard building PT boats for the Navy.

Jones worked for the Public Service Commission for several years and had been a meter inspector. He was hired by the PSC to work in the city, which he felt was a better opportunity for him.

The PSC was asked to freeze and discharge Jones because he left his job without permission. Jones has been asked to return to his job, but he has refused.

Over-time Pay Looms As Civil Service Issue

Over-time pay for over-time work in the big issue in public employee circles right now.

The City now allows compensation time-off for extra hours put in.

The official point of view expressed in a letter from Paul E.
Lockwood, Governor Dewey's securi ty, or security of the civilian employment.

Mr. De Graff said the PSC action was "unfortunate" and that he would contest it in the courts.

If Results Count, Here They Are!

EVERY NEWSPAPER likes to see its predictions come true, its campaigns effective. And The Leader is no different. We're made to talk pretty frankly to our readers about their problems and ours; and to work out plans which would help in all kinds of ways.

All this is just an introduction to say that we're feeling good this week. Some of our researches amid the lesser-known aspects of City life have required considerable attention. And some of our plans are working out better than we expected.

SPARE-TIME PLAN TAKES HOLD

First thing is the Leader spare-time job plan. When we looked at the way the civil service employee was squeezed between his duties and the war needs, we knew there had to be done about it. The courts had granted to New York City employees the right to work in their spare time, and the Attorney General had said that State employees had that right. And there was nothing on the books which said that most U.S. workers couldn't hold down jobs in their spare time. We thought that if the work was fair and honest and it offered a way for the civil employee to engage in work which would help the war effort and at the same time help him financially. So we did these investigations which started the Leader plan for spare-time employment. [See editorial, page 8, April 20 issue.]

Now we can report that the plans work. When we get a letter or a phone call from some employee who's engaged in work for which he's received over 900 applications from employees for spare-time jobs as a result of the LEADER plan, we feel we have a right to stand up and give a loud whoop. When we receive letters from employees thanking us for the part-time job tips we've found for them, and talking about the benefits which further their morale is, we just glow. That's the kind of constructive operation we like to perform.

And almost everybody in town seems to be with us. We've talked to the Mayor's Committee, the Commissioner of Education, the Board of Education. The Board of Education has the final say on teachers—after you had public hearings. And the courts had granted to New York City employees the right to work in their spare time. We're convinced of the wisdom of the plan. We're aware of the benefits which are furthering morale is, are just glowing. That's the kind of constructive operation we like to perform.

But there's more to be done. But the Leader plan is not yet entirely fulfilled. One part of that plan is the establishment of a local committee of employee representatives and officials. This committee would determine which city employees could, and which couldn't hold outside jobs (there's a question about police and firemen, for example); also it would act to locate spare-time job-openings—and bring job and employee together. We think that such a committee can make it would act to locate spare-time job-openings—and bring job and employee together. We think that such a committee can make

Civil Service Hellhole

Another reason why we're feeling good this week is that two jobs of reporting by members of our staff have borne fruit. In March, one of our men went down in the 99th St. Powerhouse in the IRT and the reported the facts about the "hellhole of civil service." Now the Mayor's Committee headed by Dean Wilkinson which studied the report always has come out for an investigation of the civil service. Of the alleged unsanitary and a degree lower standard of living" in the civil service the committee advised: "This course of investigations and if found to be as represented should be corrected in some fashion at once and permanently with as much speed as shortage of materials due to war priorities may permits."

PBA on Retirements

It's very nice to write a column when you have a friend to write about. My friend is a retired police officer. He is a member of the PBA and is a good friend of mine.

The PBA is made up of all the retired police officers in the city. They are a very important group of people and they are always looking for ways to help their fellow officers.

The PBA has a number of good officers who are working hard to improve the lives of retired police officers.

One of the things that the PBA does is to provide money to help with medical bills for retired officers who are in need.

The PBA also helps with retirement questions and other matters that retired officers may need help with.

In closing, I would like to say that I am very grateful to the PBA for all they do to help retired police officers.

JOIN THE CLUB

How the Club Works

Any person who has a son, brother, father, husband, relative or friend in the Armed Forces of the country is eligible for membership.

The sole qualification is a sincere desire to help that man in the Armed Forces get the fighting equipment he needs by saving a War Stamp every day in his honor.

There are no dues and no obligation other than a person's own obligation to himself to live up to his pledge to save "A-stamp-a-day."

Choose now. Either we give our boys the planes, tanks, guns, and ships they've got to have to win—or we're letting them march to their defeat and our destruction. Planes cost money. Tanks don't grow on trees. And the storks don't bring subchasers.

We've got to pay for them. "We" means all of us—including you. How? By buying War Bonds and Stamps. And every time our savings amount to $18.76 we get a Bond, worth $25 in 10 years. That's $8 back for every $2 we put in. Isn't that the least we who stay at home can do to help win the war? Stop and think about it—

Draft Physicals in Advance?

Here’s an idea that should be popular with potential draftees:

Federal agencies here have begun to clamor to the Army to have their draft-eligible men take the Army physical well in advance of induction.

OA Chiefest Prentis Brown launched the move by sending such a request to War Manpower, and his Board of Economic Warfare plans to send a similar request to the President. War Production Board and Labor Department are considering the same course. And other agencies are expected to follow.

The idea is a good deal to recommend it. As it stands now, the draft-eligible men do not know for certain whether he can pass the Army physical. Still, however, he has to make all necessary plans for going to the Army.

In the same way, the employment considerations—even though he knows that between 35 and 50 percent of his draft-eligible probably will be rejected.

The new plan has been approved in Pennsylvania, and has worked well there.

The Army, however, is reluctant to extend it. It says it would place an impossible burden on its medical staff. Nevertheless, there’s a good chance the Army will not have the final word.

U.S. Opens Test For Attorneys, Law Clerks

The United States Government this week opened an examination for associate attorney positions.

The positions pay from $7,800 to $10,500. Men not yet graduated from law school may sit for the bar exam, either in the place of a special military list which covers all other persons from the time of discharge from the service.

The previous interpretation of the law had been that only those who had actually been reached for appointment to the bar could be entitled to this privilege.

In civil service procedure, when a list is certified, it is turned over to the department which offers appointments to those on the list in the order of their standing.

The appointing officer of the department is allowed to select one person from the top three on the list, may pass over those in 1-A, or skip names in certain other cases according to Civil Service Law.

However, the eligible must appear at the certification bureau of the Commission within 90 days after leaving the service and requests reinstatement on the roster.

This applies both to promotional and original lists.

Postmaster, Postal Men Meet To Iron Out Wage-Hour Crisis

On May 1st the new law which provides for an increase in salary for postal employees by raising their hourly earnings $3.00 went into effect.

One of the provisions of the new law permits the establishment of a six-day, 48-hour week in the Post Office Department.

In issuing orders for the administration of the new regulations governing the six-day week, the department directed as follows:

"The minimum 48-hour week shall be continued in all branches of the service where saving in manpower can be affected thereby. This shall be effective in the postal units where a 48-hour week is not necessary, that may be authorized such hours in excess of 40 per week. . . . The services of regular employees and substitute employees should be utilized to the fullest extent before resorting to the employment of temporary help."

They Can Cut Hours

In simple language, the local postal officials can institute a six-day, 48-hour week if they feel that a longer work week isn't necessary.

The immediate effect of the order is that New York City was put on a 40-hour week for some clerks and other employees, on a 48-hour week as well as the full work-week.

Carreras were given compensatory time off to make up for their Saturday hours, and some clerks were limited in their hours of work.

Noted Local Action

Local postal employees considered the fact that the Postmaster General ordered private industry to establish the five-day 40-hour week, and had denied contracts to firms not complying with this regulation. They expected that the Post Office would distribute its manpower to utilize regular and substitute employees to their fullest extent, and release the temporary employees to other offices where they are required.

Responsibilities of Postmaster

The responsibility of maintaining the status quo until he worked out the 48-hour week falls to the Postmaster Albert Goldman of New York City. Postmaster Goldman is making an intelligent effort to make sure that the work is not piled up. He has left the postmaster faced with the problem of explaining the extra expenditure to his superiors.

On May 3rd a conference was held between Postmaster Goldman and representatives of the Affiliated Postal Organizations.

Problem Is Attacked

The conference bore fruit for those at the conference:

Mail is being shifted from branches of the service where a six-day work week is not necessary, to other offices where over-time is necessary. In addition, employees who are at an office where there is no possibility of earning $3.00 an hour can now volunteer to work at the branches and agencies, thereby making extra employment opportunities available.

Problems of the new law are enumerated by Mr. Goldman making an intelligent effort to keep the man in the department who work under those regulations under the new Postal Law.

The Civil Service Commission had originally announced that a joint physical examination would be held with that for Temporary Postman-Fireman, but the Commission has recently indicated that it is considering putting aside action on the Civil Service Officer Test until it has cleared up the other examination and made the list available to the de-partments.

For additional information about war jobs or training come by to see Meta Miller (dime phone) at the Civil Service Leader office at 21 Deane Street, New York City.

Officer Tesfino announced that the written examination will be held with that for Temporary Postman-Fireman, but the Commission has recently indicated that it is considering putting aside action on the Civil Service Officer Test until it has cleared up the other examination and made the list available to the departments.

The situation is desperately critical and Governor Dewey is desperately alarmed about it.

Dewey Alarmed

The Mental Hygiene Department is beginning an "intensive drive" for the recruitment of people "in the north and east" to fill some of the 5,000 vacancies. As you know, some of the institutions, particularly the children's homes, where the drive is being carried on have already advertised in the New York papers and have prepared circulars and distributed pamphlets for further employment opportunities in the service here. They have been a fair response. But this is drive is a going to be limited through cooperation of Union. The drive will be resumed in New York State as well as elsewhere. A joint drive is desperately critical and Governor Dewey is desperately alarmed about it.
