The NYC Police Lieut. Eligibles in Order of Appointment

OFFICIAL COMPLETE TALLY OF CANDIDATES' MARKS

by ANNA LEE KRAM

The eligible list for promotion within the Police Department (P.D.) was published and promulgated simultaneously by the NYC Civil Service Commission and consists of only 183 names.

The LEADER had forecast that the list would contain about 210 names. The shriveling arose from the fact that 35 of those who passed the examination already have been promoted to Lieutenant from the former list. This fact was not discovered until the commission met in exercising its option of keeping the list nearly ready to issue the full tally with 183 names. Cone from the list as surplusage:

"You can't promote a man from Lieutenant to Lieutenant," observed Wm. A. McNamara.

The eligible list is published herewith by the LEADER with the full scoring. The written test was divided into two parts: first, short answer questions; second, essay type. The scores are designated S-1 for the first and E-2 for the second. The other score, I, is for record and seniority. Winners in parenthesis show record standing by order percentage. (Eligible List, P. 13.)

LEADER Rearranges List

The LEADER has rearranged the eligible list by the LEADER to effectuate present purposes under the assumption that all preference claims will be serially tested as per statute. This assumption will prove very short, not for the obvious reason that our veteran is disabiled, retired, or dead, but for the absolutely unknown. One veteran who claimed disablility was deceased in his vacation and settled for non-disabled veterans as approved at once. He had less than 10 per cent disability rating anyway.

The list was promulgated subject to clearance of veteran preference claims. Such clearance is expected to be completed within 15 days, as there are now only three claims of disability preference which are left for a period of time to clear. Twenty-five names have already been verified for clearance. Clearance on these is obtained on presentation to the Commission of the requisite veteran preference documentation, discharge, so that it is up to the non-disabled veterans to get their proof before the Commission can complete the certifications while Police Commissioner Arthur W. Waldner would like to receive. He is waiting word from the Commission that is near the point where the list can actually be put to use for making promotions. There are 46 existing veteran preference in the Lieutenant titles.

Police Department Delighted

The fact that the list was both published and promulgated at the same time was not generally known. The LEADER informed the Police Department about this and the news was received at Police Headquarters with high satisfaction. Character and related investigation is at stake, since this is a promotion test, so an additional aid to the early promotions is given.

The written test was taken on June 14, 1947 by 944 candidates. That number was small. Some entitled to take the test didn't do so, as they were non-veterans and felt they didn't need the promotion, even if they got on the list. Sergeant (P.D.) candidates protected multiple answers in their promotion application, where only one best answer had been called for on the examination inclusions on the examination paper, and won. The Commission had to revise the Sergeant key to conform to the one-and-one-half only rule set down by the Court of Appeals. Then it did the same thing in the Lieutenant examination, resulting in diminishing the number of prospective eligibles. Now all eligibles are likely to receive eventual promotions, in other words, the list promises to be exhausted before it expires.

The list of eligibles

The eligible list is given in the order of prospective promotion. Only the LEADER gives the NYC lists in this significant order, instead of in the order of more percentages attained. (See P. 13.)

The NYC Civil Service Commission approved examination notice on November 15 for the promotion of Transportation Jobs. The filing period probably will be November 17 to December 2. The list is the longest for opening at one time for jobs in any single branch of the Civil Service Department. It is related in replacing present and expansion of the Transportation Department.

There are two open-competitive and 39 promotions on the titles, but two of the promotion examinations will be deferred indefinitely. Another promotion examination was previously broadened in inclusion, was canceled. It was No. 570, Assistant Supervisor (Lighting).

Hundreds Submits Recommendations

The NYC Civil Service Commission received from Fred H. Hedin, chief of the Transit Examiner Bureau, recommendations that the 39 examinations be opened for receipt of applications.

"Your examiner," wrote Mr. Hedin, "has made thorough study, of the examinations required in the NYC Transit System. The examinations listed below have been selected on the basis of promotions to be filled by the professional employees in the titles. (a) Examinations to determine the eligibility of titles among the various departments of the Transit System and (b), degree of examinations to provide an opportunity to the employees for distribution of the work load among the members of the Transit Bureau.

Getting a High School Diploma Without Going to High School

The importance of a high school diploma in State service cannot be over-estimated. It is especially necessary for: those seeking promotion, particularly in State institutions which need trained personnel to compete for higher jobs because of the large increase in the number of employees.

FREDERICK J. WALTERS
Midtown State Hospital

All State employees are brought to the New York State High School Equivalency Testing Program, which is an important role in the American Council on Education and the New York State Education Department. This program offers to non-high school graduates a service to enable the State to attract college graduates, and to improve the quality for a High School Equivalency Diploma. In order that there may be no misunderstanding concerning the high school equivalency diploma, the State Education Department, the American Council on Education and the New York State Education Department. This program offers to non-high school graduates a service to enable the State to attract college graduates, and to improve the quality for a High School Equivalency Diploma.

Comprehensive Tests

The State has the authority to determine the quality for a High School Equivalency Diploma. The State Education Department, in conjunction with the Governor's Commission on Education and the New York State Education Department, has determined that the State Education Department is responsible for determining the quality for a High School Equivalency Diploma. The State Education Department has determined that the State Education Department is responsible for determining the quality for a High School Equivalency Diploma.

Registration of delegates and representatives will open at 10 A.M. tomorrow in the venue room. Delegates and secretaries and members of the Association will be ready to receive and the results will be announced at the end of the annual meeting on Friday.
Commissions Adopts Policy On Probationary Terms

ALBANY, Oct. 5—The State Civil Service Board at its recent meeting made the following declaration:

In interdepartmental promotions it shall be a policy of the State that the term of three months during which a new employee in a probationary position may not be filled in a permanent class, and the promotion shall have the right to return to his old position.

When an employee has been granted a leave of absence without pay (illness and other reasons), before his probationary term is completed, he is expected to serve the balance of his probationary term upon return to his active duty.

Under certain safeguards to be determined by the Civil Service Board, an employee absent without official leave during his probationary term shall be deemed to have resigned as of the day on which the leave commenced, retaining, however, rights of such absense.

Hearing Before Oct. 25

The Commission did make any decision on a proposal to receive a probationary term in non-competitive appointments or in competitive appointments in the exact class.

On the other hand, the length of the probationary period in open-competitive appointments the Civil Service Board can determine.

Approval of appointments can be made only after due notice to the applicant, and if accepted, the applicant must register for any examination he feels is necessary before he can begin his term of service.

The presence of the applicant at the hearing is not required.

The application is expected to be submitted to the hearing.

The appeal, when representatives from State hospitals appear before the Board, is expected to stress upward adjustments for the entire nursing group.

Addressing Equipment in Operation

ALBANY, Sept. 27—New addressing equipment has been installed in the headquarters of the Civil Service Employees Association Inc., 500 S. Washington Ave., Albany. The installation follows the organization's policy of continuously improving its service to members. This machine produces each week a list of names and addresses of the Association's members for use in addressing letters to members throughout the State during the year. The new equipment saves many hours of manual labor and enables more and better service to Association members. The equipment also includes the mailing equipment, which turns out thousands of pieces of mail sent to members every day.
Vet Preference Views Expressed

History Report

Editor, The LEADER:

After reading many of the letters to the editor expressing veteran preference it seems obvious that most of the arguments are distanced by emotional feelings on the matter rather than viewing the problem objectively. It is a matter of fact that few of those affected by the present veteran preference law have attained a high position on an existing civil service job. For a few years after the beginning of World War II nothing was done about civil service benefits for veterans. When the politicians realized that the war might quickly terminate and they would have the veterans back on their hands as voters they decided to get into a position to provide some preference for veterans. They then got together and drew up the present preference law which is acknowledged by veterans and non-veterans alike to be an unfair and undemocratic piece of legislation.

Many of the legislators who voted for the bill did not take the trouble even to read it. Some of them have said that had they known the ramifications of the bill they would have voted against it. Many of the legislators who voted for the present bill will be directly affected by the bill. They will not have the opportunity to vote for the next bill, even if it is proposed. The trouble even to read it. Some to whom I have spoken personally have said that had they known the ramifications of the bill they would have voted against it. Stearns Compares Government And Employer Policies

By J. ALTHY STUBBS

Chairman of The Civil Service Employees Association, New York City

The following text is taken from a speech delivered before the Civil Service Board of the State of New York, October 4, 1948.

Health, retirement, and vacation benefits are all in the better less and improved employer policies, and in many cases, the public worker is being permitted to work for the same number of years on the job and retire with the same benefits as the private worker. This situation has been rapidly changed by the Department of Civil Service.

NYC Jobs to Increase as Transit Expands

T OP-ranking NYC officials, including Mayor William O'Dwyer, Chairman William Reid, of the Board of Transportation, and Fred H. Hedin, chairman of the Civil Service Commission, wereพา significant role in the recent decision to increase public transportation services. The officials discussed the financial implications of the transit expansion and its impact on the city's workforce.

Queens Bus Jobs

The reclassification of the two bus lines in Queens formally owned by the North Shore Bus Company, which operates half the bus lines in the borough, is complete. There are 800 employees. Next the bureau will tackle the introduction of the Social Security Act, which is expected to benefit many city employees.

More Repair Jobs Too

The necessity for a standard pattern for taking employees of private services and enterprises into city employ when the city acquires the assets of such companies.

Comment

Editor, THE LEADER:

It was with great interest that I read your article entitled "Standing for Our Rights," which appeared in the New York Times on October 4. My attention was drawn to the article by a friend who is a member of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees.

I am particularly interested in the statement that "In many cases, workers are being denied their rights under the Social Security Act." I would like to express my agreement with this view, and I take this opportunity to urge all workers to become familiar with their rights under this act.

The Social Security Act, passed by Congress in 1935, is designed to provide a safety net for workers in their old age, sickness, unemployment, and in the event of death.

In order to receive benefits under the act, workers must have sufficient quarters of service and wages.

I urge all workers to take advantage of the rights guaranteed to them by the Social Security Act. It is the responsibility of all workers to ensure that their rights are protected and that they receive the benefits to which they are entitled.

Sincerely yours,

[Your Name]

Among topics discussed at the most recent General Meeting of the Social Security Association were the following:

- The need for a national, comprehensive, and non-partisan Social Security Act
- The importance of education and awareness about Social Security benefits
- The role of labor unions and workers' organizations in advocating for Social Security

The election of officers took place at the meeting, and the new officers are:

President: John D. Ryan
Vice-President: William J. Hennessey
Secretary: John F. Flaherty
Treasurer: James J. O'Sullivan

The next meeting of the Association will be held on January 15, at 7:30 p.m., in the Social Security Building, 800 Broadway, New York City.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4.—At the beginning of September 1948, a total of 1,895,400 civilian employees were in the executive departments and agencies of the Federal Government in continental United States, according to preliminary figures announced Tuesday by the United States Civil Service Commission.

In the executive branch of the United States Government, the number of civilian employees totalled 1,710,700, an increase of about 14,200 employees during August. The largest increases occurred in the Departments of Agriculture, and the Department of the Interior.

Public Employees to Attend Legion Convention in Miami

Many city, state and federal employees will be among the 13,000 delegates and guests on the official trip to the national convention of the American Legion in Miami October 18-21, it was announced by Maurice Stember, Adjutant of the Department of New York, which has sponsored the special train. Special trains, arranged by the Maryland Terminal Service, will leave Penn Station, on Friday, October 18 and return Saturday, October 22. Those wishing to fly will leave Saturday, October 18 and return Friday, October 22.

Mr. Stember stated that all city employees who are delegates or alternates are invited to attend the convention. He added that he had directed a communication to Governor Dewey urging him to send the convention a message, and that such privilege has been granted.

Frankenthaler's Record Marked by Liberal Ideals

George Frankenthaler, who has never sought public office, though he has been a militant organizer, is running for Surrogate of New York County on the Democratic ticket because this time he said "Yes" in the battle cry of the劳工 movement. His record in Surrogate court will afford him another opportunity to perform a public service. Endorsed by the Liberal Party, Judge Frankenthaler, a former State Supreme Court judge, has the inside track to all his progress in the community.

In New York politics, interest in the race for Surrogate is second only to that in the Presidential election.

"Frankenthaler is a man of composite, despite his energy, and at 62 is more active than most men half his age. He can point to an unusually successful legal career and intimate partnership in business, community work, charities and civic and political affairs. He is known for his progressive and liberal thinking.

Seeks as Arbitrator

He was appointed arbitrator by Governor Thomas E. Dewey in several operators' strikes which he handled. The resulting contracts were fair and the unions and employers voluntarily included a clause that if an arbitrator was to be appointed on a three-year contract basis. When the arbitrator's term was renewed, which proved to him that labor is not the only organization. He believes the public is entitled to the full satisfaction of all interests involved. He feels, most deal with comparable problems, is in the public interest."

His Record

Democrat, no less than Republicans and Liberals have spoken of Judge Frankenthaler approvingly. He is running for the place to be vacated by Surrogate James Delahanty, whose term expires December 31 and who will retire after 30 years of service.

"He is running for the place to be vacated by Surrogate James Delahanty, whose term expires on December 31 and who will retire after 30 years of service.

His Judicial Record

In New York courts, he has appeared for George Frankenthaler to that the many appointees for a year served for the record of that year shows that all Judges are substituted and appointed by him after trial, and those of that year were unanimously approved by the Appellate Division without opinion; one case reversed by the Court of Appeals was also unanimously affirmed without opinion.

On the lower East Side, Judge Frankenthaler, a Democrat, who has been associated with honors from City College and Columbia University, and was admitted to the Bar of New York City.

In his work as attorney, much of which he has done pro-bono, he does all his own legal research and, it is said, and wouldn't it be otherwise? "How far can a lawyer be a kind of work?" he was asked.

Mr. Frankenthaler's record is a vital one in the overall labor picture," he declared, "outstanding in importance to the advancement of the labor movement itself."

Additional information for those interested in becoming amateur radio operators can be obtained by contacting the Telegraph Institute in New York City. Their offices are located at 150 W. 36th St., New York 18, New York. They conduct an active training course in radio-telephone operation, and there are opportunities available for those interested in obtaining a license to operate radio on the amateur bands. people have the mistaken idea that a fireman's lot does not involve any actual physical effort of his own. Nothing could be further from the truth. The man who has seen him in action through the years, will always realize that their profession is a hard one, and a dangerous one, and that the record of fatalities in fighting fires is a problem that is becoming more and more important to the men who fight fires.

The record of fatalities in fighting fires is a problem that is becoming more and more important to the men who fight fires.
In making a schedule of the groups of employees entitled to receive the basic increase of $250 provided by the Code 9022-516, the budget director excluded from consideration such employees who were within the protection of the Labor Law and those holding the title of auto engineer. Several hundred members of the title of auto engineer had therefore filed claims with the comptroller pursuant to section 220, Labor Law, for the determination and determination of prevailing rates of pay for such nonmechanic employees in private industry. Section 220, Labor Law, is designed to provide for mechanics, labor and workers of any of those who are not engaged in prevailing private industries, and is determined by the New York City Comptroller.

Many Did Not File Claims
Since more than 200 auto engineers had filed Labor Law claims, perhaps because they had reached the conclusion that they did not get the increase of $250 provided by the Code 9022-516, the budget director excluded from consideration such employees who were within the protection of the Labor Law and those holding the title of auto engineer. Several hundred members of the title of auto engineer had therefore filed claims with the comptroller pursuant to section 220, Labor Law, for the determination and determination of prevailing rates of pay for such nonmechanic employees in private industry. The case of Fire Lieutenant Joseph A. Lawnor took an unexpected turn when it was revealed that he had been promoted to a higher rank before being formally inspected by the Commissioner of the Civil Service Commission. Lawnor's promotion came as a surprise to many, as he had not been officially notified and had not been represented to the Commissioner as such.

However, Lawnor's promotion was later rescinded by the Commissioner,f who ordered him to report to the Office of Special Sessions. The Commissioner's decision was based on the argument that Lawnor, a member of the Democratic Party, had violated the Civil Service Commission's regulations by engaging in a series of political activities.

The decision to rescind Lawnor's promotion was met with mixed reactions. Some supporters of Lawnor argued that his political activities were not a violation of the Civil Service Commission's rules, while others argued that the decision was a clear example of political interference in the appointment process.

The case of transferred Fire Lieutenant Nears resulted from the political climate of the time. Lieutenant Nears had been promoted to a higher rank, but the Commissioner decided to rescind the promotion, stating that the Lieutenant had violated the Civil Service Commission's rules by engaging in political activity.

The Commissioner's decision was met with criticism from some quarters, who argued that the political climate was making it difficult for firefighters to advance in their careers. However, the Commissioner defended his decision, stating that the rules of the Civil Service Commission must be followed to ensure fair and impartial appointments.

The Civil Service Commission announced 12 promotion examinations and eight open-competitive examinations for the October series, along with the date for issuance of appointment blanks and receipt of sealed forms.
