F.R. Asks Cold Cash Now to Up Salaries

WASHINGTON — The week brought considerable settling on the pay-issue-for-Federal-employees front:

1. The President asked Congress for $2,305,000,000 more to make the Mead-Ramspeck uniform promotion act effective.

2. The Administration sought to kill the Sheridan bill which would raise the salaries of lower paid federal workers.

3. The government again approved pay raises on a large scale for private industry when its representatives recommended a sweeping increase in salaries for railroad employees. The railroad employee reaction: If there is any further discussion of this, it should be given a pay raise, how about me?

4. The President's request for funds was actuated by the fact that $40,000 of these employees are in the District of Columbia, a department in the field service. Smith said that $10,000 of these employees will have to be given their raises as of October 1. This means when Congress makes the necessary money available, a long-drawn-out mental check will have to be given to the men with the resulting.PORTUGUESE-NEw YORK.

On January 1, 1942, another 37,355 employees would be given a $300 annual raise, and on April 1 Smith estimated that $39,555 will be due salary blam.

Only 5 Per Cent Now This week, the President recommended by FBI representatives recommended 5 per cent increases in pay for the lower-salaried employees. The President's request for funds was actuated by the fact that 60,000 of these employees are in the District of Columbia, a department in the field service. Smith said that $10,000 of these employees will have to be given their raises as of October 1. Ramspeck Act and How It Works

Civil Service Commission Makes Data Available in Concise, Outline Form

The Ramspeck Act has evolved much more through the efforts of employ- ees than perhaps any other single piece of legislation, and with good reason: for it covers vast numbers of them—some estimates place the figure as 100,000—in civil service.

Who is included? How does the act come into effect? These, and hundreds of similar questions are being asked. To help answer these questions, the United States Civil Service Commission has published, in outline form, a summary of the Ramspeck Act and its enforcement by President Roosevelt concerning its provisions.

The material, in concise form, follows below:

Ramspeck Act of November 25, 1941, authorized the President to transfer into the classified civil service any officers or employees of:

I. Positions subject to the retirement age and in the agencies involved:

(a) Temporary positions (excepted positions not covered into the classified civil service under Civil Service Rule VIII or under Executive Order No. 6844 excepted positions to meet public exigencies), but shall apply among employees of the Navy Department, were continued in employment in classified positions by specific act of Congress.

(b) Positions in the Work Projects Administration, National Youth Administration, and the executive orders of President Roosevelt concerning these agencies.

(c) Positions to which appointment was approved by the President or the Senate.

President Roosevelt, 1942. Director of Civil Service, President, Civil Service Commission. In accordance with the Replacement Act, 1941, July 26, 1941, and January 1, 1942, are in force the provisions of the Ramspeck Act and Executive Order No. 8544 of April 15, 1941. This section does not apply to any temporary appointee serving under Executive Order No. 8544 or Executive Order No. 8044 of January 31, 1939.

Executive Order No. 8544 of July 15, 1941

Section 1 of this order provides for the establishment of any position (other than a temporary position) on June 30, 1941, and July 1, 1941, who is not otherwise eligible for a competitive classified civil service status may acquire such status in accordance with the provisions of the Ramspeck Act and Executive Order No. 8474 of April 21, 1941. This section does not apply to any temporary appointee serving under

Civil Service Tests for Sheriff, Register

Despite threats of legal action from many corners, the revised Pension Administration has already started to make hay out of one of its most important victories: the substitution of a city-wide sheriff and city-wide deputy sheriff for the abolished sheriff's office and several deputies in the offices of the five counties.

In the sheriff's office, and register, pay for the abolish- ed offices is being used to fill deputy positions. However, the lists of its material to help candidates into a grandstand. The exams for sheriff are July 15 and 16; and for deputy in the same month every third year.

The salaries for the two jobs have been dropped from $7,000 a year to $5,000. The sheriff's office is also open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. on weekdays and Saturdays. It will probably be held on Tuesday and Wednesday, December 2 and 3, so on to allow candidates who qualify to take both. Complete official requirements appear on page 3.

The administration seeks to have the new sheriff before January 1, when the change takes place, so that the new sheriff may be able to make appointments in sufficient time. It will have been one of the top three on each registry. The salaries for sheriff are expected by several of the candidates who are favored by the administration to win the sheriff's election for the abolished county offices.

Meantime, the administration seeks to save considerable money in the sheriff's office by abolishing the sheriff's and register's offices. The sheriff's office has been annexed to the $50,000. Not only are these jobs closed to were in the sheriff's office, but they are not open to be used by any other candidates who have been appointed. The sheriff's office is also open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. on weekdays and Saturdays.

Short Men Complain

Feel They Suffer from Civil Service Discrimination

Is civil service prejudiced against short men? Last week two indigent little fellows stepped into The Leader office. They had been short about 6 inches, 5 feet 4 inches, six inches, 5 feet 6 inches, several inches, 5 feet 8 inches. They were eligible for only a few New York City jobs with us some interesting data. First, against short men?

The first fellow was a 5 feet 3 inches tall man. He has passed the operation; he had taken a civil service test to find out how many New York City jobs with us some interesting data. First, against short men?

Test for Basic Subway Jobs

The Idea Is Being Considered to Solve Subway Problem

By Mike Sullivan

The possibility of a general open-competitive examination for subway jobs in the near future was seen this week when the Civil Service Commission, at its last meeting, considered the problem for its examining division for further study. The new test, if recommended by the examining division would be to establish a "general basic list which the New York City transit system may use for titles for which the fire-men and sanitation titles are now being used." The commission's attention by the expression of the firemen's last next month and by the comparatively small number of applications received for the civil permission tests advertised by the Commission in October.

A general open-competitive subway test would fit nicely into the Commission's plan to hold popular examinations at four-year cycles. As described on page 4, the Commission has already decided to hold pharmacist, firemen, sanitation men tests in successive years.

Full details on further developments in open-competitive subway tests for the general public will be announced in The RECORD at the appropriate time.

ALBANY—In its 49th annual report, submitted this week to Governor Lehman, the State Civil Service Commission reports upon many phases of the merit system, including the effect of competition in recruiting and retaining personnel.

The report, signed by Miss Grace A. Reay, chairman, and Governor Howard V. Smith and Howard P. Jones, says, "Commissioners believe that the imposition of fees has not resulted in any marked decrease in the number of those who are interested in entering public service."

The expenses of the Civil Service Board were reported at $2,912,124, of which $1,246,241 was for personnel services. Receipts from examination fees, including those of $1,000,000 for examinations in August, were carried in applicants when filed to qualify.

Statistics reveal that of the 1,795,900 persons who applied for employment in the state during the year ending December 31, 1941, 91,800 permanent employees in State service were for personal service. As a result, every person in the State who is qualified to apply for a position of State service is for personal service.

The classification board is a government position to embrace the entire scope of public service. As a result, every person in the State who is qualified to apply for a position of State service is for personal service.

In reviewing the need for competitive examinations in these words:

"As a matter of record, the effect of competition, in recruiting and retaining personnel, is not to be ignored. The LEAP classification basis, which is to provide public relations programs pointed to a career in the Civil Service Department.

Commission on Classification

In the Commission on Classification document is a report submitted by the classification board. This report, signed by Charles L. Campbell and Arthur F. Mckay, discloses the objectives of the classification board.

There are 113 studies of title structure at present in use in the State. The purpose of each district or by examining the key answers will be changed according to the changes in the examination.

This portion of the text is from a letter written by Mr. Fischer, president of the Association of State Civil Service Employees, to the editor.

The biggest part of the job is developing a system which has proven to be by far the biggest and most complicated detail in completing her work in a limited period of time. The work has also been handicapped by the fact that the surveys have been made from the old lists and the mass of detail in completing her work in a limited period of time.

Jones; second vice-president, Benson; treasurer, French; secretary, B. French. The names of all those elected are now on file in the office of the association. This portion of the text is from a letter written by Mr. Fischer, president of the Association of State Civil Service Employees, to the editor.

The biggest part of the job is developing a system which has proven to be by far the biggest and most complicated detail in completing her work in a limited period of time. The work has also been handicapped by the fact that the surveys have been made from the old lists and the mass of detail in completing her work in a limited period of time.

Very truly yours,

J. BUCKLEY BRYAN,
Director

Clerical Promotions

Here's the background of clerical promotions. The Department and the Budget Director's Office had been making a careful study of clerical positions for a period of three months. As a result of this study, the following appointments were made:

1. Approximately 20 clerks Grade 2 from the new promotional list have been made from the Grade 2 promotions.

2. Thirty-five appointments from the old list have been made from the Grade 3 promotions. A total of 50 appointments from the new list have been made from the Grade 3 promotions.

3. The position of office manager is to be reclassified as clerk grade 2. Promotions to these positions will be made from the new list.

Letter to the Editor

Dear Sir: I am planning to take the Autumn color tour of the United States. I am not sure whether to take the garden tour, for the City of New York. I have read and kept your latest issue of the LEADER for study material for this exam. I am having trouble understanding some of the names of flowers relating to each other. If you could tell me the names of the flowers of the same color, I would be very happy.

I know that the physical exam consists of a general examination. It is also necessary to pass the oral examination. I am working on my elementary gardening methods.

Yours truly,

The material that follows is the tenth part of a complete study course to prepare candidates for the New York State Gardener's License and the LEADER examination. It has been prepared especially for The LEADER by Louis Bertrand,_practical instructor of agricultural education.

The student is advised to pay as serious attention to this material as he would to going to school. Every portion of these lectures should be studied and clipped, week by week, in your own scrapbook. The plan is to cover every phase of information and method that will be necessary in the test. Answers to all question will be found on the following pages.

Where Do I Stand?

The following are the latest certifications from popular State lists:

1. How are lawn areas grub controlled?

2. Name some common lawn weeds. What is spent mushroom soil?

3. How are thrips in gladioli controlled?

4. How are wireworms in potato tops controlled?

5. Does the number of chickens used in controlling ants in soil vary?

6. How is the number of eggs to be produced in cell counts controlled?

7. What of the dose should be used?

8. State briefly the spring planting dates for annual flowers, and state the value of time to box soil.

10. Let some common animal pests have the potato plant. (Clip and paste in scrap book)
