SUBWAY SPIES TO GO

When unification comes, there will be startling happenings in underground New York. First of these will be abolition of the private spy system that has long been operating on the IRT and BMT lines. The article “After Unification, What?” on page 9, is important to every subway worker.

El Achieving the restrictions of the Lyons Law appeared well on its way this week. Moves were afoot both in Albany and New York to curb its effectiveness.

The bill introduced by Senator Wagner, to warrant State employees, such as lawyers, from a vote by the Assembly and gathering support in the Senate, was defeated. This bill was sponsored immediately in the Leader pointing out the need for such legislation was increased.

Meanwhile, the Municipal Civil Service Commission has made its move to the residence of a citizen and bonafide residents in New York anytime prior to appointment.

The use of the verb 'is' has expressed a desire to join an association.

Many members of the newly-announced Office Appliance Operators Eligible list have written to The Leader stating that they are awaiting the granting of an appointment. Members of The Leader Association have written for an earlier date to join an association. In the meantime, the list of eligibles on the list who want to join the group should write to WNYC, 97 Duane St., New York City.

The Civil Service Reform Commission, said that employees with records of arrest or convictions for the last few years in the last year, have been cleared. Those who have never gotten a job may be able to cull three concrete facts: loop-holes may be found. Lyons' bill, which is to be the framework in which it outlines his original intention, has been required by the law. Numerous organizations have expressed approval of the bill, many of them translating their documents into letters to Albany legislators. The Civil Service Reform Committee was prominent among these.

Radio listeners will learn some of the effects of the Lyons Law tonight, March 19, over WNYC, at 3:30 p.m., in a weekly broadcast sponsored by the Municipal Civil Service Commission in cooperation with the Municipal Broadcasting System.

Six-Month Record

In the editorial columns, we haven’t talk much about The Leader. But with this issue, we’ve reached a birthday milestone: we’re six months old. So we’re going to tell you some of the trade secrets about the way this newspaper brilliantly successfully in a six-month’s time.

First, we’ve gone out of our way to give you the news, the issues, and the current events seen by us, the Civil Service newspaper. We’ve managed to accept the demands of the news, of the events, of the issues: You’ll find at least four exclusive stories: (1) the successful work of the Civil Service in the World’s Fair; (2) subway spies will be eliminated after unionization; (3) the welfare efficiency-veteran battle; (4) an interesting story about the Statue of Liberty.

Second, we’ve given our readers a variety of services: for example, the helpful articles in the magazine section; crystal clear explanations of the new pension system for Pensions; much material for a variety of vacant jobs; training hints for sanitation men; we’ve provided a free job exchange service; we’ve undertaken to help readers with their personal problems by the Compensated, Counselor and Through Question. Please, we operate an all-day information bureau, and we make our best effort to meet each and every person who is interested in Civil Service.

We’ve conceived the Kleinbaw-Wagner bill, now before the Senate, as a blueprint for the permanent elimination of the residence restrictions. And we’re glad to tell us—the Philadelphia Civil Service newspaper in the United States.

That’s our six-month record.

The Merit Commission

There’s a lot of wisdom in that first report of the Civil Service Commission. The job of eliminating the residence restrictions is a big one. It has been estimated that some 200,000 more workers throughout the State may be a frightening one. But not if it’s tackled in a sensible way.

It looks very much as if this Commission is going about its work in the right direction. Instead of striking directly at the root of the problem, they have been trying to work their way along the line of residence restrictions. And they have been quite successful so far.

It is apparent to our organization that the residence restrictions are a relic of the past. And we are glad to see that this Commission is doing their best to get rid of them.

Better Late Than Never

Residents of New York City have something to cheer about. The Kleinbaw-Wagner bill, which was passed by the legislature last year, has finally become law. The Mayor has signed it into law.

This is a tremendous victory for those who have been fighting for the elimination of the residence restrictions. It is a victory that has been won, not without a struggle, but it is a victory that has been well worth winning.

Subway Spies to Go

Here in this issue, The Leader reveals—on page three—the story of the successful investigation of the subway spies. The various systems of spying on subway workers, a system carefully nurtured by the BRT and BMT, is to be eliminated.

Nothing more will do the increase of the efficiency and their efficiency as workers. The system gained only ill-by-the-way.

Letters

Veteran Preference and Next War

Sirs: It was with deep interest that I read the letter from Samuel H. Ovrdag, in the March 5th issue of The Leader and the reaction it has on people with selfish motives or a lack of true patriotism. It is a brave move of A. Boyarsky in the March 5th issue. His letter ends by saying that “Your paper should refrain from making political comments. It would be wise to undertake a campaign against the obvious socialist situation as shown to veterans.”

I think every one realizes that it is only the veterans themselves who know the facts. The average veteran as you may remember well know is over 45 years of age, so in 1913, he was between 22 to 25 years old at the outbreak of war. On the other hand if a veteran was between 22 and 25 years old at the outbreak of war, he would have the right to vote 10 years sooner than if he passes he takes his place along with every citizen.

I just begin to realize what foresight President Abraham Lincoln had when he spoke of the day when we fought on the field of battle, ‘...we will see the peaceful home, the family...’

The same will be true of every war, I suppose.

We, 1917 and 1918, thousands upon thousands of young boys were forced from their parents homes to fight in the Army or Navy to go to war and made the ultimate sacrifice. Many of these boys who were lucky enough to come home were not lucky enough to get back their positions. Now for all of this the Government allows them 10 points of preference or five points if they join the reserves, for a federal position. Although this is really too much to give the veteran, do you think that the Government asked of them?

On the other hand if a veteran was wounded but was fortunate enough to live through it, though he may have not the same, the Government allows him 10 points preference in an open examination and then, if he passes, he is placed at the top of the list.

Again I ask if this is too much to give for the sacrifice that he offers his life so that this Government may be able to fight a war. He could only visit the many veterans hospitals even though he may have lost an arm or an eye. The suffering that is still going on, they would hang their heads in shame.

Another point of importance that people fail to agree with any of these points. The average veteran as you may remember, was over 45 years of age, so in 1913, he was between 22 to 25 years old at the outbreak of war. Who's the best-liked fireman in New York? Who's the man you think of with a smile? Who's the fire-fighter who enjoys the most confidence? In short, who's the most popular fireman?

The Civil Service Leader is hunting for New York's most popular fireman. We're not going to select him—you are. The most popular fireman will be chosen by the simple democratic method—the man who receives the most votes wins!

The winning fireman will receive a silver cup from The Leader, plus a free uniform from the choice stock of Merson Clothes. The contest will be repeated an- nually. The Most Popular Fireman nominations end on midnights Friday, April 12. Send in your nominations rapidly. Everybody's set to vote. The Fire Department is eligible. All residents of New York City.

Nomination dead line: April 7, 1940.

The new Fire and Police pension program goes into effect on April 1. Members of the Fire Department were instructed last week that after April 1, deductions will be made from every member's pay check to pay for his pension. The department will send around a special pension fund form (P.F. 184) which members must fill out. On this form they must signify whether they wish to pay fire pension deductions. After 25 years, and six percent and retire after 30 years. A man who fills out one form, after another April 1 deductions will be made at the rate of five percent. However, if he later fills out the form, and elects to pay six percent the proper adjustment will be made. But the final deadline for handing in the pension form is June 1, 1940.

Merson Clothes, Inc., Canal and Lafayette Sts., has informed The Leader that it will award a most popular fireman this summer uniform, made to order, to the winner of the popular Fireman contest.

Commissioner Shafter celebrated his election as major leader by sponsoring a fire bell. It calls for a division of fire prevention in the fire bureau. Under the new system, the fire prevention and membership of the department will be in charge of one man and it will be one place to the restaurant in his leather plant. SCHOOL NEWS

War Brings New Jobs

The war has raised the prices paid skilled men in private industry, and the vocational schools are suffering from a lack of teachers. This school has set a list of 32 trade and shop exams for April. In the shops, 370 positions will be filled on the basis of the ratings. The new shops are auto mechanics, aviation mechanics, dressmaking, catering, and tea-room training, commercial photography, dyeing and finishing, design, electrical installation and practice, garment pattern making, hosiery, basketry and vegetable mercantile, plumbing, radio mechanics, woodworking, woodturning, and pattern making.

This week the Board of Examiners moved to end the practice, garment pattern making, catering, radio mechanics, woodworking, woodturning, and pattern making.

For prospective junior high teachers, electrical installation and practice, general shop, millinery, and pattern making, are applied mathematics, applied mechanics, and woodworking. This was just announced by the Joint Committee of Teachers Organizations, the result of conferences with Internal Revenue Bureau officials.

In practice, general shop, millinery, and pattern making, applied mathematics, applied science in the needle trades, applied science in the food trades, applied science in the needle trades.

A test for substitute teachers of home economics will also take place in April.

Income Tax Deductions

State income tax paid during 1939 on income other than salary as a public school teacher can be deducted by teachers from their 1939 federal income tax.

This was just announced by the Joint Committee of Teachers Organizations, the result of conferences with Internal Revenue Bureau officials.

Next year the entire State tax will be deductible. If a teacher paid an amount of income tax to the State last year on an income that included bank interest, bond interest, dividends, bond rates, etc., the amount of that portion paid for everything but the salary is deductible. It's figured out this way: the deductible portion of the State income tax is that percentage of the tax which the teacher's income, other than salary, bore to the teacher's total income.

More Economy

With the budget still in view, Governor Lehman urged economy on a new educational front. He wrote to legislators to report the Board of Regents. The New York City school district is one of the few public schools that can save money on salaries. The report said, would not only save millions of dollars but improve the school system at the same time. Assembly Majority Leader Ives answered that the expenditure of this kind would offset the economies.

Union Protests “Upper Hole” in Child Bureau

The Board of Child Welfare operates in quarters that are fantastically primitive in the view of the citizens of the State and County Municipal Welfare. The employees refer to the file room as “The Upper Hole” because of its unsanitary appearance.

The top chambers in the Old County Court Building, which houses the Board, could stand, according to the union:

1. A thorough cleaning.
2. A decent, ventilating system. At present the air is foul.
3. Heating in all rooms.
4. Entrance and exit that can be used without jeopardizing one’s life and property.
5. Proper lighting.

Bill in Albany

The bill is laid over to the board, which rolled through the State Capitol this week and is now set to be taken up within a fortnight of adjournment. While the bill, S. 447, is not nominally set as the final day, 2nd house approved, then moved into Governor Dewey’s lap, the Martin-Dewey bill to keep 6 percent of the State’s million men in relief jobs. Serving temporarily now, they would be frozen into jobs by this measure.

Among the bills that passed the Senate was the Ryan bill, to take relief out of politics, and the Page consolidation amendment. This latter, to extend preference to veterans—disabled veterans, has had a long and sorry history. It was beamed to Governor Dewey in 1929 and at the last Constitutional Convention.

Among the bills that passed the Assembly, the Page amendment. This foresees the provision of his 1939

Elevator Operators Hear Good News

Good news was forthcoming last week for 80 eligibles on the Elevator Operator list. The Municipal Civil Service Commission announced that they would be appointed in April 1 and for medical and physical examinations. A number of immediate vacancies will be filled as soon as the physical and medical tests are completed.

Appointments are expected at $1,200.

New Form for Promotions Exams

The Municipal Civil Service Commission has adopted forms to be used by all departments requesting that examination be made in various positions. At present the only form is that of letters to be filled in by the title, grade, and position for whom an examination is desired. The result is a number of variable and meaningless applications.

Subscribers are requested to file The Leader of any changes, or at least one week in advance.

To Extend Civil Service

Within the next year, Civil Service will be extended to 200,000 jobs throughout New York State. A Legislative Commission—known as the Fite Commission—will have authority to enact laws and means of doing this. What does this extension mean? How will it affect your job?

THE CIVIL SERVICE LEADER starts next week a series of articles, written by the members of the Commission, explaining exactly what it all means. This is a series that you cannot afford to miss.

The Authors

GRACE A. HEAVY—president, State Civil Service Commission.

EMERSON D. FITE—chairman of the Assembly Service Committee; chairman of the Fite Commission.

HOWARD P. JONES—State Civil Service Commissioner; secretary of the Fite Commission.

JOHN T. DE GHAFF—counsel to the Association of State Civil Service Employees; counsel to the Fite Commission.

W. EARL WELLER—director of the Rochester Municipal Research Bureau; research director of the Fite Commission.

EMERSON K. MOORE—executive secretary of the Association of Towns.

CHARLES W. HILLSON, JR.—director of the legal staff, State Education Department; president of the Association of State Civil Service Employees.

H. ELIOT KAPLAN—executive secretary of the National Civil Service Reform League; contributing editor of the Civil Service Leader.

Effective organization among the men. But even after unification, the I.R.T. and BMT continued to use undercover men to "squeal" and "report" on the employ­ees. As one of its first acts after the lines go to the city, the Civil Service Commis­sion will wipe out every vestige of this nefarious spying crew.

Advantages

What other advantages may the sub­way worker expect from his Civil Service status?

After unification, the subway worker will probably be somewhat better off. His tenure is secured by law. He obtains a decent pension, etc., etc. His vacation and sick leave rights will probably be increased. The large number devoted to business and com­missions (for example: $100,000 a year went to Dahl of the BMT) will no longer go to sleaze individuals. The carrying charges on capital will be reduced. This means that more money will be available for employee compensation and other benefits. If the present union tension be­tween the Mayor and the Transport Workers Union is satisfactorily settled, the men should enjoy the advantages of Civil Service together with the benefits that come from their union.
GETTING a job is one thing. Holding it is another. Advancement is still another.

If you're the kind of person the government wants, you can get a job. If you're the kind that wants to do things, you're the kind that will want two satisfactions in your job: first, a sense of doing something worth while; second, a chance for advancement within.

Thereby the bright young people, the boys and girls with their heads in the clouds, the students who dream of the great flush of success upon the ground, are turning more and more to the public service. They are finding that shining careers can be made and reputations built up in a government service, a solid reputation built up in a government service, a solid reputation that is to last a lifetime. The man who has a taste for, and ability in, government work, can apply his knowledge and abilities to the job, and experience is given preoccupation. In England, however, experience is important in getting a government job. They prefer to train their people after they have had some experience. Knowledge is based upon, and experience is a necessary part of, the government. We have valved experience in the past. Our recent college graduates have complained that there is too little experience for them to get a job in the government, because admission to government jobs makes so much experience unnecessary for the work.

What you need is not experience but knowledge. Is that a desirable tendency? Civil Service Law also says: "Vacancies in government positions are given preference to those who have been holders of positions in the government service."

What has been said about the growing importance of government work, its increasing importance? In the last position, a government employee may be the one that can do the job. He is a man of integrity, he is a man of honor, he is a man of high standards. He is a man who can be trusted with the government's money. He is a man who can be trusted with the government's secrets. He is a man who can be trusted with the government's service.

Do You Require Experience? Can we have an exam system like that here? The strong democratic tradition of this country is far superior to us. We believe in the self-made man. There are instances where a man or a woman has served as a government clerk, and has had only perhaps an elementary education. This should be to the government for the job, and experience is given preference. In England, however, experience is important in getting a government job. They prefer to train their people after they have had some experience. Knowledge is based upon, and experience is a necessary part of, the government. We have valved experience in the past. Question, Please?

by H. ELOIT KAPLAN

CONTRIBUTING EDITOR

Promotion Lists

A. M.—When an employee on a departmental promotion list is transferred to another department before promotion, or when appointed to another department from a competitive list, he loses his right to promotion from the old list. Only in cases where an employee is involuntarily transferred is his name put on the promotion list for the new department. In any event, he remains on the city-wide promotion list.

Hospital Helpers

O.—The recommendation of Hospital Helpers from the non-competitive to the competitive list hasn't been abandoned, but because, even though he may have served 5 years in the latter, he may not have his name placed on the competitive list. The dozen or so appointments every month to the non-competitive list won't be sacrificed after his employment leaves the service.

P.D. Clerks

A.—The Municipal Civil Service Commission, of which the P.D. Clerks is a part, has the right to determine whether the examination or examination procedures which it sets up are fair and if the names of persons on an eligible list are qualified only males for Bookkeeper in the grades as follows: 1) In which Civil Service class shall the positions go? 2) shall administration of the Retirement System be compulsory or optional? 5) Should membership in the Retirement System be compulsory or optional? The Commission will brood over all this, looking at the present positions, according to the Municipal Civil Service Commission only with the approval of the mayor and the City Civil Service Department.

No Exams

P. J.—Removal from competitive or non-competitive positions may be made permanent. Exemptions from examination in the competitive class and administration of the Retirement System are set for the period of the leave. If an employee leaves his position, the latter can serve for the period of the leave. If an employee leaves his position, the latter can serve only for the period of the leave. If an employee leaves his position, the latter can serve only for the period of the leave.

Males Only

P. L.—Application for G-Man jobs in the Federal Government, the position and the qualifications which should be required, to be made directly to the Bureau, is the Department of Justice. Washington, D.C. G-Men is held the position of Investigator. These jobs aren't under Civil Service. Only College graduates, usually those with law degrees, are considered for G-Man jobs.

Leaves of Absence

R. A.—When an employee is on a leave of absence and resigns himself to the fate of his remaining in his job without the same, he is entitled to a permanent employee if he is eligible for certification for a permanent job. Otherwise the names of persons on an eligible list must be certified, and the vacancy filled by the department.

Vet Preference

U. O. L.—The Civil Service Commission, in accordance with executive orders of the Kings County Supreme Court, requests that applicants for the disabled veteran be notified of the fact that a disabled veteran is subject to appointment only for the period of the leave. It is the Commission's job to make the appointment, not to answer them, and has formulated a list of questions for the disabled veteran to answer in good faith, the report continues.

Health Questions Answered

Sample Requirements

For Vocational Guidance

The 1,086 welfare workers in 44 county offices throughout the State are all resigning themselves to the fate of having to take exams in October for the job they now hold. Threats of loss of job are being heard, but the Civil Service Commission continues plans to drop its rules by April 1. This is necessary in bringing Civil Service to those counties where it is not yet established.

The Commission pointed to the Wicks Law, which provides that employees of New York City's privately-owned transit lines automatically come under Civil Service when it passes. The Commission pointed out that it would be impractical to require employees of New York City's privately-owned transit lines to pass the tests without further examination, as the test would be better to use the combination of different exams.

CIVIL SERVICE LEADER

The legislature will have to wait until February 1, 1941, before the File Merit Extension Commission will recommend to the legislature men and means to hire 290,000 more employees under Civil Service. The Commission cited this in its first report, handed in Friday to the clerks of the Senate and Assembly.

The Commission had some startling things to report nevertheless. 581,277 persons estimated as being in local public employment, or 2.1 per cent of the entire population. This is the first time a survey of this kind has been attempted in the State. The figures are only tentative, but shouldn't be much out of the way when the full report is made in June.

Of the total figure, 129,349, or 23.05 per cent, will probably fall in the unclassified group, and mean to hire 290,000 more employees under Civil Service. The legislature has decided this in its first report, handed in Friday to the clerks of the Senate and Assembly.

This is the first time a survey of this kind has been attempted in the State. The figures are only tentative, but shouldn't be much out of the way when the full report is made in June.

Of the total figure, 129,349, or 23.05 per cent, will probably fall in the unclassified group, and mean to hire 290,000 more employees under Civil Service. The legislature has decided this in its first report, handed in Friday to the clerks of the Senate and Assembly.

The Commission had had some startling things to report nevertheless. 581,277 persons estimated as being in local public employment, or 2.1 per cent of the entire population. This is the first time a survey of this kind has been attempted in the State. The figures are only tentative, but shouldn't be much out of the way when the full report is made in June.

Medical Exams Won't Fay Civil Service Eligibles

Failing a departmental medical examination no longer means that a person loses his standing on an eligible list, the Civil Service Commission ruled last week. This radical change of policy will make it possible for a large number of persons unable to pass the medical exam to continue in the competitive class, whereas formerly, where a person has been rejected by a department for failure to pass the medical, the procedure has been to drop him from the list, even though he has previously passed the medical exam of the Commission. Now such persons will be certified to other departments.

Other items on the Commission's weekly calendar are as follows:

Sanitation Man

1179. The Assistant Engineer (Plan Examiner), Grade 1 promotion list in the Dept. of Buildings was declared for final report.

1182. The Auditor (Board of Higher Education) Grade 4 promotion list in the Dept. of Education was changed to Administrative Assistant (Office Planning). The examination has been held in abeyance pending the outcome of court litigation.

Senior Dietitian

1193. Whether Cooks In the Department of Hospitals should be placed in the competitive class, the Department of Hospitals has not yet granted permission to replace them with competitive employees. The action came as a result of a complaint by Isadore M. Katz.

Junior Accountant

1180. The Examiner in Auditing, Grade 2 held on March 9th for 287 candidates. The tentative key will be published shorty.

1181. The Junior Engineer (Civil) (Housing Projects) has been scheduled for June 1st.

Junior Administrative Assistant (Welfare)

1178. The written test was held on March 9th for 443 candidates. The tentative key has been published.

1194. The Commission, without order, removed from the competitive class the position of Junior Accountant, Office Planning, Tax Assessing Dept.

1183. The rule is made necessary because some departments, such as the Police and Fire, give a strict medical exam in addition to that given by the Civil Service Commission. Therefore, where a person has been rejected by a department for failure to pass the medical, the procedure has been to drop him from the list, even though he has previously passed the medical exam of the Commission. Now such persons will be certified to other departments.

As soon as the new eligible list for Climber-Pruner is published about 30 vacancies will be filled in the Department of Parks.

NEW ORAL EXAM BEING PREPARED

The 29 survivors of the written exams taken over a period of three days in June, 1937, will compete in a new test. Among them is William C. Bridgman, whose name appeared as plaintiff in the case which threw out the former test.

A new panel of examiners is being chosen for the exam. Among those who served on the previous panel—now to be used this time — were Orwad Twad, chairman of the Board of Higher Education; Dr. Dean DeForest, born, of N.Y.U.; Dean Margaret

The Executive Committee of the Veterans Civil Service League, at its last meeting, unanimously decided to take active steps to create existing or formulate new preferences for veterans who have qualified in State and Federal Civil Service examinations. Termining the abuses noted out veterans who are denied the positions which they have qualified as a "disgrace," the League requested that the blame for existing conditions squarely on the "fault altitude of the two major veterans organizations," namely, the American Legion and its National Legislative Committee and the Veterans of Foreign Wars for not making a more aggressive battle to lighten veterans for a good future.
