LEGISLATIVE BILLS LISTED; THEIR CHANCES ESTIMATED

Assn. Measures Make Progress

ALBANY, Feb. 23.—The table below lists bills now in the State Legislature which are of most importance to public employees. The LEADER has compiled also an estimate of the chances—at this point—of each bill, whether it is likely to pass, or not. Where the chances of a bill are in doubt, it doesn’t mean that those who favor (Continued on Page 2)

Increase of Base Pay Studied by NYC Officials

By H. J. BERNARD

The salary increase situation for NYC employees took a new turn this week when preliminary reports were received from city officials for granting raises of basic salaries, instead of cost-of-living increases.

The whole question of budget possibilities for providing increased salaries is being studied by Budget Director Thomas J. Parton, the NYC Commission on Civil Service, and the Mayor’s Committee on Administration.

The LEADER published last week, first and exclusively, the news that salary increases were being considered, whether or not Mayor William O’Dwyer’s request to the legislature for $45,000,000 for this purpose is granted in full or in part. Now the consideration of increases to the base pay is an entirely new complex on the municipal government’s possible policy on raises.

The object of making the increases part of base pay was explained, would be to recede inequalities, and instances cited included the Social Investigator, Assistant Supervisor and Supervisor titles in the Welfare Department. There has been an employee demand on base pay for Social Investigator, for instance, to $1,000 from $1,000.

General Bonus Raise Not Gaining

The idea of a general cost-of-living increase, applicable indiscriminately throughout the line, has been discussed by the city’s budget experts, including Board of Estimate members, but no affirmative action has been sanctioned in this direction. Instead, a title-by-title survey is planned, which, if adopted, would mean raises for many, but certainly not for all. One important official stated that a general cost-of-living increase was “out.” (Continued on Page 12)

Applications Close On Feb. 27

The last moment to apply for the NYC Fireman (F.D.) examination is 5 p.m. on Friday, February 27. In addition to the NYC Civil Service Commission to be the last Fireman examination until 1952. It is expected that about 20,000 men will apply in the present test. An eligible list not to exceed 5,000 is desired by the Commission (Continued on Page 14)

Council Passes Pension Bills

The Council passed the two bills intended by Commissioner Thomas Van Cortlandt to permit a switch from the present in the Police-Fire pension system to a new setup. The Finance Committee’s favorable report was included in the committee’s acts of the day. The report had been held by Ralph L. Van Cortlandt, the NYC Retirement Board. The Flat-rate system provides for a 5-year retirement, instead of the present 20-year retirement, and 25 of these new officials, including the district commander, will be in the bills were introduced in the Board of Estimate’s Pension Reform Conference, with an actuarial report of President Stanley F. Corkin, the Patrolmen’s Benevolent Association, and President John P. Crane, of the Firemen’s Benevolent Association.

$1,000 Raise Backed By U.S. Senate Group

ATLANTIC CITY, Feb. 22.—The preliminary effect of a bill to add strength behind a single bill for Federal pay raises proved successful. Federal pay raises proved successful. The higher figure is for the Senate Post Office and Civil Service Committee settled on $1,000. It is expected that the full committee will go along with this. Public hearings will be held on the bill, but no dates have been announced yet. The bill provides $1,500 to $1,500,000,000 for ranking executives. The higher figure is for Cabinet members, now paid between $1,500 and $1,500,000,000. Agency heads, now $15,000, $15,500, $15,000, $15,500, would go to $13,000, $13,000, $13,000, respectively.

Provisions in bills introduced by Senators William Langer, Republican, of North Dakota, Ralph H. Flanders, Republican, of Vermont, and Raymond E. Baldwin, Republican of Connecticut, are included in the compromise. Postal workers and general Government employees would get the same $1,000 increase. They would include employees in Federal, postal and judicial services, but judges and legislators themselves are not included, nor are foreign service or military personnel. Recommendations followed the taking of testimony.

For Association Annual Dinner

The annual meeting of the Council of United States Credit Union Officials was held in New York City recently, where the Association officials were gathered to discuss the latest developments in their field. The meeting was chaired by President E. Wilson, and attended by over 60 members from various branches of the credit union movement.

The main topic of discussion was the expansion of credit union services, with particular emphasis on the need for more educational programs to inform potential members of the benefits of joining a credit union. The President emphasized the importance of community involvement and collaboration with other financial institutions to achieve this goal.

Other topics included the implementation of new technologies and the impact of regulatory changes on credit union operations. The association also discussed the need for increased diversity and inclusion within the credit union movement.

The MAN WITH A COUNTRY

A LL good citizens rise in their might when their government is threatened or attacked by a foreign power. No patriot has any sympathy for traitors or subversive ideologies. But the people do too little to help or to protect their government from the more common and less-dramatic ills that democratic government is heir to. If we do they lend a hand to the building of a better state and nation. Our citizens are mostly ignorant of their dependence on honest and efficient government for a good life ad for the freedoms. They do not realize that in peace as in war, they—the people—are the government, and the government is their alter ego, without which life is poor and largely meaningless.

Government is not only the largest business in the State, it is also the most important to every citizen. Government touches the life of everyone from cradle to grave. A praticeness army of trained and highly skilled men spend their lives to make you healthy, wealthy and wise. The citizen in turn should do his part in keeping his government honest, efficient and forward-looking.

If good government means so much to each citizen, it is important that each citizen should know more of the laws governing the public service, particularly the Civil Service Law, and the importance of civil service to him. In what respect is the organization of public service different from other service? What should a public servant do? What should he know to what extent the Civil Service Law is a part of his character of civil service? Of his duties, what standards has he in Civil Service. What does Civil Service really mean to him? What should he do in his own interest to protect and to better the Civil Service in his town, city, village, county, city, and state and nation? Does the average citizen know that his public personnel agencies (the Civil Service Commissions) are the key to the classification of personnel agencies? Does he know that it is nearly impossible to obtain adequate public appropriations to introduce, do or maintain efficient and economical business procedures and methods in the public service? Does he know that the job of public personnel manager is often a paid job? Does he ever take interest in his public business to make the acquaintance of his public servants and learn at first hand of the state of his various public offices? Does the average citizen uphold the equal rights of his children and of all citizens to hold a civil service job? Does he ever take interest in his public business to make the acquaintance of his public servants and learn at first hand of the state of his various public offices?

CITIZENS should work for it. The LEADER will continue the year, the employees involved, the very end of the session about the status of bills concerning them.

WHAT EMPLOYERS SHOULD KNOW

Permanent Promotions Require Previous Permanent Status by an Employee

By THEODORE BECKER

FORMER United States Employment Service, U.S.R.B.S. employed three clerks to higher grade federal jobs at New York. The clerks were classified under the Federal Government's employment service, whereas each employee, through its own employment service, thereby, became entitled to retention in its own employment service. Since the placement function was retransferred to the Federal Government, these employees did not become eligible for reemployment on the job from which they were "promoted." The New York City Court, after a summary judgment rendered by the New York County Supreme Court, decided that the employees were entitled to the judgment for an adjudication of their eligibility.

The Court pointed out that the judgment had been rendered before the function was being found to be "wrongly placed" and that the status was continuing in the same capacity. The Court also pointed out that the judgment should be reformed to provide that the employees were entitled to the judgment for the period during which the judgment had been found to be "wrongly placed." The Court also pointed out that the judgment should be reformed to provide that the employees were entitled to the judgment for the period during which the judgment had been found to be "wrongly placed." The Court also pointed out that the judgment should be reformed to provide that the employees were entitled to the judgment for the period during which the judgment had been found to be "wrongly placed." The Court also pointed out that the judgment should be reformed to provide that the employees were entitled to the judgment for the period during which the judgment had been found to be "wrongly placed."
Agreement on Pension

For an unlimited time, each employee who has been in the service of the city for 50 years or more may retire upon becoming 55 years of age, but instead of using actuarial tables for the determination of such annuity, such annuity will be determined by one-fourth of one per cent of the total earned service, or of the average basic salary for the highest five years' service, and any such salary for which there is no earned service, or of $25 or one per cent of the average basic salary for the highest five years' service, whichever is greater. This latter provision is used for average salaries up to the maximum allowed by law, which is 10 per cent of the average basic salary above that figure.

If an employee has rendered 20 years of service, he may elect to retire on a reduced pension. In such case the employee will receive 50 per cent of the normal pension to which he is entitled, plus one per cent of his salary for the entire period of service. This latter provision is used for average salaries up to the maximum allowed by law, which is 10 per cent of the average basic salary above that figure.

There is no minimum age requirement for retirement, provided the employee has paid into the pension fund for 35 years or more.

Veterans Are Advised To Protect Rights

The Municipal Civil Service Commission warns veterans to protect their rights. It issued the following advice to veterans discharged from military service: "Many veterans will read carefully andheed full details regarding veteran rights. In particular, they should be aware of the fact that they are entitled to a leave of absence without pay after thirty days when engaged in the performance of military duty in any of the forces of the United States. This leave of absence without pay is a formality because in most cases a request would be granted.

The purpose of the law has been misunderstood by some veterans, who believe that because in most cases a request would be granted, there is no necessity for informing the office of their intention to grant a leave of absence. This is not so. There is, moreover, inequality and discrimination, because orders issued by various military forces and because orders issued by various State and Military forces do not contain the record of personnel and consequently entitled to a leave of absence.

A bill sponsored by The Civil Service Employees Association is designed to correct the inequities and to provide that military duty in any of the forces mentioned in the law shall be deemed ordered military duty notwithstanding the fact that the orders are issued with the consent of the broken.

As a matter of fact, the consent of the broken. As a matter of fact, the consent of the person in question is not necessary. The law was passed in 1940, and it is enforced by the Attorney General. The Attorney General has jurisdiction to compel any officer to issue the orders issued. The orders issued must be issued in the name of the person concerned, and under such circumstances the employee is not entitled to a leave of absence.

Rate of Appointment To Transit Jobs Set

The minimum weekly replacement of provisionalists in eight titles in the transit ranks has been established by resolution adopted by the Board of Transportation last week. The schedule is based on the rate of absorption, which is determined partly by the length of time required for training. For instance, Railroad Clerk requires the least training and has the highest weekly appointment rate. The largest number of provisionalists is in the Supervisor, Limousine title, with 1,457. Railroad Clerk is second, with 1,457, and Railway Mail Clerk, third, with 1,376.

10 More Exempt Jobs Obtained by Murtagh

Approval of creating ten more competitive class positions in the exempt title of the Civil Service Commission was made last week by the Municipal Reference Committee, a small part of the library's large collection of books suitable for study. The Municipal Reference Committee consists of the following members: Thomas J. Frey, chairman; Sidney M. Stern, Michael J. Prey, and William M. Plane, Jr., all of the Municipal Civil Service Commission. The Civil Service Reform Association opposed it, on the ground that the position should be in the competitive class.
