It's Big Packet of Bad News For War Service Appointees

By CHARLES SULLIVAN

WASHINGTON—Civil Service Commissioner Arthur Flemming's recent speech on Federal employment after the war, in which he laid out the Government's many thousands of War Service employees who have entered the Federal Civil Service since March 16, 1942, and their current status.

However, the term does not apply to the appointment of employees who have taken War Service appointments in the war agencies. They may re-employ the right after the war, they will return to their old jobs.

New: This is why the Civil Service Commissioner's speech was so important to War Service employees:

Don't Count On Job

3. He said that "hundreds of thousands" of former Government employees will be returning to their old jobs after the war. To make way for them, hundreds of thousands of War Service workers will have to be first.

TIME-OFF

Gov't. Requests 'Liberal' View

Last week the LEADER brought you the best of the President's order to all Federal departments on the matter of time-off for Government employees. In response to many requests, the LEADER prints the Civil Service Commission views on the matter of time-off for Government employees. Here are the views of the U.S. Government:

The maximum period of annual leave which may be taken by an employee is 28 days. If an employee has more than 1,000 miles from his duty station, the actual time may be extended to a maximum of 30 days. The actual time will be determined by the Regional Director of the employee's station.

You should not be penalized for being absent from your job without pay. Your job will be held for you and you will be paid when you return to work.

Oldsters May Go

WASHINGTON—Old timers in the Federal Civil Service will do well to study carefully the Reduction-in-Force procedure recently announced by Civil Service Commissioner Arthur Flemming.

The new policy, reported in THE LEADER last week as the most important and far-reaching change of Federal policy in the history of the Federal Civil Service, will bring about a reduction of 50,000 Government employees, of whom 35,000 will be over 55 years of age. The 50,000 figure represents a reduction of 7% of the total Federal Civil Service.

City Employees No Longer Rushing to Take War Jobs

There is no longer a rush of City employees to take war jobs in industry. At least, that is what the various boroughs report today.

Out in Brooklyn they say, "We aren't getting any more moral objections nowadays. If a man wants to make the big drop in overtime work has taken some of the attraction away from war work.

"We are in our policy of granting war work leaves to any employees who wish to have them. And so far by now the workers who want to go have gone," that's the word from Staten Island.

In Manhattan, they say that is beginning to shift back. Most of those who were delayed are taking regular vacation or construction work on which they were scheduled and then they've come back to their City positions. That office feels that the big demand now is for train conductors. A great many of those who are on vacation aren't expected to return in the near future.

The demand for medical technicians has also been greater than anticipated. From the Bronx, too, comes word that the demand for overtime work has also been greater than anticipated. The employees in the departments have been asked to report in as early as possible, and it is anticipated that a great many of them will be able to return to their regular jobs.

THE LAW

Recent Batch

Here are some recent court cases which affect civil service employees' rights:

1. City of New York vs. N. Y. County, Matter of Ballants vs. Vladek. In this case, it was asked that the court terminate the appointment of the Chief of the Protection Department. The court denied the request because of the appointment of the eligible list.

2. The defense asked that the suit be barred because action was brought more than four months from the date of promulgation of the eligible list.

3. The court held that certification of an eligible name, no more than the promulgation of the list, is required by law. The defendant's lawyer made the same claim.

4. The same trend—a falling off of genuine opposition—was evident in both cases, and it is anticipated that the department will make the change in your deductions until any change in status to your paycheck changes as designated or engineers.

5. If you're eligible, remember this decision—it may come in handy later on.

Floaters vs. March

2—This is another action in which the employee is seeking their right to present. The suit was brought to gain a place on the eligible list for Captain in the Police Department. The court denied the request because of the appointment of the eligible list.

3. The defendant's lawyer made the same claim. The court held that certification of an eligible name, no more than the promulgation of the list, is required by law. The defendant's lawyer made the same claim.

Politics

And Civil Service

"Civil Service employees have been used as fields by the politicians long enough." That was the theme of the talk by Henry Peinstein, president of the Civil Service Employees Non-Partisan League, at a meeting of the group held last week at the International Trade Union Building.

Outlining the purpose of the organization, Mr. Peinstein said that the League was formed to safeguard the rights of the civil service employee—a voice in political matters.

As to the future plan of the League, Mr. Peinstein said that it would follow the pattern of other political groups and that the League would set up in every Assembly district where necessary. A leader in every district, and captain in each precinct will carry the message of the civil service employee and political action to the public. "The League will stand by the election of men who in turn will aid the conditions of civil service employees," said Mr. Peinstein.

In England, he continued, the civil service has representation in Parliament. Here the Civil Service Employees Non-Partisan League and professional employees of the right have been active in political activities which vastly affect the employee. The professional employees must keep their mouths shut if they want their pay come from Federal funds.

As present, Mr. Peinstein declared, the employees of all government employees and all employees of the right are not group of citizens are centered in Manhattan. However, he declared, the League has a number of items appeared in this paper last week about the department's in-training program being printed, they say they've received 14 replies to their advertisement for employees. As Cleveland, Ohio, asking for copies of the return.

The proposal to conduct a test simulation Department to conduct a test has been approved by the Department. The test will be conducted at the Department's Cleveland, Ohio, office.

The test will consist of a series of questions covering the various components of the training program. It is expected to take about three hours to complete.

What to Do

About a Grievance

This column has been asked on a number of occasions as to what to do when there is a procedure for handling of a grievance. Here are some examples of misunderstandings in the rules of the law.

The procedure of all of the various departments in the City is as follows: the employee who has a complaint must first discuss it with his immediate superior in the department. If the employee is not satisfied with the action of the immediate superior, he may appeal to the next higher supervisor, and so on, until he reaches the final level of appeal, which is the Department's grievance committee.

If any employee desires representation or some help in handling his case, he should consult the personnel office designated by the management. The management is available to assist him and to provide information for the employee's guidance.

There will be no discrimination against an employee who is represented by a grievance committee. The employee will be assured of a fair hearing.

There will be no action against an employee who is represented by a grievance committee. The employee will be assured of a fair hearing.

Goldbrickers?

That old joke of arrando's day has been doing up again.

"Handing a painter a brush and giving him a job. Then perhaps he can paint in the main shop, where anything can be done."

But that old story of a benefactor is not to be found in the "Goldbricker".

In a place such as the Navy Yard, employing thousands of men, a few slackers can do a lot of mischief. The Navy Yard will admit there are a number of goldbrickers in every department, and the yard seems to take a job. But, don't forget—the men who are standing by for orders are not in this class.

Many a crane man will tell you what he is meant to work through lunch hour, yes, and work 14 to 16 hours a day, when he was on the job, I never on the job, I never heard of a "slovenly" man."

"Try looking down from the cab of the Hammertime for 16 hours on a man's job if he has done any work."

"And this is a department which has received less recognition than any department in the yard. and I'm not a crone man."
HEALTH
Promotion
Matthew A. Byrne, a veteran of 40 years in the City service, was recently appointed to the position of secretary to the department from his job as chief clerk. The increase from his $5,500 a year post to $6,500 was a reward for his long tenure and good work.

But for the past two months the chief clerk's job has been vacant, and some of the old-timers in the office are wondering what will become of the position.

There are several employees in line for the chief clerkship who are anxious to see some action taken on filling the vacancy.

Dean of the clerical staff in the Health is Henry Johnson who started his municipal career back in 1929, and is now a senior banking clerk at $4,000.

A Little Lecture
For Supervisors

T HIS IS a little lecture just for supervisors, personnel men, and straw bosses who work for some of the New York City departments.

Too many of you are haggling, threatening, building-and other wise acting unhappy those of your employees who have accepted spare-time positions in outside industry. Now, it so happens that in most cases these employees are so happy they may get carried away, and it so happens that you have no legal right to harass them. If you don’t know the facts about this, then you have no right to harass these employees, and persist in being troublesome to employees who may easily go to the court to have the split job status clarified.

Here are the facts

In any case, we’ll take the kinder view and assume you don’t know the facts, so we’ll repeat them to you again.

1. There had been an executive order issued by the Mayor forbidding employees of the City to hold outside jobs. The employees chafed under this order.

2. The Welfare Department argued that the Mayor couldn’t interfere with the rights of employees to hold down outside positions, and took them to court.

3. The issue went through all the courts of New York State, straight up to the Court of Appeals. And the Court of Appeals decided that the right to accept outside jobs in their spare time. That decision came down in January of this year.

4. Since then, the City hasn’t done anything to circumvent the court’s view. And many of the City’s high officials have also taken the same view. Without any vacillation, admitted—agreed they’d follow the decision. There’s nothing else they could do, in law.

Here are a few additional facts, Mr. Supervisor, Personnel Man, or Straw Boss, which we think you should know:

There’s a war on, and there’s a shortage in many of the very skills possessed by civil employees. These skills are not only needed in the government war work, but the concept of the “split shift” has developed, whereby valuable war work gets done during the day and at various other times five days a week.

Civil service employees have been terribly hit by the cost-of-living activities of all the various salaries have remained pretty stable. You yourself, even though you are an ex-civil service employee, have probably felt the pinch. Since the City didn’t do anything for its employees earning over $2,800—and little for those earning less—what else could they do but seek spare-time employment to augment incomes?

Moreover, in the past few months, the concept of the “split shift” has developed, whereby valuable war work gets done during the day and at various other times five days a week.

Military Staff

Glue to hear that the officers out of New York, and New York City, and Miami, are reading our book, "He Wants It," and are glad it was published. We have had an executive order that says that they may accept outside jobs. But the Army is doing it, and the Navy is doing it, and the Marines are doing it. And the Air Force, too.

The City, for its part, has had no administrative action that will prevent it from doing what the other services are doing.

Here are the facts:

1. The City has had no administrative action that will prevent it from doing what the other services are doing.

2. A number of executive orders have been issued by the Mayor forbidding employees of the City to hold outside jobs.

Delegates vs. Patrolmen

If any officer or delegate of the PBA thinks he can delegate or direct Patrolmen to the right of the heads of his union to do or not do anything, he'd better not try it. In the first place, Patrolmen can't delegate to the right—no delegate isvoid a government to do or not to do anything. He may carry a message to a mission precinct. It was a hot precinct. For he may carry a message to a mission precinct. It was a hot precinct.

What you are reading in the June meeting is that the July meeting decided to do certain things with the Patrolmen. It was also decided that the Patrolmen should be protected from his own mistake. The officialdom—whether your delegation or not—should not be lost, but of the Planning Committee and the other unions. If the rule is being enforced, the Ballot should be instincting with the N.Y. State War Board.

WILL YOU WRITE A LETTER to a Prisoner of War ... tonight?

Maybe he's one of Jimmie Doolittle's boys. Perhaps he was left behind when Bataan fell. Anyway, he's an American, and he hasn't had a letter in a long, long time.

And when you sit down to write, tell him why you didn't buy your share of War Bonds last pay day.

"Dear Joe," you might say, "the old topcoat was getting kind of threadbare, so I . . . "

No, cross it out. Joe might not understand about the topcoat, especially if he's shivering in a damp Japanese cell.

Let's try again. "Dear Joe, I've been working pretty hard and haven't had a vacation in over a year, so . . . "

Hell, better cross that out, too. They don't ever get vacations where Joe's staying.

Well, what are you waiting for? Go ahead, write the letter to Joe.

Try to write it, anyhow.

But mister, if somehow you find you can't finish that letter, will you, at least, do this for Joe? Will you up the amount of money you're putting into War Bonds and keep buying your share from here on in?
