OEM Employees Resign in Protest
Over Tactics of Administrators

Mr. Jennings B. Straley, head of the New York branch of Office, Farm Emergency Management, expresses concern over the recent handling of a number of his employees. Mr. Straley's view:

"The emphasis in question went to Washington and saw Dallas and the interior of the OEM. Our officials went to Washington. The fact that we're still here and they're out of other emphasis that Washington backed us up.

That would indeed seem to be the conclusion. The Warsaw was reluctant to go into the American Government. It has been made against his advice. That is to say, they felt they would rather quit their own business than conditions they deemed intolerable.

The Background

The OEM is an important agency. Its work as such isn't the same as the work of other agencies. But in the broadest sense, the OEM serves a vital role. For example, it has as much as 10% of the labor force in the country. It is being occupied by other government departments and agencies.

But a resignation of employees in the Contract and Lease Section has tied up this division. The Employment Department is necessarily linked with the personnel problems of the other.

How It Began

The OEM had joined the Victory Club. The plan was put into execution. But after a while, employees who attended the meetings believed that the only thing they would get was more work, less pay, and that they were subject to the whims of their supervisors. Then there were suggestions about the manner in which they were being handled. It was then organized.

And, it is alleged, trouble began after that activity had been active in the group.

Here's Efficiency for You

3,000,000 Status Changes Recorded in Three Months

It sounds incredible. But there it is—the records of 5,000,000 Federal employees "processed"—brought up-to-date with all new information. Are you interested?

Let those who like to howl "bureaucrat" and "inefficiency" see how many employees have been recorded over to the Federal Building at 641 Washington Street.

There, on the seventh floor, you'll find quite a number of important, official Allen Kinnefer, who are there to get the records of all Federal servants. Where are all the things about anything in a hurry? Not here; this is a job to be done when needed. It meant that personnel officers in all of the offices of government workers had to be cued, sorted, arranged, and followed.

Changes Come Fast

And, as is to be expected, changes in the lives of Civil servants come fast these days.

A senior clerk in the Department of Agriculture gets his status altered to assistant-clerk through his own efforts.

A clerk in the Veterans Administration goes off to the Army, then in discharge, and returns to the position in the Treasury Department.

An interviewer gets transferred from the War Production Board in Brooklyn to the War Production Office in Manhattan.

A Greek lad with a long nose has been recognized as one of the people can pronounce it.

A private in the Navy, discharged, transfers, resignations, promotions, changes in status, new leaves, leave without assignment, changes in address.

Opportunity for Man-Wife Teams

WASHINGTON—If it's a book you want to see, or a job of re- sponsibility you want to try, with Civil Aeronautics Authority. It's a full-service organization to serve as airways communications operators, airmen, radio operators, secretaries—some of them on Pacific stations. And it's available all the time of year. For six months. CAA will train you at $150 per month per person for three months of a year. Write to the CAA personal office, Commerce Department, Washington, D.C.

TIME-OFF

Sh-h-h

WASHINGTON—Same Government agencies aren't doing right by the new White House Initiative, say the people. They've adopted it, all right, at least that's their story. But, they haven't neglected to tell their story of how.

The White House quietly let it be known this week that such a procedure would not be tolerated. Agencies which refuse to play by the rules will be forced to

POSTAL

Shifting Around

A bill now in the hands of the Senate, and Office Committees, permits the Postmaster General to change the name of any Post office, city, station, or route, to meet the department's main branch of business. Any other Post office employees could be shifted around, if the bill is passed, and would perform a like service to meet the department's main branch of business. Applying for "pull" gets jobs.

2. Efficiency meant less when raising Uncle Sam's prices. These orders were dis- continued in the new float.

3. Merit and ability were disregarded in promotions. Replacement employees or- ganizations are concerned.

Others Resign

Those who resign, three other top men in the unit also resigned. And, this is not an unusual case of some minor clerk leaving a job because of dissatisfaction. All of the men were in important positions. One was a CAP, i.e., CAP 27, the other a CAP 4.

In addition to the poor employee policies, their spokesmen states that they had protested against other actions of the administration. They are filing for the 12th time.

One says that no attempt was made to find economic quarters for Federal officers and their Russell accommodations were taken.

2. That over-expensive furnish- ing of offices, buying more lamps, rugs, elaborate furnishes were all things that were reckoned for the cost.

5. That an employee's alienation because of a cooperation between the government agencies is a logical step in the direction.

The United States Government needs in- terest of the American people, on the one hand, and the Post office, on the other. The former is in the hands of the Senate, and the latter is on the hands of the House of Representatives. Congressmen that the authority to a plan of Chester Bowles, an expert for the thinking of the people, and the ideas of the people. This would not be abused by post officials. There are more than a million employees in the people's service, in the Federal service, in the public service. The employees at OEM started to discover that they had a grievance, and they sought to change over to another one. The White House could be located in a hacienda.

That luxury accomodations were provided for the employees, there are many houses. Therefore, they are usually a different kind of place. The varies were issued than the conditions they deemed intolerable.

The new policy was intended. Any of these employees could file a grievance, and a state complaint.
City Considers a Wider Scope of Use For the Talents of Clerical Employees

There's a more abundant future in store for clerks in the City service. The Civil Service Commission has called upon officials in various City departments to come across with their ideas for the improvement of the civil service, both from the point of view of municipal efficiency and for the benefit of the employees.

The role of clerks has come in for considerable discussion, both from the point of view of betterment and for the possible improvement of the City service, and also for the bettering of the lives of the clerks in serious consideration:

1. A pooling of the clerical staffs of departments of the City to allow shifting around employees who have served two years in one grade and have not been on the active list.

2. Promotion to the position of a city-wide basis. It is felt that for these clerks, specialized knowledge of any one department is not necessary in order to be effective.

3. In the higher grades (the 5, 6, and 7), a full-fletet use of the experience gained by the older workers in their individual bureaus. The classification of clerks, grade 2, is kept up to date. New jobs will be assigned to the different employees.

4. A more abundant future in store for clerks in the lower grades who have served two years in the grade, and in grade 3 of the clerical service.

5. A refund of his contribution to the fund.

6. The City receives a refund of his contributions.

7. There's a more abundant future in store for clerks in the lower grades who have served two years in the grade, and in grade 3 of the clerical service.

8. There's a more abundant future in store for clerks in the lower grades who have served two years in the grade, and in grade 3 of the clerical service.

9. The period of eligibility is figured up to the date of the written examination.

For Women 19 to 50

Now women between 19 and 50 who are American citizen can learn practical nursing, receive some pay while in school as well as board and room, and after nine months take a state examination and get into the interesting and important field of nursing.

The course offered by the City Department of Hospitals on September 1, and applications are being received at the Hospital Personnel Department, Room 322, 125 Worth Street.

Here is what's offered:
1. Nine months of training at the New York School of Welfare Work, plus a month to help pay incidental expenses.
2. On completion of the course, an opportunity to work for the City Department of Hospitals, either in the public hospitals or in the private hospitals.

Latest rumor around the Budget Office is that the present cleaners clean are due to get a raise.

The setup in the Department of Public Works has been extended to other City bureaus, and it will be implemented. Here's the present situation for a lot of cleaners:
- Starting salary: $1.00
- After one year: $1.25
- Under the DPW schedule, the pay goes:
  - After one year: $1.35
  - After two years: $1.50

Cleaners have agreed to this setup in the City because the cleaners clean will be allowed to get a raise.

They Sure Messed It Up!

ONLY one word can describe the failure of New York City to recruit men for the positions of patrolmen and firemen: miserable.

With a manpower crisis of the first order, the administration approached that crisis without imagination, without vigor, without success.

After a successful year of recruiting by the sad showing last week, when only 38 men could be obtained for entrance into the Fire Department.

They Sure Messed It Up!

It requires no experiments.

The City administration has made a monstrous mess of the Police and Fireman problem. The Mayor and the Fire Department, upon receiving word that the Fire and Police commissioners, WMC and Selective Service officials, must sit down together and work this thing out, it has just gotten any worse.

We'll have more to say on the subject next week.

AND THIS LEADS US to another subject—the Mayor's threat to bring back the two-platoon system for firemen. Where there is asserted, by offer of proof, to be a menace to the efficient handling of the manpower situation in City departments by the City Administration.

We say, for the record, that if the Mayor's bluffing or not in his warning that the 2-platoon system would be brought in, men a few years ago put up a valiant and winning fight—should come back, it will be a monument to the use of the intelligent handling of the manpower situation in City departments by the City Administration.

CIVIL SERVICE LEADER

Tuesday, August 3, 1943
Will you write a letter to a Prisoner of War... tonight?

Maybe he’s one of Jimmie Doolittle’s boys. Perhaps he was left behind when Bataan fell. Anyway, he’s an American, and he hasn’t had a letter in a long, long time.

And when you sit down to write, tell him why you didn’t buy your share of War Bonds last pay day.

“Dear Joe,” you might say, “the old topcoat was getting kind of threadbare, so I . . .”

No, cross it out. Joe might not understand about the topcoat, especially if he’s shivering in a damp Japanese cell.

Let’s try again. “Dear Joe, I’ve been working pretty hard and haven’t had a vacation in over a year, so . . .”

Hell, better cross that out, too. They don’t ever get vacations where Joe’s staying.

Well, what are you waiting for? Go ahead, write the letter to Joe. Try to write it, anyhow.

But mister, if somehow you find you can’t finish that letter, will you, at least, do this for Joe? Will you up the amount of money you’re putting into War Bonds and keep buying your share from here on in?

FKDR to Propose Widened Security for Civil Service in Armed Forces

By CHARLES SULLIVAN

EMPLOYEE BUREAUCRACY—News of the day was that for the year Government employees were dismissed by the Civil Service Commission. The President was only the first to make such an announcement. The President's plan was to dismiss employees who had failed to carry out the work to which they were assigned. The President said he would deal with the matter of dismissal in a letter to the heads of the Federal Government.

The issue came about because the President felt that it should be reformed, and that the Civil Service Commission should be made more efficient. The President said that he had decided to dismiss employees who were not doing a job.

Suppose, on the other hand, the President's explanation of the situation was correct. Even so, the employees dismissed would not be able to operate on their own. They would have to operate on their own.

The fact that the employee failed to carry out the work to which he was assigned would not be an issue. He would have to carry out the work to which he was assigned.

The President's explanation was as to how the employees were to be dismissed. The explanation made by one of the employees dismissed was as to how the Civil Service Commission was to be reformed.

The explanation given to us by the employees dismissed was that it was necessary because in that way they would be able to operate on their own.

When Is a Name "Certified"?
The exact meaning of terms used in this connection is a question which leads to considerable confusion, and often to misunderstanding.

We decided we would write an open letter to the President to show our ability with the explanation of this question.

The Municipal Commission has just issued a report in regard to the term "certification." The report states that the term shall not be deemed "certified" until it has been determined.

One previous interpretation of the term was this: When the names of names were submitted to a department by the Civil Service Commission, then all the names were considered "certified." The reason for this was that the names were considered "certified."
