We Are The Union

"We are the Union" is the slogan that General Electric and the Schenectady Chamber of Commerce are promoting in the city. The poster that was posted on the General Electric Company and the Schenectady Chamber of Commerce offices is designed to be eye-catching and memorable. The text on the poster reads: "We Are The Union." The slogan is intended to emphasize the importance of the Union in the lives of the workers and the community.

Second Community Meeting Planned

The Executive Board of Local 301, IUE-AFL-CIO, approved the call for a Second Community Meeting to be held on Sunday, April 13, 1958. A sub-committee was appointed to draft the plans and set a date for the meeting.

The National Negotiations Committee of the General Electric Conference Board had recommended that such Community Meetings take place in each General Electric location following the National Contract Negotiations to ensure that the people in the community who are not members of the Union may be acquainted with labor relations problems and the employment security problems in General Electric.

Business Agent Leo Danielson reported that employment in our Bargaining Unit had decreased in the first nine months of 1958 by 2,000 employees. In January of this year there was a membership in Local 301 of 22,500— as of September the membership had dropped to 20,500, the Business Agent reported. While these employment figures only affect the hourly rated employees within the Bargaining Unit represented by Local 301, the non-bargaining salaried employees are similarly affected in salary. In his talk on the problems of salaried and salaried workers is about this time he indicated that a local of approximately 3,000 salaried and salaried workers or more have been displaced during the first nine months.

This has resulted in large numbers of long service employees who are in the "null" category to find suitable work. Many of these are in the mechanical trade, as the balance of 1958 and into 1959 does not improve the present trend of layoffs in the Turbine Department, which is in the largest department of the Schenectady Local and which has the greatest number of production jobs, a layoff is contemplated because of the lack of orders to fill the 1958 production requirements. The situation is further complicated by the Turbine Department for 1959 are approximately 1½ times of normal production. The production schedule for the Turbine Department has been the decline and according to reports from the Company's Planning Committee, a major layoff is also expected in the near future.

Mr. Rengel pointed out that heavy industry has been shifting its work to new areas where labor has not been organized. He said he believes in opening up the United States to the Nation this section can be continued. He further pointed out that it was proper for the People Government to legislation to encourage development.

On the issue of new markets for new jobs, Rengel said the natural process for use of our domestic products is Latin America. We should encourage the U.S. to be in new markets from Brazil and Chile.

Mr. Rengel also said that the U.S. economy could be very good if the U.S. could be in new markets from Brazil and Chile.

The report was drafted by a financial consultant including the amount of money paid out as the form of wages and salary benefits, nothing which was mentioned about the employment status of General Electric employees during the first six months of 1958, and the comparison with the first nine months of 1957.
