Strictly Non-Union

There has been a recent increase in the number of non-union employees who are being hired by the IUE-CIO, which is causing concern among union members. The union has been working to address this issue and has requested an investigation into the hiring practices of the company to ensure that all employees are fairly compensated.

Amendment To Natural Gas Bill More Money Out Of Your Pocket

There is a bill in the House of Representatives aiming to increase the Natural Gas Bill. This bill is known as the Harris Bill, H.R. 3035.

If this bill passes, it will add billions of dollars to consumers of natural gas. It will also set the stage for price increases for oil, electricity, and telephone service, and also will lead to other taxes on different areas. The only ones who will benefit from this bill will be a few large oil companies whose wealth is almost legendary. It is estimated that the value of their natural gas reserves will increase by about thirty billion dollars if it passes.

Employment Status Per Management

An article appearing in a local newspaper recently reported approximately 400 workers are employed by the company this year.

A number of members have expressed concern with the employment status as it affects the members within our bargaining unit. The news release referred to local employment at the Riverton plant which included a total of 150, as well as current hourly rates.

Price Cut Results In Stoppages

As we go to press, there is a strike in progress in New York City as a result of the price cut in the Riverton plant.

The effect of the price cut has caused the Union to take action to ensure that all workers are paid fairly. The Union is determined to fight for the rights of its members and has taken necessary steps to protect their interests.
Weekly Compensation While at Work

A worker who has returned to work after an injury may be entitled to compensation benefits while he is working. This is because the injured worker's earning capacity has been reduced as a result of the injury. In order to receive these benefits, it must be shown that the injured worker's earning capacity has been reduced as a result of the injury and that, therefore, his wages have been reduced as a result of the injury. This is known as a 'weekly compensation' benefit and is calculated based on the injured worker's wages before the injury, minus any wages he is able to earn after returning to work.

Reorganize

Pension Committee

The General Electric Conference Board has announced that the Utility GE's Local Pension Committee has been reconstituted. The new committee will meet today with representatives of the companies to discuss the new plan. The new committee will be comprised of representatives of all of the companies involved in the plan. The new committee will be chaired by Charles Scott, a former GE executive.

Another employee has had a similar situation handled by the company. The employee, who was injured in a workplace accident, was contacted by the company's benefits department. The employee was therefore entitled to receive compensation benefits according to the company's policies. The employee was also advised to seek legal advice if he felt that his rights had been violated.

3rd Shift Requests Change in Schedule

The 3rd shift employees working in the调度 department are asking for an adjustment to the current schedule. They are requesting that the shift be changed to a 4-hour shift, with a 7-hour break in between. They feel that this would allow them to have more time off and would reduce the amount of stress they experience during their shift.

Union Questions

Minimum Pension

Continued

Forced to Cut Jobs that have work schedules of at least 20 hours, GE has been represented by a union local. The union has been active in negotiating better working conditions and wages for its members.

The union is in the process of reviewing all the contracts that are scheduled to expire in the next few months. To make the job more attractive, the union is offering a monthly pension plan to its members. The plan will begin with a monthly pension of $100 and increase by $50 each year.

As I See It

by Charles Scott

No one could have predicted the outcome of the recent negotiations between the Toolmakers' Committee and the management. The committee had been demanding a pay raise of 5% for all of its members, but the management had been offering only a 3% raise. The negotiations had been going on for several weeks, and it appeared that a deal was close to being reached.

However, on the night of the final meeting, the management suddenly announced that they were unable to meet the committee's demands. The union was outraged, and the members were determined to fight for their rights. The negotiations continued for several more weeks, but the management held firm on its offer of a 3% raise.

In the end, the union decided to accept the management's offer, and the new contract was signed. The members were not happy with the outcome, but they knew that they had to accept the deal in order to keep their jobs.

The union is now preparing to negotiate a new contract for its members. The negotiations will begin in early December, and the union will be seeking a pay raise of at least 5% for all of its members.
