Don't Blame Public For Strike !!!

Speaking at a meeting of the Brotherhood of Telegraph of Hershey held at the Edison Club last Monday, Leo Jandreas, Business Agent of IUE, Local 301, stated, "If there is a strike at GE on September, the responsibility for it will rest on the shoulders of National GE executives."

Members Decide
The Business Agent pointed out that the Union in this case is all General Electric workers, 140,000 of them working in GE plants throughout the country. All of them, with very few exceptions, must work for a living. "They are not searching for trouble, therefore, if they decide to reject the final offer, that will be made by the General Electric National executives, it will only be because the plant conditions are unbearable, unsafe and unsatisfactory." He criticized the publicity efforts of GE, blaming the National Union leadership for trying to forestall a strike and even now, according to a statement made by A. C. Babins, the local administrator of IUE, "they are changing the public's mind about the responsibility of preventing a strike."

The Business Agent pointed out that if National GE decided to make efforts to improve working conditions through their Union, as they do in trying to build public opinion by "spreading the truth" to individuals and groups who have no control of the situation, we would have very little trouble next September.

GE Authority in N. Y.
In contrasting the difference in authority between local Union representatives and local management representatives, such as Mr. A. C. Babins, Jandreas claimed that while the Company's program is to decentralize its manufacturing locations, they have centralized their Labor Relations Department by having away the little authority that plant managers had in the past. "Every move of GE is in the hand of Labor and public relations is plotted in the New York office of General Electric under the guidance of Lemuel Babins, a professional anti-labor specialist.

Babins' Utilizations
The attitude of the General Electric Company towards organized labor has changed considerably since the days of Frank Sorge and Owen Babins. "Our attitude is that of an essential part of a free society that should be pruned and strengthened along with Free enterprise," Mr. Babins, Vice-President of IUE, has not shown respect or good will in the course of his dealings with representatives of the Union. The bargaining technique of GE has been one of the dirty examples Continued on Page 2.

Local 301 Makes Unemployed Canvas
The Union has sent out 800 representaives to these workers who were laid off in the last quarter of 1954 and the first quarter of 1955, talking to them about their experience and services. We have received approximately 190 replies, 60 of which are necessary in order making it so.

The Company has notified some of the people with service of September 1951, on residence laborers. Approximately 12600 people, with service equal or longer than those notified, will be notified in the near future. The Company intends to give these people the opportunity to return to the service. The canvass continued the names of those who had sufficient service in the management for placement.

Chief of Police Draws Winners

450 To Be Called By August 15th

A letter to A. C. Babins on April 10, Mr. Jandreas, Business Agent, received the plant manager's assurance that the drawing of the first 450 winners would be done by August 15th, and that they would be announced in the plant of those who had been laid off between the dates of September 1951 and August 15th. TheDrawing of the 450 winners will be made by the company, and the winners will be announced in the plant of those who have been laid off between the dates of September 1951 and August 15th. No Contract—No Work
Approved at Lynn

At a meeting of the Lynn City Council last week, it was reported that the city would not pay for work done after March 1, 1960, until a new contract had been signed.

The council voted to reject the contract presented by the union, stating that it did not meet the city's requirements.

The union members also voted to approve the new contract, which includes a 5% wage increase for all members.

There was a lot of discussion about the impact of the new contract on the city's budget.

Don't Blame Public For Strike

In a statement released today, the mayor of the city said that the public should not blame the union for the strike.

He said that the union was only trying to protect the interests of its members.

The mayor also said that he would work with the union to find a solution to the current crisis.

Pensioners Club Reorganized

The Local 301 Pensioners Club, which has not had a meeting in over 10 years, has been reorganized.

The new officers have been elected, and the club will begin meeting on the first Tuesday of each month.

The club will continue to meet at the same location, and the new officers will be responsible for organizing new members.

Labor Lawyer Joins Union's Attorney

In Legal Practice

Local 301's lawyer, John Novak, has joined the union's legal department.

He will be responsible for representing the union in legal matters, including contract negotiations, arbitrations, and court cases.

Novak has been with the union for 10 years, and he has handled a number of important cases on behalf of the union.

GE Spent $76,124

Lobbying

General Electric has spent $76,124 on lobbying activities in Washington, D.C., according to a report released by the Center for Responsive Politics.

The company has spent the most on lobbying in the second quarter, with $49,912.

The report also notes that GE has spent more on lobbying in the past three years than any other company.

GE Must Answer

Anti-Trust Suit

General Electric has been sued by the Justice Department for violating anti-trust laws in the manufacture of electrical equipment.

The suit was filed in the U.S. District Court in New Haven.

The company has been accused of violating antitrust laws by limiting competition in the sale of electrical equipment.

It's in our best interest that a conflict be resolved by the courts, as it would help us to achieve the best possible outcome.
