N.J. Walton of 8534 was working on the lathe on the 4th shift one evening when he had an accident. He cut his hand on a chip...the hand began to bleed badly.

He immediately headed for the Turbine Dispensary only to find it closed. The hand continued to bleed.

He then searched the building for his foreman, but he was nowhere in sight. Finally, in desperation, the employee went into an office nearby, picked up a phone and called the guard.

The patrol sent out a car, picked him up and rushed him to the main clinic. From there he was taken to Ellis Hospital where all attempts were made to close the wound.

In an apparent effort to "compensate" and make higher profits the Turbine Dispensary was closed without regard to the health and safety of its employees, is the company more concerned with saving money than protecting the life and safety of its employees?

Wouldn't it be much cheaper to keep this dispensary open than to take the time and labor to run a man all the way to a hospital whenever medical attention is needed?

Suppose this man had bled to death? What then?

In the interest of the employee and the company, for better health and safety, we suggest that this dispensary be reopened to the Turbine employees on all shifts.

In response to your inquiry on the MUSG's Activities Group (contd) of trade unionists in the development and activities of the national, state, county and Congressional Dist. CPEK.

Women who work with MUSG study the voting records of candidates, they encourage citizens to register. They serve banquets and seminars. They call on their neighbors and tell them about candidates and issues. They distribute literature. They set up car pools and baby-sitting pools and otherwise help to get out the vote on Election Day.

MUSG's arrange visits, in cooperation with CPUSA, to state legislators to learn how bills become law. They sponsor conferences for political education for women trade unionists and their families. In short, MUSG carries out year-round programs of education and action in trying to help our union members, families, and friends in their struggle to make a better life for us all. MUSG thus has become a key part of CPUSA's over-all political education program.

The next meeting is scheduled for Wednesday evening, March 16th, 7:30 p.m., at the JFK Hall in Schenectady. All female union members and wives of union members are urged to attend.

"PEOPLE WITH PROBLEMS" DISCUSSED ON LOCAL 301 RADIO PROGRAM

"People with Problems" will be discussed on Local 301 Radio Program this Saturday evening at 6:00 p.m. on WSBY (1200) on your dial at 6:00 p.m.

Art Christopher, President of the Community Chest, will appear on the program in an effort to keep the community better informed as to some of the agencies that are after the members and their neighbors to participate in the Community Chest.

All year long, these agencies are working around the clock for the health and welfare of the citizens of Schenectady. In fact, they are so wrapped up with their work, solving our problems, that they sometimes don't think of the many services and accomplishments.

"Labor Looks at the News" is sponsored by Local 301, of the IUE, and is brought to the community as a public service every Saturday evening at 6:00 p.m. on WSBY Radio. The program is prepared and directed by Art Christopher.

Vacation "Give-A-Way" Slated for April

Local Union 301, IUE, has arranged to make a "Give-A-Way" trip for the members over the four-week period of April. This is the first time that the trip has been planned in conjunction with the IUE's national convention.

Local 301, IUE, has in the past given a "Give-A-Way" trip to its members, but it has never been combined with the national convention. This year, the trip will be held in conjunction with the national convention, which is being held in New York City.

The trip will be open to all members of Local 301, IUE, who have been active members for at least one year. The trip will include a tour of the city, a visit to the convention, and a chance to win prizes.

Local 301, IUE, has been very successful in the past with its "Give-A-Way" trips. In fact, the trip has been a major reason for the growth of the union.

"Give-A-Way" trips have been a popular tradition in the union. They have been a way for the union to show its appreciation to its members and to give them a chance to travel and see the country.

Local 301, IUE, is looking forward to its "Give-A-Way" trip this year. It is sure to be a successful trip, and it will be a great opportunity for the members to have a good time and to learn more about the union.
Editorial:

Unity Pays Off

The Local 311, IUE, scored a tremendous victory recently when they forced their employers to sign a new contract for Local 311.

The new contract is a victory for all of us. It is the result of the hard work of Local 311 members who demanded fair treatment from their employers. This victory is the result of the cooperation and unity of all workers in this industry.

Stewards Suspended

The stewards who have been suspended must be given a fair hearing. They must be allowed to present their case before an impartial body. This is the only way to ensure that justice is done.

GI Loan Deadline Listed for World War II Veterans

The deadline for applying for GI loans is fast approaching. World War II veterans must act quickly to take advantage of this opportunity. The deadline is June 30, 1945.

World War II veterans who served honorably and in the United States Armed Forces are eligible for GI loans. The loans are available for the purchase, improvement, or rehabilitation of homes. The loans are also available for the purchase of farm equipment.
