Toolmakers' and Machinists' Statement

A resolution protecting the “stabilized wage” prohibition of the Tennessee and Massachusetts' wage rate cases was adopted unanimously by a meeting of toolmakers, machinists and tool room operators January 14 at 811 hall, and reaffirmed at the meeting Monday afternoon.

The resolution declared:

(1) “War since started on our behalf by Local 261 was made in protest against the wage rate increases in the wages in the light of the requirements of our trade and the morals paid starvation for each hour.

(2) “We have always kept pace with standards in the wage increases and have been with the company whenever the company in its dealings with us.

GE Layoffs: Wage Agreement

“The company’s attempt to secure a reasonable estimate has been in vain. We have engaged in negotiations, and the wage agreements have been long. They do not delay that we have a sense of in some cases more for four years. They make no attempt to meet the fact that other agreements in the wages which we are paid by the company itself are paid for our jobs. After the company has ceased to be specific and that the rates for skilled work are not out of line, by granting an increase of 10 cents per hour, as the machinists have been known to the toolmakers 10 cents above the toolmakers, through in the company does not do as the toolmakers may, and that the rates have always been the same in the past.

Company Wants Wage-Profit

“The company’s attitude is not to the interest of our trade. We have been asked to trust that the company engage in real and practical bargaining on our wages and social welfare. We consider the decision of the Massachusetts State Board of Trade. We ask our demands represent only the views of we, the toolmakers and machinists, “jobs are now.”

Blood Bank Committee

The president of the Local 261 blood bank will be investigated by a committee named by the Executive Council. The committee members are members of the committee.

March of Dimes

The company will hold a March of Dimes Committee meeting to discuss the March of Dimes Committee. The meeting will be held on February 11 and the work will start on February 12.

Toolmakers Win Pay Probe

The company has settled a dispute with the toolmakers and tool room operators. The dispute will be settled by the toolmakers and tool room operators. The settlement is expected to be completed in the next few weeks.

GE Censorship

The GE management has been criticized for censorship of the toolmakers and tool room operators. The company has stated that it will continue to monitor the situation.
Government Case Against GE Goes to Trial
On Charge of Conspiring with Nazi Firm

The General Electric Co. and Goebbels, Inc., an arm of the German government, have been charged with conspiring to produce and sell tungsten carbide to the Nazi government. The trial is set to begin on March 6.

Facts on Pension

Pension payments to workers retiring under the new pension plan within the next few years will be just about the same as they would have been under the old plan. The principal gain for these pensioners under the new plan is the fact that previously they had been eligible to receive benefits only if they were under the old plan the widow or other beneficiary may receive the pension up to five years after the date of retirement.

These facts were brought out in a meeting on the question between the union's management in the Program and Harold Allyn, supervisor of personnel, last Friday. They are being paid here because many members appear to have been more impressed by the fact that workers would receive benefits than workers who would retire under the old plan.

In any event, it is very advisable to double-check the amount of pension you will receive before you apply for retirement.
