Local 301 Workers Get True Facts

Local 301, in cooperation with District 8 and the International Union, has just completed a very successful Leadership Education Conference.

Over 250 members attended the four-day conference held in our Auditorium on June 3 and 4. The number consisted of Officers, Board Members, Shop stewards and interested members.

The conference was directed by Ben Segal, National IUE Education Director, and Ed Grabowski. District 8 Education Director. These men are to be complimented on the planning that went into the preparation of this conference and also for the way that it was conducted.

The program included many aspects which effectively cover the members of the Union, their family and the community. These subjects were brought to light by our International Union and the highlight of the conference was a talk delivered by James Keating, National General President. Brother Hartman in his keynote presentation presented primer on fact and figures that we can be only proud of. These facts tell us the story of membership and how the collective bargaining agreements have been brought about.

The program was given in a light and informal manner and the students were very attentive and eager to learn.

The conference is a real asset to the membership and the locals are planning their own conferences in the near future.

The Right to Work

Do you, do you have the Right to Work? The Right to Work has become a very controversial issue in recent years. The right to work is a right that guarantees employees the freedom to choose whether or not to join a union. This right has been under attack by anti-union groups who believe that unions are a threat to the free market economy.

And do it how you have in mind, when dividends decline or when the costs of uncompensated work-related accidents are too high, and in the final analysis, is to be worked to death. That thought might indeed be the thinking of the person who pays.
