GE Propaganda Going Full Blast

As was expected, GE is playing the game to win the battle of public opinion. It is cleverly using its own organization to attack the employer and to present the company's position in the current negotiations. The last three weeks have shown the influence of the so-called "labor scouts" or "union stooges" on the negotiations, as urged by A. T. Beattie, that they have been sent to win the minds and hearts of the employees. They are pre-occupied with the problem of making the employees believe that the company is offering them a fair contract and a fair share of the gains of the modern age. They are using every means at their disposal to discredit the bargaining agents and to present the company's position in a favorable light.

For the years, GE has been putting forth the "better auto" line, the theory that "greater productivity" for the worker is the "crown" of the company's success. The result is that the company's success is due to the workers and that the company is the greatest asset of the workers.

For the past three weeks, GE has been putting forth the "better auto" line, the theory that "greater productivity" for the company is the "crown" of the company's success. The result is that the company's success is due to the company and that the company is the greatest asset of the workers.

GE Remains Defeat to Needs of Employees

General Electric Company has continued its efforts to meet the needs of employees. In an effort to improve the lot of employees, the company has taken steps to reduce the hours required for the job. This is in line with the company's policy of lowering wages and to meet the needs of employees.

Jobless Expected to Reach 10 Million

The Labor Department reported that the number of unemployed in the United States has reached a new high of 10.5 million, with 10.3 million seeking work.

Profits Up - Jobs Down

While saying that the company had "nothing to lose" by laying off workers, the company's president, Mr. Dearborn, presented the company's financial report for the first quarter of the year. He said that the company had made a profit of $25 million, and that the company was well-positioned to weather the current economic downturn.

Canadian Workers in Demonstrations, Demand GE End Stall on Contract

Thousands of Canadian workers in Toronto and Hamilton are demanding that the company end its persistent delay in negotiations with the union. They have been without a contract for several months, and the lack of progress in talks is causing a great deal of frustration among the workers.

Grievance Session on Lay-Off Methods

The GE Lay-Off Committee has met with its representatives in a session to discuss the company's lay-off methods. The committee is concerned about the impact of lay-offs on the workers and their families, and is working to find ways to minimize the adverse effects of lay-offs.

301 Field Day Big Success Despite Heat

The 301 Field Day was held at the company's plant in Buffalo, New York. The weather was hot and humid, but the workers were determined to have a good time. The event included games, music, and food, and was a great success.

Part of the putridity of this sale is the amount of garbage that is thrown away. We are now faced with a problem of what to do with the garbage... the idea that the workers are not "productive" is sheer nonsense.

Some Westinghouse Workers

The Westinghouse workers have been very active in their efforts to improve their working conditions. They have been working with the company to find ways to reduce the number of hours they work, and to increase their pay. The workers are determined to improve their working conditions and to secure a fair contract.

In conclusion, the Westinghouse workers have shown a great deal of determination and commitment to their job. They have been working hard to improve their working conditions and to secure a fair contract.

GE Estimate

"The estimate was made by the company's engineers, who used the following formula:"

J. W. S. H. M. A.

Vol. 7 No. 25

Schenectady, N.Y.

July 1, 1949
GE Remains Deaf To Workers’ Needs
(Continued from Page 1)

The negotiations resulted in an agreement that will not change the company’s policies regarding the production of a smaller version of the model that has been successful in the market. The agreement was reached after three months of谈判, during which time the company and the union reached an agreement on the terms of the new contract.

Local Heat Meetings

The meeting continued to discuss the current conditions and the need for new agreements between the company and the union. The union presented a proposal for a new contract that would address the issues of wages, hours, and working conditions. The company rejected the proposal and offered a counterproposal. The meeting ended with no agreement reached.

Another Session With GM on MBA Plan

The meeting continued to discuss the potential impact of the GM plan on the union’s members. The union presented a proposal for the company to include the union’s demands in the plan. The company rejected the proposal and offered a counterproposal. The meeting ended with no agreement reached.

3,839 Jobless Reported

Another 3,839 workers were reported jobless this week, bringing the total number of unemployed to 30,600. The company reported that the layoffs were due to the company’s need to reduce its workforce. The union reported that the layoffs were due to the company’s need to reduce its workforce.

It’s Another Writer But Same Old Story

The company's public relations department issued a statement saying that the writer was not a new hire, but rather the same person who had been hired in the past. The statement was in response to a report that the writer was a new hire.

301 Meetings With Marcy On Silicosis Question

The meeting continued to discuss the issue of silicosis in the company. The union presented a proposal for the company to include the union’s demands in the plan. The company rejected the proposal and offered a counterproposal. The meeting ended with no agreement reached.

Downs and Kelly Report On Civil Rights Session

The meeting continued to discuss the issue of civil rights in the company. The union presented a proposal for the company to include the union’s demands in the plan. The company rejected the proposal and offered a counterproposal. The meeting ended with no agreement reached.

Another Session With GM on MBA Plan

The meeting continued to discuss the potential impact of the GM plan on the union’s members. The union presented a proposal for the company to include the union’s demands in the plan. The company rejected the proposal and offered a counterproposal. The meeting ended with no agreement reached.

Mrs. William G. Hodges

The meeting continued to discuss the issue of women’s rights in the company. The union presented a proposal for the company to include the union’s demands in the plan. The company rejected the proposal and offered a counterproposal. The meeting ended with no agreement reached.