New Eisenhower-Named NLRB Boss Loses No Time in Making First Anti-Unions Moves

Representatives of organized labor were according a warm welcome this week to the new President Eisenhower's future appointments to the NLRB, which will be of the same stripe as the new chairman, Guy Parmar. The report from New York gives a forecast of the new chairman's four successive moves in which the board majority, still composed of Democratic appointees, will be hit.

Of particular significance was the announcement that Robert A. Krieger, a former NLRB official, would be appointed to the NLRB by the late President Roosevelt. The announcement of Krieger's appointment caused a stir among labor leaders, who considered it a sign of the impending reshuffling of the board's personnel.

In the meantime, the strike by independent International Mailers Union, which was on the verge of a strike, was settled by the Star, a Los Angeles-based newspaper, which carried its anti-union policy ever since its front pages, has continued to happen with the series of protests and rallies being held by the strike leaders and other unions with which the Star has an affinity.

The strike, the Star has been hounded high school kids in such as the regular edition, these paper sellers are in a state of number of circumstances currently including handling of papers and propositions of the persons for transportation to strikes and resulting to schisms.

301 Board Adopts 3-Point Plan to Back Lynn Drive

301 Board Lynn Drive to Begin Soon

The NLRB Board has adopted a 3-point plan to support the Lynn GE workers. The plan is to be presented for membership approval at the special meeting on Monday.

Included in the plan will be the sending of at least 5 leading members of the Stationary Local to Lynn to take a part in the campaign. One man on every two men will go to the Massachusetts area in order to organize the GE workers over there with the kind of union that UI is in the house of General Electric.

Also, on the support program will be a demonstration in Lynn. These will be held at 10 a.m. and 2 p.m. The following day, the Stationary Local will provide Lynn workers with 100 copies a week of the UI News. These papers will be distributed along with the support programs, in which the board majority, still composed of Democratic appointees, are hit by the board majority.

Taft-Hartley to Be Tougher Now, says New NLRB Head

There's little doubt that, even though Congress didn't take the Taft-Hartley act this year, the new NLRB is going to be tougher on labor unions. The new NLRB head, Robert A. Krieger, is expected to be more active and aggressive in enforcing the Taft-Hartley act than his predecessor, Robert A. Kilgore. The new board head, Robert A. Krieger, is expected to be more active and aggressive in enforcing the Taft-Hartley act than his predecessor, Robert A. Kilgore.
Durkin Resignation Will Step Up Official Labor Opposition To Give-Way Administration

Resignation of Labor Secretary Martin P. Durkin from President Eisenhower's cabinet of millionaires will remove restraints that had kept official labor opposition to the give-way administration within bounds. The labor secretary's resignation, it was announced yesterday at the AFL convention, will open the door for John L. Lewis, the Amalgamated Cooperers' union head, to take over the AFL under his control.

The AFL's new leadership, with Durkin out of the way, will face a more difficult task in the labor field because the union has been weakened by the recent strike of steelworkers and the strike of the textile workers in the South. The AFL has been forced to retreat from its policy of non-interference with the labor movement in the South.

Clam Bake—Food Was Good

The former railway conductor who wrote the report about the Clam Bake last Friday, the food was excellent. Chicken was done just right with plenty of it for everyone to eat if they chose. The day was sunny - slightly over 70 degrees. This gave everyone a chance to get a good start on their Labor Day celebration.

The guests included many members of the Clam Bake group along with their families. The food was excellent and there was plenty of it for everyone. The day was enjoyable and everyone had a good time.
