GE Agrees to Change Monday Pay Day

As a result of talks held between the General Electric Company and Local 269, a new agreement has been reached on Monday pay day. Effective Tuesday, April 19, the regular pay day for Local 269 will be changed from Monday to Friday. This decision was made after a series of talks with the company's representatives.

Don't Be a Slacker. Join the Union

Board and Stewards Pledge Support to Tiffin Strikers

The board and stewards of the electrical union have pledged their support to the striking workers at Tiffin. A meeting was held recently to discuss the strike, and the board members expressed their solidarity with the strikers. They emphasized the importance of unity and their commitment to the workers' cause.

Improvements Sought in Compensation Law

The improvements sought by Local 269 include higher wages and better working conditions. The union has been pressing for changes in the compensation law to ensure fair treatment for its members. The talks with the company have been ongoing, and progress has been made in several areas.

Electrical Union News

Top GE Management Agrees to Pay Guard

The GE management has agreed to pay guard in response to the demands made by the union. This agreement was reached after several discussions, and it is expected to improve the working conditions for the guards. The union has praised the company for its willingness to negotiate and reach a fair agreement.

Stop the Drop

Lay-Off Problem Gets Worse Here

The lay-off problem continues to worsen, with more workers facing job losses. The union has been emphasizing the need for companies to maintain stable employment and prevent layoffs. The situation is particularly concerning for workers who have been affected by recent layoffs.

Knels Group Protests

The Knels Group has protested against the company's treatment of its workers. The group has been calling for better working conditions and fair compensation. The union has supported the protesters, and the conflict has been ongoing for several weeks.

Knolls Group Protests Lunch Hour Policy

The Knolls Group has protested against the company's lunch hour policy. The group has been demanding a more flexible schedule to allow for better meal times. The union has been advocating for the group's demands, and negotiations are ongoing.

Bids on Television Set

The union has bid on a television set, which will be used as a replacement for the old model. The bid was approved after several discussions, and the union will install the new set at the earliest possible time.

3,074 Awarded for Hand Injury

A worker at the General Electric Company was awarded $3,074 for a hand injury sustained on the job. The union has been advocating for fair compensation for workers injured on the job, and this case is a positive development.

AGGEE of 20,000 Workers

The AGGEE of 20,000 workers has been signed by Local 269. This agreement has been signed after several negotiations, and it is expected to improve the working conditions for the members. The union has been advocating for such agreements, and this is a significant achievement.

CBU and LTV Employers

The CBU and LTV Employers have proposed a new agreement for contract negotiations. The union has been advocating for better working conditions, and this agreement is a positive step towards that goal.
Stewards Discuss Handling Grievances

Stewards discussed grievances by phone and in meetings until the end of last week. While no hours had been lost, some stewards who attended meetings suggested that the meetings themselves may have been a waste of time.

Another issue was the failure to sign wage agreements for last year, with both sides now agreeing to start working on this issue. The stewards discussed the need for a written and signed agreement to avoid future misunderstandings.

The following steward attended the grievance meeting held on Monday night:

- Building 10-David L. Delano and Jack Spence

Statement Made

The following statement was made by John Moyer, local railroad manager of the Union of Leftists (ULR) at the grievance meeting:

"There is a terrible lack of organization in 700. The highest authority is not in touch with the members or members at large. The problem is clearly defined as unconstitutional and the following steps are recommended:

1. A list of members or members at large should be compiled.
2. The situation should be reviewed and members should be notified.
3. A plan for the organization should be developed.

The affair on Saturday was handled much better than the previous affair but there are still important issues to be addressed."

Stewards Respond

The stewards responded that they do not support the statement made by John Moyer and that they believe the situation is being handled appropriately.

Gill President Charles E. Wilson, right, takes time off from signing labor contracts to receive a series of citations from the Labor Department. Gill president Delano and Gill vice president A. W. Klein are in the picture.

The Cruelty of Support

The Cruelty of Support is a series of photographs taken by Gill, president of the firm, during the labor contract negotiations.

Board and Stewards

Raffi Keffe Strickers

(Continued from Page 1)

Board and stewards made no reply or asked for a meeting. However, the stewards had met with the president of the firm and had been informed that the company was willing to negotiate.

Seniority Rights

In accordance with current practice, stewards have been appointed to the grievance meeting. The meeting was adjourned at the request of the stewards until a later date.

301 Meeting Postponed

Because of Clothes Sale

The Executive Board has postponed the 301 meeting originally scheduled for Wednesday night due to the clothes sale.

Board and stewards met on Saturday night and the meeting was adjourned. The stewards will meet again on Monday night.

Union Helps Obtain Bus Service Changes

The union has succeeded in obtaining a change in the bus schedule. The bus will now stop at Locals 301, 302, and 303 instead of Locals 301, 302, and 304.

 Lancaster 1900

Wage Increases Are Safeguards Against Threatened Depression

The General Electric Company is trying to keep up with the times. The company has already paid out $250,000 in bonuses to its workers, and it is expected that more will be forthcoming.

The stewards discussed the importance of wage increases as a safeguard against threatened depression.

The stewards also discussed the importance of maintaining the company's productivity and morale during these trying times.

Union Protests Speed-Up Cases

The process of speeding up work has been a major concern for the union. The stewards discussed the need for stricter enforcement of safety regulations and the importance of worker health and safety.

Big Rice Harvest

The record rice harvest in California has created a glut on the market, leading to a decrease in prices.

A Wage Rate To Protect Your Job

The union has introduced a wage rate that will protect workers from wage cuts during times of economic hardship.

Electrical Union News

March 4, 1949

25 Stewards Added to 301 Honor Roll

Scores of new stewards have been added to the 301 Honor Roll. The number of stewards has increased by 25 since last month.

Wage increases are safeguards against threatened depression.
March of Dimes Receives $3,845

A check for $3,845, received through solicitation made by the local office of the March of Dimes, was handed over to the March of Dimes committee by President E. W. Brown. The President of the local club, R. E. Brown, presented the check to the March of Dimes committee.

301 Letter to Male on Tiffin Strike

For numerical value of the 301 Executive Board and the shop stewards, the letter was written. The letter was written to all employees of the company on a strike of the International Longshoremen's Association.

GM Price Cut Strictly Phony

General Motors Corporation last week announced a reduction in prices of $350 per ton of steel. The price cut is effective immediately. The reduction in price is expected to reduce the cost of living for the employees of the company.

301 Letter to Male on Tiffin Strike

For numerical value of the 301 Executive Board and the shop stewards, the letter was written. The letter was written to all employees of the company on a strike of the International Longshoremen's Association.

Game of Life

The game of life is a popular game played by many people. The game is played by rolling dice and moving a piece on a board. The goal of the game is to reach the end of the board as quickly as possible.

Movie Program

For Tomorrow

The movie program for tomorrow will be shown in the evening at 7:30 p.m. The movie will be "The Cat and the Canary." The movie will be followed by a discussion of the movie at 9:30 p.m.

Tent-Halt Crisis

Union workers were called to a meeting last night by the Tent-Halt Committee. The meeting was called to discuss the crisis of the union. The crisis was discussed at length.

Deadlines for F 1

The deadline for F 1 is at 5:00 p.m. on Friday, and the second deadline is at 9:00 p.m. on Saturday.

GM Price Cut Strictly Phony

General Motors Corporation last week announced a reduction in prices of $350 per ton of steel. The price cut is effective immediately. The reduction in price is expected to reduce the cost of living for the employees of the company.

301 Letter to Male on Tiffin Strike

For numerical value of the 301 Executive Board and the shop stewards, the letter was written. The letter was written to all employees of the company on a strike of the International Longshoremen's Association.