Raisons Obtained For More Groups

Meetings are being arranged with the company to consider these matters. The adjustment is to be made in the form of wage increases for members of Local 38.

A. C. Stevens, president, defended the wage increases on the grounds that they were required to meet the demands of the membership.

"The meeting was attended by 250 members of the union, who expressed their satisfaction with the wage increases," he said.

"The union has been working hard to ensure that the wages of its members are fair and adequate," he added.

"We are proud of the work that our members do, and we are committed to ensuring that they are fairly compensated for their efforts," he concluded.

IEU Sell-out Angers Westinghouse Workers

More than 7,000 IEU members met in Baltimore last week to discuss their contract with Westinghouse. The union had been negotiating with the company for several months, and the members were concerned that their demands were being ignored.

"Westinghouse has been giving in too much," said one member. "They are trying to dictate the terms of the contract, and we are not going to stand for it."

"Our members are dedicated to their work, and they deserve to be treated fairly," said A. C. Stevens, president of the IEU.

"We will not back down until we get a contract that is fair and just for all members," he added.

Equal Shifts Won For Turbine Dept.

As a result of two meetings, the turbines workers have received a 5% raise in wages. The union had been fighting for the raise for several months, and the members were pleased with the outcome.

"This is a victory for our members," said A. C. Stevens, president of the IEU.

"We will continue to fight for our members until we get the wages that they deserve," he added.

IOM Doesn't Show Up!

At Meeting on Election

Representatives of the Internationals had been trying to get the support of the union members for their candidate in the upcoming election. However, the meeting was canceled at the last minute, and the representatives were left without a venue.

"We were looking forward to this meeting," said A. C. Stevens, president of the IEU.

"We were hoping to get some support for our candidate, but it seems that the union members are not interested," he added.

Bids 1956

For 1956

The union has received a bid from a company for the construction of a new building. The union had been negotiating with the company for several months, and the members were pleased with the outcome.

"This is a victory for our members," said A. C. Stevens, president of the IEU.

"We will continue to fight for our members until we get the wages that they deserve," he added.

Twisting Facts About GE Offers

In a bid to win over the workers, GE has been offering a variety of incentives. However, the union has been critical of the company's tactics.

"GE is trying to twist the facts to make it seem like they are doing something good," said A. C. Stevens, president of the IEU.

"We are going to continue to fight for our members until we get the wages that they deserve," he added.

Another Boulevard Masterpiece

In a bid to nullify the union's victory, GE has been offering a variety of incentives. However, the union has been critical of the company's tactics.

"GE is trying to twist the facts to make it seem like they are doing something good," said A. C. Stevens, president of the IEU.

"We are going to continue to fight for our members until we get the wages that they deserve," he added.
