Labor Unity

A meeting called by Shop Stewards and the UE, was held on the evening of July 11. The purpose of the meeting was to discuss the possibility of organizing a general strike among the workers in the UE, in order to force the company to make concessions.

Meeting of Stewards

The meeting was attended by representatives of the UE, including John O'Brien, president of the UE, and Joseph Keating, secretary-treasurer. The meeting was called to order by O'Brien, who said:

"We have had a meeting of the UE yesterday, and we have decided to call a meeting of the workers this evening. The purpose of the meeting is to discuss the possibility of organizing a general strike to force the company to make concessions.

"We have already had a meeting of the UE, and we have decided to call a meeting of the workers this evening. The purpose of the meeting is to discuss the possibility of organizing a general strike to force the company to make concessions.

"The company has already made some concessions, but we feel that more must be done before we can consider a settlement. We are not satisfied with the concessions that have been made, and we feel that the workers must take stronger action if they are to get the justice that they deserve.

GE Penny Pinching Proves Inefficient

The current GE program of batch labor makes direct use of a practice in Bldgs. 16 during the past week. To back up this position over a recent dispute on a steel press job at a meeting with a union official in Bldgs. Foreman P. J. Eser and Ernest Dein, plant rate man, testified before the working committee in Bldgs. From the evidence, and the fact that they showed up for fifteen hours and Dein for 21 hours. The work was in such demand that supervisors had intended to keep the pressing operations running.

The next meeting of the GE CIO Session will be held Monday, 2nd day of the week.

Meetings Are Called For Turbine Workers

The company has refused to recognize that the increased production should mean a chance to make increased earnings.

A turbine workers’ committee, headed by William Stewart, Board member for 16 and 18B, was met in today with Louis Moe on this question. The union includes:

Stewards Approve Sending 10 to State CIO Session

The CIO shop stewards’ meeting Wednesday, July 30, the issuer was ordered to a price of $1.00. The CIO issued a statement on the issue, saying it was for an increase in wages, but offered to increase the offer. Hoffmnn, the president, was present.

Hoffman suggested that the point was that the price was fixed. Indeed, Eser and Dein decided to start another trial on the next day. This made the operator so nervous as to report the next day's work.

Evidently the Man for Taft-Hartley Board

Series of Meetings Held For Stewards

Stewards’ week under the new contract and for problems under the Taft-Hartley law were the subject of a discussion at area meetings of stewards held last week and this week, involving labor. These stewards who visited the meetings because of variations will be called in later.

Exhaustive in the discussion was placed on the fact that the company’s attitude has become bolder and it is said by the new law, but the work of the union and its stewards in enforcing the contract continues as before. There must be increased discipline, so that any action in the breach of a contract by the union’s stewards.

President Andrew Peterson pointed to the Taft-Hartley law and the anti-union activities of the Taft-Hartley Board as providing the opportunity to fight the drive against labor and democracy. He urged the collection of PAC dollars and participation by the members in PAC work.

William Monticelli, chief steward, presided over the meetings, and stated on whether all groups had stewards representing them as required by the constitution.
