LABOR DAY...

Labor Day is the first of the year when we should take time to study the many changes which the Labor Movement has brought about to us over the years.

LONG SISTER STRUGGLE

Things that we sometimes take for granted, here and abroad today, are the result of the hard, bitter, uphill struggle. Workers men and women have been working for decades, in some cases, to achieve their goals. They have battled for union recognition, fair wages, safe working conditions, and a better standard of living. To them we owe much, more than we can ever repay.

BEQUESTS GAINED

They fought the battle against child labor, for free public schools, for the right to vote, for health and safety rules in the factories, for workers' compensation, for better social and economic progress, for a better America.

As a result of these hard-fought victories, a better standard of living is now a reality.

LABOR LEGISLATION

In spite of the many efforts to restrict the rights of workers to freedom of organization, the American Labor Movement has been able to carry on. It has become an integral part of the American way of life.

We shall not exaggerate these gains. There are difficulties, just as in other fields. But they are not insurmountable, and they are being faced and overcome.

NLRB Orders Kohler Co. to Rehire Men

WASHINGON, D.C. (AP) — The National Labor Relations Board ordered The Kohler Co. to rehire four men who were fired last year after they tried to organize the Wisconsin-based company's workers.

The NLRB found the Wisconsin-based company violated the National Labor Relations Act when it fired the men for organizing. The board said the company had acted unlawfully.

Employee Rights

Labor has a tough and necessary record of dedicated service to the workforce. Over the years, it has fought and won important battles, including

LAWRENCE INSURANCE

On this Labor Day, we should also be thankful for our local community, who have stood with us, helping us navigate through the challenges of our work.

UNIONS MEAN A BETTER AMERICA

The NLRB and the local unions have fought for a better standard of living for all American workers.

Jandreau on WSNY Tomorrow, To Answer Questions on Negotiations

Lawrence Anderson, Business Agent of Local 98, IUE, will appear on WSNY's Labor Day program, "Labor's Holiday," to answer questions on negotiations. It is being sponsored by the Labor Day Committee of the IUE, and will premiere this week. The program will be repeated at various other locations.

"Things to Think About" by Frank Mannby

On Wednesday morning, the IUE Committee, headed by Mr. Smith, met to discuss the current situation in the union and the challenges we face.
