Matlack Describes
Gang-up on UE

Tom Matlack, supervisor at Electrical Union News, has described a "gang-up" on United Electrical Workers (UE) organizers at the plant which his employer, E.I. Du Pont de Nemours and Co., operates in Wilmington, Delaware.

Problems arose last week when a UE organizer, Tom Matlack, attempted to meet with workers at the plant to discuss their grievances and organize for better working conditions.

"It was a deliberate attempt to prevent the organizers from doing their job," Matlack said. "They were trying to create a climate of fear among the workers."