1. The members who will be eligible to vote in the election are those members in the Factory and maintenance units, who have paid their dues for February 1944. New members who have been elected but have not yet been admitted to the organization will be eligible to vote on or prior to February 25, 1944, but will be eligible to vote, provided the application is on file in the Union office prior to February 25, 1944.

2. Members will give their names and check marks at the polls. This will be checked against the name on the check-off list, which shows dues paid, and receive a ballot. Those members who are not on the check-off list may receive a ballot by showing a dues book paid for February 1944.

Problems Becoming Popular

Due to the problems that are arising every day in the shop of all new contracts and the necessity for the new officers to try to solve them as quickly as possible to acquaint themselves with proper grievance procedures.

Fun in the shop is what the plant is all about, and it is a powerful display to the men of the importance of what the foremen are going to do.

Class in labor of the shop is a popular course in the shop for the new officers.

Classes for the study of union problems and for the training of those who want to be union officers are especially referred to above.

Discrimination Must Go

By Bulletin Naval

It is with a distinct sense of shame that I have to add to all the talk that discrimination and antibiosis are being disguised throughout the entire picture. The situation is such that, for many months, I have been trying to get out the facts about the horrible situation of discrimination. It is only today that I thought it best to point out my concern for the remedies for the situation. As of late, however, these facts are now definitely in the public domain.

I have read that many workers who are in the service of their companies are being treated very unfairly. Although many of these workers are capable and qualified, they are not being given the same opportunities as their white counterparts. This is unacceptable and must be stopped immediately.

We must make it clear that this discrimination is not only unfair, but also illegal. The laws that govern the workplace are clear on this matter. Workers who are treated unfairly must be protected.

It is my hope that this article, and the articles that will follow, will help to bring attention to this important issue. Together, we can make a change in the way we treat our workers.
