BUSINESS AGENT SPEAKS

Leo Jandreau, speaking at a meeting of the American Protestant Ministerial Association last Monday, said, "The Church and the Labor Movement share one important goal...to make the lives of Americans more happy and more secure."

Jandreau went on to say, "There has been a distorted interpretation of the labor movement in the minds of many people as the result of the McAlpin Hearing and the anti-union propaganda campaign that stemmed forth from these hearings.

"We have our bad element in the labor movement, those men who are seeking to destroy the outstanding gains that organized labor has accomplished in its work over the past years. They do it solely for the purpose of their own selfish interest. However, while we are plagued with these evils, they are no different, nor are they more prevalent in the labor movement than we find existing throughout the rest of society.

"We in the Labor Movement are not a selfish economic group...we know our welfare is tied to the welfare of all of our fellow Americans," Jandreau said. "Our program is a positive program which is good for all Americans and which will help make America strong."

Jandreau went on to explain the Legislative Program of the AFL-CIO.

A question and answer period followed the Business Agent's talk.

Local 301 Prepares For 1960 Negotiations

Under the leadership of the officers of Local 301, an intensive educational program was launched this week in an effort to prepare our members for the coming negotiations.

Mrs. J. M. Paterson, Secretary-Treasurer of Local 301, announced that a series of meetings for members will begin on Sunday, April 16. These meetings will be held at the union hall and will be conducted by the officers of Local 301 who will explain the principles underlying the negotiations.

"Why Prepared?" was the theme of the first meeting held on Sunday afternoon. Mrs. Paterson explained that the negotiations are not just a matter of wage increases but a struggle for recognition of the rights of workers.

Scholarship Fund Rules Outlined

The executive board of Local 301 adopted the following rules governing the scholarship fund for which contributions are now being solicited:

- Contribution must be by checks of members of the union;
- The fund is for children of members of the union;
- Contributions are limited to a minimum of $100 and a maximum of $500 per contribution,
- The fund shall be used for educational expenses only, to be distributed to the children in proportion to the number of union members.

The board directed that notices must be distributed to the members of the union and that contributions be solicited through the union's local officers. The notices are to be distributed through the mail and at the union meetings. Contributions will be accepted until June 1, 1960.
