Vital to Defend Constitutional Rights Against Hartley Group, Jandreau Says

The aim of the kind of organizing the Hartley Committee is conducting is to establish a company union or have their unions stabbed," said Mrs. Jandreau Jandreau, and there are those who think that we should defend the union against such attacks by rushing in with "Fair-Hartley" affiliations and helping them to believe that we are not Communists but only sell Communism among everyone.

The only effect of that, he said, "would be to invite them to follow further and further proof, and the only satisfactory proof in General Electric and the Hartley Committee is company engineers.

Jandreau's Lessons from the Past

He pointed out that, after World War II most unions "were forced to become company union or be branded as "Cubicle and "Shuckyard" unions." The labor movement was reduced to "an hollow shell" until the driving necessity to rebuild the union movement, which brought in a new Labor movement. We do not propose to help America drift back to the 1930's and the rise of another 1938. "We of UE have a better answer. It is in the American heritage and the constitution of the United States.

Weekly Radio Program Developed

The weekly radio broadcast of Labor Day, Labor Week, and Labor Day, sponsored by the Executive Council of the United States, was developed by the Labor Union of the United States, under the leadership of Mrs. Jandreau Jandreau, and has been broadcast every Sunday of Labor Day since 1934.
Plan United Fight of All GE Locals

Burlington, Vt., Oct. 15.—The GE Local Union (501) of Burlington, Vt., held a mass meeting on Monday evening to organize a united front against the company's plans for cutting down on the number of employees and the number of hours worked. The meeting was called by the local union leaders and attended by a large number of employees from the Burlington area.

The meeting was addressed by Wisconsin Local 501 President J. D. Bell, who said that the company's plans were designed to reduce the number of employees and the number of hours worked, and that the union would fight against these plans with all its resources.

The meeting was adjourned after a vote of confidence in the local union leadership and a pledge to fight against the company's plans with all its resources.

Just Another Plug

For Donations Needed

The company's plans for cutting down on the number of employees and the number of hours worked were discussed at a meeting held by the local union leadership on Monday evening.

The meeting was addressed by Wisconsin Local 501 President J. D. Bell, who said that the company's plans were designed to reduce the number of employees and the number of hours worked, and that the union would fight against these plans with all its resources.

The meeting was adjourned after a vote of confidence in the local union leadership and a pledge to fight against the company's plans with all its resources.

Community Chest Donations Needed

The company's plans for cutting down on the number of employees and the number of hours worked were discussed at a meeting held by the local union leadership on Monday evening.

The meeting was addressed by Wisconsin Local 501 President J. D. Bell, who said that the company's plans were designed to reduce the number of employees and the number of hours worked, and that the union would fight against these plans with all its resources.

The meeting was adjourned after a vote of confidence in the local union leadership and a pledge to fight against the company's plans with all its resources.

Papers Try to Dignify

Hartley Sub-Committee

As was to be expected, the members of the Hartley sub-committee had their work cut out for them, as the company's plans for cutting down on the number of employees and the number of hours worked were discussed at a meeting held by the local union leadership on Monday evening.

The meeting was addressed by Wisconsin Local 501 President J. D. Bell, who said that the company's plans were designed to reduce the number of employees and the number of hours worked, and that the union would fight against these plans with all its resources.

The meeting was adjourned after a vote of confidence in the local union leadership and a pledge to fight against the company's plans with all its resources.

Radio Appeals Fail

G. F. Brown, of the local union leadership, said that the company's plans for cutting down on the number of employees and the number of hours worked were discussed at a meeting held by the local union leadership on Monday evening.

The meeting was addressed by Wisconsin Local 501 President J. D. Bell, who said that the company's plans were designed to reduce the number of employees and the number of hours worked, and that the union would fight against these plans with all its resources.

The meeting was adjourned after a vote of confidence in the local union leadership and a pledge to fight against the company's plans with all its resources.

Happy Ending

The meeting was addressed by Wisconsin Local 501 President J. D. Bell, who said that the company's plans for cutting down on the number of employees and the number of hours worked were discussed at a meeting held by the local union leadership on Monday evening.

The meeting was addressed by Wisconsin Local 501 President J. D. Bell, who said that the company's plans were designed to reduce the number of employees and the number of hours worked, and that the union would fight against these plans with all its resources.

The meeting was adjourned after a vote of confidence in the local union leadership and a pledge to fight against the company's plans with all its resources.