Strike Collection Breakdown

The Local 310 fund to aid UFW members across the country who have been or are facing job loss and are in need of financial help to maintain their standard of living will now total $1,000,000. The fund has already reached $1,500,000.

Washington Paper Flays Phony Jury

The completely illegal publicity stunt by the Independent Journal to create a "jury" of members of the UFW is a complete failure. The jury was composed of union officials and members who have been or are facing job loss. The only purpose of the jury was to create a public relations coup for the UFW.

Board Urges Support of Carver League

The Board of Directors of the Carver League has requested that all members of the UFW support the Carver League's efforts to reorganize the Negro community. The Carver League is an organization of Negroes who have come together to fight for their rights.

Stewards Approve Actions to End WSB Stalling, GE Sabotage on Wage Boost

The UFW stewards meeting last night approved actions to end the WSB's stalling tactics and GE's sabotage of the wage boost. The stewards were concerned about the wage boost and the company's efforts to prevent it from taking effect.

Big Corporations Attempt to Deport Miatelis To Weaken UE Fight for Better Conditions

A recent attempt by a large corporation to deport a prominent union leader in order to weaken their efforts to secure better working conditions for their employees has sparked outrage among workers and labor activists. Miatelis, a leading figure in the local union, has been an outspoken advocate for the rights of his colleagues and has organized numerous protests and strikes to demand fair wages and safe working conditions. The corporation's move, seen as a tactic to undermine the unity and strength of the workers, has prompted a strong backlash from the community.

Eight Win Money From Grievances

Eight workers have won monetary compensation in a recent round of grievance settlements. The disputes, which ranged from overdue wages to unsafe working conditions, were resolved through mediation by an independent arbitrator. The workers, who were represented by the local union, are now able to move forward with their lives and continue their work. "We are proud of our members," said the union's president, "and we are committed to ensuring that their rights are protected."
Santa With A Union Label Serves 3,500 Kids

In the biggest set of Christmas parties ever given by U.S. Local 318, more than 1,500 youngsters and their parents were entertained by a variety show and presented with Christmas gifts and refreshments. The affairs were held in the auditorium of West Seattle High School last Saturday and Sunday.

Three nationally known priests of the parties on behalf of the local were former Mayor John P. Doherty; former City Manager Alvin Cahn; and current Mayor Thomas H. Haggerty. The mayor summed up the effects. He declared then be asserted, "In this country we are fortunate to have organizations like UL which take enough interest in kids to give parties at Christmas time."

In general, there was so much interest in the parties that U.S. Local 318 of the Amalgamated Union of Electrical Workers, which in return is entitled to the job of improving the living standards of the area and workers, we wish for U.S. Local 318 of the Amalgamated Union of Electrical Workers, whom should give these parties for the children of union members. The most appropriate for the parties and the comfort of the children at these parties is the attitude of the union.
