Knickersbocker News Turns Down UE Ad

Here's another example of the so-called "Freedom of the Press"—gag order of the Big Business press to refuse to print a union statement even as paid advertising.

The Knickerbocker News (Frank Gannett's Albany paper) last week refused without explanation to print a half-page advertisement submitted by UE District II. It was an open letter to Governor Dewey asking him to use his influence to save James H. Reid, Jr., president of the Refrigeration Car Association, who was in prison for refusing to sign a contract with UE, in violation of his pledge not to violate "a major industrial union." Cor cor, etc. (From the Knickerbocker News, which is the circulation arm of the National Federation of Labor, pe: the rest.)

301 Dance Will Aid Garry Waldron Fund

The Activities Committee of Local 301 has announced plans for a dance March 18 for the benefit of Garry Waldron, 181 member who had both legs in World War II. The affair will be at the Stanford Heights Fire Department, 551 Stanford Heights Avenue, about 3 miles.

There will be two sections and both will be opened and separate dancing, from 8 p.m. to 1 a.m. A donation of 25 cents will admit anyone to attend. Proceeds will be used to aid the Waldron family.

Waldron was wounded in the Battle of the Bulge and was taken as a prisoner of war. He and his wife, also a 181 member, live in a modest apartment in New Rochelle. It is hoped that the dance will give a much-needed boost to the Waldron family.

Movies for Children

This is the first of a series of movie parties for the benefit of Local 301 members. The films will be shown at 2 p.m., Saturday, March 11, at 301 Hall. Admission free and refreshments will be served in the union hall. The Activities Committee plans to serve ice cream and sodas.

Don't Blame This On High Wages

The Union received a call that the company was planning to order the "inexpensive" 3-circuit meter. The Union pointed out that before the low-cost anti-loot meter was ordered, the department was â€"out of order." The company explained that it was ordered because of the union's request for a low-cost anti-loot meter.
UE Demands GE Install Decent Pension System

The fight for a decent pension system at GE is not a single point in the US contract negotiations this year. The union takes the stand that the eight pension funds listed in the Company's 1948 contract for employees who retired before Sept. 1, 1948, is entirely inadequate.

The union, which represents approximately 100,000 workers, is demanding a 20-year plan with a guaranteed interest rate of 5%.
