Clerical Workers Urged To Become Organized in U. E.

Child Care Centers Perform Service

(Continued from Page 1) opportunity to join their ranks who, otherwise, might not have been able to afford the additional premium in the co-operative plan.

When we have organized the United Electrical Workers with the NEA, we will be able to offer a better contract and a betterar...
Union Helps To Correct Situation

Since some rubber on the ground was encountered, a union was formed. In order to succeed, the union had to be strong enough to be effective. The major problem was to organize the union, which was not easy. The Company did not want to give in to the union.

The union then decided to call a strike. The strike was called, and negotiations started.

When the strike ended, the union was able to negotiate for better working conditions, better pay, and other benefits. The Company was forced to give in to the union's demands.

Legislative Committee Report

Some comments from the Legislative Committee are included below:

- The legislation has been well-received by the public. The public is aware of the need for better working conditions and pay.
- The legislation has been effective in improving working conditions and pay for workers.
- The legislation has been effective in reducing the number of strikes and lockouts.