$200.00 BACK PAY

A recent case in the Tube Dept. points out the importance of a Union to stop the cheating on the part of the Company on proper starting pay for its employee.

The facts on this case are as follows: Last June a worker who had formerly worked as a Glass Technician C1. B., was rehired to this job. The Company started him at one step below top rate in spite of the fact that he had formerly held the job and had reached the top rate on it. About five months after being rehired on this job, he was given the top rate on it. Three weeks ago Steward Belak, upon hearing his story, turned in a grievance on advice from Board Member Kacinski, requesting the one step pay from the time this man started on the job. The Foreman gave the usual unsatisfactory answer.

At a second step level meeting held last week, the Union Negotiating Committee (composed of Board Member Kacinski and Steward Belak) was able to change the Company's attitude on this. The Company agreed to pay the one step loss in pay incurred for the approximately five month period for which it was not paid. This amounted to a payment of approximately $200.00 in back pay for this man.

This is another example of how the IUE protects its members.

B.B. UNION ...
B.U. UNION!
Editorial: Foreign Competition

To New York Stockholders:

The message American unions are sending to the United States is that the American worker must get the same wage that the foreign worker is getting. The American worker must get a better wage than the foreign worker. The American worker must get a wage that is comparable to the foreign worker.

Everyone Can Get in the Act

Do you have something to say about the proposed changes in the Spring of 1970?

Mr. Jones, the President of the United Steelworkers of America, sent us a letter today saying he was opposed to the proposed changes. Mr. Jones said he was opposed to the proposed changes because they were unfair to the American worker. Mr. Jones said he was opposed to the proposed changes because they were bad for the American worker.
