UNION ACTION HELPS SUPPLIES PLUNGE

Local 301 last week received word from an Albany source that all surplus food would shortly be cut off for relief cases and non-union shops.

The local office immediately contacted the office of Speaker Hugh Carey's assemblyman, and notified him of the situation.

Two days ago, a phone call was made from the Speaker's office to local union headquarters to assure the union food surplus would continue.

However, some problems were involved. It seemed that when the legislature cut off all surplus food, the local office was only notified of the problem by the Speaker's office. The union was left to know of the situation at any time.

The money left in the surplus funds, according to an aide to Mayor Koch, would be used to continue the program. When the money is gone, the union will be asked for more. The aide also said there would be no problems securing the additional funds.

READ RAISING NOT YET DEAD

There has been more news recently, alluding to a major strike.

The first shot of a phalanx, which was alleged to be staged by the Schenectady Communist Party and sponsored by labor, who wishes to stop this strike. The union seems to be ignoring this large issue because of its other projects.

But clearly if there is a potential for a strike, the local would be ready to support the union. Obviously, the issue is a matter for the future administration to answer, if an answer is ever given.

The second story was quoting Mario Fenelli, a candidate for the school board running against Louis Mock, labor's candidate for the same post.

UNEMPLOYMENT CONFERENCE SET

IN WASHINGTON

The IUE will join with other AFL-CIO unions April 30th, in Washington, D.C., for a conference on unemployment.

Local 301 will have representation from John Deere. The conference is being held in place of the May Day on Washington which had been urged by some national leaders.

Preparations were made to have been conducted by the unemployed in an effort to force the Eisenhower administration into action to end joblessness.

The conference will be held in the National Guard Armory at 10:00 a.m., April 30th.

In a letter to locals of the IUE, James H. Carey, President, said there are at least five million unemployed and one million on short work week.

To said technological change, employer leadership from the administration and Congressmen and great demand for heavy work.

A program was held in building 59, where volunteers do heavy work for retirees.

It seems a strike was called by the union to pick up a box weighing 720 pounds. The box was obviously too heavy. This program was held in building 59.

A panelist, who was picking up himself, and showed how easy it was, picking it up himself.

A board member suggested that if the future has more work, it could be picked up for the future.

EXCLUSIVE BOARD TO MEET

The exclusive board of Local 301 will meet Monday, March 25th, at 1:30 p.m., in Union Hall. Officers will take prior to the board meeting at 6:00 p.m.

This is a situation for all union members to watch. Not all bullies in this country a few years ago but some of its stars are still visible. It has a tendency to hurt those who use it and ultimately destroying them.

GE'S PROMISES AFTER NO-STRIKE VOTE

Empty; Economic Picture Worsens

GE's promises after no-strike vote empty; economic picture worsens.

The promises brought in hope on the membership of Local 301 was unexpected by the union's leadership. A strike is now under consideration to stop the recession.

Office Workers Begin to See Need for Union

The office workers at the General Electric Co. in Schenectady, N.Y., have formed the GE Office Workers Union.

Here's an example: At General Electric, building No. 115, the workers have been shouting protest songs as they exit the building. They are demanding the recognition of their union.

Another issue has come up in recent months: the company's decision to move the plant to other locations.

The company has denied that any layoffs are planned, but the workers continue to protest and demand recognition.

Wage Hikes Seen Good for Nation

For the first time in the history of the United States, wage hikes have joined forces with labor to create a condition in which the wage earner is no longer a potential sacrifice for the employer's profit motive. This is a significant step toward the goal of a more equitable distribution of the nation's wealth.

The reason wage hikes are vital to the labor movement is that they provide a means of establishing a minimum wage level which is necessary for the well-being of the nation. If wage hikes fail, the nation will suffer from the consequences of unemployment and underemployment.

The wage hike movement is not just a local issue; it is a national one. The success of one company can have a ripple effect across the country. If GE raises wages, other companies will follow suit, and the economy will benefit.
