GE Denies UE Request to End Check-off

The electrical industry continues to experience labor disputes as companies try to enforce check-off agreements.

Facts to Remember

For persons who may be con cerned as to who is the leader behind the check-off and UUI leadership, here are some facts:

1. The check-off is not enforced by the UUI leaders, but rather by the companies who have authorized it.

2. The UUI leadership has never authorized any check-off agreement.

Over 700 companies have authorized check-off agreements in their labor contracts.

T-H Board Hearing

Moves at Slow Pace

The T-H Board Hearing in the Labor Board's hearing at the GE office continued to a sluggish pace against this week's background. The issues involving the use of subcontractors and the inclusion of skilled labor in the contract remain intense.

This is a critical time for the T-H Board Hearing, as it continues to negotiate a settlement.

Jobless Members Speak up at Hearing

Three members of the Local 961 union on Wednesday morning went to the area of the Labor Department in Albany last week in their best attempt to get their jobless insurance more timely. This is an important issue because they are in a very difficult situation.

Stewards to Discuss Contract Proposals

The stewards for the UCV contract negotiations will be the major beneficiaries of the proposed settlement. They are expected to meet with the management at 9 a.m. today in the Union's office at 143 W. 42nd St.
