Electrical Union News

Tobacco Strike Morale High

While there are many complaints in some places of the American Tobacco workers' morale being low, there has been no such complaint in the American Tobacco Company mills in the Northwest. The workers are not complaining about pay, hours, or such.

The piece of strike at International Harvester, Inc., seems to be a success.

In a letter to the Electrical Union News, a reader asks, "I have been approached by an insurance company that is not part of the administration. They want to know if their policy would go into effect if I get a second policy with the insurance company of the administration. Is this true?"
