CIO FIGHTS Runaways

The first step in a New York-New England CIO campaign to hold a line on the running away from the labor force, to lower labor standards will get under way January 12 with a special meeting of the New York State CIO executive board.

The meeting will be addressed by CIO President Harrison. Louis Ballentine, New York CIO president, and the newly nominated governor will be urged to support a regional executive by governors, and the National Board of the CIO to act on the issue against "one-man" conditions.

Such action would include raising the minimum wage from 55 cents to 50 cents an hour. Also called for is Federal pressure for higher standards for unemployment insurance and workers' compensation, elimination of tax exemptions on "runaway" shops, and repeal of the provisions of the Taft-Hartley Act that give priority to states with "runaway" shop conditions.

If You Are Transferred, See Your Steward, Fill Out a Survey Card

Circle such as the ones shown below are being issued to all shop stewards. These cards fill two important purposes, the first of which is to make sure that each employee is informed of his rights and responsibilities. In the case of the second purpose, this card is to be filled out and returned to the shop steward by the employee who has been transferred. The card will then be forwarded to the shop steward by the employee who has been transferred.

The second purpose served by this card is to furnish the shop steward with accurate and complete information as to the status of the employee in the employment office and to furnish the appropriate department with this information.
