Curtis Committee
And C. of C. Gang Up
On Social Security

Washington—The recent decisions of several courts in favor of lower protective rates for the American workers have been welcomed by the C. of C. groups and the Curtis Committee.

The New York C. of C. was one of the few states that had refused to raise the rates. It was estimated that this action would save the state approximately $50,000.

The Curtis Committee, however, was not so enthusiastic about the decision. It was reported that the committee had been urged to take action by President Harry S. Truman.

The committee's position on the subject was that the rates should be lowered to a point where they would be fair to the working man.

McLeish Issues Warning Against
Substitution of Hatred for Patriotism

Washington—The recent decision of the Supreme Court in favor of the substitution of hatred for patriotism has been criticized by some members of the Curtis Committee.

The committee has always held that patriotism should be the basis of all our political and social activities.

The committee's position on the subject was that the rates should be lowered to a point where they would be fair to the working man.
