SHORT CIRCUITS

DUCKY LEO

Here's the tale of Ducky, a worker at a factory.

He's a union member, a hardworking guy.

He's been working for the company for years.

And now it's time to look to the future.

The story begins:

Ducky is in the office.

He's talking to the boss.

The boss asks, "How's your job going?"

Ducky replies, "It's going well."

The boss says, "We need your help."

Ducky responds, "Of course."

And so the story continues.

THE IUE-CIO News

IUE SIGNS GM PACT

In a move that could affect thousands of workers, the IUE-CIO has signed a new contract with General Motors. The agreement covers approximately 100,000 workers at 40 plants across the country. The contract includes increases in wages, improvements in benefits, and other provisions that will enhance the lives of the workers.

The deal was reached after months of negotiations between the union and the company. It is a testament to the power of the working class and the importance of solidarity in the workplace.

PASCHER DASH FROM CLASH

UE DEPERATION SPELLS TROUBLE

As the UAW continues to negotiate with the auto companies, the situation remains tense. The UAW and the companies are at odds over issues such as wages, benefits, and work rules. The union is committed to ensuring that the workers get a fair deal, and it will not back down.

In the meantime, the workers are fighting for their rights. They are determined to stand up for themselves and their communities. The struggle continues, and the IUE-CIO News will keep you updated on all the latest developments.
...And the Red Rat Ran

Vic Pache, railroad and professional Commie sympathizer, deputy IUE-CIO, tried to make his Pachy connections before a meeting of the City Council last week. But he was caught red-handed when the弄-dress occurred the next day. Pache got up at 6 a.m. in the dark, and walked over to the City Council chambers to try to make his connections with the members.

The saga of the Pache-Shelton connection started from a meeting of the City Council last week. Frank Kriemel, IUE-CIO Local President, had been asked by the Governor to attend the meeting. Pache was supposed to be there, but he didn't show up.

The meeting was dominated by discussions of the IUE-CIO's recent actions and their impact on the city's economy. Pache was said to have been present, but did not contribute to the discussion.

Pache, a prominent IUE-CIO organizer, is known for his radical views and has been involved in various labor disputes. He is often seen at IUE-CIO meetings and events, where he is a vocal supporter of the organization's goals.

The meeting was attended by several members of the council, including Mayor Smith, who served as the presiding officer. Other attendees included Council Members Brown, Jones, and Williams.

Local journalists were present to cover the meeting, and were able to get a firsthand account of the proceedings. They reported that Pache was present, but did not participate in the discussions.

One attendee, Jane Brown, said that Pache was seated in the audience, but did not speak. She added that he seemed to be listening intently to the discussion, but did not have anything to say.

Another attendee, John Smith, said that Pache was present, but did not participate in the discussions. He added that Pache was sitting in the audience, and did not speak during the meeting.

Despite his presence at the meeting, Pache was not able to make his connections with the members, and the meeting continued as scheduled.

Red Rat Ran

and, being tripped, started to do a surrey job.

He said it was "all a frameup"; the Constitution "but an empty shell." He said things like that, and the IUE-CIO was named in the 1st and 5th amendments in the Constitution.

To make a long story short, Pache was captured by the police and charged with violating the law.

The case was tried in court, and Pache was found guilty of violation of the law. He was sentenced to six months in jail, and was later released on probation.

In the meantime, Pache continued to be a vocal supporter of the IUE-CIO, and was often seen at meetings and events sponsored by the organization.

MORE 'FRONT' MONEY

What do you mean? The job you took me is a sign of the times that is.

THAT'S RIGHT? I mean, the IUE-CIO is trying to handle the workers in their own interests, not the workers of the IUE-CIO.

If a man was ever convicted by default, it was Victor Pacheon the IUE-CIO.

You should have been there! It was fun watching the red rat run!

You Too, Brutus?

The police of the IUE-CIO's local and state bodies are being pressed by the IUE-CIO to make arrests. The IUE-CIO's local and state bodies are being pressured to make arrests.

The police are being pressed by the IUE-CIO to make arrests. The IUE-CIO's local and state bodies are being pressured to make arrests.

Under these circumstances, we might guess that the IUE-CIO is trying to handle the workers in their own interests, not the workers of the IUE-CIO.

But, being a little more realistic, we suspect that these pressures will be put on the workers into working up the workers.

The IUE-CIO is trying to handle the workers in their own interests, not the workers of the IUE-CIO.
‘Clean Sweep’ Forecast by IUE State Leaders

IUE-CIO leaders from all over New York State gathered in Schenectady last week to report on the “state of the union.”

When the results were tallied, it looked like IUE would make a clean sweep of District 3, where NLB elections are held.

The New York district meeting was one of many similar nationwide conferences to come out with a report that IUE-CIO is on a winning streak.

Frank Fairall, IUE District 3 Business and Industrial Coordinator, said the picture looks something like this:

LOCAL 125: Eastman Kodak Co., Rochester, N. Y. The workers have selected two candidates for the IUE-CIO seat in the state election. The candidates are John J. Thomas and Joseph A. Smith. The election is scheduled for the end of the month.

UE Desperate in Dying Hours

By MILTON DANKO, PRESIDENT, IUE LOCAL 301

UE is a weak and dying organization. It is controlled by a dual structure with a rank-and-file that still lives in its ranks. UE has become a weak and dying organization because its leaders are not able to mobilize and organize the workers for their own interests. UE is no longer able to represent the interests of its members.

Yes, UE is bankrupt, and UE is a dying gas. It is through a process that is still in its early stages, but it is taking place. UE's leaders are not able to mobilize and organize the workers for their own interests. UE is no longer able to represent the interests of its members.

In the past few months, UE has failed miserably in its obligation to act as a union. It has failed to proceed with its plans to increase its membership. UE has failed to represent the interests of its members. UE has failed to act as a union.

UE's leaders are not able to mobilize and organize the workers for their own interests. UE is no longer able to represent the interests of its members.

IUE Dance "Roaring Success"

A capacity crowd of over 350 IUE members and friends danced, watched a spontaneous floor show, and generally had a good time at the IUE party at Home Smith's Grove. The shindig was sponsored by the Women's Auxiliary of Local 351. The gals report this is just the first of many more parties to come.
