Unity Keynotes Syracuse Upstate Skilled Craft Wage Conference

Skilled craftsmen from many different shops and many different sectors set an example of the united action needed in the labor movement today to wage an effective fight against wage cuts and the stepped-up fight that employers are waging against the entire labor movement, at the upstate New York Team-Stable Craftsmen's Conference held in Syracuse on Sunday, May 21.

The session lasted for the lack of a meeting's importance. What was important was the harmonious spirit and the united action that was demonstrated in the meeting. The conference was a clear expression of the workers' determination to fight for higher wages and better working conditions.

Cleveland's A. W. and local craft unions will hold their first meeting of the year next week to discuss the situation in the area. The union's executive board will meet under way this week.

Women Who Labor under heavy burdens of work, especially in the IWW, have the right to be treated with consideration.

Get Out The Vote

The Executive Board next week approved the participation of Local 1801 at the Democratic State Convention as the state's representative. The Board was the state's representative at the convention.

The convention will operate on a non-partisan basis with the aim of encouraging the workers to register and vote in the state's elections.

Dance Tomorrow

Music and dancing groups will be on tap at the Friday night social at the Colosseum in Rochester. The bands will be scheduled to begin playing about nine o'clock.
Upstate Skilled Craftsmen Map Wage Ceiling Fight

In a follow-up to the successful upstate skilled crafts conference held in Syracuse on May 25, the continuation committee this week began efforts to bring the railroad and railway officials of the Upstate Railroad Conference back to the bargaining table.

The purpose of the negotiations was to end the strike and to arrange appointments with the railroad and railway officials to discuss the strike and to get back to the bargaining table.

The negotiations were successful in bringing the railroad and railway officials back to the bargaining table.

U.S. Survey Shows Why Women Work

The "job survey" theory of why women work is currently being discredited by a new study conducted by the United States Department of Labor.

The study found that women work for a variety of reasons, including the need to support their families, the desire to earn money, and the need to participate in the workforce.
