Milne and the "Four Freedoms"

Norman Rockwell, the famous American artist, has recently portrayed very strikingly the "Four Freedoms" as laid down by Prime Minister Churchill and President Roosevelt in the Charter of the Atlantic. These paintings first appeared in the Saturday Evening Post and are destined to take their place among the best of America's art, both for their beauty and their tremendous significance.

Friedman, Barbara Arnold, Barbara Shamberger, Julia O'Connell, Frances Morah, Pat Peterson, Jean Dorsey, George Ferris, "Pete" Peterson, Boh Beckett, Arcll Baskin, Johnny Morrison, Bill Somers and "Ted" DeMoss represented us. Have you met our Lieutenant Governor and Commissioner of Education, Mr. James E. Cochran? Is he the best press secretary in the state? If not, then only in an overflow capacity. Your Press Association now has 120 members and is expanding.

The democratic principles of the charter have come to be discussed more and more by the homes, but students lack little in the way of educational equipment.

There is freedom from fear in Milne; we have not pronounced "Elizabetli" but could pronounce "Hitchie". In addition there is the all important question of Lee's he man. The Milne boys and girls really do get around. Friday night seen at Saint Agnes' senior play "Happy Landings" were Harry Mosher, Ray and Ann Stickney, Marilyn Arnold, "Frankie" Kirk, and Mary Kilby (Gordon's sister) gathered for baseball; what happened to the game? June Welsh, with a non-Milne group . . . Kappa Alpha fraternity gave a shindig in the library . . . She looked the same to him . . . What has happened to Norma Silverstein's essay? . . . Arden Friedman spent the weekend building a chicken coop (He'll never catch us without his Vitamun Bill, Clark, "Midge" Wright and Dick Smith worked diligently on a victory garden at Lakeawon. We'll be out to see what they harvested . . . At Betty Bates' on Saturday, Nancy Bonnell, Phebe Heidenreich, "Frankie" Kirk, and Mary Kilby (Gordon's sister) gathered for baseball; what happened to the game? June Welsh and Barbara Bynum went on their two-day vacation at Crooked Lake. We're told the country church there is "cute". Who hit Hitchie?

Lee's effort towards the publicity course, Lee has succeeded in holding up the tradition that her brother only manage "Lee". As you know since that eventful day until today. She comes from a long line of brilliant people. So you can see she ought to keep the carriera informed.

Happy Birthday

A new feature from now on will be birthdays. This ought to keep the carriera informed.

Happy Birthday to

Ben Mendel, Florence Drake, Elinor Mann, and Laura Egan. To Mary Ann Milne on Sunday.

To Jonathan Arnold, Tuesday.

To John Hughes and Chuck Hopkins . . . Who will be Mary Queen this year?

Senior Spotlight

Lee Mapes

Lovely red hair that matches her personality, vivaciousness, artistic ability, who else could fit this description but Milne's own Lee Mapes.

Lee was born October 15, 1925 and since that eventful day until the present, her pastimes have been eating, fighting with her sister, taking care of kids Saturday afternoons, and riding in buses from Watervliet to Albany.

Interior Decorator

In the near future Lee hopes to take a course in mechanical drawing and eventually to work up to an interior decorator.

Lee now holds the responsible job of being co-editor of the Bricks and Ivy. She is also the secretary of the Tau Sigma Literary Society. The great success of the annual card party was partly due to Lee's effort towards the publicity end of it.

Besides these many duties she takes an active interest in art and choir. In the musical field her favorites range from modern to classical music. Outstanding among her lines is Gershwin's Rhapsody in Blue.

Likes Basketball

Lee confessed she is not the athletic type but enjoys watching a fast game of basketball.

In addition there is the all important question of Lee's he man. He must be six feet tall, nice looking and must have a good sense of humor.

If anyone is interested on how the came to be called Lee, it happened this way: Her brother could not pronounce Elizabeth but could only manage "Lee". As you know this name has stayed with her ever since.

She comes from a long line of brilliant people. So you can see she has a lot to live up to. But, of course, Lee has succeeded in holding up the tradition that her brother "Larry", class of '42, who is now in the Army.

Baseball Squad to Oppose Three Teams Next Week

Play Schuyler, C.B.A., Albany High School

Next week, the Milne baseball team faces three teams scheduled in the present baseball season, playing three top teams in the Albany Scholastic Baseball League. On Monday they played the Christian Brothers Academy in Bleecker stadium. On Wednesday they oppose Albany High School in another Bleecker stadium tilt. Thursday, they return home to meet Philip Schuyler at Ridgefield park.

Big Test

This week of play is the real test for the Red Raiders. Practice up until now, has been sadly lacking, although this is true for all teams in the league. Bad weather has come at the season's opening, forcing the teams to get in any practice periods whenever the sun chooses to come out.

The Milne team has had a good supply of veterans, but a little short in reserves, especially in the pitching department.

Dyer Veteran

Tom Dyer, a veteran of two years experience will bear the brunt of the pitching. Len Jones, will hold down the outfield position, but already a wide separation is apparent in this early stage, between the present and the former teams. The schedule has not been made up, but already a wide separation is apparent in this early stage, between the present and the former teams. Myron's Men and Young Men Shop

Betty Blabs

The girls' gym classes have had a serious setback with the absence of Miss Hitchcock. While playing tennis, she was hit by the ball and it required her to rest for a few days. The swimming classes and all extra curricular sports were postponed for this week. The schedule for intramural baseball will not be posted until next week, Coach Grogan and Mr. Bulger have taken over as many classes as possible, while the other classes go to library. The girls too are practicing baseball, so the two supervisors took advantage of the opportunity, as the girls played ball in the front of school.

Milne will practice on the Ridgefield Y.M.C.A. courts, which will also serve as Milne's home courts.

C & W Wins Top Honors

It has been announced in the School Press Review, that the Milne High School tennis team, Whitt has won the All-Columbian award for doubles.

Milne Seniors Pass V-5 Exam

Four Milne seniors have taken and passed the Navy V-5 test for high school students. Those who recently entered the Navy program are: Kenneth Langwig, William Soper, Art DeMoss, and George Farris.

The applicants had to go through very arduous mental and physical tests before being accepted in the reserve program. They had to have three letters of recommendation, their parents' consent, a physical history, a resume in fifty words of their life, and a record of their school marks. To qualify they have to be in the upper half of their class.

Later they went to New York with a large crowd of other high school students to take several exams.

In New York, they were given eye tests, two mental tests, a still physical for heart, blood, lungs and others. If at any time during this process, they failed to measure up to Navy standards, they were immediately flunked out. If they passed all of the tests, they were sworn into the Navy.

After this, they were fingerprinted, their height and weight checked and then they were interviewed by two naval officers about their interest in the Navy. All the candidates had a biographical test, stating their history, hobbies and other personal information.

These students will enter the service on July 1. The Navy sends them to college for one year for pre-flight training. Then they receive a year of flight training, and then actual service. If they flunk out during this training, they become ordinary seamen.
