SOCIETIES PLAN DUJETY

By WESLEY MOODY

Have you noticed the great throng of seniors headed for the main office lately? Well, to tell the truth, most of them never go all the way. Why? Because last week our beloved Senior Room became available to those students slaving (?) for their last few credits so they may graduate. Amid many restrictions, those privileges mean a great deal to everyone.

Committee Chooses Comedy

Since comedy is a favorite on both young and old the senior class play will be of this type. Committee members unanimously agreed on a three-act play entitled "We Shook the Family Tree." It is sincerely believed that all will enjoy the performance, students and parents, along with friends. The Family Tree will be of this type. Committee members unanimously agreed on a three-act play entitled "We Shook the Family Tree." It is sincerely believed that all will enjoy the performance, students and parents, along with friends.

Assembly Starts School Year

An assembly formally opened the Milne school on September 26, 1951. The singing of the "Star Spangled Banner" opened the assembly. Dr. Theodore H. Fossieck, DeForest Parker, and Richard Edwards were speakers who welcomed the students and told them that the coming year was expected to be a successful one.

Fossieck Greets Pupils

Dr. Fossieck greeted the pupils, then went on to introduce the new teachers, Mrs. Armstrong, Mr. Cowley, Mr. Blythe, and welcome back those returning from leaves of absence. Miss Raanes, Miss Wasley, and Mr. York. Dee Parker, as president of the Senior Student Council, welcomed back the upperclassmen as well as the new students, while Dick Edwards, president of the Junior Student Council, welcomed the junior high members and also the new pupils.

PARKER LISTS AIDS

Dee Parker, president of the Senior Student Council announced the new representatives to the council. Representing the juniors are Doris Perlman, Carole Jean Foss and Mike Myers. Representatives of the sophomore class are Mary McNamara, Don Wilson and Judson Lockwood.

The Milne school welcomes three new faculty members. They are pictured with Dr. Theodore H. Fossieck, principal. (L. to R.) Mrs. Margaret Armstrong, Dr. Fossieck, Mr. Edward Cowly, and Mr. Russell Blythe.

The Milne school welcomes three new faculty members. They are pictured with Dr. Theodore H. Fossieck, principal. (L. to R.) Mrs. Margaret Armstrong, Dr. Fossieck, Mr. Edward Cowly, and Mr. Russell Blythe.
Dodger or Yankee?

After a long hard fight, the pennant races in the major leagues finally ended with the Giants and Yankees on top.

Why are the Yanks and Giants on top? The Dodgers rested on their laurels until it was too late. Cleveland was good, but not quite good enough. The Yanks fought all the way, while the Giants chose the hard rough road to the top.

All of us at some time or other will have

No one can win your pennant for you. Which will you be... a Dodger, Giant, Indian, or Yankee? It’s your fight, and only you can decide the winner.
Players Join Legion Teams

Six members of last year's Milnite baseball team spent part of their summer vacation gaining additional experience by playing with the Blanchard Post American Legion team in Delmar. The six who will all be back to play for Milnite again this year are Dee Parker, a senior and pitcher; Bruce Walker, third base; Bill Wade, second base; Doug Billon, shortstop, and Dave Clarke, another pitcher, all juniors. The only sophomore represented is Art Melius, a catcher. All of the boys saw considerable service with the Delmar team which was coached by Pete DiLello, a resident of Delmar.

Most of the other members of the team are students of Bethlehem Central High School and the team's home games were played on the diamond of that school.

Post Breaks Tie

Although Blanchard Post did not come out on top of the league, it had a large part in determining the winner by beating one of the two teams tied for the league lead late in the season. Dave Clarke pitched a large part of this game and had a no-hitter for the first four innings. Dave also pitched a one to nothing shutout later in the season. Dee Parker also had a part in the success of the team by pitching its first victory of the year after losing its first game.

New York Wins

Thursday, October 4, 1951 will go down in history as the most memorable day in baseball. There will be few people who will forget, for it was on this October afternoon that the New York Giants defeated the Brooklyn Dodgers' flickering pennant hopes in the most dramatic pennant game of all time.

The Giants, who were 13½ games out of first place on August 11, began their deliberate surge to the top.

The first two games of the play-off were even, and into the last game walked two nervous and tense teams. As the game progressed, the Giants found the door slowly closing on them.

Suddenly, in the last of the ninth the Giants forced their way back through the door. Squeezing and muscling with all their might, they raised the score to a hope-filled 4 to 2 in favor of the Dodgers. The door cracked, and Ruby ran, and two men on base, so Brooklyn changed pitchers. The new pitcher was the Giants' big gun, Bobby Thomson. Branca blazed the first pitch over for a five-run double that put the Giants suddenly found themselves sprawling through the door of victory, as a delighted crowd of fans hailed Thomson as what Giants fans will call the greatest home run of all time.

Notes by Dick Nathan

Doctor Fossieck, members of the faculty, and fellow students; I would like to call your attention to the topic of this year's assignment. My topic, football, to us in Milnite is a rather unfamiliar subject, so I refer you to my memory, dictionary, E, and have reported my findings in the immediately following paragraph.

Defines Football

Football is a field game played with an inflated pigskin shaped like an overgrown banana in which two teams try to kick or carry the ball or through the opponents' goal line.

Through my research on this topic I have discovered that there are approximately 20 teams located in the capital district. As you probably decl identified, it is my choice to create a 750 word column on this topic because of the limited fall sports schedule at Milnite. This is a very dignified way of saying we haven't got a football team and we need to 750 word column to waste. Every one else had more important things to do so you'll have to bear with me for 965 remaining words or take the rewards away RETIREE.

Season Begins

The area high school football schedule began on the weekend of September 21-23. The season commenced with an 18-game capital district schedule featuring seven Albany teams. Saturday was the big day of the weekend. There were three Sunday games and eight Friday six-man games. However, of the seven local squads, only 43 percent were victorious. The three winners were Albany High School, Vincentian, and Bethlehem Central. All three teams won by decisive scores and also prevented any opponent from scoring even one point. Two former Minutes playing for area teams were on victorious squads. Dave Murhead '53, B.C.H.S. returning letterman started for the Eagles, and also crossed the goal line with the first Bethlehem touchdown.

The weekend's thriller was supplied by C.B.A. and Arlington Saturday night at Hawkins Stadium. C.B.A. had not beaten Arlington in five years of annual competition. With five minutes remaining on the clock for the fourth period, C.B.A. led 13-7 but, on a fumble Arlington recovered and managed to move into the end zone with the tying score. Then, with approximately three minutes left, they successfully crossed the goal line with the tie-breaking points.

Splurges At Blecker

The annual student-faculty tea, sponsored by the home economics department and the M.G.A.A. council, last Thursday proved to be a huge success. The purpose of the tea is to acquaint State College student teachers with the Milnite supervisor. Mrs. Barsam and the home economics department did a wonderful job of providing refreshments and at this time we want to thank Nancy Prescott for all her help in the kitchen. There was a large turnout and everyone seemed to be enjoying themselves.

New Teachers Invade Gym Classes

If you see a strange person trying to tell you to hit the volleyball, in stead of kicking her you will probably also find out that she is a senior trying her skill of teaching on you. The senior girls who are helping out Miss Murray, our gym teacher, are Christine Brehm, Caroline McGrath, Nancy Brant, and Ruth Houch. If they come up with some queer rules in a game, just pretend to agree with them because they are probably trying out some last rule out.
Mastedons Fascinate Juniors

By DORIS PERLMAN

Our history teacher gave us a nice little assignment the other day. We were to go down to the State Museum of Natural History for a short report on, of all things, fossils. Now we have never had any particular interest in fossils, but we thought it was interesting to learn more about the past and the things that are preserved for us to see today.

Indian Encounter

We took the elevator to the fifth floor where we stepped into a dimly-lit bluish exhibit of something other. It was too dark to distinguish just what it was. Seeing no floor directory in sight, we turned and followed our nose, hoping to come upon the fossils sooner or later.

We went up some stairs and suddenly found ourselves standing between two glass cases containing a supper and a preserved grave of a dead Indian woman. Since dead Indians do not exactly appeal to us, we hastily backed down the stairs.

Moth-Eaten Mastedon

Turning in the opposite direction, we wandered through the quartz exhibit, back through the bluish room, and into the room that contained our old stuffed friend, the Cohoes mastodon. Since you simply can't visualize or imagine what a mastodon was, how were we supposed to find out? Anyway, we entered the fossil exhibit room prepared for the worst.

Millions, or what seemed like that, cases of fossils confronted us. How could one report on all of them? We would have to spend the rest of our lives in the State Museum. Maybe we'll finally die there and they'd put us in the dead Indian exhibit. Oh, no! Not that.

Scorpion Scares Scribbler

While the Syracuse is one of the pleasant subjects, we had been walking aimlessly among the fossil cases. Suddenly we had to make a rapid stop to avoid a reproduction of an ancient scorpion. The thing was so realistic that it nearly scared us silly. Its small green eyes stared at us. It seemed to ask: "What are you doing here?" For a moment we were terrified. Then we remembered that the dear scorpion teacher who had sent us here. Oh, well it wasn't her fault. The scorpion simply moved to a more absolutely the end.

Hollander Tours U.S.; Gives Views

Page Hall auditorium on Monday, October 1, was the scene of an assembly based on the Crusade for Freedom.

John Crynes, featured speaker at the assembly, was born in Cohoes, New York, near Albany. His family moved to Amsterdam when he was 12 years old. After the war, he went to college in Amsterdam where he studied mechanical engineering.

Mr. Crynes feels that while he has no grudging against fossils. In his opinion, too much emphasis is placed on economics. Also, Mr. Crynes feels that the future of the world lies in the hands of youth, and it is our job to live up to "the glorious tradition of our forefathers." He held a special attraction for Mr. Crynes due to the fact that it was founded by Hollander.

Now we have never had any particular grudge against fossils. In his opinion, too much emphasis is placed on economics. Also, Mr. Crynes feels that the future of the world lies in the hands of youth, and it is our job to live up to "the glorious tradition of our forefathers." He held a special attraction for Mr. Crynes due to the fact that it was founded by Hollander.

Turning in the opposite direction, we wandered through the quartz exhibit, back through the bluish room, and into the room that contained our old stuffed friend, the Cohoes mastodon. Since you simply can't visualize or imagine what a mastodon was, how were we supposed to find out? Anyway, we entered the fossil exhibit room prepared for the worst.

Millions, or what seemed like that, cases of fossils confronted us. How could one report on all of them? We would have to spend the rest of our lives in the State Museum. Maybe we'll finally die there and they'd put us in the dead Indian exhibit. Oh, no! Not that.

Scorpion Scares Scribbler

While the Syracuse is one of the pleasant subjects, we had been walking aimlessly among the fossil cases. Suddenly we had to make a rapid stop to avoid a reproduction of an ancient scorpion. The thing was so realistic that it nearly scared us silly. Its small green eyes stared at us. It seemed to ask: "What are you doing here?" For a moment we were terrified. Then we remembered that the dear scorpion teacher who had sent us here. Oh, well it wasn't her fault. The scorpion simply moved to a more absolutely the end.

Hollander Tours U.S.; Gives Views

Page Hall auditorium on Monday, October 1, was the scene of an assembly based on the Crusade for Freedom.

John Crynes, featured speaker at the assembly, was born in Cohoes, New York, near Albany. His family moved to Amsterdam when he was 12 years old. After the war, he went to college in Amsterdam where he studied mechanical engineering.

Mr. Crynes feels that while he has no grudging against fossils. In his opinion, too much emphasis is placed on economics. Also, Mr. Crynes feels that the future of the world lies in the hands of youth, and it is our job to live up to "the glorious tradition of our forefathers." He held a special attraction for Mr. Crynes due to the fact that it was founded by Hollander.

Now we have never had any particular grudge against fossils. In his opinion, too much emphasis is placed on economics. Also, Mr. Crynes feels that the future of the world lies in the hands of youth, and it is our job to live up to "the glorious tradition of our forefathers." He held a special attraction for Mr. Crynes due to the fact that it was founded by Hollander.

New Students Enter Milne

Thursday, September 20. 1951 heralded the arrival of 94 new Milne students, 68 of them belong to the select group called seventh graders.

The eighth graders welcomed Robert P. Martin who was born in Greenbourn, North Carolina, and now lives in Albany. Lois King is in Mrs. Killelea's class and all live in Albany.

In the ninth grade the newcomers are Jerry Thomas, Marie Gramm, Joan Daly, Carolyn Olivo, Michael Cotter and Dianne Davison.

Newcomers in the sophomore class are Gretchen Wright, Judith Egbert, Barbara Malos, William Robertson, Morton Hass was born in New York. Before coming to Milne he went to Nottingham High. Morton in his words, "was an extremely exciting time as machines. But the other was "the oddest thing was the end.

Carolyn first saw the light of day in a hospital in Pearl River, New York. She moved to Loudonville in the fifth grade. When Milne opened in September 1946, Carolyn was one of the many Loudonville recruits.

She started her career off to a good start by being elected president of her homeroom in the seventh grade. In her ninth year she became secretary of her class. When her junior year rolled around, Carolyn filled the place of class treasurer, vice-president of Quin and class representative of G.A.A.

Now a senior, she is president of Quin, class representative of G.A.A., secretary of Student Council and business manager of Crimson and White.

Carolyn's dislikes consist of just reading. Besides her love of reading, she is most interested in, they include old Chevrolet trucks, and Canada.

DEFOREST PARKER

When the Parker's of Swampscott, Massachusetts, had a baby boy, on May 10, 1934, they named him DeForest. They probably didn't imagine that his someday be directing traffic in Milne, or playing American Legion baseball, or heading the Senior Student Council.

But he is. Deo, our curly-haired senior "garcon" has used the experience gained from being president of his class and homecoming since ninth grade to enable him to lead Senior Student Council.

If Deo decides to go to West Point or Annapolis as he plans to do, he probably will have no trouble in being accepted as he ranks high in the class. Deo is thinking of making a lifetime career out of either one of these two services.

Deo's favorite sport is baseball, but he has played football and basketball also, since he came to Milne.

Carolyn and Deo have gained his membership. He is also a member of M.B.A.A.