George Erwin
New President

After a successful campaign, George Erwin, Milne’s Navy veteran, was elected President of the Student Council by the student body on May 27. John Kinum took the Junior class position. They will come into office in September, the voting climaxing a week of ballots.

Active work had been done the week preceding the election by the candidates committees on posters, displays and other election material. One poster in particular was made by Don Talbot and his committee of a ballot box with a wheel constantly turning to put ballots in for Talbot. Others of special interest were pinned on bulletin boards with “Salt” on them. “Salt” is the nickname given to George Erwin, our next year’s president.

When the day finally arrived and we were in the auditorium, posters were on the walls, hung from the balcony, and thrown down in the form of paper airplanes. The assembly was even serenaded by the Erwin Quartet, its members being George Erwin, Bob Clark, and Bob Sandles.

Mr. Erwin’s platform stated that he wished to bring the scholastic organizations closer together to function as a body rather than separate units. Mr. Kinum wants to build up interest in various organizations in the junior high and try for bigger and better dances.

Junior and senior high platforms were arranged to catch your eye and also your votes. The final counting showed in the senior election, Erwin 50, Talbot 30, Sandles 13, in that order. The junior high election showed Kinum, McNally, Ashworth, and Sandle, in that order.

George, who is better known as “Salt,” spent 14 months in the Navy. He is very interested in basketball and baseball for Milne. Since his return from the service, he has become very popular among the students.

Said Mr. Erwin recently, “I want to thank all the people who helped me in my campaign and also those who voted for me. I will do my best to fill all their expectations of me.”

With the school behind the Student Council I am sure we can keep the student body well satisfied and the Council running with clocklike precision.

John Kinum was elected to the presidency of the Junior High Student Council. In the seventh grade he was an active member of the Council. He was also vice-president of his homeroom.

Mr. Kinum promises, “A suggestion box in the principal’s office to aid the Council in carrying out the ideas and ambitions of the students.”

Senior Capture
College Choices

An announcement has come from Dr. Kenney’s office that four of Milne’s seniors have already won scholarships. Headng the list is Jess Barnet, who has received a half tuition scholarship to Syracuse University. Milne has reason to be proud of Jess, as he was one of the Albany boys chosen for the honor from a group of one hundred. In this group, each boy was from the Albany area, was a senior, in the upper quarter of the class, and was planning to go to Syracuse.

The award was made by the Albany Alumni Association, as it is every year. To decide who in this group should be honored, the association based the awarding on the student’s average in high school, extracurricular activities, letters of recommendation, and the final decision accompanied a personal interview.

Three Others Win

Scholarships have also been received by three other Milne seniors. Neil McNeill has been awarded one to R.P.I., Ruth Ambler was honored by a scholarship to Russell Sage College, and Betty Goeyer has received one to Syracuse.

State and Cornell scholarship winners have not been announced yet. Those receiving these will be notified in August.

Milne Canteen Plans
Nearly Complted

Plans are almost completed for the Milne canteen. Pat Costello and Joyce Hallett said that soon these would be submitted to the school principal, for final approval. The proceeds of the canteen would be applied to lower the student tax.

Crain's Annual Review

Standing out in the crowd recently was a candidate for Student Council President. Declined his nomination on the grounds of lack of cooperation from the Student Body. This nominee stated that his classmates refused to support the organization in our school. He said that there was a tendency among some of them to regard anyone who assumed the responsibility of running one of these organizations as a fool for doing so.

If our fellow Milneites were stating the truth in his opinions, and were reasonably sure he was, then their sentiments might be the explanation of the fact that there is a small group of students who always seem to be at the head of every committee, activity, and organization. When a few people do all the work for a large group, too many burdens are placed on those shoulders. The result is the organizations lose their efficiency.

Next year let's try to help them out. Instead of criticism let us lessen their work by doing a little of it ourselves. Join the group by proving that you're not afraid of responsibility. You will be glad you did later on in life.

Our leaders need our cooperation. They must have it if they are to succeed. During the past year there have been many changes in Milne. With almost no exceptions we have opposed them. Yet later we found these changes to be improvements. In the future we should cooperate with them or oppose them in their ideas?

Vacation Ahead

Two weeks from today we'll be on summer vacation. Those dreaded exams will be all over. Some of the gang will be staying here and many will be enrolling in classes. On the very best of luck to them. No more landlord time to worry about. To them we wish the best of luck. We know they'll be happy wherever they go. In the fall the class of 1953 will replace them. And so another chapter in the history of the Milne School draws to a close. Have fun kids, we'll see you in September.

Milne Nine Ends

Unhappy Season

Even with an eight hit attack from the offerings of two Bethlehem Central hurlers, Milne lost to Delmar at Ridgefield by a slim margin—7-6. The Milne aggregation had some highlights in this game as Milne was held scoreless until the fourth inning to insure victory. Delmar was gifted with six runs in the fourth inning to insure victory.

Milne Tops B.C.H.S.

In Decisive Victory

With Milne and Bethlehem Central each boasting three points in their tennis meet, Milne rallied to upset B.C.H.S. 7-5 after trailing 2-4 in the doubles match, and thus eked out a 4 to 3 victory.

In the singles Milne garnered the points, but never gave up hope. Mendel had little difficulty disposing of Sigler 6-2, 6-2. Clarke, who was handicapped by a sprained back, lost by identical scores to Krause. Kerker defeated Day 6-2 in their opening set, but had to play twenty games before Day finally yielded the set and match. Eldridge bested Shra 6-3, 6-2. Morse bowed to King 6-0, 6-0. Bethlehem Central evened up the point total when Shra and Krause topped Kerker and Eldridge in straight sets. Milne was beaten handily in the first set 6-1, but gave stiff opposition in the second, coming up with a 6-4. It was also announced that this was the last year that the little M and big M would be given. In its place next year will be a marvel and while chance M, which will require the earning of fifteen letters.

Finally it stopped raining so the crowd dispersed, and Colsolaro, Cathedral hurler, declared the game with Milne 6-1. Milne made the four teams contain girls from every grade. It was done this way to give the four teams a chance to improve their skills. The crucial doubles match now came up, and Clarke grabbed the first game 6-2. Inevitably, the B.C.H.S. combination was consistently playing Clarke, who was the weaker player of the two, and also because he could not cover the ground that he normally does. Clarke, however, has stamina in profusion. He never stopped running even though it pained him. His base line pictures of shots were set up networks of drives, which resulted in points. Milne captured the second set after a gruelling fight 7-5. Mendel easily grabbed the first game of the all-important third set, but shortly were on the lower end of the game set of that pair. As they pulled out the throttle, and quickened their pace, never to let up. Sigler and Day were out of sight as soon as they saw the light. With their superior experience which the team had, its members gave an excellent account of themselves. Next year the team will again have the valuable services of Lew Sundberg and most of this year's members. With this combination the top-notch team could be produced.

in Decisive Victory

The Flour Jackets were awarded to Eddie Lux and Shirley Tainter. For the first time in G.A.A. history prizes were awarded for Seniors, Juniors and a new group for Freshmen. This policy was not to start until next year, but Miss Murray thought it might be a surprise this year. The roar of surprise Seniors were: Joan Clark, Ellen Fletcher, Barbara Betham, and Gloria Signore.

Changes Made

Rifle Team Ends Year

The school year of 1946-47 marked the first year that Milne has had a rifle team. A small-bore target shooting program. At the start of the year only two or three of the boys had any experience in target shooting, and as a result none of the early scores were very good. All of the boys improved rapidly in the new target rifles, and gradually the scores began to improve.

In the Rifle Team of the year the team fired four matches, losing three and winning one. Considering the small amount of practice and the early

CONGRATULATIONS TO THE CLASS OF 1947!

Pre-Date Jitters

By JANE SIMMONS

I've got the new dress, and the shoes, and the hat. And the shoes, and the hat. And the date—

So that should be that.

But in spite of that,

I've got the new dress. And the shoes. And the hat. And even the date—

Still I have worries;

Of what will we chat?

We'd better just dance.

Nancy Bearup had a chance to be a member of the Cheerleading Sorority of Albany. (A comparatively new sorority which admits only two new cheerleaders from each school; Mont Junior College, where she plans to take a general course.

Marge Bookstein has been chosen for school activities, getting out earlier, so she entered as soon as possible in her 7th year.

She has been an able G.A.A. representative and very popular. Beside the headaches of the responsibilities, she also was elected Treasurer of Sigma, and Secretary of Student Council. If this wasn't enough, she was chairman of the Card Party, and we all know that it could not have been the success that it was. And who was in charge of the ticket committee for the Concert? You guessed it!

Believe it or not, Marge somehow found enough time for sports to play on the Hockey and Basketball varieties and to receive the highest award in girls' sports, the white blazer. Last, but definitely not least, we have Margie as Valuederian of her class—how does she do it?

After graduation, she plans to attend Syracuse University where she will take a Liberal Arts course.

What's that: Don't know Nancy B. Say, where've you been? Oh! Yes, better, thought you'd made a mistake. Born on July 31, 1929, she entered Milne in the 7th grade. Of her early childhood, interesting material is available, gleaned however, only after exhaustive cross-examination. She was one of the best mid-pie manufacturers in this area.

In her sophomore year she became an active member of Quin, and her junior year began her work on the Crimson and White as writer of the Humor Column. This year seems to be her busiest, and that's no joke! She was right in there on the cheerleading squad, and was honored by an invitation to become a member of the Cheerleading Sorority of Albany. (A comparatively new sorority which admits only two new cheerleaders from each school.)
