Moose Discusses Atomic Bomb Raid Precautions

Arthur Molius, President of the Junior Student Council, demonstrates the first step for students in an event of an atomic bomb attack.

Si Cola to Stage Practice Drills

During a special program on November 7, Dr. Carleton A. Moore, Head of the Science Department, spoke to the gathered assembly of students about the dangers of a possible atomic bomb attack and the precautionary measures which should be taken.

Explains Probable Results

Dr. Moore explained that the bombs were dropped in an area less than a mile away, there would be little hope for survival, providing the bomb be exploded. This, he explained, would be due to the tremendous heat and shock that would be the result of the explosion.

On the other hand, should the bomb be exploded, steps can be taken to insure against unnecessary injuries that may be caused by panic.

Take Precautions

If in a classroom during a drill or an actual attack, persons sitting nearest to the window should immediately drop to the floor under the window. These people should then pull down the shades to prevent flying glass from blowing into the room. Students seated in other positions in the room should fall down on the window-side of their desks, covering all exposed surfaces on their faces, hands and legs. This precaution will protect them from radiation burns and the like.

The warning for an atomic bomb attack will be the ringing of an old-fashioned bell by hand. At this signal, all students should be directed by their teachers to crawl out of the classroom and take specified positions in the halls until further directions are announced.

Library Has Material

The Milne library contains several pamphlets explaining, in layman's terms, the theories behind atomic energy and the challenge which it presents to us.

There are also books, both fiction and non-fiction, dealing with the effects of atomic bombs. Among these are John Hersey's book, "Hiroshima" and "No Place to Hide" by David Bradley. The latter is the log of a doctor who was assigned to "Operation Crossroads" at Bikini, where the tests were performed.

Dexter Masters' work, "One World or None?" may also be included in this category.

Report Cards Show

New report card systems are in effect in Milne. Their purpose does not differ.

In the senior high, the marks are based on achievement and adjustment instead of living and working in a social group and achievement in subject matter as they were formerly. The letter grades are arranged so as to make the reading and averaging of marks easier. As far as the grades are concerned, the "F" which represented failure in a course has been changed to "U" symbolizing unsatisfactory work.

Hi-Y Bill Provides Much Controversy

Milne's Hi-Y organization submitted a bill at the Northeastern New York State convention of the Hi-Y recently.

It was first presented to the general assembly, and then to the committee where it was passed. When sent to the sub-committee the proposed bill was changed to read: Drivers' permits will be available to 16-year-olds and senior drivers' licenses should be obtainable by youth of 17 years.

Now in its revised form, the bill was submitted once more for the assembly's vote. Because of insufficient time, it was defeated by one vote. It was feared such controversy that it was unanimously decided to send it to the Hi-Y committee which meets December 8, 9, and 10 in Albany.

Students Prepare Gifts for France

This year students of the French I, II and III classes are sending Christmas gifts to French children still suffering from the effects of the war.

The packages contain mostly candy and school supplies, items which are still very scarce in France. The contributing and packing of these gifts is not compulsory, but almost every student brought in a small gift. These presents are expected to give a lot of joy to some little French children.

The French students with the help of Miss Cammarota, French supervisor, and French student teachers have organized a French club.

At the first meeting of the club, officers were elected. Herbert Gramm and Connie Ellsworth are president and vice-president respectively. Susan North keeps the notes and James Whitney will take care of the money.

Tenth Grade Students Sport New Class Rings

Last spring the class of '53 decided by class vote to give the Josten Company its order. The rings have the Milne crest mounted on sapphire, ruby, onyx, plain gold or gold with crimson and white stripes. Allison Parker, Doris Perlmutter, Nancy Olenhouse, Bennett Thomsen, Michael Meyers, and Richard Nathan formed the ring committee.

FOREIGN POLICY GROUP MEETS

Page Hall auditorium was the scene of a meeting of the Foreign Policy Association for Secondary Schools on November 13 at 1:00 p.m. Chester 3. Williams, Deputy Chief of Public Information, United States Mission to the United Nations, was the principal speaker. The topic of his address was "This Crucial United Nations Year."

Ask Questions

After Mr. Williams' speech, the audience was invited to participate in a 15-minute discussion period. Many questions were raised.

Suzanne Flinton, Bethlehem Central high school pupil, was student-chairman for the event. Grading plans were given by Dr. Evan R. Collins, President of State College for Teachers, Albany; Doris Metzen, President of the Milne Student Council, and Dr. C. C. King, Chairman of the Hudson-Mohawk Branch of the Foreign Policy Association.

Discusses Colleges

Representatives from schools in the Hudson-Mohawk area attended the discussion. The high school sent 25 students, juniors and seniors. Milne's well-rounded college life, and extra-curricular activities touched on the prominence of social life and extra-curricular activities in colleges. In Miss Ginkich's opinion, they are of great importance in a well-rounded college life, but they should never overshadow the real aim of college education.

At this point we realized our conversation had wandered from the business at hand so we promptly brought it back. Some more vital statistics were extracted. Namely, that Long Island, New York is Miss Ginkich's birthplace and that she attended high school at Mineola, New York. Qualifying her as a businesswoman, she has had selling and business experience in New York City and Albany.

Pupils Use Microscope

Dr. Carleton A. Moore, Head of the Science Department, announced that a new binocular microscope has been purchased for the Biology Department this year. The microscope, which cost $200 dollars, will be used by biology students in their experiments.

It's Striking Home!

We've all been exposed to the atom bomb alarm drills. To some, the whole affair seems a bit ridiculous. An atom bomb dropped near Albany? Preposterous! Let's not be alarmists!

It's not up to us to judge whether the Russians or some other group of people will see fit to bomb America. Probably no one in the whole world knows for certain. Nevertheless these precautions have to be taken.

The fact remains that we can no longer walk around oblivious to the fact that men are killing and being killed. It's striking home. Will it be ridiculous if you or the boy who is sitting next to you right now is called for Universal Military Training? Will it be ridiculous if he is forced to fight and die in some wet, muddy, frigid place on the other side of the world?

Or perhaps in his own back yard?

The present world situation is affecting us whether we realize it or not; whether we want it to or not! It's a grave situation and it does concern you.

There oughta be a law!

Decca has just released its new album of songs from the hit musical, "Call Me Madam." The numbers are sung of course, by the one and only Ethel Merman. These are also available on 10-inch and 45-r.p.m. discs. Some of the selections are: "The Best Thing for You," "You're Just in Love," "By the Hour Today," and the lively "Ocarina."

Annoying question department . . .

What does the State of New York ever do with all of those old science experiments that we hand in at the end of every year and never see again? Not that we want ours, of course, but it would be sort of interesting to find out where the Education Department keeps them all.

We think that all girls will enjoy reading "The Little Princesses" by Marion Crawford. The more personal side of the lives of Britain's famous royal house is woven into an easy-to-read fashion by their own governess. Some of the childhood incidents are very amusing. In the field of fiction, that amazing family of "Cheaper by the Dozen" fame is back again. "Belles On Their Toes" by Frank Gilbreth, Jr., and Ernestine Gilbreth Carey.

Everybody have a nice, restful Thanksgiving vacation (what are we saying?)

Averill Park Beats Milne In Gridiron Final, 33-6

The Milne football team closed out its 19-50 basketball has the makings of the main sports attraction in Milne. Coach Grogan has been quoted as saying, “The team is looking better in practice every day, and we expect a pretty good season.”

Now that the football season is over, basketball has been the main sports attraction in Milne. Coach Grogan has been quoted as saying, “The team is looking better in practice every day, and we expect a pretty good season.”

Averill Park Fumbles
Bob Callender kicked off for Milne on the opening play of the second half. The Milne 30 yard line. Averill Park faked a kick and ran the ball to the Milne 27 yard line. Milne's fast charging line threw the Averill Park fumble down on Milne nullified the touchdown. The home team lost the ball on downs, and Averill Park promptly scored on three plays, Paul Werger running 30 yards for the touchdown. The extra point was good, making the Milne lead 17-0.

M.B.A.A. Discusses Winter Carnival
M.B.A.A. and M.G.A.A. are considering sponsoring a winter sports carnival for all students sometime in the next two or three months. The showing of a movie has also been discussed as a possibility for raising funds, but nothing is definite.

Hoosters Practice; 5 Lettermen Return
In spite of a cold and rainy day, the Emma Hoosters kicked off playday proved to be a lot of fun. The first opponent was Bethlehem Central High. Milne tried hard to make a goal, but without avail, and the final score was a tie, 0-0. The team then played against Mount Pleasant High, which Milne won, 2-0. Judy Ostrander, ‘51, and Judy Deitch, ‘51, can be thanked for making the two goals. Unfortunately, Milne won't be able to have the Girls' Academy hockey team up this year for a game, as has been done in past years. Action in both schools make it impossible for a time when both teams can get together.

Girls Participate in Volleyball
To enter high school volleyball team and two junior high teams travelled to Philip Livingston Junior High School for a volleyball playday. The girls had several area schools for opponents. The senior team, comprised of Miss Barbara Halley, Alma Bernard, Penny Thompson, Mary Lou Richardson, Scotty Beyer, Carol Jean Foss, Crystal Mill, Allison Parker, “M. F.” Moran, Sue Crane, and Janet Sutherland. The two junior high teams were made up of Gail McCormack, Sue Keller, Margaret Moran, Mary Lou Halley, Miss Beverly Erb, Marion Presser, Ann Gayle, Ann Crocker, and Pat Gagen, Beryl Scott, Hannah Kornreich, Sally Simmons, Brenda Sandberg, Sheila Fitzgerald, Honey McNeil, Polly Ann Vizen, and Judy Hallenbeck.

Senior is Injured
Last week during an exciting game of murder ball in the seniors' playday, Judy Ostrander, who was sitting on the sidelines. At first sight, Judy smiled, but then she realized that she was missing something—pieces of two of her teeth had been knocked out. Judy was hurriedly sent to the hospital where she received four stitches in her lip and seventeen shots of novocaine.

Sister Finds Half-Pin
Very Annoying
By ROSEMARIE CROSS
In the life of every teenager, there are certain problems that they must face. Some of these problems are caused by the parents' involvement in getting the car for Saturday night, others find it hard to show their respect to their elders by answering the phone, rolloving parents, but I think the main problem of the majority of us is trouble with brothers and sisters.
Clothes Trouble
The case of poor fat Liz. Her sister and she made an agreement that she would share each other's clothes. Being of the same height, that was fine for Liz's sister, but Liz, the fatter of the two, just couldn't squeeze herself into her sister's clothes.
The real problem for older brothers and sisters is little sister always borrowing his best white shirt without asking. When big brother asks her why she didn't wear one of her own, she replies, "How am I to know which are your best shirts?"

Have Some Advantages
Of course, these little problems seldom occur when your date comes to visit you and your neat little sister. When I'm not ready, my little sister starts to flirt with my date. As if the situation isn't bad enough, she can come out with some brilliant remarks. The other night she said, "When are you going to marry my sister?"

After the boy gets over his embarrassment, she came out with, "I like you much better than the boy that was here last week." Thank heavens I was ready by that time, or probably would have had my baby pictures out.

"Tattle Tales"
A familiar cry around with younger ones is, "I saw you, and I'm telling Mother." The best way of preventing this is to bribe the little monster with some wordly possession like candy. Of course, once you start giving it out, you can't get out of the habit, or the little monster will blackmail you.

Have Some Advantages
I hope I haven't misled you, now. I really love my sisters. Especially when I'm broke and they're rich. Usually they'll take care of you at a time of financial difficulty. Also if they're older, they can help you with your homework. They generally can do it better than you, but not so much better that it doesn't look like your work.

Your parent's children serve another good function. The function is that they can straighten you out when you have a problem. Sometimes they make the problem. The problem I have in mind is supervisors. Most people think that sisters or brothers are two of a kind. They see the last name of the younger child and remember that they have heard that name before. They ask if you have an older sister, or if your older sister was good they expect you to be good too and vice versa. Yup, they're quite a convenience.

All in all, I think we can agree that we couldn't do without our immediate relations, even when we have Edith for a sister.

Sister Finds Half-Pin

Spanish, Latin Clubs Underway
Under the gavel of President Judy Deitchman, the Spanish club was re-instated in Milne. Members play Spanish games, sing Spanish songs and have parties in Spanish dances. The organization's purpose is to become more familiar with the Spanish language, customs and the people themselves. In co-ordination with this objective the club plans a Christmas fiesta, to be done in the style in which Spanish-speaking nations celebrate that holiday. An excursion to the Catkill Game Farm may be included on the agenda.

In another branch of the language department the Latin club is also functioning this year. The officers of Kappa Iota are as follows: president, Judy Dietrich and Terry Stokes; mistress of ceremonies, Joan Callahan; secretary, James Whitman; treasurer, Creasy McNutt; historian, Ellen Siegal.

Kappa Iota meetings follow a definite pattern. The business session is first, followed by entertainment—usually in the form of games. Often the club is having a social, such as a party or an outing, which may include participation on a satirical play to be presented some time in the near future. A Roman holiday is scheduled to be celebrated the tenth of December. The junior members of the Latin club assist in running this program. The meeting on the holiday will be on the bill. Members of the club hope to make this an annual event.

Eighth Grade Hears Leaders
A new program has been worked out for the eighth grade students to inform them of the extra-curricular activities available at Milne. To give the students a clearer picture of these various activities representatives of the organizations are speaking to the eighth grade leaders. Starting the program off Doris Moran of Crimson and White, Doris Metzner of the senior high student council, Harry Stevens, Barbara Stewman, Terry Stokes, Robert Tewell, Judith Travis and Vine Whitley.

"When big brother asks her why she didn't wear an old one, she replies, "How am I to know which are your best shirts?"

Dr. Theodore Fossiek, principal, extends his congratulations to those who made the first honor roll and hopes that more students will be on the December honor roll.

First Honor Roll Lists Many
Hats off to Altha Funk '51 and Nancy Prescott '52. Both girls maintained straight A's during the first marking period.

Those achieving all B's or better are as follows: Richard Chaver, David Howard, Norman Suter and Beatrice Weinstein from the freshman class.

The tenth grade had the largest number of students on the Honor Roll. They are; Judy Behmer, Nancy Belle, Alison Parker, Anne Requa, Shirley Wagner and Linda Yaffe.

Jean Bailey, Nancy Bryant, Joan Callahan, Marcia Hallenbeck, Faye Keller, Richard Propp, Ellen Siegal and Beryl Tracy represent the junior class.

Senior scholars include: Keith Beswick, Judy Dietrich, Constance Ellsworth, Rosalind Fink, Terry Metzner, Harry Stevens, Barbara Stewman, Terry Stokes, Robert Tewell, Judith Travis and Vine Whitley.

Lois Tewell
What's that bright reflection coming from "(Spotlight)?" Why, it must be coming from the blond tresses of Lois Tewell who now dons an attractive new look.

Born on January 5, Lois, like so many of our other seniors, attended P. S. 16. Since entertaining Milne in the seventh grade, Lois has been continually busy. She has been a member of the cheerleading squad since the fall term of her junior year, and she serves in the capacity of captain.

Taking an active interest in sports, Lois served as the vice-president of MGAA in her junior year and this year holds the responsible position of business manager. Lois has been a member of the girls' varsity hockey team for the past three years, and a good one too. She will also be long remembered for her part in the senior play.

Lois plans to attend Endicott Junior College, where she will major in merchandising.

Robert Tewell
And now, we'd like you to meet the male half of the Tewell team. Robert. A most likeable lad, possessing a bit of brain power and knowing a witty remark for every zany occasion; his favorite office is that of vice-president. This is well-proven by past and present positions: "Veep" of the class in the eleventh grade, vp. of his home-room in the tenth grade, vp. of Senior Student Council, and that of Nu Literary society in his senior year. He also keeps the finances straight for Hi-Y.

Robert wants to be an engineer and has given some thought to nearby R.P.I. That's just cause he wants to come back to Milne in his senior year. He's out enjoying his favorite: pizza and the finest of steaks, he keeps a sharp lookout for a little gal with brown hair and brown eyes. Who knows...maybe her name will be Jeannie.
