BRICKS AND IVY
Dedication

It has been said that Patience is one of the greatest virtues of men. With this thought in mind, we, the Class of 1941, dedicate this, the Milne Year Book, to Harlan W. Raymond, who, by his outstanding example, has taught us this valuable trait.
FACULTY

Our Faculty has made our school life run smoothly and with the least inconvenience to its students and teachers.

L. ANTOINETTE JOHNSON

To Miss Johnson, the Bricks and Ivy Staff tenders its sincerest regrets at her retirement. We wish her the greatest enjoyment and happiness in the years to come. All of us will miss her and wish many times that she were back in Milne.

Our School Daze

We're in Milne again for another day of school. Herein begins six hours and twenty minutes of all the things that make up our school life.

Lockers are a floating mass of noise which hangs pendant above scurrying students. Halls are liberally sprinkled with rushing, laughing "nearly laters." Bells ring; there is a five minute pause (in homerooms) for individual identification. A few stragglers wend their weary way to the Guidance Office for excuses. The day is successfully launched.

Classes are next—five of them. History, French, Latin, English, Shop, Home Economics, and Science, are but a few of them. For the fortunates who have only a four-class day, there is Library—a respite from noise, confusion and recitations. Veiled looks and shy glances form an intriguing pattern of invisible ties. Contrary to a general consensus of adult opinion, classes can be fun. Milne teaches us the fun of learning things for ourselves.

There is a great deal more to the modern school than classes. Home­rooms teach us leadership and the meaning of the term “study hall.” Class meetings are frequently held to discuss any weighty business at hand. Clubs sprout up like toadstools on Thursdays and Fridays with the hand, dance, and dramatics clubs as leaders in noise. On Tuesdays, the Society rooms bulge with enthusiastic Sophs, Juniors and Seniors. Oh Quin, Sigma, Theta Nu, Adelphoi, and Phi Sig! How the Seniors will miss you! Of course, no one can forget G.A.C. and B.A.C. which fill up our Wednesday activities period. Hi-Y members have evening meetings; aren't they lucky?

Sports are required to the merry tune of two hours weekly. Hockey games on the "Dorm" field; baseball games at Ridgefield; basketball games in the Page Hall Gym. There's some kind of sport for every one. Of course, play days slide into our calendars and take up an occasional Saturday, but who minds? We don't.

Evenings—sometimes "school nights"—bring Christmas plays, Class Night, Graduation, Parents' Night, and dances. Everyone agrees that they all were pretty grand with marvelous decorations, super orchestras, and luscious punch. These end our day at Milne as happily as the after-school "coke" at the Annex.

You see, our school day is quite important to us. It forms, for most of us, the nucleus of our social life, and it most certainly takes up the greatest percentage of time in our days. After all, there is always something going on after school is officially ended for the day.

Quin (2, 3, 4); Homeroom Vice-President (1); Glee Club (1, 2); G.A.C. (2, 3); Annual Antics (1, 3); Bricks and Ivy (4); Photography Staff (4); Sub Deb Club (4); Card Party Committee (4); Co-Chairman Senior High Dance (4); Arts and Crafts Club (3); Junior Red Cross Representative (3).

Our career girl, Bette, will go far with her precious gift of management.

BORDEN HICKS MILLS, JR.
"Bordy," "B.H."
Union
Adelphi (2, 3, 4); Christmas Plays (2); Dramatics Club (2); Band (2, 3, 4).

Puns and Latin are Bordy's specialty. His puns are unique in that he can usually manage to laugh at them if his audience fails to.

SELLECK EUGENE MINTLINE
"Sell," "Stick"
Union
Adelphi (2, 3, 4); Hi-Y (2, 3, 4); Chaplain (4); Junior Red Cross Representative (4); Chemistry Club (3); Arts and Crafts Club (2).

Selleck may be quiet, but he's always there if we need him.

CATHERINE MORRISON
"Cathie"
Lasell
Quin (2, 3, 4); G.A.C. (2, 3, 4); Annual Antics (1, 2, 4); Crimson and White (1, 4); Reporter (1, 4); C.S.P.A. Delegate (4); Class Will (4); Card Party Committee (4); Dramatics Club (2, 4); Head of Costuming Junior High Christmas Plays (4); Sub Deb Club (3); May Queen Attendant (4).

Cath has the personality admired by all. Her pep takes her far in the realms of friendship.
HELEN LOUISE NORRIS
“Lena,” “Louisa,” “Nell”
Albany Business College
Sigma (2, 3, 4); Critic (4); Annual Antics (4); Card Party Committee (3, 4); Glee Club (3, 4); Typing Club (1); Advanced Dancing Club (2); Secretary (2).
Helen is reserved and unassuming, a welcome member of any group.

VALLEY VIRGINIA PARADIS
“V. V.”
University of Maryland
Quin (2, 3, 4); G.A.C. (2, 3, 4); Annual Antics (1, 2, 3, 4); Crimson and White (1, 2, 3, 4); Reporter (1, 2, 3); Girls’ Sports Editor (3, 4); C.S.P.A. Delegate (1, 2, 3, 4); Card Party Committee (3, 4); Class Song (4); Co-Chairman Senior High Dance (3); Glee Club (2); Dramatics Club (4); Sub Deb Club (3).
Sincerity and sunny personality combined with blon­ness, that’s our “V. V.”

RUTH LYNEA PETERSON
“Pete,” “Rudy”

Roosevelt Field
Theta Nu (2, 3, 4); Sergeant-at-Arms (3); Class Sergeant-at-Arms (4); Home­room President (3); Hi-Y (2, 3, 4); President (4); Hi-Y Carnival (3, 4); Varsity Tennis (3, 4); Assistant Manager of Tennis Team (4); Bricks and Ivy (4); Senior Editor (4); Varsity Club (3, 4); Class Night Usher (3); Class Ring Committee (3); Co-Chairman Hi-Y-G.A.C. Dance (4); Arts and Crafts Club (2).
“Wes” is the boy with the swell car, but it’s just inci­dental to his friends. We all like him for what he is—not what he has.
BEATRICE MEREL RAAB
"Bea," "Beatty"
Skidmore
Quin (2, 3, 4); G.A.C. (2, 3); Crimson and White (2, 3); Annual Antics (1, 2, 3, 4); Typing Club (1); Arts and Crafts Club (3); Dramatics Club (2); French Club (3, 4).
She’s quiet but fun, and she reflects her good taste in her clothes.

PHYLLIS DURAN REED
"Phyll"
Simmons

“Shirl”, the girl with the settled future, is quick to help in any case.

DONALD HAROLD SOMMERS
“Don,” “Sum”
Union
Theta Nu (2, 3, 4); Reporter (3); Recording Secretary (4); Junior High Council (1); Secretary (1); Junior Varsity Basketball (3); Varsity Baseball (2, 3, 4); Hi-Y Carnival (1, 2, 3, 4); Class Will (4); Card Party Committee (4); Cheerleading (1); Crimson and White (3, 4); Reporter (3); Boys’ Sports Editor (4); Business Manager (4); Assembly Committee (4); Glee Club (2); French Club (4); Co-Chairman Crimson and White Banquet (4); Traffic Club (4); Boys’ Cooking Club (2).

We always turn to Don with great expectations. He can be funny even in Algebra class.

MARION ELIZABETH SOULE
“Puss,” “Jeeves”
State
Sigma (2, 3, 4); Valedictorian (4); Honor Roll; Home-room Secretary (1, 2, 3); Glee Club (2); Arts and Crafts Club (1); G.A.C. (2, 3, 4); Varsity Hockey (3, 4); Annual Antics (1, 2, 3); Latin Medal (3); Walker Scholarship (3); Dramatics Club (2, 3, 4).

“Puss” has myriads of brains and she also has a friendly personality.
ROBERT G. SPECK
"Rock," "Speck"
Rochester A. and M.
Adelphi (2, 3, 4); Hi-Y (4); Hi-Y Carnival (4); Photography Club (2, 3, 4).
Bob's humor has a quality which is both good and bad—most of our humor is pretty bad.

MILDRED AILEEN SPECTOR
"Mil," "Terry"
Russell Sage
Entered Milne (2); Quin (2, 3, 4); Annual Antics (2, 3, 4); Crimson and White (3, 4); Reporter (3, 4); Glee Club (3); Dramatics Club (2, 3, 4); Riding Club (2, 3, 4).
A lovely mannequin but a real enough person to know.

JANE LOWELL STUART
"Janie"
Syracuse
Quin (2, 3, 4); Homeroom President (2); Treasurer (2, 3); G.A.C. (3); Varsity Softball (2, 3); Varsity Tennis (3, 4); Annual Antics (1, 2, 3, 4); Assembly Committee (3, 4); Bricks and Ivy (4); Senior Editor (4); Card Party Committee (3, 4); Arts and Crafts Club (1, 2, 3); Glee Club (1); French Club (4); Secretary (4).
Janie is sincere, witty and has plenty of personality plus.

MARY LEWI SWARTZ
"Marie"
Albany Business College
Quin (2, 3, 4); Annual Antics (1, 2, 3, 4); Arts and Crafts Club (2); Crimson and White (3, 4); Reporter (3, 4); Glee Club (3); Dramatics Club (1, 2); French Club (4); Typing Club (1); Book Fair Tea Committee (2).
Under Mary's meekness there is a pleasing personality.
STANLEY B. SWIFT
"Stan," "Red," "Swifty," "Barney"

Union
Adelphi (2, 3, 4); Sergeant-at-Arms (4); Hi-Y (3, 4); Hi-Y Carnival (4); Crimson and White (1); Circulation Manager (1); Christmas Plays (1); Card Party Committee (3, 4); Co-Chairman Theta Nu-Adelphi Dance (4); Photography Club (1, 2, 3).

Red hair is usually a sign of trouble; but if you want an understanding friend, you can't find a better one than Stan.

ROBERT J. TAYLOR, JR.
"Bob"
R.P.I.
Adelphi (2, 3, 4); Senior High Council (3); Boys' Cooking Club (1); Outing Club (3); Secretary (3).
His friendly arguments will always be remembered.

Marilyn is the "it" girl of our class—capable of many things.

RUTH VAN GAASBEEK
"Twinsie," "Domina," "Rufus"
Antioch
Sigma (2, 3, 4); Mistress of Ceremonies (4); Home-room Sergeant-at-arms (1); Crimson and White (3, 4); Reporter (3, 4); Card Party Committee (3, 4); Class Song (4); Chairman Class Night Committee (4); Arts and Crafts Club (1); Glee Club (2); Dramatics Club (3, 4).

Ruth is tiny, but nice things come in small packages.
FRED WARD
Rochester A. and M.
Adelphi (2, 3, 4); Hi-Y (2, 3, 4); Recording Secretary (4); Photography Club (2, 3, 4).
Fred’s main interest is photography, but he’s well known for his cheerfulness.

MARJORIE GERALDINE WEINBERG
"Margie," "Weinnie"
Syracuse
Quin (2, 3, 4); Annual Antics (1, 2, 3, 4); Typing Club (1); Crimson and White (3, 4); Reporter (3, 4); Arts and Crafts Club (1); Glee Club (3); Dramatics Club (2, 4); Riding Club (4).
Marge is considerate and always willing to smile.

ROBIN WENDELL
"Red"
Norwich
Adelphi (2, 3, 4); Hi-Y (2, 3, 4); Arts and Crafts Club (3); Crimson and White (3, 4); Mimeographer (2, 3, 4); Chemistry Club (4); Athletic Club (2).
A silent partner, but a true friend.

WILLIAM B. WILEY
"Bill," "Will," "Bard"
Roosevelt Field
Theta Nu (2, 3, 4); Treasurer (4); Homeroom President (2); Homeroom Vice-President (3); Hi-Y (2, 3, 4); Hi-Y Carnival (3, 4); Boys' Athletic Council (3, 4); Class Business Manager (3, 4); Manager of Varsity Baseball (4); Assistant Manager (3); Card Party Committee (4); Junior Varsity Baseball (2); Junior Varsity Basketball (3); Varsity Club (4); Boys' Cooking Club (1); Arts and Crafts Club (2); Athletic Club (2, 3).
Humor and cheerfulness belong to a prominent member of our class.
Prophecy

Robert Austin is now Head Glass-Polisher at the Waldorf-Astoria. Bob claims that he owes it all to the after-school “coke”—the bottles were always dry and shining when you finally gave them up.

Phyllis Reed is now the president of the United Taxi Company with special rates from Albany to McKownville. Phyllis says that it all came from the mounting taxi fares of all her beaus.

Edna Corwin has reached billboard fame. Her “Corwin’s Crispy Cupcakes” are so delectable that you’ll see a group of kids drooling in front of each picture. They won’t even go home for dinner any more!

Mary Swartz is the efficient businesswoman whom all the kiddies idolize. She got her start as private secretary to Orson Welles. Now she’s graduated from his private course on “How to Do Everything, Be Everything, and Get Everything.” Mary is the first person who ever made Well(e)s pay.

Borden Mills, a successful lawyer, is fighting a hard case in court. He’s defending Public Enemy Number One, Marcus the “Merciless” Meyers. Marcus is pleading Ignorance.
JOSEPHINE WILSON

"Jo," "Josie"
Cornell

Sigma (2, 3, 4); Homeroom Vice-President (3); Sub Deb Club (3); G.A.C. Prophecy

Mildred Spector is now busily heading a campaign for a change in women's clothes, from the accepted dress to wearing men's suits. Milly claims that "Specter's Spiffy Sport Suits in Spectacular Plaids for Smart Young Women" are the best in town. Rumors have been circulated that Milly first attained her idea while wearing riding pants to Milne many years ago.

Lawrence Mapes, known as "Mapes the Magnificent Manufacturer", has become the world's fastest bridge builder. Larry's bridges come in boxes; you just press a button and it jumps into place. They are guaranteed to last a lifetime. He is now considering building one, equipped with subways and ice cream stands from Albany to Watervliet express! !

Jessie Doran and Bette Farnan are giving lessons to girls on "How to Get Your Man and Keep Him," or "A Course from Us and He's Yours for Life—We Eliminate That Other Woman Business." Their lessons are given daily in Menands, you know the place just outside of Albany where Montgomery Ward's is located.

David Davidson has become Albany's own doughnut man. "Davidson's Delicious Doughnuts" are well known throughout the capital district for their flavor and he is planning to enlarge his company and open a branch in Delmar, but then David has always been partial to those Bethlehem Central girls, and blondes, too. Remember him way back in Milne?

Ann Loucks is president of the Amalgamated Post Hole Company, and a millionaire. She is living a luxurious life in New York, and it is said that she has a penthouse with a bridle track. Ann earned her millions by selling the contents of holes after they have been dug.

Donald DeNure is running a large chicken farm just outside of Loudonville. He has gained world renown for his famous chickens, for they have learned to cackle in harmony. Don says that he owes it all to the fact that he gives the chickens permanent waves when they are young. It develops their prestige and they just naturally sing; they're so happy. All Don has to do is conduct them. The chickens love it and I "bet-te" does too.

Joan Manweiler, that great tragic actress, has finally retired from the stage (and Hollywood) and is spending her countless millions teaching little Hawaiian boys to read and write. She maintains that she received her start as an actress playing opposite David Conlin in "The Minuet" in her senior year at Milne. They were both guillotined—remember?

Marilyn Tincher holds a weekly beauty contest and school for pedigreed dogs. The winners not only get their picture in the paper, with their teacher, but a can of "Tincher's Tempting Tidbits" as well—lucky dogs! !

David Mack, the boy with the wonderful smile, former prize-speaking winner, Milne's own protegee, and terror of the English teachers, has finally fulfilled all of our dreams by becoming President of the United States (he finally thought of a way to beat Roosevelt). His present enterprise is presenting a bill to Congress for a “Catch More Fish So People Won’t Starve Week.” It will be known as the C.M.F.S.P.W.S. movement.

Valley Paradis is a well known nurse and her southern accent is famous throughout the capital district. She is giving lessons to boys on “how to attain that southern accent.” We wonder which attracts the most boys, the accent or Valley.

Elaine Drooz is still working for charitable organizations. She has recently founded the “Pink Cross”—sequel to the Red Cross which he promoted in Milne—remember?

Bob Speck and Fred Ward are now ace photographers, working for Life. They’re well-known, (and always were) for their candid shots, and work incognito as “The Snoopy Scoops.”

Elaine Gallup maintains the only date bureau in Albany. Her slogan is:

“If you want a date
You’ll appreciate,
Call Gallup!”

Helen Cooper is captain of that famous women’s basketball team, “Cooper’s Cute Cutups.” The “Cutups” recently won the National Women’s Championship game.

Shirley Smith has invented a new type of meat sandwich, called “Sambergers.” Shirley says that she has been working on “Sambergers” ever since her high school days.

David Conlin, better known as David Alexander, (his stage name), won the 1950 academy award for his portrayal of Rhett Butler in the newly revised picture, G.W.T.W. . . . And to think Dave got his start back in high school, as an usher at the Ritz.

Sally Lavine is running a flourishing school for happy little children. Sally keeps them content by conducting giggle classes, whereby everyone graduates with a giggle just like Sally’s.

Leah Einstein, our first lady of the drama, can be seen on Broadway during the winter season, and as director of the Mohawk Drama Festival the rest of the year. Leah’s latest Broadway hit was “Romeo and Juliet.” In the supporting cast were: Bette Davis, Charles Coburn, and Shirley Temple.

Leah’s exclusive dress designer is Catherine “Schiaparelli” Morrison, who established New York as the new world fashion center. Miss Morrison also designs gowns exclusively for Mrs. Yehudi.

Chuck Locke—oh yes, is still interested in basketball. But his latest job is throwing the towels to the players at every rest period.

Joan Hunting is chairman of the O.P.M. (Office of Producing Miracles). Joan will manage any problem you have. Her most recent undertaking was helping to produce Stanley Swift’s new wingless, gearless, airplanes. They’re called “Swift’s Swift, Shiftless Skyway Planes.” Their motto is: “We may be up in the air over the new Swift plane, but we always end up with a bang.”

If you need an operation, see Saunders, specialty surgeon. Dr. Saunders specializes in super-duper zipper appendix operations.

Don Sommers is now married to “Cobina” of Bob Hope fame. He was walking along when suddenly he heard—“Look, Brenda, a m-a-a-a-n!” Although he ran, he couldn’t quite make it (Cobina had taken up track); he finally accepted her proposal. It must have been her “Purse”-onality.

Laura Lyon, affectionately known as “lalla-beans”, is now following after her nickname, and is a “jellybean” manufacturer. Sweets for the sweet!

Bob Barden, who of course is married, has finally thought of a good definition of “diplomacy” to tell his inquiring son. He says: “If you tell a girl that time stands still while you gaze into her eyes, that’s diplomacy, but if you tell her that her face would stop a clock, that’s not diplomacy!”

Nancy Hochstrasser has just won a beauty contest. Hollywood is calling for her to star in their “Blondie” series, but her interests are still in Albany—and not with a blonde.

In a schoolhouse in a country town, you’ll find Della Carvill who has taken over the schoolteaching job. The former teacher had a lot of trouble with the boys, but not Della—they even bring her apples, and want to stay after school now.

Marion Soule, married and happy, is still interested in the “dead” language. She has begun her 17th year of Latin, and if she keeps it up, she’ll be giving Miss Johnson some competition before long.

Josy Wilson, who is following in the footsteps of Alexander G. Bell, because of her numerous discoveries, says they just come to her. Her latest discovery is that you can’t change a shepherd dog to a Spitz by feeding him chewing tobacco. Why, Josy!

Ruth Van Gaasbeek is now a famous authoress. She has written many novels, but her latest and biggest success is “The Right and Wrong Way to Play Bridge,” and we hear that this is very novel. She got her start at the St. Andrews Church card parties.

The new superintendent of the famous insane asylum at Poughkeepsie is . . . . Elaine Becker. She claims, when asked why she took the job, “Well, I wanted to have people crazy about me, so . . . .”

Bob Mason, at their own request, is now the doctor for the Dionne quintuplets. The “quints” are quite the young ladies now. Bob even taught them to sing. They’re now known as “Mason’s Melodious Misses.”

Any Saturday morning, you can hear Jeane Selkirk and her kiddy show over the radio. She insists on being called Aunt Jeanie—just for a little variation from Aunt Jenny. She always did have a way with children, but then, who didn’t Jeane have a way with?

Jane Stuart can be found every night, polishing brass buttons for her husband. She’s the belle of all the army camps, and is she in her glory! She has a little girl named Julie—en she’s very happy.

Johnny Dyer can now be addressed as “Admiral”—he’s in the navy. He doesn’t have a bit of trouble keeping his girl friends in every port interested. Remember Milne? He kept all those girls interested for six years. (He still prefers the tiny brunettes.)

The new proprietor of the Delmar Roller Skating Rink is . . . . Doris Wogatske. She spent so much of her time out there while she was attending Milne that she couldn’t bear to think of leaving it. On the suggestion of a friend, she calls it . . . . “Wogatske’s Woller Skating Wink.”
The best girls' basketball team in New York State is now being managed by that able Martin Edwards. The team was scarcely known before Mart took them over, but now they're known from Guilderland to Albany as "Marty's Menacing Meanies." Are they good!

Marianne Adams, as if you didn't all know, is really a big success. She is answering all love letters from females, and she's driving Dorothy Dix out of business. Her column is titled . . . "Marianne's Madhouse for Unmanageable Males."

Ruth Martin is now running her own florist shop. The flowers that she's the most interested in are "bachelor" buttons. She claims, "They're really very interesting to take care of—I call them my bachelors."

The Lone Ranger's place has finally been filled by . . . Ed Meghrebian. It's quite a thrill to see him fight a whole tribe of Indians—single handed. He always did want to yell "Hi-bo, Silva-a-a-a!" in the library.

The newest invention is an earthquake detector that goes off like an alarm clock, but leave it to Betty Miller to go them one better. She invented an alarm clock that goes off like an earthquake. We all need it. Remember Milne?

Helen Culp and Helen Norris are now touring the country, and stopping at all the army camps and entertaining the soldiers. They sing and are known as the "Harmonizing Honeys." They can always be found singing the best numbers on the Hit Parade.

Bob Schamberger, the dream man of a thousand women, is touring the country lecturing on "Blond Hair and How to Keep It." The women flock to his lectures and it has been rumored that many a husband has challenged Bob to a duel. That curly hair always gets the girls though. "Shirley" he remembers those days in Milne.

Our own Bob Taylor has traveled to Hollywood and is strong competition for his namesake. He is currently featured in "Jack Strongarm at the Zoo", a picture especially for the kiddies. It's been rumored that he kills three tigers single handed at once . . . my, my!

Isn't it wonderful to hear of other people's happiness? Yet it's terrible to think that Mary Baker has come to such an end. They say her latest book, "Cohoes, My Cohoes," has been censored and Mary is fighting the case in court.

Eddie Langwig, our own esteemed Student Council President, is now the leader of his own swing band. All Milne students listen to him Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays at 10:15. He is well known for his version of "Drummer Boy" (oh, yes, Gene Krupa played it too).

Ruth Peterson is furthering her education in Scotia, having had a personal interest there during her life in Milne.

Beatrice Raab is the successful owner of a jewelry store (for men only). It seems that Bea helps the boys pick out jewelry for their girl friends. Nice work if you can get it! !

Art Phinney and Bill Wiley are running a bureau for hopeful young males. Art teaches the boys to be "suave," and Bill shows them how to say "Hi ya, kid," in ten different ways.

Jerry Levitz owns his own bowling alley, especially equipped with tennis courts, swimming pool, riding stable, and of course, a golf course. It's quite a big place, but then it would have to be big to fill Jerry's ambitions.

Have you heard about Sellick Mintline? He is now selling “Sellick's Super-Streamlined Soapboxes.” He claims that soapbox orators will never stop talking when encouraged by his soapboxes—they're so comfy!

Dave Fuld now owns his own factory in “Can't-Go-Wrong,” Indiana. He is famous for his methods for keeping strikes under control. Dave says—“My success? I simply arranged to have the factory built around the homes. It's a little crowded with children running around, but we're really just one happy family.”

Margie Weinberg is now realizing her desires—she's a hairdresser. Marge has quite a way with hair fixing, but she still specializes in men's scalp treatments.

Robin Wendell has a new idea! He's building a hotel on the corner of Lake and Western for all the little Milnites who live out of the city. “This,” states Robin, “will eliminate the traffic from Milne to Loudonville, East Greenbush, Nassau, McKownville, Newtonville, Guilderland, Altamont, etc.; on weekends it will make all Milnites sleep better and become healthier and happier people.” Nice idea, Robin, it's too bad we didn't have it in our day.

Margie Gade still lives around Albany, although she spends most of her time touring various cities with the great Bill Grattan's orchestra, as vocalist. We can't imagine why she took the job, but then Margie has always loved music, and is especially partial to drummers.

Seventh Graders—
The Seventh Grader hurries,
The Seventh Grader runs,
He quakes at exam time
And makes awful puns.

Eighth Graders—
If you want to see an Eighth Grader,
Don't be late,
Because they're almost always here,
A little after eight.

Freshman—
We think the wary freshman
Is very, very smart—
For if it is a race to school,
He'll give you a head start.

Sophomores—
The student that enters the Sophomore year
Is now a member of Senior High;
He is a part of the social life
And never lets a dance go by.

Juniors—
The Juniors go to the annex,
After school every day;
They have proved to everyone
That work can be mixed with play.

Seniors—
The Seniors are sophisticated,
They can go out at night,
And yet they always come to school,
Each morning, fresh and bright.
Class History 1941

When we were in the seventh grade,
Many years ago,
School started at eight o'clock,
As you already know.

Carroll Boyce won our hobby show,
Which was in the library.
In the spring we went to Lyon's Lake
To compete for a fine trophy.

In the eighth we had a sailboat race
Which Donald Jones did win.
Each boy made his own sailboat
Judged by Elaine and Mari-lyn.

Leah had a farewell party,
For Miss Moore was leaving us.
Becky was left on the island
And almost missed the bus.

Our last year in Junior High
Was led by Charlie Locke.
We gave "Mrs. Wiggs in the Cabbage Patch"
Which not a one did knock.

Then we entered Senior High,
And joined societies.
Our First May Queen was crowned that spring,
Janet Jansing won with ease.

Then Joan had an outing,
At her home in Newtonville;
And who should fall in the water,
But a brown-eyed girl named "Phyll".

In our Junior year we carried on,
With Langwig at the head.
We planned a fine class outing,
But all stayed home instead.

A new society was formed that year,
Phi Sigma was its name.
Eddie was elected head of Council,
Which added to his fame.

Bob Austin led our Senior Class
Through many a troubled day.
And with her six attendants,
Jessie was Queen of the May.

Leah and Bob won Prize Speaking
Which surprised us not at all.
Bob Barden ran the newspaper,
Jerry and Laura, the Senior Ball.

Our sixth year ended safely,
With Class Night and exams.
Then last our grand Commencement—
Cheered on by faithful fans.

Our High School days are almost o'er
And we are very sad:
But we shall all remember,
The good times that we've had.

Class Song

We've journeyed through the years at Milne,
We've reached our goal at last.
The wine is spent—the cup is dry,
The golden hours have passed.
And though each one of us will tread
On paths that may not meet
Our hearts as one will backward turn
To Milne with loyal beat.

We know not how to say it,
The feeling in each heart,
That which we owe is much too great,
We're debtors as we part.
The future lies before us.
Uncharted is the way.
But we know our Alma Mater
Will guide us through the fray.

Class Will

WE, THE class of '41, being of sound mind and body, hereby bequeath our most cherished possessions to our fellow Milnites.

To the future varsity players, we leave all of Chuck Locke’s athletic ability. (We think they’ll need it.)

We bequeath to the English department the extraordinary vocabulary of David Mack.

We leave Bob Barden’s ability to get around to Chuck Cross.

To Frank Belleville, we grant one foot of Larry Mapes’ height, so he can get up in the world.

We bestow the humorous “clownability” and wit of Don Sommers on the Golding twins.

To the business officials of Albany and the capital district, we leave Dave Fuld’s new pamphlet on “How to Become the Perfect Business Man.”

We leave to all Milne bridge players Elaine Drooz’s “gift of gab.”

To Sally Hunt, we leave the beautiful blondness of Nancy Hochstrasser.

We bequeath the vim, vigor and vitality of Cath Morrison upon Jean Dorsey.

To Gene Krupa, we send, with our compliments, Ed Langwig’s ingenious technique of bang, banging on the drums.

We bestow our favorite tables at “Herb’s” to all the little belles and beaux of the Junior class.

To Helen Huntington, we give the coy looks and melting glances of Phyllis Reed.

We leave Joan Manweiler’s aloofness toward the boys to June Black.

We bequeath to Lois Ambler and Priscilla Smith, Mary Baker’s peppy “oomph” to use at all of next year’s games.

To Johnny Jansing, we leave Bob Austin’s way “avec les femmes” (with the women).

We leave to Mr. Snader a “Check” book from all the Seniors who took Algebra this year.

Upon Jim, we bestow a new, patented automatic sander for the desks we doodled on, and also our appreciation for his kind and friendly help.

We bequeath to Miriam Boice Jean Selkirk’s reputation of being a good sport as well as a good sportswoman.

We leave George Edick the “croonability” and jovial “Ha! Ha!” of Dave Conlin.

We return to C.B.A. all the boys that Margie Gade and Laura Lyon borrowed while in Milne.

Upon the future president of Sigma, we bestow Ruth Martin’s smooth, affable personality and ability to run the group of Sigmaetas.

We leave to the Junior class strength enough to fight for that fountain on the first floor.

To Mr. Bulger, we leave a large, black, loose-leaf notebook for the names of the student he catches in the Annex after four fifteen.

Witnesses: Joan Manweeller, Catherine Morrison, Ruth Martin, Donald Sommers.
When it's 9 A.M. at Milne Hi
All's well until some dopey guy
Rushes in in a daze
And is sent to Miss Hayes
For he's late for school, my, my!

And then home, for night has descended,
For candy and such.
To the Annex we rush
Routine for the day is suspended.
6:20 p.m. school is ended.

Yes, that's always something to do.
And scholars line
Coffin at this time
And there's clubs and assemblies too.
Homeroom at half-past two

And while the lunch is made
And while the books are changing
Many looks hang in
While the lunch or quiz is taken.

About one, Miss Hayes starts to awaken
And bows and there's cheer to be heard.
But the bell it rings a kiss, and the class
With eager eyes on quiz or lunch is taken.

And there's envy and some to the Annex
For there's no one who knows
Milan's close.

Dissertation by a Parking Meter

Little did I realize, as I lay in the factory several months ago unassembled, that I was to figure so prominently in the lives of the busy citizens of the Capitol District in the near future. Even though I exist more as an army than as an individual, I cannot help but feel that I possess individuality in my experiences, if not in my appearance. However, I have not permitted this sudden rise to fame to enlarge my cast iron cranium, because some citizens are doubtful of my value, and many even consider me a menace to congenial community life. These people do not bother me, though, because I meet enough pleasant people in a day to compensate for them. I meet plenty of odd ones, too. My chief gripes are the people who, attracted by the sight of a coin, try to blind my solitary eye with the end of their finger, and the "he-men" who practically twist the nose off my face in setting my pointer in position. Then, there are the fussy women who have to hitch their dog to my leg while they amble through downtown stores, and leave the animal to exhaust me with his ceaseless tugging. My biggest thrill comes when some fair maiden passing by is attracted to me, and, in caressing me gently, exclaims, "Isn't this about the cutest thing you've ever set eyes on?" This sends shivers right up to my coin slot and sets my pointer hopping about as if a magnet were drawing on it, and, meanwhile, I turn from blue to black to gray to blue again.

As for the language used on me, I could make many a hurried business man blush by repeating some of the words he has used on me, as he vainly searched for a nickel or tried to get an extra ten minutes of free parking out of me. The female sex are no slackers either when annoyed by the inconvenience I have caused them.

Even though I could already write a book about my experiences encountered as Albanians pursue their daily affairs, every bit of it shall die with me, because I am doomed to stand helplessly by and perform my duties as a parking meter.

Locker Room Echoes

The school year is nearly over.
As I look back I think of the day
That I first came to Milne,
Of the locker room's disarray.

The girls were all excited
And greeting their friends anew.
The seventh grade was bewildered
At finding friends so few.

But the worst part was the racket
To which there was no end.
The slamming of the locker doors,
The shouts of girls to their friends.

Oh! What is my combination?
I forgot to bring my key!
Gad and little fishes!
Oh, Alice, wait for me!

So it went on for half an hour,
Till I had to go to my class,
But still the doors clanged onward,
Bang, slam and CRASH!

The Boy Friend

He isn't handsome and he isn't bright,
But to me he's quite all right.
His hair is dark and slightly messy,
His clothes are okay, but none too dressy;
His sunburned face needs a good shave,
Right now he looks like a man from a cave;
But his nice brown eyes and long dark lashes
Match that lovely smile he flashes;
He isn't handsome and he isn't bright,
But to me he's quite all right.

THE DAWN

The clouds were gray and heavy in the weak light of earliest morning, and they seemed to be playfully pushing each other across the sky. The sun had not yet sent its seeking fingers of light over the waiting world, but everything in sight rustled with anticipation. The leaves on the trees whispered to one another, and the dew made diamond earrings for the flowers. Hardly a noise could be heard as they waited, and the wind itself was but a comforting hand upon the grass. The lake shimmered in the half-dawn and softly lapped the pebbles on the beach.

Then, suddenly, as if a warning finger had been raised, the clouds halted in their paths. They moved only slightly as if to nudge their too frolicsome neighbors. They bowed their billowy heads in reverence to the coming splendor. Not even the wind rustled the leaves or the grass, and the smallest violet held her head high watching for the glory she knew was to come. The crests of the hilltops began to glow, and tiny pinpoints of light found their way between the clouds. Then it came. Out blossomed the sun into a sphere of brilliance. The leaves lifted their tiny hands in a prayer of thankfulness for the new day that had been given to the world. The lake reflected its light and poured it over the pebbles on the beach. The dew began to disappear as if it knew that it could not match this blaze of glory. The soiled clouds of yesterday were replaced by fresh white ones, and the world thanked God for its blessings. This is the dawn!

CHINCOTEAQUE—"PARADISE ISLAND"

Nature made Chincoteaque an island, surrounding it with channels and bays, filling it with game fish from early spring to late fall. Tucked away in a remote corner of historic Accomack County seven miles from the mainland of Virginia’s Eastern Shore, it is famed far and wide for its seafood, its ponies and its southern hospitality. Chincoteaque or "Cingo Teaque" derives its name from the low-lying and somewhat swampy island upon which it is built. Seven miles long and approximately one to two miles in width, with an elevation of fifteen feet above sea level, this little island boasts a population of about 2,000. To all appearances, its name is of Indian origin, seemingly identified with a branch of the Nanticokes, who held sway over the island itself as well as neighboring Assateaque Island, a narrow strip of land full of pine woods, salt marshes, and salt flats. Assateaque is separated from Chincoteaque by a channel about one-half mile in width and lies between it and the Atlantic Ocean. Chincoteaque at first was covered with thick pine woods and a few marshy flats on which one would occasionally see a herd of ponies browsing peacefully. These ponies are the subject of many traditions, and on account of the Chincoteaque has often been called the "Island of Ponies."

TIBET—THE LAND OF MYSTERY

Hidden amidst lofty snow-covered mountains, in Central Asia, lies the highest country in the world, Tibet. Tibetans call their peculiar country "Bad", while travelers call it "High Bad", or "Tibet". It is known throughout all continents and "the roof of the world", or "the top of the world". It is a land of peculiar customs, drastic climates, and is inhabited by two thousand semi-civilized Mongolian people. There is no other country in the world resembling it. Indeed, Tibet is a strange, exciting place, hidden away from civilization.

THE ST. LAWRENCE SEAWAY AND POWER PROJECT

To assay the practicability of the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence Waterway proposals requires at once the vision of a statesman, the technical knowledge and experience of an engineer, the evidence of an historian, and the counsel of a reliable economist. Nor will the judgment of one, however unimpeachable his decision in his field, be adequate to deny or to affirm the merits of the proposals. Suffice it to say that there is an overwhelming mass of evidence and prejudice substantiating both positions, bewilderingly irreconcilable and misapplied, so that to the lay seeker of truth, evidence must yield precedence to authority, and support or opposition must rest on intelligent placing of faith rather than indisputable proof.

Our Pirate

If you've ever seen a pirate
So strong and tall and bold
You will know he is irate
And his heart is ever so cold.

His skin is dark from sun and rain
His hair is black as coal
The light in his eyes is never dimmed
Until he reaches his goal.

He buried treasures by the score
Then he would kill his crew.
The treasures were buried on the shore
They glittered just like new.

Many a Spanish ship he sank
And robbed the crew of gold.
He made the crew walk off the plank
For he was cruel and bold.

Our pirate sailed many a sea
From Mexico to the Spanish coast.
At victories he would laugh with glee
For he could always boast.

Etched in Winter

I see tops of buildings in afternoon haze,
Tall, stark, unlovely, reaching toward the sky;
Square and oblong roofs, like figures in geometry;
From a brick chimney smoke is curling
Like the hot breath of a dragon’s foaming mouth;
Suddenly and swiftly the storm descends upon them—
Now the snow falls fast—blotting;
I see nothing but white blizzard.

One of the most successful years in the history of the Senior Student Council was completed this spring under the competent guidance of its president, Edward Langwig. This leadership was aided by eleven other representatives and the assistance of Dr. Wallace Taylor was also greatly appreciated by the Council.

The year was opened by the sponsoring of the annual Senior Reception. The success of the Reception was later followed by the very popular “Florida” party. The Student Council also performed the difficult task of arranging the budget and sponsored the most prosperous of the ten annual card parties.

One of the Council’s most important accomplishments this year was the sending of Charles Golding to Washington as a delegate to the Institute of National Government for Secondary Schools. Plaques were also bought for intramural boys’ basketball games, and the Council, as well, authorized the purchase of a new electrically operated phonograph for the school’s use.

Another activity which this body planned was the presentation of awards at Commencement for the outstanding work in ceramics and industrial arts. The Senior Student Council, likewise, assisted in selling copies of the For Youth and the State which was compiled by Dr. Frederick, Miss Shaver, and Miss Wheeling.

The officers of the year were:

Edward Langwig, '41 ................................................................. President
David Mack, '41 ................................................................. Vice-President

Junior Council

The Junior High Student Council has finished a year of capable leadership this spring. Arden Flint, the president, assisted by Doctor Taylor, the faculty advisor, was responsible for this year's success.

Three Junior High dances were planned, including one outstanding spring formal. The Council also assisted the Senior Council in the difficult task of making out the budget.

As a new feature for this year, the Junior Council sponsored a popularity poll which was greatly enjoyed by the entire school.

The officers for the year were:

Gracious, Goodness—how time flies! Why just a few months ago we had our Mother and Daughter tea. And it seems only yesterday that we initiated the new sophs. We had a lovely installation tea, too, (I'll always remember the candles, shaking knees, and quivering voices repeating the oath after President Jessie Doran). It was about this time we were seen struttin' around in our Quin sweaters (very distinguishing). Weren't we thrilled when Theta-Nu challenged us to a bowling match?! And the Quin-Sigma .... all the girls were going around in circles for weeks trying to straighten out their programs (some of these never did get fixed). There were dozens of other things . . . the luncheon at a Chinese restaurant, that basketball game with Sigma, the Q. T. S. A., the May banquet at Howard Johnson's and our "Annual" outing. Of course, there were some flops (the Solomon Grundy party that never was), but despite minor catastrophies it's been a great year . . . hasn't it, girls!

Officers for the year were:

Jessie Doran, '41 ...................................................President
Lois Ambler, '42 ...................................................Vice President
Marilyn Tincher, '41 ..............................................Recording Secretary

The school bell tolled S-I-G-M-A, and all the girls were there to answer at a “Bacon Bat.” The only bad results from this were a few burnt fingers acquired while cooking hamburgers. Then our thoughts turned towards the rushing season, and after an afternoon back in the gay nineties, we admitted some new members.

Next the bell rang out Q-U-I-N—S-I-G-M-A—D-A-N-C-E, at which the couples danced—surrounded by a patriotic background.
Sigma started two new ideas and added crew caps to their wardrobes. The ideas were an installation luncheon, held at Howard Johnson’s, and a basketball game with Quin.

The long awaited banquet turned up on the slate and ended a very successful year for the Sigma girls.

This year’s officers were:

Strike ... This was the by-word for the Adelphoi members this year. Throughout the winter, we bowled against Theta Nu for a bowling trophy which was to be presented in the Spring. At one time, we challenged Sigma to a match.

The Theta Nu-Adelphoi Dance proved to be a great success with Bill Grattan’s orchestra to help the boys swing the light fantastic.

In February, the dreaded hour came for initiates, who were ushered into the society. After the great ordeal was over, one could hear them all stating that they were happy to be in.

The last strike fell as the boys ended their prosperous year at the annual banquet.

Theta Nu

Looking back at it all we find that it's been a grand year for Theta Nu. Our most vivid memories are of President Don DeNure calling the meeting to order (or should we say shouting?) . . . of nine new members putting their noses to the grindstone at the initiations (it was fun for us anyhow) . . . of dim light and music at the rather exclusive Theta Nu-Adelphoi . . . of strikes and spares in a bowling match with our hottest rivals (we, incidentally, won) . . . of a hard fought basketball game which gave us the trophy for the second successive year . . . of the successful Q. T. S. A. where we danced from dark till dawn . . . of our banquet at Jack's where we seniors received our long-awaited keys . . . and of last, but not least, "our day" at Thatcher Park (may I add, what a day!).

As the French say, "Oh! Les memoires! Qu'elles soient belles memoires!"

The officers for the past year were:

We have planted our roots well into the ground of the Milne School now. It is only our second year, but we feel that we are progressing.

Our interests turned mostly to the sport world. We had three highly successful outings with all the fellows participating in the different sports. Throughout the winter we went bowling. We rounded out the year with our annual banquet at which we elected the officers for the next year.

The officers for the year included:

Crimson and White

An outstanding year was completed this spring by the staff of the Crimson and White. This year's success was made possible by the efforts of the editor-in-chief, Robert Barden, and his associates, Mary Baker, Elaine Becker, and Robert Kohn. Mr. Warren Densmore, advisor for the newspaper, and Miss Beatrice Dower of State College also contributed greatly to the success of the paper. Also a new feature this year was the addition of two activities writers to the staff of the Crimson and White. These positions were capably filled by Edna Corwin and Phyllis Reed.

A delegation attended the Columbia Scholastic Press Association nation-wide convention in New York City where our newspaper was awarded second prize. Robert Kohn covered a news story for the Columbia Spectator, the daily paper of Columbia University. Two meetings of the Capital District Scholastic Press Association were attended by the staff, the fall conference at Cobleskill and the spring convention at Hillsdale. At the latter meeting Melba Levine won first prize in a news-writing contest.

The old staff of the paper retired officially at the second annual banquet this spring.
Dramatics Club

At 2:30 on Friday afternoons, one could hear the strains of "Romeo. Romeo. Wherefore art thou, Romeo?" issuing from the Little Theatre. If you knocked on the door, a grotesquely-painted face would peer out. This was the abode of the Dramatics Club.

The club consisted of two groups of would-be actors and actresses (a Sophomore-Junior and a Senior group) and one group of face-transformers (more commonly called make-up artists).

Our first performance was the election of officers. The Seniors chose as their "Dramatis Personae": Robert Schamberger, President; Leah Einstein, Vice-President; Joan Hunting, Secretary; and Jerome Levitz, Business Manager.

Main characters of the Sophomore-Junior group were: Stanley Ball, President; Barbara Hewes, Vice-President; Lois Ambler, Secretary; and Charles Kosbob, Business Manager.

The annual Christmas plays were presented under the supervision of our club.

In February, the Seniors presented "The Minuet," ably directed by Leah Einstein.

The Sophomores and Juniors, not wishing to be outdone by their elders, enacted "Romance Is a Racket", a romantic comedy.

The Seniors repeated their former success in March when they dramatized "The Ring and the Look."

As the "Finale" of the year, we learned about sets and pantomime, and read portions of well-known plays.

Another happy and full year has ended for the G.A.C. members. We started out with a basketball playday. This, a rip-roaring success, was followed in the spring by a baseball playday.

A new tradition was established at the annual banquet at the Wellington; silver bracelets were given to the three seniors with the greatest number of letters.

Shortly after this event came the Hi-Y-G.A.C. Sailor Dance, with everybody having a grand time. We must not forget the Annual Antics which drew a large crowd. Last but not least, we ended up our year with an outing with plenty of fun, food, and sunburns!

"Who are they?” was the next question.

"Oh, good night! Don’t you know anything?” I responded in a disgusted tone.

"Well, who are they?”

"Who are they . . . why, they’re the fellows who arrange all the basketball games. They fix the admission price of tickets and supply the crowd with jive music afterwards. That’s who they are!"

"Gee,” whistled the youngster.

"Yes, gee, and just you wait and see how much more B.A.C.'s going to do in the future."

"Do you think . . . ?" he began,

"Do I think what?”

"Do you think that I could ever be in B.A.C.?" he asked.

"Well, I don’t know, but maybe,” was my only reply.

Hi-Y, oh what memories that name brings back! Meetings every Wednesday; work; the annual Hi-Y carnival (things got rather mixed up at first); new members (making our somewhat cramped quarters even more cramped); the eventful Hi-Y-G.A.C. dance with Bill Grattan's orchestra furnishing the "hot stuff" (and was it hot!); the bill we slaved over and introduced at the state Hi-Y assembly (this, incidentally, was our good deed for the year), and many, many other things . . . . all too numerous to mention.

Our communique from Milne High School informs us that the girls' sports program this year has been very successful. Although the hockey varsity, captained by Doris Wogatske, and composed of M. Adams, M. Baker, E. Baldwin, E. Becker, M. Boice, P. Clyne, H. Cooper, J. Davis, J. Doran, P. Forward, H. Hochstrasser, N. Hochstrasser, M. Horton, R. Ketler, L. A. Lyon, R. Martin, R. Peterson, J. Selkirk, L. Simmons, P. Smith, S. Smith, M. Soule, and M. Wright, suffered some setbacks, the indomitable courage of the girls was greatly admired.

Swimming and riding classes were held during the year with an appreciable attendance of ambitious athletes. The culmination of the riding lessons was Milne's first outdoor horseshow which was greeted with enthusiasm by equestrian-minded students.

The Annual Antics was a gala occasion, with a varied program which included folk dancing, basketball games, and tumbling. It is interesting to note that the Seniors won the championship game again this year, making this their fourth straight victory in intramural basketball.

Spring ushered in softball, tennis, and golf, bringing to a close the girls' splendid sports schedule.
Cheerleaders

CRIMSON AND WHITE—FIGHT, TEAM! FIGHT!!! screamed our loyal cheerleaders, and the Red Raiders struggled onward toward the basket. How proud we were of them in their snappy red and white uniforms!

In case you haven’t been introduced to them, Lois Ambler and Priscilla Smith co-captains of next year’s squad hold the end positions while Muriel Welch, Mary Baker, and Jessie Doran are in “fight” formation. Leah Einstein and June Welsh occupy the high inside positions. Of course, with our captain, Mary Baker to spur us onward, we should have won everything on the slate. But, alas, the basketball season is over; cheerleading practices are things of the past. No longer does the gym resound with lusty yells from packed bleachers. The squad has had a well-needed respite from the after game hang over; they have a lack of energy and a terrific urge to sink into the nearest chair. The bubbling springs of pep can run dry (momentarily), you know.

Here are three big cheers for our cheerleaders. They cheered for us.
We’ll return the compliment. Ready? One! two! three!
1. Here’s to our cheering squad
Happy and bright.
Leading us into the Scheduled fight,
2. Letting us know that
When things go wrong
They’re standing behind us
With’ cheers and a song
3. Bucking us up with
A sunny smile
No wonder we cheer them
Once in a while!

Basketball

Under the able leadership of Captain Charles Locke and Manager Martin Edwards, the Milne Red Raiders were well represented on the Albany area basketball courts this season.

Although the team did not win a majority of the games played, the boys put up a good struggle. Almost every game they lost was characterized by a one or two point lead—real heartbreakers! The majority of Milne's victories were won by a large margin.

With Charles Locke on the first string, were John Dyer, Robert Saunders, Donald DeNure, and Robert Clarke. Kirk Leaning, Alton Wilson, Joe Hunting, John Poole, and John Jansing were held in reserve.

The Red Raider's opponents included Roeliff Jansen, Heatley, Cobleskill, Rensselaer, Vincentian, Schuyler, Bethlehem Central, Wappingers Falls, Greenville, and Coeymans.

The team was ably coached by Walter Daniels of State College under the supervision of Coach G. Elliot Hatfield.
Baseball

With eight veterans returning from last year's squad, Milne's baseball fans looked forward to a fairly good season. Led by Co-captains John Dyer and Robert Saunders, the Crimson and White nine looked promising in the opening practices.

In the infield, were John Dyer at first base, Allan Ely at second base, Robert Saunders at third base, and Charles Locke at shortstop. Infield reserves were Robert Ball and Morton Swartz.

Kirk Leaning and David Ball handled the catching assignments with Robert Austin, Tom Dyer, and John Jansing as pitchers.

In the outfield, positions were held by Harold Game in left field, Joe Hunting in center field, and Robert Clarke in right field, with Harvey Holmes in reserve.

Manager William Wiley was assisted by Don Foucault in the arrangement of the schedule which included home and away games with Philip Schuyler, East Greenbush, Rensselaer, and Roessleville.

Assisting Coach G. Elliot Hatfield was William Brophy of State College.
Tennis

Due to an unusually early spring this year, The Crimson and White Tennis Team was able to get outside on the courts very early. This, along with the acquiring of the Richfield Courts for practice and matches, gave the team a very good start.

This year’s team was captained by Marcus Myers, veteran of two years. The team was as follows: Marcus Myers, number one; Arthur Phinney, number two; David Davidson, number three; David Conlin, number four; John Poole, number five; and Fred Stutz, number six. Davidson and Phinney were also veterans of previous seasons.

A very tough schedule was arranged with the following schools: Vincentian, East Greenbush, Christian Brothers Academy, Bethlehem Central Nott Terrace, and Hudson.

Although the team did not win a great percentage of their matches, the boys fought very hard and deserve a lot of credit.
