The first fifteen people who have paid their student tax are:

Carroll Boyce
Jerome Levitt
Franklin Skinhardt
Miriam Skinhardt
Frank House
Robert Blighman
Robert Wilts
Helena Klattine
Ekhard-Woeld
Billy Serres
Donald Greer
Walter Drugs
John Flick
Barbara Wetter
William Plumber

TO ALL SEVENTH GRADES

Dear Seventh Graders,

Welcome to Milne. We hope you acquire all our good habits. If you should notice any bad ones looking around don't adopt them. We are glad you are going to be with us. You come eager and alert resolved to do well. Won't you believe that all of us who are older students and members of the faculty want to help you succeed. Ask us for help. Have a good time. Grow up with us.

Sincerely yours,
Robert Frederick
Well, it's here at last, especially for you 7th graders. The Junior High reception is just around the corner. Most of you are told to be there the 22nd. The student council has pronounced that it is to be another Semi Formal, but I hope, and I think a lot of others hope with me, that it will be a Masquerade. So if they change their mind, I'll let you know. Better start brushing up on your dancing and (please) somebody think of a new step. The so called "Tea Step" has really been executed to its fullest extent. And boys, the girls of this school aren't exactly the kind that likes to sit in the corners all night or have to go all alone. It's a tip from one who knows and truly assures that costumes, girls and posies will cost a pretty penny. But I am expecting to see a large group of couples and, if luck is with me, a large group of costumes.

Well, I'll have to go now. I think it's about time to get ready and to think real hard about all you gags and gals.

Well, So Long.

MY IMPRESSION OF MILNE

As I walked into Milne High School, my heart beat rapidly. I was so happy to know that I had reached my long anticipated desire. I looked around and found a hall filled with many talkative children. I didn't know what to do. Suddenly I collided with someone. I locked up and there stood my girl friend. After a period of time I found myself in my homeroom.

The sensation of entering Milne was a wonderful one. It thrilled me through and through. The teachers are so pleasant. The building is a beautiful one, filled with many fascinating rooms. I was deeply impressed by Milne High School. I was amazed by the auditorium.

I am sure this impression is not temporary. It shall linger in my memory forever.

NEW ADDITIONS TO MILNE

Among the new additions to Milne is a "Little Theatre". This theatre is on the second floor. It is to be used for class plays. There are also some classes being held in this room.

There is also a new Home Economics room added to Milne. This is on the third floor. The Sewing department is located there. In room 226, where the Art room was last year, the sewing department is connected with the sewing room.

On the first floor is the new Art room. There are some new docks in here.
"Gone With the Wind." I'm sure if a survey were taken, you would find almost everyone has heard that phrase in reference to books, dresses, hair, in fact everything. As full skirts are considered very fashionable, "Gone With the Wind" phrases are very popular. One of the most popular styles consists of a Peter Pan collar, with a zipper from neck-line to waist.

I mentioned full skirts. However if you don't care for this dress, you will be considered very well groomed if you have at least one woolen plaid dress, with lots of pleats.

"Red Plaid" is majoring in the color parade. You look in front of you and see a plaid dress. Turn around, you see a plaid skirt. Look in back of you—a plaid blouse and on the other side a plaid jacket. But—please if you wear plaid make sure your plaid skirt goes well with your blouse or vice-versa.

The first game was battled out last Tuesday. The girls' teams played against each other tying the score at 2-2.

The second ninth grade team captain is Merian Soule. The players are: Joan Stuart, Mary Sexton, Doris Wiegotta, Nancy Hochrasser, Elaine Becker, Eleanor Harding, Merian Adams, Valley Parade, Marjory Gade, and Laura Lyons.

One of the most practical dresses of the week was modeled by Miss Jane Ryan. It was a light wool red-blue plaid dress with white trimmings, and full skirts. Who knows perhaps you may be the most fashionable next week?

For today's character sketch we have a person in the seventh grade. He or she is a member of Home Room 236, has brown hair and is eleven years of age. His character has a brother and sister also in junior high.

Anyone who guesses this person may put his answer in the Crimson and White drawer in the English office.

Do YOU KNOW?

Do you know that Milne has been in existence for 17 years last June?

Do you know that 407 children attend Milne?

Do you know? Oh you do. Then I won't bother to tell you.

Do you know that Miss Waterbury, English supervisor, was teaching in Corinth last year?

Do you know that there are 40 clocks in Milne. Now you can't say you didn't see the clock when you were late.

Do you know that people get indigestion from eating their lunches too fast? Of course I don't mean anyone in particular, just you in general.

Do you know that it's hard to think of things that you don't know?

Did you know? If you did, then keep it to yourself.

The girls have begun to knock the soccer ball around again. Joan Hunting is the ninth grade captain. The players are: Shirley Smith, Catherine Morrison, Phyllis Rose, Helen Hutchins, Marilyn Tinchor, Loth Maiminger, Mary Reber, Adore Buchach and Joan Mannheimer.

The girls' shorts

The second ninth grade team captain is Merian Soule. The players are: Joan Stuart, Mary Sexton, Doris Wiegotta, Nancy Hochrasser, Elaine Becker, Eleanor Harding, Merian Adams, Valley Parade, Marjory Gade, and Laura Lyons.

The first game was battled out last Tuesday. The girls' teams played against each other tying the score at 2-2.

Remember when this article appeared in the Crimson and White?

English Class Studies Poetry

One of the seventh grade English classes visited the education building on Monday. They went to see the Indian exhibits as part of their study of the poem "Hiawatha" by Longfellow.

This class recently finished studying Irving's "Sleepy Hollow." The following is a sample of the project work done in connection with this study, written by Dorothy Simpson.

Sleepy Hollow is very solemn. All its trees are in a column. It is very spooky there at night. And all the women stay out of sight. The men ride through there very fast—and always think this is their last. Ichabod Crane was full of fear. When the headless horseman was very near.

Do you know that Milne has been in existence for 17 years last June?

Do you know that 407 children attend Milne?

Do you know? Oh you do. Then I won't bother to tell you.

Do you know that Miss Waterbury, English supervisor, was teaching in Corinth last year?

Do you know that there are 40 clocks in Milne. Now you can't say you didn't see the clock when you were late.

Do you know that people get indigestion from eating their lunches too fast? Of course I don't mean anyone in particular, just you in general.

Do you know that it's hard to think of things that you don't know?

Did you know? If you did, then keep it to yourself.

Are there any dumbbells in the room?" asked the teacher. "If there are, let them stand."

No one rose and finally a young man jumped up.

"You don't mean to say that you're a dumbbell, Willie?"

"No, but I hate to see you standing alone."

Joly: I think that the driver in that car ahead is a teacher I had when I was in school.

Joly: What makes you think that?

Joly: She was just as stubborn about letting me pass.